This week The Gazette sent out to Red Lake county Republican committee men a letter of inquiry, asking if Governor Van Sant is weaker or stronger than than he was two years ago, and how his action against the merger had affected his standing. To date twelve replies have been received, representing the different sections of Red Lake county, and their tone would indicate that Gov. Van Sant will have everything his own way within the Republican ranks of the county. The replies follow:

Wylie, Minn., July 16, 1902.

Editor Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Gov. Van Sant's attitude and noble stand in the interests of the people against the corporations, especially the railroad merger, has strengthened his hold on this community. Even old time Democrats will support him next fall.

Respectfully,
P. E. Smidesang.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., July 14, 1902.

Editor Gazette:

Gov. Van Sant is stronger in this community than two years ago. His wise administration and enforcing the laws against the railroad merger has materially strengthened him. He will be re-elected by 40,000 majority.

Respectfully,
J. A. Duffy.

Lambert, Minn., June 17, 1902.

As far as I can see Gov. Van Sant is stronger than he ever was; his action against the railroad has strengthened him with the people here.

Yours truly,
Louis Doucet.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., June 17, 1902.

Editor Gazette:

I believe Gov. Van Sant is stronger to day in our community than he was two years ago; his action against the merger and in enforcing the law against them meets my approval, and I am of the opinion that it will meet the approval of a majority of citizens in this community.

Respectfully,
A. P. Toupin.

Thief River Falls, Minn., June 17, '02.

Phil. A. Kaufer.

In response to your letter of June 16 I would say that in my opinion Gov. Van Sant is stronger in this vicinity than ever before. His attitude in regard to the railroad merger has done much to increase his popularity.

Yours sincerely,
S. W. Bagley.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., 6-17, 1901.

Editor Phil. A. Kaufer.

Replying to yours of even date, will say that I consider Gov. Van Sant much stronger in this county to-day than he was two years ago. In 1900 when I made a thorough canvass of this county, I learned that he was an unknown quantity in these parts, and his candidacy attracted only strict party men. This year, by reason of his determined stand against the merger proposition, he has not only become well known, but has come to be regarded as the champion of the common people.

Yours truly,
Thos. Germo.

Thief River Falls, Minn., 6-17, 1902.

Phil. A. Kaufer.

Concerning political strength of Gov. Van Sant, I have to say I believe he is stronger today than two years ago.

Yours truly,
Ira C. Richardson.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., June 18, 1902.

Editor Gazette:—

Gov. Van Sant is much stronger in this county than he was two years ago; his stand for the enforcement of the laws of the state, especially in merger case, has materially increased his popularity with the masses.

N. M. Watson,
Chairman Rep. Co. Central Com.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., June 19, 1902.

Editor Gazette:—

Looking upon the stand taken by Gov. Van Sant on the merger question, I think that he is more popular with the people of Minnesota than he was two years ago.

Theo. Garceau.

The following replies came in today from Thief River Falls:

Gov. Van Sant is stronger today that he was two years ago. I have not heard a word against him, and his stand in the railroad merger suit has materially strengthened him with the people.

Lars Backe,
City Clerk, Thief River Falls.

In my opinion he is much stronger with both business men and farmers.

W. W. Prichard.

There is no question but that Gov. Van Sant is much stronger in this community than he was two years ago. And this in my mind is due entirely to his action in the merger case.

C. L. Dobner.

Thief River Falls, Minn., June 19, 1902.

Editor Gazette:—

Undoubtedly Gov. Van Sant is very much stronger in this community at the present time than he was two years ago.

Perl W. Maby.

VALLEY COUNTY.

East Grand Forkers and County Auditor Pushing Division.

It now looks as though there would be at least three propositions to divide Polk county, which will be submitted at the next regular election. Beside those for Columbia and Nelson counties that filed eighteen months ago by people in western Polk has been revived and is told of in the Minneapolis Journal of yesterday.

CREAMERY FIGURES

THE RED LAKE FALLS PLANT FAST FORGING TO THE FRONT.

Statement for the month of May 1902.

Total lbs. milk received	48140
Total lbs. cream received	4256
Average test	.25
Total lbs. butter fat	2800
Net price paid for butter fat	19
Total lbs. butter made	2920
Total received for butter	$597 41
Total received for cream	$ 52 40
Disbursed to patrons	532 00
Total expenses	83 45
Sinking fund	34 36
Total	649 81

Did you ever stop to think how much of the output of the creameries is a clear gain to the farming community? Just figure it over a little. There is the saving of work to the women folks on the farm, the lessening of the work of caring for the milk, then the cream, the churning, the packing of the butter, and marketing of the same. This is estimated to be 50 per cent. of the cost. Then the creamery makes at least twenty per cent. more butter out of a given quantity of milk than did the ordinary dairy, that totals up to 70 per cent., add to to this about one-third better price, and you will agree with us that the modern method of butter making just about doubles the value of the product. This is proven in another way. Estimate the amount of the old dairy receipts and compare with the amount of the monthly checks issued by the secretaries of the creamery companies—you will find just about three times as much money from the dairy side of the farm now as there was before. the number of cows have increased about sixty per cent., but the amount of money received for butter is almost three times as much. This is the experience of almost every community that has gone into the creamery business.

F. C. Johnson,
Secretary.

Attention, Girls.

New York, June 13.—At the convention in this city of the Normal Association of Dancing Masters of the United States and Canada, three new round dances and an original lancers have been chosen as the correct thing for the coming season. The steps are known as the Military dip, Antlers Gavotte, the Olympia, and the Drawing Room Lancers. The first-named is a waltz, differing from the old dip waltz danced a generation ago, by having a dip to each move, instead of every third movement.

You've got to hustle all the time to keep in the swim. If you are slipping down the ladder of prosperity, take Rocky mountain Tea. Makes people strenuous. W. A. Schreiter.

Hon. Halbor Steenerson

Crookston Daily Times: Halvor Steenerson, of Crookston, is one of the best known and highly esteemed members of the legal profession in the state of Minnesota, while his reputation as a jurist and advocate extends throughout all the northwestern states. He is a man of strong physique, standing 6 feet 3 inches in his stocking feet, and splendidly proportioned, and be is well known by the appropriate cognomen of "The Tall Pine of the Red River Valley." Unlike many attorneys, his reputation as a lawyer has been gained largely by the many successful legal battles he has fought for the common people, and there is probably no attorney in the northwest so well known among the common people as Mr. Steenerson.

He was born in Dane county, Wis., in 1852, his parents having emigrated from Thillmorken, Norway, the year previous. A year after his birth the family moved to Houston county, Minn. Mr. Steenerson was educated in the common, graded and high schools of the state and at the Union College of Law, Chicago, where he graduated in 1878 and at once began the practice of law in Fillmore county, this state. His success was immediate and pronounced. In 1880 he removed to Crookston, where he has resided ever since. He was elected county attorney of Polk county and in 1883 was sent to the senate, where he served in the sessions of 1883 and 1885. Mr. Steenerson's practice has been so extensive that he has for the most part refused to be a candidate for public office. Nevertheless, he has taken an active interest in public affairs. He has held various local offices, such as member of the board of education, city attorney, etc., has often represented the Republican party of the county in state and district conventions and twice represented the state in Republican national conventions.

Mr. Steenerson has rendered the people of the state some very important services. It was through his initiative that the principle of the right of the state to regulate railroad rates was established. Mr. Steenerson has always been a strong advocate of the right of the state to regulate and control railway and other quase public corporations. In 1893 he instituted the noted "Steenerson Grain Rate" case, which was twice fought through the supreme court, the Great Northern railway employing the ablest attorneys at its command. In 1898 Mr. Steenerson was finally victorious, the supreme court ordering the railroads to reduce their rates about 15 per cent., and the principle of the state control of the railroads was definitely established.

Not only did Mr. Steenerson push this law to a successful conclusion, thus making it of large practical value to the farmers of the state, but he was in fact one of the authors of the law. While state senator in 1885, he was a member of the commission which framed the law creating the railway and warehouse commission and endowing it with powers for the regulating of rates, etc. A further evidence of the promptness and ability with which Mr. Steenerson has always championed the cause of the people is found in his course immediately after the organization of the Northern Securities company. He immediately wrote a long opinion asserting that the state and federal laws were adequate to protect the interests of the people, and in particular that the Sherman anti-trust law afforded abundant remedy. Mr. Steenerson's opinion was widely commented upon, it being so vigorous and unequivocal, while prominent attorneys and public men all over the country were hesitating as to what they should say. Moreover, the position taken by Mr. Steenerson within a few days after the formation of the Northern Securities Company was precisely that finally taken by Attorney General Knox of the United States after several months delay.

SPECIAL OFFICER GARDNER OF MINNEAPOLIS CONVICTED OF RECEIVING BRIBES.

Nelson's Free Delivery Bill a Boon for Towns in This State—Minnesotans Interested in Big Canadian Land Deal—Supreme Court Knocks Out Pure Food Law—News of the State in General.

Minneapolis, June 12.—Irwin A. Gardner, a special police officer appointed by Mayor A. A. Ames, has been convicted of accepting a bribe. The specific charge against him was that in return for a monetary consideration he agreed to protect "big mitt" and other sharpers from arrest by the police.

The maximum penalty under the law is ten years' imprisonment or a fine of $5,000, or both.

Gardner was indicted by the grand jury now in session for accepting a bribe of $500 from William Edwards and Lincoln Crossman, two "big mitt" men who operated in Minneapolis from November of last year to March, 1902.

According to the allegations of the indictment the bribe was presented and accepted on Nov. 3, 1901, in the office of Dr. A. A. Ames, the mayor of Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, June 16.—Irwin A. Gardner, the special police officer convicted of bribery, was brought before Judge Harrison and sentenced to six years at hard labor. A stay was granted and, it is expected, the required $10,000 bonds will be furnished and Gardner soon released, pending a motion for a new trial.

OF BENEFIT TO STATE.

Senator Nelson's Bill Providing for Free Delivery of Mail.

Washington, June 14.—Senator Nelson's bill which has passed the senate, and which provides free mail delivery in all cities of 5,000 population and over will be a great benefit to about a score of thriving cities in Minnesota.

Heretofore the requirements have been that every city having a population of 10,000 and the postal income of which amounted to $10,000 per annum would be entitled to free mail delivery.

There are many cities where the population is much less than 10,000, but the income comes above the required amount.

The postmaster at Anoka, Minn., was the first to request that a bill be introduced to remedy the difficulty.

Towns like Anoka, Waseca, Owatonna, Pipestone, Alexandria, Litchfield, Worthington, Jackson and several others are very near up to the required income of postal receipts now.

Mr. Nelson called on some of the members of the house postoffice committee today and urged his bill.

MINNESOTANS IN BIG DEAL.

Purchase Over a Million Acres of Canadian Land.

Chicago, June 16.—The participation of Minnesotans and Chicagoans in the largest land deal in Canadian history was made known during the day at the Auditorium Annex by Colonel A. D. Davidson of Duluth, who, with G. F. Piper of Minneapolis, has just returned from Ottawa, where the sale of 1,150,000 acres of agricultural land was concluded. The company is known as the Saskatchewan Valley Land company. Captain Davidson is president of the company, and Mr. Piper is treasurer.

"The land," said Colonel Davidson, "lies along the Saskatchewan railway, which runs from Regina to Prince Albert in the territories of Assiniboia and Saskatchewan. All of it is suitable for agriculture. Within the year 12,000 Americans have settled in Canada, according to the Dominion secretary of the interior."

TWO MINNESOTANS DROWNED.

Mississippi River Steamer Capsized During a Storm.

Dubuque, Ia., June 14.—The rafter Ravenna, bound for Stillwater, Minn., and towing the bow boat Gypsy, was capsized at Maquokta slough during a storm and four men were lost. The drowned are: John Hoy, captain, Stillwater, Minn.; Byron Trask, clerk, Stillwater, Minn.; Louis Walker, mate, Reed's Landing; —— Dell, La Crosse, lineman. Captain Hoy was trying to reach the Iowa shore, only fifty feet away, when caught. Sleeping men, thrown from their bunks, joined their shipmates in climbing up the ascending side of the hull. Six who fell into the water swam ashore and the other survivors clung to the wreck until rescued by the ferryboat Teal. The Ravenna was owned by Bronson & Folsom of Stillwater.

EMBALMED BEEF ALLOWED.

Nothing in the Minnesota Law to Prevent the Use of Borax.

St. Paul, June 14.—There is nothing in the Minnesota law to prevent packers from embalming the meat offered for sale in the state.

This point was decided by the supreme court in test cases against J. N. Rumberg and C. S. Wagenhals, begun at Minneapolis and appealed after the two butchers had been convicted in Hennepin county and fined $25 each.

The court holds that the amendment to the pure food law passed in 1901 applies only to milk and cream, and that the use of borax in meats is not illegal.

ORE OFFICES CLOSED.

Duluth Base of Operations Considered Unnecessary.

Duluth, June 16.—The local office of Corigan, McKinney & Co., the largest independent iron ore operators on the Mesaba range, has been closed. Captain G. W. Wallace, manager, and J. G. Vivian, purchasing agent, have resigned and in future the business of the company will be conducted from the company's general offices in Cleveland. The members of the company state that the Duluth office has proven to be entirely unnecessary.

MINNESOTA LEADS ALL.

Holds First Place in the Production of Iron Ore.

Washington, June 14.—The iron-bearing region of Lake Superior in 1901, according to the figures of the geological survey, continued to lead the world. The production of iron ores in the United States in 1901 amounted to 28,887,479 long tons, as compared with 27,553,161 long tons in 1900, a gain of 1,334,318 long tons, or 5 per cent.

As in the year 1900 Minnesota contributed the greater portion of the increase for 1901, and advanced to first place as a producer, Michigan, which has uninterruptedly occupied this position since 1881, now being second. The Lake Superior region produced its maximum output of 21,445,903 long tons in 1901, being 74 per cent of the total quantity reported and an increase of 4 per cent over the total for 1900. Minnesota contributed 11,109,537 long tons during the year, or 38 per cent of the total for the country.

With the exception of the German empire and Great Britain no country in the world has reached so great a total in any year as Minnesota in 1901, and this phenomenal product exceeded by 2,989,175 long tons the production of iron ore of all the mines combined, as reported by the tenth census of the United States in 1880. Michigan ranks second with a total of 9,651,067 long tons, Alabama third with 2,801,732 long tons, and Wisconsin seventh with 738,868 tons.

TO FIGHT THE STEEL TRUST.

Michigan Company Secures Valuable Minnesota Iron Lands.

Duluth, June 14.—The Cleveland Cliffs Iron company of Ishpeming, Mich., is closing a big deal on the Vermilion range, whereby it will secure the lease of the famous "section 30" property near Ely. The company is said to have agreed to pay $4,000,000 and a big royalty.

Prior to leaving for Ishpeming General Manager Duncan was seen, but would give no information, simply admitting that the negotiations were under way.

The Cleveland Cliffs Iron company is, next to the steel trust, the largest iron producer in the Superior district. It operates near Ishpeming, owns three railroads with a total trackage of 123 miles, from Ishpeming to Munising; owns a large ore shipping dock at Marquette and is building the largest charcoal furnace in the world.

It is also building large paper and pulp mills at Munising and operates a large fleet of ore carriers. The company is probably the most extensive landowner in Michigan, owning 300,000 acres of hardwood and timber land in the northern peninsula. The lands in the vicinity of its railroads are being colonized.

THREE ARE DEAD.

John Fox Kills Mother and Brother and Then Suicides.

Elbow Lake, Minn., June 14.—John Fox, a farmer living with his father and mother six miles north of town, shot and killed his brother Peter. He then drove away the hired girl, entered the house and shot his mother dead, then went into the yard and shot himself dead. The sons were all bachelors. Peter went insane in April, when another brother, Nicholas, committed suicide by blowing off the top of his head with a shotgun at Sisseton, S. D.

BOTH CAPTAINS BLAMED.

Result of Investigation Into Recent Boat Collision at Duluth.

Duluth, June 13.—The license of Captain Michael Fitzgerald of the steamer Hadley was revoked by United States Inspectors Monaghan and Chalk and Captain M. C. Cameron, of the steamer Thomas Wilson suspended sixty days.

This was the result of the recent investigation into the collision between the two boats when nine men lost their lives a short distance from the ship canal piers in this city.

KILLED BY CAVING SAND.

Entombed Man Rescued After Hard Work but Life Was Gone.

Minneapolis, June 16.—Charles Barden, caught in a caving well in this city, was reached by rescuers after eighteen hours' work, but too late to save his life.

Fifty men engaged in the work of rescue, but though they were able to communicate with Barden, it took many hours to reach him.

Had Passed the Century Mark.

Winona, Minn., June 16.—Henry Nealon, aged 100 years and 14 days, is dead. He claimed to be the only centenarian in Southern Minnesota. Mr. Nealon was for many years a familiar figure on the streets of Winona and was well known to all the older residents as well as to many of the younger generation. He was born at Maura, County Clare, Ireland, on May 25, 1802, and in 1848 came to America, living in Boston for two years. In 1850 Mr. Nealon removed to Elmira, N. Y., and in 1866 he came to Winona and had resided here since that time.

Might Incriminate Themselves.

Duluth, June 11.—Engineers Leonard McNamara and Frost Barrows and Captain C. H. Green refused to testify before the local United States marine inspectors here in the case wherein they are charged by the Great Lakes Towing company with being parties to a conspiracy to hinder navigation on the Great Lakes. The reason assigned for their action was that other charges were pending before the inspectors and that by answering the questions in the second case they might incriminate themselves.

Will Carry Texas Oil.

Duluth, June 14.—Whaleback steamers, the invention of Captain Alexander McDougall of this city, will be used for carrying Texas oil up the Mississippi river. The St. Louis Steel Barge company, in which Captain McDougall is interested, is the firm that will take up the oil carrying trade. The company now has three steamers, two of the largest whalebacks, engaged in carrying grain, but these will be converted into oil carriers.

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels make a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such systems. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." W. A. Schreiter, A. L. Reichert.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oaks, N.C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheerfully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. W. A. Schreiter, A. L. Reichert.

"You have not said that she was not the woman," suggested Kendall.

"No, and I won't," responded Blair promptly. "Why should I?"

"Unless you are sure," said Kendall, "you may feel like delaying a final statement, but I can't help thinking that your course takes little account of Miss Maclane's welfare; I might almost say of her rights. However, I must not get excited about it."

"You seem to take a considerable interest," said Blair. "You have known Miss Maclane for some years, I am told. But that is none of my business. What does Miss Miller wish me to do?"

"She believes that she can convince you that Miss Maclane is not the woman you saw," replied Kendall.

Blair was silent for some moments.

"I don't see how that is possible," he said at last, "but I would be very glad to oblige her, or you, if I could. There is, however, such a thing as the truth, you know."

Kendall was beginning to feel painfully anxious. There seemed to be a strong probability that Blair was perfectly convinced in regard to this matter of identity and that he was reserving his statement until the nature of the case should disclose itself. If Elsie should die, there was little chance that a man of Blair's type would withhold his evidence, for in that event somebody would be directly accused, and a just person would feel that all the evidence should be brought forward. Blair's present position was such that Kendall did not know how to attack it, and so he fell back upon the matter of his real errand. As to that there was no difficulty. Blair promised to call at the hospital within an hour.

Having received this promise, Kendall returned at once and notified Elsie of the approaching visit. Her manner was very significant. She was evidently bracing herself for a considerable ordeal. There could be no doubt that she had determined to save Brenda from the annoyance to which she was being subjected and from the much more serious trouble that might follow. As she had expressed a wish to speak with Dr. Blair a few minutes alone there could be but one inference—she intended to tell him something which she had withheld up to that time. As Blair was the first physician who had been called to attend her she could claim the right of a patient and put him upon his professional honor not to disclose what she might say. Indeed, certain questions which she asked made Kendall sure that she had considered this phase of the situation. It was possible that she might intend to go to the length of confiding to Blair the actual facts of the case, for by naming the author of the crime she could most surely relieve Brenda from any further suspicion. Even upon the supposition that Brenda had really gone to that house and had been seen by Blair he would probably consent to shield her from offensive publicity if he knew her to be entirely innocent.

Kendall was conscious of a strange, boyish feeling of discontent that Elsie should not have chosen him as the recipient of this confidence. He could understand that there might be reasons why she should tell Brenda everything, and, as to that, indeed, he had no positive knowledge that she had not already done so. Moreover, to have told him would have been merely to let another person into the secret, whatever it might be, since it was not he, but Blair, who had the power to check the attacks upon Brenda. Still, he could not help feeling isolated, the more because of his reflection that Brenda might already know all.

From this youthful frame of mind he passed to one more mature and practical. It might be that Blair was not worthy of this confidence. Without pretending to know what Elsie's secret might be, Kendall surely did not wish it to be betrayed. All consideration of abstract justice had vanished in personal interest. He was for Elsie with a genuine loyalty, and Blair had not impressed him favorably. He seemed a morose and discontented man, with an unsatisfied craving for something, probably money, and he had not a perfectly honest eye. Supposing that Elsie's secret involved Alden and that Alden had really become rich in a way invisible to his closest friends—well, in that case it might be that Dr. Blair would be able to afford a better office.

With these thoughts in mind Kendall ventured to caution Elsie against the evils incident to an unwise trust in the discretion and the promises of one's fellow creatures, but Elsie seemed to have an excellent opinion of her own good judgment, as often happens with the young.

When Blair appeared, Kendall mentioned to him that Elsie desired to see him alone for a few minutes, adding,

"She seems to have some communication which is in the highest degree confidential."

"I shall treat whatever she says as a matter between doctor and patient," replied Blair, somewhat too promptly, as Kendall thought.

Nothing of importance occurred during the time when Brenda and Kendall were present with Blair in Elsie's room. It might have been one of the doctor's regular professional calls.

The private conference lasted not more than five minutes, and it produced no very notable effect upon Elsie, but Dr. Blair seemed to have received a considerable surprise. Kendall was far from satisfied with the man's looks. He was not only agitated, but he had the air of one who is both scared and pleased, like a man who sees an opportunity the nature of which both attracts and frightens him. And the thought came to Kendall that this secret might affect Brenda, whose father was very weak in the nerves and very strong in the pocket.

"I was not aware you made it a matter of conscience."

On the face of the matter, however, it appeared that Elsie had achieved a notable success, for Blair said to Brenda:

"Miss Miller tells me that you are much disturbed by the absurd attempts to identify you with the so called 'mysterious woman' in this unfortunate affair. I think I can put a stop to these stories."

"Was it for that that she asked you to come here?" demanded Brenda, who, by Elsie's request, had not been informed in advance of this attempt.

"Oh, no; it was merely incidental," replied Blair, "and my conclusion depends partly upon my having seen you again. Your word should, of course, have been enough for me, but I have not taken a proper view of the seriousness of the matter. I shall now state positively that you are not the lady I saw."

"I would prefer that you say nothing at all," said Brenda after a brief interval of reflection.

Blair showed his surprise.

"I do not understand," he said. "Surely you wish me to speak the truth?"

"I was not aware that you made it a matter of conscience," replied Brenda, slightly inclining her head by way of dismissal to Blair, who was upon the point of leaving the room.

CHAPTER XIV.

"THRIFT, HORATIO, THRIFT."

THE next morning's papers contained interviews with Dr. Blair in which he stated in the most positive manner that the mysterious woman was not Miss Maclane. This did not have the effect of taking Brenda entirely out of print, but it inspired all the newspaper writers with caution, for, though some of them were not able to believe that Blair was telling the truth, it was impossible to overlook the fact that he was the only witness.

The most serious of the immediate results of this publication was experienced by Dr. Blair himself about 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when he received a call from Captain Neale. The captain seemed not to be representing the department upon this occasion, for he was in the dress of a private citizen. Even his shoes were different from a policeman's characteristic footwear. As the apparel evidently was not worn for purposes of disguise, it might be assumed that Mr. Neale had come upon a personal errand.

When admitted to Dr. Blair's office, he first showed interest in all the doors opening from the room; then he bestowed a moment's attention upon some of the doctor's effects which had been collected as if to be packed in a large trunk.

"Going away?" inquired Neale.

"Move," responded Blair.

"What for?"

"You've succeeded in spoiling my practice around here," was the reply. "I am not more modest than other doctors, but the kind of conspicuousness which comes from having a uniformed policeman call at the house every ten minutes is not a good advertisement. So I have engaged other quarters."

"Where?"

"I would like to tell you that it's none of your business," said Blair, "but that wouldn't prevent you from finding out. I'm going up town."

And he gave the address, which the captain ostentatiously noted down. Having done this, he looked Blair in the eye and said:

"I don't know whether you're going or not."

"Make your mind easy," replied the doctor. "I am."

"You're an important witness in this case," said the captain, "and I want you where I can get my hands on you."

"Well, I'm not going far."

"It's my opinion," said he, "that you're going to the house of detention."

Blair looked uneasy, but he mustered a smile.

"The house of detention is for the poor," he said. "It is for people who will stand being imprisoned six months or a year for nothing without making any fuss about it."

"You're poor enough, my friend," replied the captain, "and I'll see that you don't make any fuss. I've got a story all fixed up that will keep you quiet."

Blair let the lid of the trunk fall heavily and then sat down on top of it.

"Well, you needn't tell me what it is," he said. "I'll take your word for it that it's a good one. In short, you intend to ruin me in this town."

The captain put his hand into his pocket in a way that made Blair nervous, but it was nothing more formidable than a piece of chewing tobacco that appeared. Neale nodded slowly as he bit off a piece.

"From the beginning of this case," said the doctor, "I have been totally unable to understand your game. What is it?"

"My game," replied the captain, "is to take good care of Joseph Neale."

"Well," said Blair, "what have I done to prevent it?"

"Ever hear the story of the beggar who asked the professional charity man for a dime?"

"I don't remember it," said the doctor.

"The charity man said: 'Go over on the other side of the street. I'm working this side.'"

Blair appeared to ponder deeply upon the significance of this ancient tale in the present situation.

"Look here," said the captain suddenly. "You saw Brenda Maclane coming out of that house, and you had sense enough to keep still until you found out where you stood. That was all right. You found out, right away, what kind of a father she had, and you knew that your information was worth money. Now, don't jump. I've looked you up, and I've found out that you're not above that sort of thing. Very well; few of us are, but when you found out that I was 'on' you ought to have done one of two things—quit or let me in."

"I thought you were after Alden," he said.

"I'm after 'em both."

"Do you still believe there's anything in Alden's story of money?" queried Blair, eying the other shrewdly.

Neale nodded emphatically.

"But we'll leave that for a minute," he said. "In the matter of Maclane I let you go on, merely showing you that I was keeping close track. I didn't suppose you'd jump so quick."

"What do you mean?"

The captain shook a big forefinger in Blair's face.

"You went to Maclane's house last evening," he said. "Then you gave out that interview." And the big forefinger came very close to Blair's nose as the captain added, "How much did you get?"

Blair's lean and deeply lined face was suddenly moistened with perspiration. He sprang up sidewise from the trunk and walked around the far end of the table.

"This is getting personal," he said at last, with a nervous laugh that scarcely passed beyond a contortion of the lips.

"I'll make it personal for you, my friend," he said. "In fact, I'll land you behind the bars before I'm done with you. This is blackmail."

Blair laughed aloud.

"Blackmail is a dreadful sin," he said, "and nobody knows it better than you do."

Neale did not see fit to reply. He watched Blair carefully as the latter paced up and down gnawing his lips.

"Captain," said the doctor, pausing suddenly and facing about, "how much money can you raise?"

Neale's eyebrows took the shape of inverted V's, and beneath them his eyes looked like dots because of the contraction in the corners.

"What are you trying to get at?" he demanded. "You mean something. What is it?"

A sudden shivering seized Blair, so that his jaws could be seen to shake. Indeed they could be heard. He crossed to a locker on the wall, from which he took a small bottle containing a thick and dark fluid. This he raised to his lips, shuddering at the taste of it. But he seemed to be benefited in the matter of self command.

"Nerve medicine?" said Neale. "I don't think you need it."

"You told me," replied Blair slowly, "that I ought to quit or let you in. I've decided to do the latter."

"Right!" said the captain, with emphasis. "How much did you get?"

"The little money that I got from Maclane doesn't amount to anything," responded Blair. "I got something better."

Neale stretched out his hand with a quick motion and laid it upon Blair's shoulder, to that individual's great surprise, for he thought himself far out of reach. They stared at each other with equal intensity.

"Can you be square?" said Blair as if he were consulting an oracle and not the man at whom he was looking. "Is there any way to make you? I believe there is. And you've got the money too."

"I've always got plenty of money for a good thing," said Neale. "Now, speak up. Did Alden tell Maclane?"

Blair shook off the hand upon his shoulder by the exercise of great agility and then he strode across the room to a desk, from which he took a small [illegible]

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

—BY—

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

VAN SANT AND RED LAKE CO.

If there has been any doubt as to the hold Gov. Van Sant has upon the Republicans of Red Lake county, that doubt must be dispelled by the tone of the replies from all parts of the county, received in answer to the following queries addressed to Republican leaders:

"Is Gov. Van Sant stronger or weaker in your community than he was two years ago? Has his administration, particularly the enforcement of the law against the railroad merger strengthened or weakened him with your people?"

The tone of the replies show clearly a very strong VanSant sentiment, and there is no doubt that the Republican county convention to nominate delegates to the state convention will be dominated entirely by this sentiment, and an instructed delegation sent to St. Paul.

It is well, and Red Lake county ought to give Gov. Van Sant a rousing indorsement at the polls this fall. He has sprung into prominence as the most famous governor of the United States, and his early action in enforcing the laws against the railroad merger no doubt was the all-powerful influence that created the general hostility to the unlawful merger in the states of the Northwest. Gov. Van Sant last week called upon president Roosevelt, and the president, in his blunt way, in the presence of several senators and members of congress who were in the room at the time, paid him this great compliment: "Gov. Van Sant, I want to say to you that your prompt action in bringing the existing law to bear upon alleged violations of it, will, I believe, meet with hearty approval by the people."

Here is a situation that is a veritable feast for the masses—the president of the United States upholding and complimenting the governor of one of the States for enforcing the laws against a gigantic corporation. It is a situation that Minnesota people will bear in mind in the coming contest, when the true test will be made. The outcome of the election in Minnesota this fall will be of national importance. The great corporations will be arrayed against Governor Van Sant, and all the power that can be brought to bear will be hurled against him, to encompass his defeat, and to elect the man, whoever he may be, opposing him. His defeat at the polls this fall will mean that the people of Minnesota waive their birth-right, spurn the state laws, and place the power to rule into the hands of unlawful corporations and trusts.

If you wish to assist in making the people of Minnesota responsible for such a verdict you will cast your influence in the coming campaign against Van Sant.

IRRIGATION.

The passage by the senate on Friday last of the irrigation bill, assures the enactment of that measure into law, since only the signature of the president is now needed and inasmuch as he has been an advocate of irrigation, the subject having occupied a conspicuous place in his first message, there is no doubt that the bill will be duly signed.

Nothing could speak more eloquently of the increasing demand for agricultural lands than the ease with which so important a measure has passed the snares and pitfalls that confront all attempts at legislation. The bill as passed creates a reclamation fund from the sale of public lands in Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wyoming, less the amount paid to local land offices, and 5 per cent. due the state under existing laws for educational purposes, the reclamation fund to be used for the construction and maintenance of irrigation works in the state and territories enumerated.

Provision is made for the payment out of the treasury of any deficiencies in the allowance to agricultural colleges owing to this disposition of public lands. The secretary of the interior is authorized to examine, survey and construct the irrigation works and report the cost thereof to congress at each session.

Section 4, provides for the letting of contracts for the works contemplated in sections when the necessary funds are available in the reclamation fund for such section.

Section 5 provides that "no right to the use of water for land in private ownership shall be sold for a tract exceeding 160 acres to any one land owner, and no such right shall permanently attach until all payments therefore are made and no such sale shall be made to any land owner unless he be an actual bona-fide resident on such land or occupant thereof residing in the neighborhood of said land."

Section 6 authorizes the secretary to use the reclamation fund for the operation and maintenance of the irrigation works.

Section 8 requires state control over water of non navigable streams such as are used in irrigation.

Here is a noble sentiment from Hon. A. Grindeland: "He who does not want to trust the people should not be trusted by the people." Mr. Grindeland is not afraid to trust the people, and he was from the first heartily in favor of the enactment of the primary election law.

The question of moving the county seat of Norman county from Ada to Twin Valley was defeated at a special election last week by a majority of nearly 400.

VACATION TIME.

Nearly every living soul looks forward to the summer months expecting enjoyment of one kind or another.

Often we hear mothers speak of dreading vacation time. Now, the good mother ought not need to fear the presence of her children in the house. There is a harsh, discordant note in such talk. The well trained child will, rather, be a pleasure and a comfort to the mother.

If there is a yard it simplifies matters. Children should be taught to play in their yard, not leaving without permission. Many mothers are careless on this point. Away from home do you know what your children are doing?

It is a mother's duty to keep her eyes open. One sees the tiniest youngsters roaming about the streets at such late hours tnat one cannot but wonder what the parents of those children are thinking about.

They must surely know the dangers their children are subject to. I'll venture to say that if those same parents were to hear of scarlet fever in the neighborhood they would take every precaution to guard against infection. Yet they let their children run into dangers that will do them MENTAL, MORAL AND PHYSICAL harm and sit calmly by without an effort to save them. I know a mother who literally drives her children out of the house and yard—where to? The house is in beautiful order and the children would perhaps upset things. They make too much noise. So they are turned out, morning, noon and night, while even the horse is well stabled at the proper hour.

See that your children, boys as well as girls, form good, clean habits. Insist that all friendships with children of bad habits be cut off, no matter what the feeling on the part of the parents. Better every friendship broken than the morals of your children spoiled. Expend a little money upon swings, croquet sets or other such sources of pleasure for your children. It will prove to be money well spent.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

BOUNCE AND BIDDY.

Do you remember the story about Bounce and Bummy? The doctor who owned Bounce also had a canary bird named Biddy. The little ones loved to go to see Biddy, and were always welcomed by the Doctor. Biddy seemed to understand everything the Doctor said to her. When he came in he would sometimes call out "Biddy, are you hiding? Come Biddy, come to Docky." Biddy, who was never in her cage unless she wished to be there, came flying and chirping, and lit on the Doctor's hand. Then they would have a little chat. "If the Doctor said "Come, kiss Dockey," Biddy promptly flew up and gave him the funniest little pecks on the lips, and then flew away.

Biddy lived to amuse many children, but one night she slept on the round of a chair and Bounce killed her. He was a bird dog and no doubt his natural instincts overcame all training. There was great sorrow among the little folks over poor Biddy's death.

HOUSEHOLD.

When sweeping the walls it is well to use a hroom cover which will remain in place as long as wanted. For material, cotton flannel is very nice, the soft side cleaning the wall. To finish prettily, the edges may be bound in a contrasting color.

RED LAKE CO. SUMMER SCHOOL.

To Teachers of Red Lake and adjoining counties.

The Red Lake County Summer School will begin its session on Monday, July 14, at 9 a. m. at the High School building in Red Lake Falls, and continue four weeks, with the following corps of instructors: Supt. P. L. Kuntz, of Owatonna, Minn., conductor and instructor in the higher branches and mathematics; Pres. J. C. Satre, of the Crookston Business College, instructor in the common branches and mathematics; Miss Lydia E. B. Fletcher, of Red Lake Falls, model school and instructor in English Literature; Frank Jeffers, County Superintendent Red Lake county, who will look after special lines of work. This being the third year for Conductor Kuntz, he will be able to do more for the teachers who attend and better adapt the work to their needs than at any prior session. We especially invite teachers from adjoining counties to spend these four weeks in Red Lake Falls and thus secure the benefits from attendance upon a first class school. Each of the faculty is especially adapted to the work in his particular line and will be in a position to do the most possible for those who attend.

It will be the aim of the school to so arrange the work and manage the session, that a general line of culture will result, and not only a specific kind of technical answers to special questions formulated by an expert. The session is expected to furnish ample provision for graded school teachers, as well as for those in the rural schools, and it is to be hoped that such teachers as are seeking for a more general culture and a higher appreciation of the profession will lend us their presence and participate in its benefits.

We shall endeavor to give a line of work in music if the teachers desire it, and classes in Algebra, Geometry, Science, etc., will be formed. The primary object of the course will be to get the most good from the session, and give as general an opportunity to take particular work as will seem to be justified. It will be the purpose to do well what is undertaken—look to quality rather than quantity.

Be present the first day and assist in organization of the school. There will be an afternoon session the first day in order to give all an opportunity to register and thus enable them to secure a certificate of perfect attendance. An evening lecture and such other additional lines of work as the school will justify will be made a part of the program. The last two days of the session will be given to the writing of the State Teachers' Examination and the review work of the school will be found especially beneficial to those who are intending to write this examination.

It is the desire of the County Superintendent that all third grade teachers attend and prepare to raise their standing, as the year of limitation has expired in a number of instances. We also wish that all teachers take an active interest in making this the largest and best summer school ever held in this section of the state.

Respectfully,
Frank Jeffers,
County Superintendent.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage made, executed and delivered by Levi Brouyette and Mary Brouyette, his wife mortgagors, to May Buse mortgagee which mortgage bears date the 4th day of June, 1900, was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, on the 31st day of July, 1900, at 8:10 o'clock p. m. in Book 20 of mortgages on page 226 and is now recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, in Book 20 of mortgages, on page 226.

Which said mortgage, together with the debts secured thereby, including taxes paid by the mortgagee, was duly assigned by May Buse, to M. O. Sortedahl, by written assignment, dated July 31st, 1900, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, on December 9th, 1901, at 4:15 o'clock p. m., in Book "T" of Mortgages, on page 91, and which said mortgage, together with the debts secured thereby, including taxes paid by the mortgagee and the assignee under the mortgagee, was again assigned by the said M. O. Sortedahl, to Ernest Buse, by a written assignment dated March 3rd, 1902, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Red Lake county, State of Minnesota on April 10th, 1902, 3:30 o'clock p. m., in Book "S" of Mortgages, on page 2-2 to-wit:

Lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) and five (5) in block three (3) of Railroad addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the official plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds within and for the said county of Red Lake and was given to secure the payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-five dollars with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent per annum, payable annually, on the 4th day of June in each year, according to the conditions of one principal note and interest coupon notes thereto attached. By failure to pay the annual interest falling due on the 4th day of June 1901 and by failure to pay the taxes levied upon said real estate for the years 1897, 1898, 1899 and 1900, and whereas the said assignee of the mortgagee, by virtue of the power contained the said mortgage, paid to the County Treasurer of Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, the following taxes duly levied and assessed by the said county against the land described in the said mortgage, and were due and delinquent at the dates when said payments were made, to wit: On July 31st, 1900, paid $9.49 taxes for the years of 1897, 1898 and 1899; on April 10th, 1902, paid $3.86 taxes for the year 1900, in all the sum of $13.35 and with interest amounting to $15.41.

And whereas, said mortgage provided as one of its conditions that in case of failure to pay any part of said interest when the same becomes due or to pay any taxes levied upon said real estate before the same becomes delinquent, the whole sum of money or indebtedness thereby secured shall thereupon become due and payable; and whereas said mortgage also provides that if such taxes are not so paid the holder of said mortgage may elect to pay the same and be entitled to interest on the same at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum and said mortgage stand as security for the amount so paid, with interest.

And Whereas, there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice on said principal indebtedness and interest thereon and to the date thereof and for said amount paid for taxes and interest thereon the sum of two hundred and forty 33-100 dollars.

And whereas, because of said defaults and of each of them the power of sale in said mortgage contained has become operative, and no action at law or in equity having been instituted to cover said mortgage indebtedness.

Now, Therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises above described which sale will be made by the sheriff of said county of Red Lake at the front door of the Court House in Red Lake Falls, in said County, on Saturday the 19th day of July 1902 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said indebtedness, the Attorney's fees of $35.00, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year thereafter, as provided by law.

George Schaub, a well known German citizen of New Lebanon, Ohio, is a constant reader of the Dayton Volkszeitung. He knows that this paper aims to advertise only the best in its columns, and when he saw Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised therein for lame back, he did not hesitate in buying a bottle of it for his wife, who for eight weeks had suffered with the most terrible pains in her back and could get no relief. He says: "After using the Pain Balm for a few days my wife said to me, 'I feel as though born anew', and before using the entire contents of the bottle the unbearable pains had entirely vanished and she could again take up her household duties." He is very thankful and hopes that all suffering likewise will hear of her wonderful recovery. This valuable liniment is for sale by W. A. Schreiter.

Seven Years in Bed.

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquired the friends of Mrs. L. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility; but, "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. W. A. Schreiter. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. In the Toils of the Law.

Mrs. J. S. Baker, founder of the "Sacred Refuge," of Duluth, and subsequently of Superior, and still later of Duluth, under the firm name of the "Baker Orphanage," has been bound over to the next term of the circuit court at Hudson, Wis., by Judge Arnquist.

A special telegram from Hudson, says that the state has indicted Mrs. Baker on several charges, and that the first case pressed was the accusation of obtaining money under false pretenses. The prosecution alleges that considerable sums were raised on the claim that they were to be used in the care of orphan children, sheltered in an orphanage in Duluth. With Mrs. Baker and tried on the same charge, were Miss Murphy and Mrs. Jennie Freel.

The evidence disclosed that at the time of the arrest the "orphanage" had seven solicitors in the field, systematically fleecing the unsuspecting charitable-inclined people and that on April 1st, the institution had three orphan children in charge. Superior is now the base of their operations, and they are still doing business there, at 707 Wicks avenue, with four orphaned children on hand.

The Bakers, together with the solicitors in their employ, succeeded in playing on the sympathies of hundred of people in Duluth and Northern Minnesota towns, also visiting the camps and induced the lumberjacks to part with their hard earned dollars. The police say that this part of Minnesota and northern Wisconsin, were never so thoroughly imposed upon by any crowd of professional grafters as by the "Rev." J. S. Baker and wife. They visited Red Lake Falls last fall.

SCHUBERT CLUB.

WILL GIVE CONCERT HERE JULY 14 UNDER AUSPICES OF K. P'S.

The Red Lake Falls lodge Knights of Pythias has engaged the celebrated Schubert Symphony Club and Lady Quartette Company of Chicago, for one of their delightful entertainments on July 14th. This company gives a program of the greatest variety, consisting of Lady Quartettes: Mandolin and Guitar Club, String, Violin and Vocal Solos, Amusing Readings. In the Schubert's we will get a musical entertainment that is enjoyable from first to last—not a long dull classical affair, but a bright interesting program of music's choicest gems.

The concert will be given at Woodman hall. Admissions will be 35c and 50c for reserved seats.

Important Suggestions to Farmers.

Young hoppers are now quite generally present in last year's stubble. Carefully examine all such unploughed land, and if hoppers are numerous and still small, say for the most part not more than half an inch long, or if eggs are present in the land, you may save yourself and your neighbor several hundred dollars by immediate ploughing. This to be of any use should be done at once, beginning at edge of field and working toward centre; by doing this thousands of young hoppers will be killed. It should have been done last fall or not later than May 20th in spring. If hoppers are larger, that is if they can jump out of the way of the plough, use hopper-dozers and kerosene, preferably when the day is bright and warm, they can be well used also on roadsides and in pastures where ploughing is not practicable. Consult your county commissioner. He is authorized to grant kerosene in limited amount to those owning hopper-dozers. These may be made at a cost of about $4.00 complete. Ploughing is most effective when the weather is cold or wet, at which time the young hoppers hug the ground.

State Entomologist.

NEW U. S. LAND OFFICE.

One May Be Established at Cass Lake—Tremendous Rush for Lands.

A new land office to be located at Cass Lake may be one of the results of the passage of the Chippewa reservation bill, which is the most important piece of legislation so far as Minnesota is concerned, that has been enacted in many years.

There will be a tremendous rush for agricultural lands, which are to be entered by actual settlers. Within three months, or about Oct. 1, the general land office expects to have the lands all classified and ready for entry. Special agents will be sent out to complete the few remaining Indian allottments, and others will be sent to classify agricultural lands. The Crookston, St. Cloud and Duluth land offices are too far distant and would require loss of time on the part of the settlers to travel such a long way to make their entries.

Under existing laws, the secretary of the interior has authority to change a location or establish new land offices. The office at Marshall, Minn., does very little work and it is possible that it may be removed to Cass Lake.

Red Lake Bill to Come up Again.

How many acres will be opened to homestead entry in the Chippewa reservation can be told only approximately. There are some Indian allotments yet to be made and then the lands will be classified to show which are agricultural and which are pine and swamp lands. Just as soon as the bill reaches the land commissioner's office, which will probably be in about ten days, the officials will at once take steps to carry out its provisions. It is of course, too early to say what system will be employed when the homestead entries are made.

In the opinion of A. G. Bernard, there will be something like a half million acres of agricultural lands opened for homesteading.

Renewed efforts will be made now to secure passage of the Red Lake bill, which will open 257,000 acres to settlement. The land is all agricultural. Thus far, Chairman Cannon of the house appropriations committee, has been opposed because the bill carries an appropriation, but the government is to get back all the money paid to the Indians when the lands are sold.

Mayor Kratka will remain in Washington until the bill can come up again.

Cheap Rates to New England.

Whereas, his whole public career is without spot or blemish, no act of commission or omission having tarnished its lustre or sullied his good name, and

Whereas, he has at all times and under all circumstances been a loyal and consistent member of the Republican party, an ardent believer in its doctrines and an effective advocate of its principles and policies; and

Whereas, his possession of those qualities which mark the true statesmen is shown by his ability to discover the needs of his constituents and to advise and secure the adoption of legislation adequately supplying them, as exemplified particularly in the act of 1899, popularly known as the Grindeland Commission Law, and the Drainage Act of 1901; and

Whereas, he rendered valuable services to the producers of the state as a member of the joint committee of the senate and house which, during the session of 1899, conducted a thorough investigation into the administration of the laws governing the inspection of grain by the grain inspection department and into the management of the prison twine plant, as a result of which investigation a better system of disposition of the product of the twine plant was devised, and many abuses that had grown up in the inspection department were rooted out; he ably seconded Representative McCollum's successful fight in behalf of two measures introduced by the latter, one of which compels railroads to provide platforms for loading purposes at all their stations in this state, and the other establishing the state board of grain appeals; and

Whereas, he has been the aggressive and forceful champion of popular education, rightly believing that the safety and perpetuity of our free institutions depend in a large measure upon the dissemination of knowledge among the children and youth of the land, and it was while he was chairman of the senate committee on Normal schools that the policy was inaugurated of increasing constantly, and as rapidly as the conditions of the state finances would permit, the annual appropriations for the benefit of the High Schools and the graded, semi-graded and district schools throughout Minnesota, to the furtherance of which policy he gave his most cordial support and assistance; and

Whereas, his record as a legislator still further proves that at no time has he been the subservient tool of corporate interests, but on the other hand has ever used his influence and cast his vote on the side of the best interests of his constituency and the whole state; therefore, be it

Resolved, that we, his fellow townsmen, in mass meeting assembled, bearing testimony to his sterling qualities of head and heart, esteeming him eminently qualified to represent this district in congress, and reposing all confidence in his ability, integrity and patriotism, unanimously and unqualifiedly indorse his candidacy and pledge ourselves to use all honorable means toward securing his nomination.

DYNAMITE ON TRACK

ATTEMPT TO WRECK RINGLING CIRCUS TRAIN ON NORTHERN PACIFIC.

Stearns County Woman Dies From Bite of Pet Cat—Verdict of Guilty in the Hanke Murder Trial at Henderson—New Land Office at Cass Lake Proposed—News of the State in General.

Duluth, June 23.—Dynamiters made what it is believed was a deliberate attempt to wreck a circus train bound for Duluth on the Northern Pacific railway at a point between Maple and Poplar, Wis.

In seven different places between these two points the track was blown up by dynamite and no traces of the perpetrators have been found. The first explosion occurred at 3 a. m., just as a freight train was nearing Maple. The train was brought to an abrupt stop and sentinels were sent along the track towards Poplar to warn the incoming circus specials.

Officials of the railway company have begun an investigation and hope to capture those responsible. The only clue thus far upon which to base the cause is that tramps were seen in Maple acting suspiciously. The damage to the track was repaired by a wrecking crew from Poplar after a few hours' work.

DIES FROM BITE OF CAT.

Peculiar Accident Causes Death of Minnesota Woman.

St. Cloud, Minn., June 21.—Mrs. William Murphy, aged sixty-three years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. J. Rooney, at Sauk Center, of blood poisoning.

Mrs. Murphy has been a prominent resident of Holdingford for many years, and about three weeks ago had both arms bitten by a pet cat. One of the arms was quite severely scratched and the other but slightly. The slightly injured one was neglected and several days later it began to swell and blood poisoning set in. It continued to grow worse and Mrs. Murphy was taken to the home of her daughter at Sauk Center, where she could secure the best medical attention. It was found impossible to stay the progress of the poison and death resulted.

GOSPEL BOAT AT WINONA.

Religious Services Conducted by the People on Board.

Winona, Minn., June 19.—The gospel boat Megiddo arrived here this afternoon on its way up the river and will be tied up here for two weeks while those on board are conducting public services. On board the boat are thirty-three families, including ninety people.

The boat came here directly from Davenport and is on its way to St. Paul. Those on board are all in uniform and a brass band makes the services attractive. A source of income is found in a charge made for showing visitors over the boat.

FIRST DEGREE MURDER.

Jury in the Tanke Trial Finds Against the Defendant.

Henderson, Minn., June 23.—The jury in the Tanke trial rendered a verdict finding the accused guilty of the murder of Weliner, his wife's former husband. The crime, under the indictment, is of the first degree. Tanke heard the reading of the verdict and he was cool throughout, showing no signs of emotion whatever. The jury was out only a little over five hours. The trial of Mrs. Tanke, the other defendant, will commence immediately.

NEW LAND OFFICE.

Senator Nelson Suggests One at Cass Lake, Minn.

Washington, June 21.—Senator Nelson will make an effort to have a new land office established at Cass Lake to accommodate the rush of settlers who will go into that section of the state as the result of the opening up of lands under the provisions of the Morris bill. No legislation will be required, as the general law gives the secretary of the interior authority to rearrange the boundaries of land districts and to fix the locations of land offices.

WILD TRAIN WRECKED.

Nineteen Loaded Cars Get Away and Are Demolished.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 23.—Quite a serious wreck occurred on the Duluth and Iron Range road near here. Nineteen loaded cars of logs got away on a hill at Drummond and ran a distance of six miles and were derailed, wrecking all of the cars. An ore train coming along a short time later ran into some of the wreckage, but traffic was not delayed.

LOSES A BIG WAD.

Murdoch Man Relieved of Wallet Worth $2,5[illegible].

Duluth, June 21.—Albert E. Peterson of Murdoch, Minn., complained to the police tonight that he had been robbed of a wallet containing a draft on the Bank of Commerce of Minneapolis from the Bank of Murdoch, and $125 in cash. He lost the money on a train which arrived here during the afternoon from the West.

Looking for Grasshoppers.

Perham, Minn., June 18.—State Entomologist Washburn is making an examination of all fields in this vicinity for grasshoppers. He finds them quite numerous, though not alarmingly so. They are plentiful in last year's stubble, and the county commissioners are urging farmers to plough all such land at once. If this is done immediately the "hoppers" can be turned under.

Settlers From Iowa.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 20.—Towner Bros. of Peterson, Ia., have purchased 15,000 acres of land in the Knife river valley from the Alger-Smith company, and will bring settlers from Iowa to locate on it. The land is the best in this section.

CHIPPEWA LAND BILL.

Congressman "Morris" Measure Is Passed by the House.

Washington, June 20.—Judge Page Morris carried his Chippewa Indian reservation bill through the house during the afternoon with flying colors. By a vote of 92 to 12 the sealed bid proposition was retained.

The passage of the bill means a big boom for Northern Minnesota. Under its provisions millions of feet of pine are to be sold to the highest bidder, under rules prescribed by the secretary of the interior.

The pine on 250,000 acres is to be sold on bank scale at not less than $4 per thousand for Norway pine and $5 for white pine.

Five per cent of the pine is to be left standing, and the department of agriculture, through the forestry division, is to reforest these lands. This will please the Woman's federation and all interested in forestry.

After the agricultural lands shall have been classified they are to be opened to homestead entry under proclamation and under such rules and regulations as the department prescribes. It will be next October before the lands are properly classified and surveyed.

DRUGGISTS NAME OFFICERS.

New Ulm Man Chosen for President of Association.

Excelsior, Minn., June 19.—The State Pharmaceutical association this morning elected the following officers: President, Andrew J. Eckstein, of New Ulm; first vice president, Hugo Lumbhohm, Brandon; second vice president, F. G. Cummings, Blue Earth City; third vice president, B. A. Robinson, Minneapolis; secretary, C. A. Leath, Winona; treasurer, Herman W. Rietzke, St. Paul; executive committee, John Bansk, chairman, Minneapolis; Theodore Vogeli, Minneapolis; A. A. Campbell, St. Paul.

KILLED AT A WEDDING.

Philip Bushman of Waseca, Minn., Is Beaten to Death.

Waseca, Minn., June 20.—As a result of a row at a wedding feast at the home of Charles Kuyath in the township of Wilton, five miles south of here, Philip Bishman was found lying murdered in the barn on the premises and his companion, Mike Mulcahey, is under a doctor's care, suffering from a scalp wound that necessitated seventeen stitches, and is bruised from head to foot. Bishman's head was beaten into an unrecognizable mass. The row started from some insulting remark made concerning the bride.

FIVE HURT IN ACCIDENT.

Runaway Smash-Up Results Seriously at Granite Falls.

Granite Falls, Minn., June 19.—While out driving last evening Dr. Hacking and a party met with a serious accident. Mrs. W. W. Stoppe had her left wrist broken, Mrs. Dr. Schjelderup her nose badly hurt and her little son had his ankle sprained, Mrs. Hacking had her shoulder and side bruised and today is suffering internal pains, and her injury may be most serious. Dr. Hacking was injured, but not severely. The buggy was smashed to pieces, and the wonder is some of the party were not killed.

NO LONGER DANGEROUS.

Carrie Nation Says in Winona That She Has Quit Smashing.

Winona, June 21.—Carrie Nation was in the city today. She did not remain long, coming at noon and leaving again at 3 o'clock for Leroy, where she had an engagement to speak Sunday. She gave some of the saloonkeepers a fright by visiting their places of business, but their fears were groundless, for aside from giving them a lecture, she did nothing. She says that she has given up smashing, and will now devote her attention to the temperance work in a milder form.

RELEASED ON $5,000 BAIL.

Mayor Ames of Minneapolis Given Until Monday to Plead.

Minneapolis, June 19.—Mayor Ames, when arraigned on the charge of attempted bribery, asked time to plead and was given until Monday. Bail was fixed at $5,000.

Thomas Lowry, president of the Twin City Rapid Transit company, and William G. Boutell of Boutell Bros., furniture dealers, are sureties for the appearance of Mayor Ames when wanted, and the mayor is attending to his official duties as usual.

ARCTURUS DEAL IS OFF.

Iron Mine Declared to Be Not as Represented.

Duluth, June 19.—An evening paper reports the sale of the Arcturus iron mine to the Oliver-Snyder Steel company for $3,000,000. It has just been learned that this is an error and on the contrary the men who now control the option to purchase for $750,000, P. L. Kimberly of Sharon, Pa., and George Howe of Duluth, have not found the property as it was represented to them. It was supposed to contain not less than 15,000,000 tons.

CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

John Haase, at Winona, Bound Over to District Court.

Winona, Minn., June 19.—In the municipal court this morning John Haase was bound over to the September term of the district court on the charge of manslaughter in the second degree on account of the blow he is charged with having given Louis Scherer on the evening of June 8, resulting in the death of that young man the following day.

Duluth, June 19.—The second annual banquet of the West Duluth Republican club held here was made notable by the presence of Governor Van Sant, Ray W. Jones, candidate for lieutenant governor, together with Judge W. D. Edson and J. Adam Bede, candidates for congress from the Eighth district. Representative George J. Mallory was toastmaster. Nothing of particular significance from a political standpoint developed.

Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." W. EQUAL PARTNERS blankbook and a stylographic pen. He opened the book upon the table and wrote his name on the first page, with a word or two after it; then he looked at Neale, holding the pen toward him. The captain nodded, and he also wrote in the book. Upon the page there then appeared this:

ARTHUR GORDON BLAIR, } Equal Partners.
JOSEPH NEALE, }

"My friend," said the captain, "you ask me if I can be square. Well, there ain't nobody that can be squarer than what I can, and you'll find that out if you stick to me and don't try to get funny nor play no tricks."

If Blair's acquaintance with Neale had been more intimate, he would have recognized sincerity in this redundancy of negatives. The reporters who have followed Neale's career assert that he once put seven into one short sentence while engaged in denouncing a certain well known reformer. As a rule, however, his language was not grossly inaccurate. In this instance it was the ring of the words that appealed to Blair. He took up the book and wrote upon the page that bore the names, his position being such that the captain could not see what was set down.

"Now, my esteemed business associate," said Blair, laying down the book, "this is the English of the matter—Alden has told Maclane where he was that afternoon and Maclane has told me. I didn't go up there to get the secret; I went for a little cold money. Circumstances had made it agreeable to me to put Miss Maclane out of this case, and as I was going to do it anyhow it occurred to me that I might as well be paid for it."

"It's a pleasure to be in business with a man like you," said Neale, with a grin. "How much was the touch?"

"Only $2,000," replied Blair. "It is a loan. I told him a pitiful story of misfortune and mentioned that I was being hounded by the police. Well, he's had a little of that himself. He sympathized with me, and when I said I wanted to move, take a better office and all that he very kindly consented to help me out. As to his daughter, I told him frankly that I believed she was the woman I had seen, but that I had no idea she was directly concerned in the crime. I believed that she had gone to that house, had seen Alden there and that she knew him to be guilty; in short, that she was Alden's accessory after the fact, making them joint holders of the secret and"—

He looked at Neale.

"Equal partners, as we are," said Neale.

"Precisely," was the reply. "Such being the case, I could not become a third partner. In brief, I wouldn't give out that interview which you saw in the papers this morning until I was sure Alden was innocent."

"Clever rascal!" said Neale.

"It was a sudden inspiration with me, I'll admit," responded Blair, "but it worked. Of course I was a long while getting at the facts, for at first he wanted me to take his word, which I gently but firmly declined to do. Then, in the strictest confidence, he told me what I'm going to tell you now.

"This is a big thing," he continued, his face suddenly growing pale. "I'm afraid you can't raise the money to swing it, for it can't be done without money. That's why I'm laying myself open to you. It had to be somebody, and the devil sent you in."

"I'm obliged to him," said Neale. "Go on."

"Mr. Alden spent the critical time that afternoon," said Blair, "in the office of a gentleman named Marcellus Hobson. Ever hear of him?"

"Lawyer?"

"One of the smartest trust lawyers in this country and a man worth millions," said Blair. "And this is what Alden was doing there: He has organized a combination of the companies in his line of business."

"Alden has?" exclaimed Neale, amazed.

"Yes, sir," responded Blair. "That man Alden, the head of a little, tottering concern that is on the edge of bankruptcy, has got all the big fellows in line, and he stands to win millions in the closing of the deal. It's pouring money into this deal that he put his own business where it is. He must win now or go to total ruin."

"Well, what's going to stop him?" demanded Neale eagerly. "Where do we come in?"

"He's rounded them all up except the Holbein Manufacturing company of Newark," said Blair. "Without that company in the thing breaks and Alden goes to smash. But on the day when he sent that note to Miss Miller, on the day when she was stabbed, Alden got a verbal agreement with the president of the Holbein company which practically clinched the thing. It clinched it except for just one chance—there's an option out on the Holbein business. Some time ago a combination was made to buy the works, and a legal option was taken. The price is $600,000, of which one-third must be paid in cash four days from this present date or the option is forfeited. It will be forfeited. John Y. Bowen, the banker, who was at the head of the combination, has died, and the whole thing has fallen through. The option is in the hands of Bowen's son, who has been trying to push the thing along, but has now dropped it. We must buy that option."

"Why doesn't Alden buy it?"

"He is making a gamble. If the option lapses, he can get the concern for half a million. The Holbein people know nothing of the trust scheme. They think Alden merely represents capital seeking an investment. They are all old men in the company and willing to sell out. But if new capital and new men get hold of the concern it can be forced into Alden's trust on a valuation of a clean million, and there's a profit of $400,000 for us."

"This thing needs investigating," he said, "and there isn't much time."

"Investigating?" echoed Blair. "If old Duncan Maclane says it's all right, do you suppose there's any doubt about it?"

"Why doesn't he buy in?" queried Neale and then answered his own question. "I see. He can't. He's got it confidential from Alden. It wouldn't do for him to show up with the property. But you're talking big money, and we mustn't go too fast."

"Don't you see," said Blair, speaking slowly, but in a voice thick with excitement, "that all we've got to do is to buy the option? Show up with that on the day before it expires, and you'll never have to put up the $200,000 of purchase money. You'll only have to prove that you can. Alden will have to settle at your own figures. If he does not, his game is up. By heavens, we can take more than half the profits of this transaction right out of his hands."

"But where'll Alden get the money to settle with us?" demanded the captain. "We can't take no promises."

"That option closes the deal," said Blair. "With the deal closed, Alden can command all the money he wants, for the thing will go right into the hands of a trust company to be financed."

"Then why hasn't Alden bought the option himself? You say it's a gamble"—

"Not altogether that. Young Bowen, so Maclane said, hates Alden and has a suspicion of what's up. He has turned down certain parties because he suspected Alden was back of them. But you can bring him to terms. All he'll want to know is that you don't represent Alden."

"If it's old John Y. Bowen's son," said Neale, with a smile, "I reckon I can fetch him. I happen to have a hitch or two there. He's a pretty lively boy."

"Then the thing is as good as done," responded Blair.

Neale took a turn around the room.

"I'll go and see Bowen this afternoon," he said, "and if this thing works I'll make Alden holler. I'm no friend of his after that little affair the other day. This will cut that honeymoon journey of his down a trifle, I'm thinking, when little Elsie Miller gets well. By the way, Blair, you owe me a thousand."

Blair took an enormous, ragged pocketbook from the inside of his waistcoat and paid the money. Then he replaced the wallet and showed Neale the additional writing that he had put into the blankbook. Above the partnership agreement was this:

For the purchase of the Holbein Manufacturing company and further operations on information furnished by A. G. B.

"I don't see how you happen to be poor," said Neale, regarding the other genially.

Blair ground his hands together.

"It's the start," he said, "the cursed money to make the first move. I never could get these ten talons on it."

"There's something in that," rejoined Neale. "I hope you've got a safe place for that book. I shouldn't care to have it printed in the newspapers after this game is over. I've got a pretty strong pull, but it won't stand everything."

Blair went back to the desk, which was a heavy, old fashioned affair, and locked up the book in one of the drawers.

"And now, my friend," said Neale, "one final word. If you play any games with me I'll do a trick with you that will wind you up. I have it on the quiet that this Miller girl is [illegible] of the raw goods, of course, and I can make evidence that would hang a man for a murder committed before he was born. How would you like to have me figure you out as the man that did this deed?"

The breath went out of Blair's body as if some one had struck him in the region of his solar plexus.

"You're crazy!" he gasped.

Neale laughed softly.

"I went through her trunk," he said, "and got some notes that you wrote to her awhile ago. It isn't generally known that you were so well acquainted."

"Isn't generally known?" echoed Blair. "Why not? I lived in that house for awhile. Certainly I knew her and took her out to dinner a few times. But, holy heavens, why should I want to kill her?"

"Well," said Neale, "there's the money."

"Nonsense! You know where the money went, and you know who committed this crime."

"Perhaps I do," responded Neale, with a grin; "but, at any rate, please remember that I have acted in your interests throughout."

"In the interests of Joseph Neale," he said. "My interests and those of justice haven't bothered you much. Why, this case reminds me of the old college football games 20 years ago. Somebody kicked the ball once, and then the boys began to fight, and nobody paid any attention to the ball after that. Usually some mucker from East Cambridge stole it, and the loss wasn't discovered till after the game was over."

"The football being the criminal, eh," said Neale, "just nominally a part of the proceedings? Well, there may be something in what you say."

And he grinned serenely as he walked backward toward the door.

CHAPTER XV.

MR. ROBINSON'S MESSAGE.

DURING the time when Dr. Blair and Captain Neale were concluding their small matter of business Detective Elmendorf was waiting in Alden's office, having reason to believe that he would make a flying visit there during the forenoon. This expectation was realized, for Alden entered hurriedly about 11 o'clock.

He greeted Elmendorf in very friendly fashion, the detective meanwhile assuming a somewhat apologetic air.

"I hate to bother you," he said, "about my troubles when you certainly have plenty of your own, but there is a little matter, not connected with this case at all, that you can help me about if you feel like it—at least I think you can."

He examined the break in the chair.

"With all the pleasure in life," responded Alden. "I feel like helping everybody, with one exception."

And as he spoke the last words his hand, that had been resting upon the back of a chair, closed with a sudden, convulsive movement and ripped one of the wooden rungs out of its fastenings.

Elmendorf slowly crossed the room and examined the break in the chair.

"If you got hold of the gentleman in question," said he, "I think he would never come to trial. By the way, I am pleased to learn that Miss Miller is doing well this morning."

Alden tapped his broken chair as if it had represented the individual to whom Elmendorf had vaguely referred.

"That doesn't let him out, however," he said. "But tell me what I can do for you."

"Did you have some dealings at one time with a firm of the name of Howard & Bain?"

"I believe I did," replied Alden. "They failed and skipped."

"Have you any documents bearing the firm's signature by either partner?" asked Elmendorf.

"Yes; I have one," said Alden, "but I don't know just where it is. I'll look through my desk. John"—addressing Robinson, who sat in his usual place—"do you know where that contract is?"

Robinson replied in the negative, and Alden pulled out the contents of some drawers and pigeonholes in a vain search. Finally he came to one little drawer which Mr. Elmendorf had once opened.

"Here's the contract," he said, "and—Hello, here's something of yours, John."

And he tossed an envelope across to Robinson's desk. Robinson glanced at it hastily and put it into his pocket. Elmendorf appeared to be busy with the old contract, which Alden had handed to him, and having received [illegible]

Red Lake Falls Gazette.

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

—BY—

PHIL A. KAUFER.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Official Paper of Red Lake Falls.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

'Twill be Rosing vs. Van Sant, with a majority of about 40,000 for Van Sant.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road is said to be planning an invasion of Jim Hill's territory, and a transcontinental route is projected. The nearest point to Red Lake Falls reached by this line is Fargo, which has for many years remained the terminus despite repeated rumors of prospective extensions.

Four county division propositions are now officially before the people of Polk county, the county seats named being East Grand Forks, Erskine, McIntosh and Fosston. Under the law which provides that a voter can vote only on one proposition—for or against—it appears that the opponents of division are confronting a serious situation. With practically the whole county voting "yes", Crookston will have to rely entirely upon her own votes to furnish sufficient "noes" for a majority against each proposition, and we do not think she can do it. We look for a successful issue of the county division compaign in Polk county this year, and if the Erskine petition is a Crookston idea, the antis have made a mistake, since they have eliminated many "no" votes which otherwise would have gone towards making up a majority against certain propositions.

All thought of passing a law authorizing reciprocity with Cuba at this session of congress has been abandoned. Senator Elkins, who has acted as leader of the faction opposed to reciprocal relations with Cuba, voices the sentiment of the insurgents, when he says: "Until a general revision of the tariff is contemplated I object to any legislation which would alter the tariff schedules." He refers to the growing demand for a reduction of the duties on steel, lumber, glassware, etc., and asserts that be could not be party to a measure which would reduce the duty on a number of agricultural products while leaving the tariff on these commodities intact. He does not believe that the allegiance of the farmer to the republican party could be expected if he was the first to be sacrificed to a sentimental demand for relief for a foreign country. He regards it as injudicious to do anything more for Cuba as such action would tend to make Cuba a mendicant country.

The Populist mass convention held at the court house yesterday afternoon was attended by about seventy-five representative party men, from the four corners of the county. About every precinct in the county was represented, and it was evident that the Populists were out to disprove the theory that they have been quietly consumed by the Democratic whale. The sentiment was strongly in favor of independent party action, and Secretary Jeffers, speaking to The Gazette, said he thinks there is very little probability of fusion with the Democrats. The motion to appoint a conference committee was only carried under protest. Under the existing primary law, the committees appointed by the two parties are powerless to do more than make recommendations, inasmuch as any aspirant for office has the right to bob up and seek the nomination of his party at the primaries. It is settled that the present Populist county officers will all be candidates for re-election, and su far none of them have any opposition within the ranks of their party. They are County Auditor Zeh, Register of Deeds Gibeau, Treasurer Tandberg, Clerk of Court Perrault, County Attorney Grady and Supt. of Schools Jeffers. The Republicans look upon the situation with equanimity.

YOUR COMPANY.

How many young people can understand that they are making half of the happiness or more than half of the unhappiness of their every day life in the future by the friends they are making for themselves now? Most boys scorn the idea of choosing a chum for any other reason than because they like him. There ought not to be other reasons if he is the sort of fellow yuu ought to like. It is all very well to be natual, if you are naturally nice; but suppose you happen to naturally prefer that which isn't nice?

A boy who is coarse and rowdyish is going to make a coarse man. When you are making plans for future you do not want to think of yourself as the friend of loafers and rowdies; nor of men who are always on the ragged edge of business or social affairs. You want in that future time to know men. Solid, honest men, whose words are to be relied upon and whose actions can be looked at by the world.

It is well to be friendly with everybody, but there is no reason why any boy should be weak enough to make a chum of a fellow who sits by him in school, or who lives in the same block, or for any reason except that they are helping each other to grow into good men.

Congressman Charles E. Littlefield of Maine is reported as saying: "If it were not for the newspapers, the jobs which would go through congress are terrible to contemplate. If there were no newspapers at all, I don't believe I would be willing to trust myself alone in the house of representatives for fifteen minutes."

CARLO AND THE PUPPY.

A butcher of a neighboring town went into the country to buy calves. Beside him on the wagon seat was a bulldog, small, but full grown. Upon reaching the farm of Otto Schmitz, Mr. Blatz, the butcher, closely followed by the bulldog, was preparing to walk into the barn yard, when Mr. Schmitz came running, puffing loudly, and shouting between gasps, "Gib acht auf dein buppy, mein Carlo frist ihn" (Look out for your puppy, my Carlo will eat him.) Mr. Blatz reassured the farmer, but he, good man, locked Carlo into a shed to make safe the little dog's life. Carlo, a big, trusting St. Bernard, apparently shared his master's disdain for the smaller dog.

The calves were bought and the butcher was bidding the farmer goodbye when again good Mr. Schmitz said: "Leave your buppy at home next time for if Carlo would make just one dash at him he'd be done up." "I guess not," indignantly replied Blatz, much to the others' astonishment; "I know my little dog can lick your dog without half trying, and what is more, I am willing to settle it right here. But I give you fair warning that your big dog may never be able to fight again." This was too much for the fat farmer. Without another word he let Carlo out. The bulldog in an instant had Carlo by the throat and the big dog barely escaped with his life, through the intervention of the butcher, who delights to tell the story, and to relate how Carlo hides under the house every time the butcher's wagon stops at the Schmitz gate.

Mr. S. reminds me of the man who thinks he is very strong morally. Oh, he can tell a coarse story, enter questionable resorts, read bad books, just as often an NO OFTENER than he chooses. He has a strong will. God gave it to him, he will proudly tell you, and he proposes to use it. He can drink just so much and no more. He's like Schmitz' dog—very strong. But along comes a little adversary called Habit, a miserable little mongrel, by the way, and the first thing you know he has that great, fine creature by the throat, and he generally keeps hold for good. Look out for that little fellow Habit; my friends, lest perchance you will come to feel like hiding as Carlo did.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

THE CIRCUS.

No doubt most of my boys and girls would think it very hard if a circus came to town and they were not permitted to see it.

Years ago, when your Auntie was a little girl, she knew a 10-year-old neighbor boy named Jake, who, with two sisters and another brother, all little folks, had planned for weeks on Barnum's circus. They had saved enough pennies themselves, to buy tickets, and were impatient for the day to come. A week before circus day their interest was further excited by the handbills thrown into their front hall, showing by many illustrations the wonders in store. Their father was a poor man and it was no little thing to see a dollar go for circus tickets. Mother, who had been an invalid for years, was wheeled to the window to see the parade. Only Jake of all the children, saw the tear steal down her cheek as she saw the happy crowds pass by, and thought of her own childhood days, when she, too was young and free. A great desire swelled up in Jake's heart to do something to comfort his mother. What could he do? Happy thought—he would bring her half a dozen oranges from down town. She loved oranges, but they were a luxury seldom enjoyed by her. In his goodness of heart, Jake told mother he would bring the fruit upon his return; he had just a quarter over. Proudly the children started for the circus. But mother's sad face came before Jake and the exciting scenes his busy brain was picturing. Now they are at the ticket wagon. What is the matter? Jake is fumbling in his pockets. He has lost the quarter. He is pale as he buys three tickets and tells the other happy trio "go in. I feel sick. I may come later."

The oranges were bought for mother, and Jake did not see the circus that day. But he says never before or since did he get so much happiness out of a quarter. And on circus days his children always buy oranges for mother in memory of that circus day of long ago.

An impression is current that Hon. J. T. Knight will not be a candidate for Judge of Probate this year. It is not at all among the impossibilities that Judge Knight will again enter the race, and if he does he will be elected. The judge's hosts of friends from all parts of the county are pressing him every day to become a candidate. They tell him he is the father of the county, that he makes a splendid judge, that without him the court house would be lonesome, and it is not likely that he will resist the pressure to the point of irrevocably declining to serve another term. It is not only among the possibilities, but a near approach to the probabilities that Mr. Knight will run.

Mingle in happy union in the exquisite perfumes we carry. Scents are as difficult to blend into harmony as sounds. It takes almost as high an order of ability to make true perfumes as is required to write good music.

No wonder so much of the perfume offered is rank, flat and unsatisfactory. If not wholly pleased with the odors you are now using, we would like to have you try some of the delightful ones we handle. Cost no more than poorer kinds.

RED LAKE CO. SUMMER SCHOOL.

To Teachers of Red Lake and adjoining counties.

The Red Lake County Summer School will begin its session on Monday, July 14, at 9 a. m. at the High School building in Red Lake Falls, and continue four weeks, with the following corps of instructors: Supt. P. L. Kuntz, of Owatonna, Minn., conductor and instructor in the higher branches and mathematics; Pres. J. C. Satre, of the Crookston Business College, instructor in the common branches and mathematics; Miss Lydia E. B. Fletcher, of Red Lake Falls, model school and instructor in English Literature; Frank Jeffers, County Superintendent Red Lake county, who will look after special lines of work. This being the third year for Conductor Kuntz, he will be able to do more for the teachers who attend and better adapt the work to their needs than at any prior session. We especially invite teachers from adjoining counties to spend these four weeks in Red Lake Falls and thus secure the benefits from attendance upon a first class school. Each of the faculty is especially adapted to the work in his particular line and will be in a position to do the most possible for those who attend.

It will be the aim of the school to so arrange the work and manage the session, that a general line of culture will result, and not only a specific kind of technical answers to special questions formulated by an expert. The session is expected to furnish ample provision for graded school teachers, as well as for those in the rural schools, and it is to be hoped that such teachers as are seeking for a more general culture and a higher appreciation of the profession will lend us their presence and participate in its benefits.

We shall endeavor to give a line of work in music if the teachers desire it, and classes in Algebra, Geometry, Science, etc., will be formed. The primary object of the course will be to get the most good from the session, and give as general an opportunity to take particular work as will seem to be justified. It will be the purpose to do well what is undertaken—look to quality rather than quantity.

Be present the first day and assist in organization of the school. There will be an afternoon session the first day in order to give all an opportunity to register and thus enable them to secure a certificate of perfect attendance. An evening lecture and such other additional lines of work as the school will justify will be made a part of the program. The last two days of the session will be given to the writing of the State Teachers' Examination and the review work of the school will be found especially beneficial to those who are intending to write this examination.

It is the desire of the County Superintendent that all third grade teachers attend and prepare to raise their standing, as the year of limitation has expired in a number of instances. We also wish that all teachers take an active interest in making this the largest and best summer school ever held in this section of the state.

Respectfully,
Frank Jeffers,
County Superintendent.

Default having been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage made, executed, and delivered by Levi Brouyette, and Mary Brouyette, his wife, mortgagors, to May Buse mortgagee, which mortgage bears date the 4th day of June, 1900, was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota on the 31st day of July, 1900, at 3:10 o'clock p. m., in Book 20 of mortgages on page 226 and is now recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, in Book 20 of mortgages, on page 226.

Which said mortgage, together with the debts secured thereby, including taxes paid by the mortgagee, was duly assigned by May Buse, to M. O. O. Sortedahl, to Ernest Buse, by a written assignment dated March 3rd, 1902, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Red Lake county, State of Minnesota on April 19th, 1902, 3:30 o'clock p. m., in Book "S" of Mortgages, on page 2:2 to-wit:

Lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) and five (5) in blk three (3) of Railroad addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the official plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds within and for the said county of Red Lake and was given to secure the payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-five dollars with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, payable annually, on the 4th day of June in each year, according to the conditions of one principal note and interest coupon notes thereto attached, by failure to pay the annual interest falling due on the 4th day of June 1901 and by failure to pay the taxes levied upon said realestate for the years 1897, 1898, 1899 and 1900, and whereas the said assignee of the mortgagee by virtue of the power contained the said mortgage, paid to the County Treasurer of Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, the following taxes, duly levied and assessed by the said county against the land described in the said mortgage, and were due and delinquent at the dates when said payments were made, to wit: On July 31st, 1900, paid $9.49 taxes for the years of 1897, 1898 and 1899; on April 10th, 1902, paid $3.86 taxes for the year 1900, in all the sum of $13.35 and with interest amounting to $15.41.

And whereas, said mortgage, provided as one of its conditions that in case of failure to pay any part of said interest when the same becomes due or to pay any taxes levied upon said realestate before the same becomes delinquent, the whole sum of money or indebtedness thereby secured shall thereupon become due and payable; and whereas said mortgage also provides that if such taxes are not so paid the holder of said mortgage may elect to pay the same and be entitled to interest on the same at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum and said mortgage stand as security for the amount so paid, with interest.

And Whereas, there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice on said principal indebtedness and interest thereon and to the date thereof and for said amount paid for taxes and interest thereon the sum of two hundred and forty 33-100 dollars.

And whereas, because of said defaults and of each of them the power of sale in said mortgage contained has become operative, and no action at law or in equity having been instituted to cover said mortgage indebtedness.

Now, Therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises above described which sale will be made by the sheriff of said county of Red Lake at the front door of the Court House in Red Lake Falls, in said County on Saturday the 19th day of July 1902 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said indebtedness, the Attorney's fees of $35.00, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year thereafter, as provided by law.

George Schaub, a well known German citizen of New Lebanon, Ohio, is a constant reader of the Dayton Volkszeitung. He knows that this paper aims to advertise only the best in its columns, and when he saw Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised therein for lame back, he did not hesitate in buying a bottle of it for his wife, who for eight weeks had suffered with the most terrible pains in her back and could get no relief. He says: "After using the Pain Balm for a few days my wife said to me, "I feel as though born anew', and before using the entire contents of the bottle the unbearable pains had entirely vanished and she could again take up her household duties." He is very thankful and hopes that all suffering likewise will hear of her wonderful recovery. This valuable liniment is for sale by W. A. Schreiter.

Seven Years in Bed.

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquired the friends of Mrs. L. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility; but, "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. W. A. Schreiter. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Land agents were numerous around here this week.

RED LAKE REGION

A Correspondent Writes Entertainingly of its Beauties and Vast Resources.

Six miles northeast of Red Lake Falls lie the eleven townships now included in the Red Lake Indian Reservation, which the Indians have agreed to sell the government. This land, after some agreement has been reached in congress, will be thrown open to settlement, probably under the lottery system, which provides that no one can get a homestead except a bona fide settler, and to avoid the rush and consequent disorder all applicants for homesteads will enjoy the same opportunity of a choice by lot. Each applicants must pay $1.00 to have his name registered, and the successful parties will have the privilege of selecting a quarter section of land and settling thereon within six months of filing. The eleven townships will afford homes for 1,584 settlers and undoubtedly one or two new towns will spring up probably somewhere along the river. The soil in this section is as good as anywhere in Minnesota. East of this land the Red Lake River from its source at the western end of Lower RedLake passes through a swampy country overgrown with wild rice and heavy coarse grass, which belongs to the diminished Indian reservation.

Red Lake itself is not only the largest lake in Minnesota, but the largest body of fresh water wholly in the United States with the exception of Lake Michigan. It is composed of two nearly equal portions connected by a strait about a mile wide and are known as the Upper and Lower lakes. Each of these parts are about 30 miles wide. North of the lake is an immense swamp stretching from east to west into which the lake in high water is said to drain. The upper lake is quite shallow, and has two streams flowing into it, one of them called the Tamarac River and is of considerable size. The Lower lake is fed by numerous rivers and creeks, the largest of which is called Black Duck. The southern shore is much of it a bluffy nature and heavily wooded, thus presenting a beautiful appearance. But along all the extensive shore line of this lake there is not a single harbor of any kind, unless the mouth of the Black Duck is called such.

The Indian Reservation extends all along the shore of the Lower Lake and about six miles inland, and taking in a narrow strip of about half a mile east of it, which reaches north to the Upper lake. One of the best parts of the reservation is the narrow high land between the two lakes, which form a peninsula. On the south shore about midway between east and west, is the Indian village known as the Red Lake agency, where a government agent resides and where the government maintains a splendid school for Indian boys and girls. Two or three hundred Indians live in the town in neat cottages, built usually of logs. There are also several stores and two hotels carried on by Indians and half breeds. No whites are permitted to reside there except as they are married to Indian women. The Roman Catholics and Episcopalians maintain churches at the agency. On the peninsula there is another government school. On the Red Lake reservation there are all told 1150 souls, scattered about in villages or isolated log huts. In summer time they almost invariably remove to some other part of the reservation from their usual home and live in tepees or bark huts. Only a few do any farming and then a patch for maize and potatoes seems to measure the extent of their agricultural operations.

To the south and the east of Red Lake is heavily timbered country, and throughout this region are scattered many logging camps where many hundred men are engaged in cutting down the splendid growth of white and yellow pine and spruce. Much of this country, especially between the agency and Solway, has been made a desolate wilderness by these logging operations and consequent forest fires. There is nothing more dreary and desolate than a pine cutting thro' which a forest fire has swept. The great timber companies own most of this land wherever a stick of pine stands, and as the pine growth is scattered among hardwood timber, these companies own vast stretches of good land, which should never have been sold to them. The people and the government of the United States have been defrauded of both land and money to enrich the land kings. Every unbiased observer maintains that only the merchantable timber should have been sold to these men with stipulations of its removal without injury to the other timber, within a specified time. Then this land should have been thrown open to settlers. Most of the land east and south of the lake is within from ten to fifteen miles of the Crookston-Duluth railway and the land is very good. Of course much, if not most of this land, was orginally retained for homesteading as it contains no pine.

Even the growth of the hard timber and poplar reaches proportions have never been seen anywhere else in Minnesota. The prevailing timbers are birch and poplar with much basswood, ash, elm oak and maple. Excepting the pine, the cedar, which is found on the lower ground, is the most valuable. With railroads in this country all of this could be marketed at a good price.

Unfortunately all railroad operations have been indefinitely postponed so that the Minnesota & International road terminates at Blackduck, 27 miles to the northeast of Bemidji. The branch projected from a point midway between Bemidji and Blackduck would make a direct route to Red Lake and thus in connection with the steamers, offer easy access to any point on the lake.

At present the extended stage drive of 45 miles over a corduroy and almost bottomless pitch holes makes a trip to Red Lake a matter for careful consideration. The ride by boat from Thief River Falls is so toilsome and tedious that it is scarcely the lesser choice of the two evils. Overland by livery offers the shortest route, while for most seasons of the year the road from Blackduck down the Battle River is passable only for the strongest wagon and hardiest drivers. In short the only absolutely reliable way to travel in this country is to go on foot.

In these great forests large game still abounds—moose, caribou, deer, bears, wolves and wild cats. But settlers are coming in so fast that in a few years, these will probably have fled to regions less frequented by man or will have disappeared altogether.

The towns along the new railroad—Turtle River, Tenstrike and Blackduck—will all become thriving towns, and when the railroad operations are resumed, I look for good towns at Bridgie, twenty miles northeast of Blackduck, and at Big Forks where there is great water power. On the branch to Red Lake there will be towns at Nebish, and if a town site can be obtained from the Indians on Red Lake at a point called the "Landing," which is now the terminus of a logging road.

There is a spot a short distance from the shores of the lake through which flows a most picturesque little stream, with a good soil and heavily timbered, where I should like to live. Some day at that point or near it there will be a thriving town. But all of this country will develop slowly owing to the heavy timber interspersed with considerable swamp. Ordinarily it will be many years before this country would open up at all but the pressure of population is becoming so strong in this country that the hardier Americans will move in as homesteaders or buyers of cheap lands and within half a generation will have subdued this great wilderness.

Compared with what the hardy pioneer had to contend with three generations ago in Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin, the settlers in Northern Minnesota will have easy times. There will be no cruel savages to fear and no danger of staravtion. The settler will be within a day's journey by team of the nearest settlement, where his timber may be sold and provisions and clothing may be bought. Seventy-five years ago the pioneer was thrown absolutely upon his own resources, and trusted upon his rifle for both life and livebood.—H. F. Oehler, in Wadena Pioneer Journal.

NO TREATIES.

CANNON WOULD NOT LET THEM BE RATIFIED THIS SESSION.

Washington, June 30.—Representative Cannon, chairman of the committee on appropriations, has stated positively that none of the Indian treaties negotiated within the last year by Inspector McLaughlin shall be ratified at this session. There are four or five of these treaties, involving somewhere near four millions of dollars to be paid to the Indians by the government.

Treaties made with the Devils Lake Indians in North Dakota and the Rosebud Indians in South Dakota have given the delegates from those two states a great deal of anxiety. The Devils Lake treaty was the first of the two to be negotiated and Senator Hansborough put it through the senate last December. It has been slumbering in the house since notwithstanding the efforts made by Congressman Marshall to get it up for consideration. Now that Chairman Cannon has openly declared that none of these treaties shall pass the senate, members of the house who are interested in them have concluded to give up the fight for the present season.

Indian Allotments Being Sold.

It is a fact not generally known that allotments which have been taken by Indians now deceased, on White Earth and other Chippewa reservations, are now being quietly disposed of to outside parties by the government, but such is claimed to be the case.

These lands on the White Earth comprise in all about 120,000 acres and it is reported that an English syndicate is buying them up for speculation. These allotments are in 80 acre tracts and the proceeds from the sale of them will be divided between the heirs of the deceased Indians.—Thirteen Towns.

NARROW ESCAPE.

GASOLINE LAUNCH GOES DOWN IN BEMIDJI LAKE---NO FATALITIES.

Theo. Garceau and Frank E. Hunt returned Tuesday from an outing along the Duluth line of the Great Northern. They tell of the miraculous escape of Mr. Garceau and 13 other passengers on the gasoline launch, Ranger, owned by Frank Reynolds and counted the best craft on the lake, which blew up when 400 feet from the shore, 7 miles from the Bemidji landing.

As fortune had it, the accident occurred in shallow water, and the passengers, none of whom were seriously injured, were able to wade to shore, the water coming just up to their chins. The boat, after burning to the water's edge, sank. The long absence of the Ranger alarmed interested ones and a relief launch was sent out which took the passengers safely back to Bemidji.

It was truly a miraculous escape. Had the accident occurred at any other point, the deep waters of Bemidji lake would have claimed its victims with perhaps none left to tell the tale. Mr. Hunt was not on the boat at the time of the accident.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE

SESSION HELD BY THE STATE CORPS IN THIS CITY SATURDAY.

Supt. Hoverstad, of the Crookston State Experimental farm, held a Farmers' Institute in this city Friday afternoon. He was ably assisted by Col. Wilkinson, Dr. Reynolds, Mrs. C. H. Robbins, Mrs T. H. Wilcox, Dr. J. C. Carryer and A. W. Latham.

The attendance was fair, but not as large as it should have been, and this was owing in part to the fact that the directors had failed to supply the newspapers with data to properly advertise the institute. However, the work of the session was appreciated by the farmers present, and no doubt, the corps succeeded in inspiring a wholesome regard for scientific methods in farming. The good work is being systematically carried on, and is telling. The efforts of the corps are seconded by those farmers who, from experience, can testify to the practicability and value of the suggestions made, and the success of the creamery institution here is a living proof of the correctness of at least one of the cardinal tenets preached" year after year by these agricultural missionaries—the importance of dairying in conjunction with successful farm management.

Firemen's Tournament.

Cass Lake, Minn, June 30—The eighth annual tournament of northern Minnesota's firemen began in earnest Friday afternoon. In the parade Grand Rapids won first prize for the largest number of men in line, Bemidji was second. For the best appearing company Stephen was first and Grand Rapids second. In the races association championship hose cart, Bemidji again won the banner and first cash prize; Grand Rapids was second and Stephen third. Cass Lake had an accident in the ladder climbing, Goodman of Bemidji and Bisari of Park Rapids divided first. Geil of Bemidji was second and Mandt of Cass Lake third.

In the association hook and ladder and service test Bemidji was first, Park Rapids second, Cass Lake and Stephen divided third, Grand Rapids also participated.

The business meeting of the association was held Friday evening. Park Rapids was designated as the place of holding the tournament in 1903. The following officers were elected: President, M. C. Schonberger; first vice president, George Ridell, Grand Rapids; second vice president, H. V. Murray, East Grand Forks; treasurer, C. R. Martin, Bemidji.

In the hook and ladder contest on Saturday Bemidji, Grand Rapids and Stephen took prizes in the order named. Park Rapids won the wet service test with Grand Rapids second and Cass Lake third. The hub and hub race was very exciting and was strictly what the name implies. Bemidji was first, Park Rapids second and Cass Lake third.

DEATH OF A PIONEER.

Joseph Durand, a Resident Since 1878, Passes Away.

Joseph Durand, who has long been an invalid, died early Tuesday morning, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lucian Philion. The funeral occurred this morning from St. Joseph's church.

Joseph Durand was born in Quebec, Canada, March 2, 1820, and was therefore in his 83d year. He moved to Chicago in 1867 and a year later settled in Red Lake Falls, where he has since made his home. He leaves four children, two sons, Joseph and Frank Durand, of Chicago, and two daughters, Mrs. Lucian Philion and Mrs. John Bourdon of this city.

Topographic Map of Duluth and Vinicity.

The United States Geological Survey has recently issued a topographic map sheet covering the portion of St. Louis county, Minnesota, in which is located the city of Duluth. The map—which is a reprint, the first edition having been issued in 1895—is drawn on a scale of about 1 inch to the mile. All the highways, railroads, and drainage are shown, and the topographic features, or inequalities of relief are indicated by contour lines drawn for every 20 feet of elevation. The neighboring suburbs of Duluth—Lester Park, Woodland Park, Hunter Park, and Duluth Heights—appear on the sheet, as do several of the lakes north and west of the city.

Red Lake Falls Wins.

Two ball games go down to the credit of the local nines the past week. On Saturday our High School nine went to Crookston and played the local nine. It was a splendid game, Red Lake Falls finally winning in a score of 5 to 4. The Crookston Journal says: "The lads put up a superior article of the popular game and it was lots more fun than a league game. The teams will clash again in the near future."

On Sunday the Sampson addition aggregation came up from Crookston with the high purpose of carrying off a victory. A pickup nine stood them off for nine innings, when the score broke 6 to 6. At the end of the 10th inning Red Lake Falls came up smiling with another tally, and succeeded in shutting out the visitors, the score standing 7 to 6 in our favor.

Screen doors and screen windows will soon be needed. We have them in all kinds and all sizes at rock bottom prices.

State Auditor, Sam G. Iverson, Fillmore.
Railway Commissioner, C. F. Staples, Farmington.
Clerk of the Supreme Court, C. A. Pidgeon, Buffalo.

Populist Nominees.

Special to The Gazette.

Minneapolis, Minn, July 3, 1901.—T. J. Meighan has been nominated for governor by the populists, and Aug. Hompe for lieutenant governor. These are the only nomination made so far.

The indications are for a straight out and out populist ticket.

Hon. Ezra G. Valentine

Ezra G. Valentine was born on a farm in Wyoming county, New York, August 9th, 1847, and moved with his parents to Wisconsin in 1856, where they settled on a farm near Ripon, in Fon du Lac county. In 1859 the family moved to Ripon and Ezra prepared for college at Ripon Academy.

In due time young Valentine entered Beloit College, taking a classical course in that famous institution. He worked his way through college, paying all his expenses with money earned by himself. He won the prize in Greek and graduated with honor in June, 1869, when not quite twenty-two years of age. Three years later he was honored by his Alma Mater with the degree of A. M.

He was admitted to the bar in Chicago by the supreme court of Illinois.

He practiced law in Chicago until December, 1882, when, having partially lost his health by overwork, he was advised to go to Minnesota. He decided to go to Breckenridge, and as his health improved rapidly, he remained here and is still a resident.

He has practiced law for over a quarter of a century, and by hard and honest work, and strict attention to every detail, has obtained a large and lucrative practice. He is now one of the largest farmers in Wilkin county. He is truly a laboring man and is in hearty sympathy and accord with the laboring classes.

When the great question of drainage for the Red River Valley came up in 1886, Mr. Valentine was one of the first to grasp the importance of the subject. In that year a convention was called at Crookston, the result of which was a survey of the Valley in Minnesota and the appointment of a committee of fifteen to take charge of the cause of drainage. Mr. Valentine was unanimously chosen chairman of that committee. He accepted the responsibility and has never ceased to do all in his power for the cause. He urged the legislature to make an appropriation and, after laboring for this at three different sessions, he and his co-workers at the fourth trial saw their labors crowned with success.

Under the state law making the first appropriation of $100,000 for drainage purposes, a state drainage board was created and Mr. Valentine has been from the first and still is, the president of that board. Nearly a quarter of a million dollars has been spent for drainage of the Valley under the direct supervision of Mr. Valentine, who has not only been the president of the board but also its legal adviser and consulting engineer, being well versed in civil engineering. At his request recently, and after the last appropriation had been expended, a careful examination of the vouchers on file with the state auditor was made and it was found that all money appropriated had been accounted for to the last penny.

Eminent authorities have examined this drainage work and pronounce it first-class in every respect.

W. R. Hoag, chief engineer of the drainage board, pays the following splendid tribute to Mr. Valentine: "In simple justice to all it should be said that, but for the disinterested and almost heroic work of one man, both in securing proper legislation and in prosecuting the work of construction, the full benefits now secured to the Valley would have been greatly delayed and possibly never realized. His name need not be here written, for his deeds are known to every land owner in the Valley. Mr. Valentine, though serving without compensation, has personally inspected every ditch throughout its entire length, before final payment was made."

If further proof of Mr. Valentine's loyalty to this work and his interest in the material prosperity of the people of the Valley, were needed, it appears in a recent gift of a thousand dollars made by him to the drainage age fund.

Two years ago Mr. Valentine was a candidate for the congressional nomination, and after a hard, but good-natured and gentlemanly struggle was beaten by congressman Eddy. Mr. Valentine took defeat in the proper spirit, and no man did more loyal, earnest and effective work for the whole ticket than did he.

In coming before the people this time for the congressional nomination Mr. Valentine has many things in his favor. He is one of the best known men in the state as well as the ablest. He has devoted much of his time for the past sixteen years to the public welfare, and has neither asked or received one cent for his services. He is a tireless worker, a thorough, up-to-date business man, knows the needs of the district and no one would look after these interests with greater care.—Breckenridge Telegram.

Indian Murder.

Bemidji, Minn, June 30.—County Attorney Street received a letter from Indian overseer Sullivan at Red Lake agency, saying he had retained in custody one Bazil Thunder, accused of the murder of a woman named O-Bo-Boh-Maneh-Eke. The murder was recently committed outside of the reservation. A house of squaws of ill fame is said to have been conducted by a Bemidji white man in the vicinity of the reservation in which it is supposed the murder was committed.

The Same Old Story.

J. A. Kally, relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and retold by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kally is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

KING FOUND GUILTY

SECOND MINNEAPOLIS POLICE OFFICER CONVICTED OF CRIMINAL DEED.

Grasshoppers Causing Considerable Damage in Polk County—Russell Sage Loses Suit Involving Northern Minnesota Lands—Mrs. Tanke, on Trial at Henderson, Admits Killing Her Husband—General State News.

Minneapolis, June 29.—Nathaniel W. King, one of Mayor Ames' thirty plain clothes men or detectives, was last evening found guilty of felony.

The trial of King, familiarly known as "Norm" King, has occupied nearly two weeks' time. The case was a sensational one, not only because the defendant was a very well known man in the community, but from the fact that that distinguished crook and still more famous witness, "Billy" Edwards, figured as a very material witness.

In the indictment upon which the trial was based King is accused of having been accessory to a felony after the fact, in that he permitted the release of one Harry Adams from the county jail when he knew that Adams was criminally interested in the theft of a diamond stud stolen from J. S. Hooper, a real estate man, at the Chicago Great Western station on March 1 of last year. The contention is that King himself secured possession of the gem and appropriated it to his own use.

LOCUSTS IN POLK COUNTY.

Breeding Place Discovered by State Entomologist.

Crookston, Minn., June 27.—F. L. Washburn, the state entomologist, finds millions of grasshoppers in the Hill River district, near McIntosh, Polk county. Farmers are much alarmed and are using "hopper dosers" daily.

Eleven barrels of oil have already been used in the battle against the locusts, which are rapidly mowing down the grain.

These grasshoppers all come apparently from 300 acres of unplowed stubble, some of which has lain fallow for two or three years, and all farmers unite in asking for a law obliging speculators and others to plow late in the fall all lands declared infested.

This same region was affected last year, but not so badly.

If one-third of these hoppers survive and lay eggs this part of the country will be overrun a year from now.

Nearly the same conditions prevail near Gentilly on grain lying next to stubble on dry ridges.

RUSSELL SAGE LOSES CASE.

District Court Reversed in Minnesota Railway Land Case.

St. Paul, June 30.—The supreme court has reversed the decision of the Ramsey county district court and holds that Uri L. Lamprey still has the right to complete his contract with the St. Paul and Chicago railroad for the purchase of 30,000 acres of land in twenty-six counties of Northern Minnesota. Lamprey in 1887 entered into a contract with the railroad company to sell 100,000 acres of land for $1 per acre.

All the land except 30,000 acres was sold before Jan. 23, 1899. The time limit of the contract had been ignored until that date and then the company tried to declare the lands forfeited. A compromise was made by which Lamprey was to have a year in which to sell the lands and part of them were sold, but in April, 1900, the railroad company sold the remaining lands to Russell Sage and the suit by Lamprey followed.

EXONERATES HER HUSBAND.

Mrs. Tanke Claims Responsibility for the Death of Wellner.

Henderson, Minn., June 27.—Mrs. Tanke created a ripple of excitement in court during the morning, submitting an affidavit which she had made setting forth that she was alone responsible for the death of her first husband, John Wellner, on the night of Dec. 31, 1898.

She stated that she shot and killed him between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock and that she dug a hole in the barnyard and hid the revolver, watch and pocketbook and made an application to be allowed to go with the sheriff and point out the location where the articles are buried.

The court granted the request and the sheriff, accompanied by Mrs. Tanke, a deputy and a lady, left for the Wellner place.

TRAIN HELD UP.

Obstructions Placed on Great Northern Track Near St. Cloud.

St. Cloud, Minn., June 26.—At 10:40 p. m. No. 7, westbound local passenger train, struck an obstruction two and a half miles east of St. Cloud, giving the passengers a good shaking up, though none were injured. Half an hour before a freight train passed the spot, and it is presumed that an attempt was then made to wreck the passenger train. Gravel and sand had been piled upon the track, indicating an intention to hold up the train rather than to wreck it. The theory is advanced that robbery was intended.

ASLEEP ON THE TRACK.

Unknown Man Killed by a Great Northern Train.

St. Cloud, Minn., June 27.—The Great Northern southbound passenger, Sandstone to St. Paul, yesterday killed an unknown man at Quamba. The man, presumably a "lumber jack," was asleep on the track, with his head on a tie for a pillow. The noise of the approaching train awakened him, and he raised up just in time to have his head struck by the pilot of the engine. His skull was fractured and he died instantly.

Twelve-Year-Old Boy Suicides.

Osakis, Minn., June 25.—Louis, the twelve-year-old son of George Warner, three miles north of Osakis, committed suicide by hanging himself with a tie strap attached to a beam in the cow stable. The boy undoubtedly committed the act while in a fit of despondency. Coroner Hensel decided that no inquest was necessary.

EMBEZZLEMENT ALLEGED.

Former Resident of Duluth Arrested in San Francisco.

San Francisco, June 28.—J. P. Spence, said to be manager of the United States Realty association at Duluth, Minn., has been arrested here on a warrant telegraphed from the chief of police of Duluth, charging embezzlement. Spence was found with his wife and two children in a private house in Sutter street. He was quite ill and could not be removed.

Spence came to San Francisco on June 16 with his family. To the detective he asserted he did not know why he was wanted in Duluth. He said he came to California solely for his health.

Duluth, June 28.—J. C. Spence was agent at Duluth for the United States Installment Realty company, a concern that builds houses on the co-operative plan. He disappeared from here about two weeks ago and at that time was supposed to be short about $600 in his accounts. This alleged shortage, it is stated, has since grown to $1,400. It was suspected that he had gone West and all Western points were notified, but the authorities here had about given up hope of his capture.

JUDGE FERGUS DEAD.

Founder of Little Falls and Fergus Falls Dies.

Helena, Mont., June 27.—James Fergus is dead at Lewiston, aged eighty-nine years. He was a native of Scotland and a pioneer of four American states—Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota and Montana. He will be buried at Helena Sunday. He immigrated to the United States in 1822, locating at Green Bay, Wis., afterwards going to Milwaukee and Chicago.

He then went to Minnesota, founding the towns of Little Falls and Fergus Falls, the latter place taking his name. All this occurred before the Civil war.

With reports of the discovery of gold in Montana, Fergus joined the Fick expedition, although fifty years old. He was selected judge of the first miners' court at the historic Bannack City and was noted for his integrity and rigid opposition to evil doers then infesting the state. Later he moved to Helena and was elected a member of the territorial legislature and served in the constitutional convention.

HEARING POSTPONED.

Striking Tugmen at Duluth Appear Before Inspectors.

Duluth, June 27.—Striking licensed tugmen to the number of fifteen appeared before the United States inspectors here to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked, being charged with "hindering commerce on the Great Lakes. The Great Lakes Towing company, which brought the charges, was not prepared and asked for a continuance, which was granted, no time being set. The men consider the action of the towing company lightly and declare there is no chance of being deprived of their papers.

Supervising Inspector General Dumont has upheld the stand taken by four of the local strikers, who refused to answer certain questions regarding the recent action brought at Buffalo.

The inspector general bases his decision on the fact that the local inspectors had no right to compel the men to answer questions that might incriminate themselves.

MINNESOTA AUCTIONEERS.

They Meet in Convention at Mankato and Elect Officers.

Mankato, Minn., June 26.—The Minnesota Auctioneers' association held its annual meeting in Mankato and elected the following officers: President, T. S. Fisk, Fairmont; vice president, Colonel Seeman, Springfield; secretary, J. D. Martin, Marshall; treasurer, J. G. Fowler, Mankato.

At the next session of the legislature the association will try to secure the passage of a measure providing for the appointment of a board of examiners whose duty it shall be to test the qualifications of persons who seek to become auctioneers. It is the desire of the auctioneers to place their business on the same plane with lawyers and doctors. The Minnesota association has about sixty members.

LAKE FLEET GROWS.

Cleveland, June 30.—The Plaindealer says: One of the largest shipbuilding deals ever made on the lakes has been closed by the American Ship Building company, that company having booked orders for eleven freight steamers that will cost upwards of $2,000,000.

Contracts for ten ships were closed by A. B. Wolvin of Duluth, who is president of the company that is to develop a special trade in grain and package freight down the St. Lawrence to Quebec. The boats will be of Canadian canal size. They will be 242-feet keel, 43 feet beam and 26 feet deep. According to the contract the boats are to be completed and ready for business next May.

Mrs. Tanke, on trial at Henderson for complicity in the murder of her first husband and for whose murder her second husband has been found guilty, created a ripple of excitement in court by submitting an affidavit which she had made setting forth that she was alone responsible for the crime.

Anderson, cashier of the St. Paul National bank, vice president; Joseph Chapman, Jr., secretary, and George H. Price, Jr., treasurer.

The Crookston city council has decided to establish a paid fire department. A chemical and hose wagon will be purchased, also teams of trained fire horses. A complete alarm system will also be put in. The council has been considering this matter for some time and has decided that action must be taken to protect property.

The Great Northern southbound passenger train killed Andrew Winberg at Quamba. Winberg was asleep by the track, with his head on a tie for a pillow. The noise of the approaching train awakened him and he raised up just in time to have his head struck by the pilot of the engine. His skull was fractured and he died instantly.

The engineers of the Minnesota Consolidated Iron company at Hibbing went out on a strike for an increase in pay from $2 to $2.25 per day and firemen on the steam shovel engines at the slack piles. The management refuses to consider the demands, and, as a result, the several mines of the company will be closed until the matter is settled.

"John the Baptist," a Minnesota product, was arrested at Chicago Thursday on a charge of disorderly conduct. The prisoner is sixty years old. He calls himself "John the Baptist II." upon this point, and Alden stepped to the door and glanced into the large room. Elmendorf heard some one say in response to a question that Robinson had gone out. Alden seemed annoyed as he returned to his desk, where he hastily wrote a note to Robinson.

"Now," he said, "I'm going up town."

"St. Winifred's?" queried Elmendorf.

"I shall call there about 1 o'clock."

"If you'll go over to the Astor House with me," said Elmendorf, "and wait about three minutes while I transact a little business, I'll go up with you, and we can talk on the way. There are a few questions that I'd like to ask after I've straightened them out in my own mind a bit."

Alden saw no objection to this arrangement, and so they walked over to the old hotel together. Elmendorf glanced at his watch as they entered and then approached the attendant in charge of the telephone booths in the hall.

"There will be a call for Mr. Elmendorf from Philadelphia in about a minute," he said. "I am the man."

The call came within the interval stated, and Elmendorf entered the booth, where he gave the customary greeting, which was returned in a familiar voice.

"I've got track of your man over here," said the voice. "R. appears to be his real name; didn't suppose it was. He was in trouble over here a little more than a year ago and had to get out of town: borrowed some money on bogus security." And the voice furnished a few details of the transaction. "He has been trying to straighten it out lately and is not in danger of arrest here; has been over several times. There are rumors that he got into similar trouble in Washington, but I'm not down to that yet. One man who knows him here thinks he had letters from a girl named Miller; doesn't know whether she was on the stage or anything about her, in fact; isn't even sure of the name, but I'm going to get more information about that. As to other inquiries, nothing as yet, but will write you this evening."

"All right," responded Elmendorf. "Hustle, old man. This thing is getting pretty ripe over here. And, remember, this is personal business; it isn't official. I may want to cover the whole matter up."

"The man is no good, I guess," said the voice.

"I don't care anything about the man," rejoined Elmendorf, "or the other one either. It's the girl I'm interested in. Nothing is too good for her or ever was, and if the worst comes I want to be in a position to wring somebody's neck and wring it hard. I don't know whose it will be yet. How about the records?"

"Nothing in sight."

"Well, there must be somewhere. Mr. Tantalus has got to be accounted for. Much obliged to you. Goodby."

Elmendorf rejoined Alden, who in the meantime had engaged a hansom.

"Your secretary, Robinson, seems to be a handy man," said Elmendorf after some desultory conversation.

"He's very obliging," replied Alden.

"Perfectly honest, I suppose?"

"Never knew anything to the contrary," said Alden. "He doesn't handle any money."

"He handled $500 the other day," suggested Elmendorf.

"But he didn't know it," replied Alden. "I don't mean to imply anything against Robinson, but I know very little about him, and I never trust a man any further than I know him. I never trust a man with money unless I know the money side of him. It is possible to be a good, straight fellow about everything else and have a weakness there."

"I should think you ought to be a pretty good business man," said Elmendorf.

"I suffer from the same trouble that you have," replied Alden; "I'm too honest."

"There's nothing honest about me," protested Elmendorf gloomily. "It's my luck; I never have a chance. By the way," he added, changing his tone, "Robinson knew Miss Miller quite well, didn't he?"

"Only through me," answered Alden. "I used to get him to take messages to her house quite often. It was convenient; he lived near by."

"Yes," said Elmendorf. "They told me at the house that he came quite often. Do you remember the first note with her name on it that you ever gave him? Well, I happen to know that he took it to your bookkeeper, Willett, and asked who Miss Miller was. He seemed to be quite interested. Afterward he told Willett that he was mistaken in supposing that he knew Miss Miller. It was another girl of the same name."

"If you are trying to work Jack Robinson into this case," said Alden, "you are a long way off the track."

Elmendorf protested that he had no such intention, adding that he had no rational theory of the case and never expected to have one.

When they entered St. Winifred's, they met Dr. Kendall, who had just come from a visit to Elsie. He led them into his own room.

"I'm sorry to tell you," he said to Alden, "that Miss Miller is not quite so well just now. I wouldn't advise seeing her. Mr. Robinson delivered your message."

"What message? When?" demanded Alden.

"He was here about half an hour ago," said Kendall, with increasing alarm as he noted the manner of the others. "He said it was something very important from you, and after consulting with Miss Maclane I let him speak with Miss Miller in private for a few minutes. I thought she seemed somewhat disturbed afterward, but she told us that the matter was of small consequence."

"I know nothing whatever about it," exclaimed Alden. "I did not send him here and had no idea he was coming."

He turned to Elmendorf with a sharply questioning glance.

"Well, you can search me," said the detective.

"You mean that you know nothing about it?" asked Kendall anxiously.

"Less than nothing," responded Elmendorf, "and I'm giving you straight goods too."

There was a knock at Kendall's door, and he admitted a nurse, who said that Miss Maclane wished to see him. He did not wait to speak a single word, but hurried away. Alden tried to get an explanation from the nurse, but she professed to have none.

For nearly an hour the two men waited with impatience, which finally passed Alden's power of endurance.

"I must get some word from her," he said after much pacing of the floor. "There must be serious danger or he would not stay so long."

Elmendorf pointed out the obvious possibility that Kendall might long since have answered Miss Maclane's summons and have gone upon any of a hundred other duties, but Alden would not be thus quieted. He went out to the office to ask in what way he could communicate with the doctor, and within a minute after his departure Kendall entered the room.

He had a large glass jar in his hand, which seemed to contain milk. This he set down upon the table and immediately touched an electric button.

"How is she?" asked Elmendorf in a tone betraying the most earnest solicitude.

"Better, better," replied Kendall. "I think there's no longer any danger. Where is Mr. Alden?"

"No longer any danger!" exclaimed Elmendorf, ignoring the question. "Has there been any?"

"Well," said Kendall, "she fainted again."

"Again!"

"The first time was just before you came up," said Kendall. "Don't say anything about this. We had just given her a little luncheon, and I thought perhaps she might have had some small stomach trouble; oppresses the heart sometimes, you know. But I don't like this second attack. Heart failure after the injury and the nervous exhaustion wouldn't be the most unlikely thing in the world, you know. Ah! Come here, George."

The last words were addressed to a youth in uniform who had answered the doctor's ring. Kendall gave him some money and whispered to him near the door. When he turned, as George departed, he saw Elmendorf standing rigid, with his blue eyes unusually wide open.

"What do you want of two white mice?" he demanded.

"Really, now"— Kendall began.

"Look here," interrupted Elmendorf. "If there's anything of that kind going on I'm the man you need. Don't hide anything from me; for the little girl's sake, don't do it, doctor."

Kendall bit his lips and hesitated. Then he said suddenly, as steps were heard in the hall:

Alden entered and stopped short, in his own peculiar fashion, with his eyes on the doctor.

"It's all right," said Kendall. "Miss Miller showed some indications of weakness, but is doing nicely now. I should think you might see her about 5 o'clock."

"Well, doctor, I'm glad everything's all right," said Elmendorf. "I began to be anxious, you were so long away. But what you've said has made me feel easy again, and so I think the best thing that Mr. Alden and I can do is to try to get some light on Mr. Robinson's strange conduct. The man may have struck some kind of a clew and have rushed right off to verify it without waiting to consult anybody."

"I didn't think of that," responded Alden. "It may be that you've found the explanation."

"I would suggest that you go to his house," said Elmendorf. "Meanwhile I'll telephone to your office and one or two other places and see if I can get track of him. But the likeliest place is his house. Wait there for me. I'll join you before 3."

This arrangement was agreed upon, and the two men went out together. Elmendorf was busy with the telephone for half an hour, but he failed to extract valuable information from any person with whom he talked, although the chief of the detective bureau was one of them.

Returning to the hospital, he went at once to Kendall's room. In answer to his rap and the sound of his voice the door was unlocked and he was admitted. In passing he glanced searchingly at Kendall's face, which wore an expression of extreme anxiety; then he advanced to the table in the middle of the room, from which he lifted a newspaper, thus revealing the bodies of two little white mice.

He sat down and rested his head on his hands.

"Good Lord!" he gasped. "You don't mean it?"

Kendall nodded. Then he sat down and rested his head on his hands for a few seconds, while Elmendorf gathered breath and heart for the next question.

"What was in the jar—milk?"

"No," replied Kendall. "It is a kind of liquid food preparation. The basis of it is milk; but, unfortunately," he added, looking up at the detective, "it will keep."

"Been in the room several days, you mean?" said Elmendorf. "If it was ordinary milk that had been dosed, we could narrow it down to a few hours. But this stuff—why, absolutely everybody connected with the case has had a chance at it."

"How shall I tell her?" muttered Kendall.

"Her?"

The doctor gave a nervous start.

"Miss Maclane," he said. "This will be a hard story for her to hear."

"You are right," replied Elmendorf, "after all the care she's taken, the devotion she's shown to that poor child, who was nothing to her—worse than nothing, in fact—an enemy, you might say."

"Now, look here"— exclaimed Kendall hoarsely as he got upon his feet.

"No, no!" cried Elmendorf. "I don't mean to accuse her. That would be absurd. We mustn't waste time. What was the poison?"

"I don't know," replied Kendall. "Of course there was no time for analysis. That's why I tried it on these small animals. It's some kind of a heart depressant—the very thing to use in a case of this kind, where the condition is one of weakness and especially where there is an injury in the region of the organ."

"But didn't these mice show any symptoms that you could recognize?" asked Elmendorf.

"No; nothing definite. I could name several poisons that would answer all the requirements. It isn't necessary to know immediately. The treatment would be the same in any case. And the danger is over, I believe."

"Unless it's somewhere else," said Elmendorf; "in her medicines, perhaps."

"That wouldn't be possible without assuming something that can't be assumed—not in my presence, at any rate."

"You mean that Miss Maclane"—

"Precisely," said Kendall. "And as there can be no thought of such a thing we conclude that this infernal thing"—and he tapped the jar with his knuckles—"which was handy for everybody, wide mouthed and all that—Oh, I have been an idiot!"

"She's been having this right along," said Elmendorf. "That might indicate"—

"Nothing until we know just what the stuff is and how much of it we have to deal with," replied Kendall. "The effects observed may come from what she ate this noon or be the general result of small, repeated doses."

"There's one thing," said Elmendorf with decision—"this villainous act must have been done by somebody who knew that the food was there, by some one who had been in the room several times"—

"Don't!" groaned Kendall. "By heavens, I can't bear to think of it! I like Alden; I can't believe this of him. And—and she loves him; she loves him just as much now as ever."

"Miss Maclane?" said Elmendorf. "My friend, I don't believe it."

CHAPTER XVI.

ELSIE PERPETRATES A JEST.

"THEY say," remarked Elsie, "that people always feel particularly well just before they die. Do you remember Bernhardt in 'Camille,' the very last words before she dies in Armand's arms: 'I shall live! Ah, how well I feel!' How I cried when she said that! And then Gaston says, 'She sleeps.' Isn't that a lovely scene?"

"As it came to your mind at this moment," said Brenda, "I joyfully infer that you are feeling very much better."

"You must think I am silly to talk so much about dying," said Elsie. "I am soggy with sentimentality."

"You have mentioned it on just four occasions," said Brenda, "including this, but it seems often to us because we don't wish to lose you and to yourself because really and truly you don't wish to die. On the whole, you have been as cheerful as any girl could possibly be under the circumstances, and as for your sentimentality, my dear, I'd give the world to have some of it myself."

"I was going to say," continued Elsie, "that my motive for continually harping on it is that you may know I am not afraid, and afterward you may tell Mr. Alden."

This exchange of pleasantries upon a cheerful subject occurred during the time when Kendall was experimenting with the white mice.

"I must have been pretty near it the last time," said Elsie. "It was double. I scarcely knew what was the matter when it began, even though I'd fainted such a little while before. It was like drifting, drifting away. You are surprised. You think you must stop, and before you really have time to be frightened you are gone. But I waked just for a second—just long enough to remember and realize; then down, down, down, sideways to the left there, slipping away from the room and the light. The last was a sensation that they were lowering me into the ground. But I'm going to be cremated. You've promised me that, Brenda."

Then, catching the expression of amused horror—if that can be—on Brenda's face, she laughed with the most delicious and clear sound, like the singing of birds.

"Oh, but it hurts to laugh," she said. "You mustn't make me do it."

"I?" cried Brenda. "You're the first that ever accused me of being amusing."

"Do you know," said Elsie, "that of the two of us you're the blue one? It's much more cheerful to talk about dying than to 'roast' oneself as you do."

"Roasting is popularly supposed to be one step beyond dying," replied Brenda. "But I suppose the roasting you mean is the saying of uncomplimentary things. My child, I can't help it; I suffer by contrast."

"With me?" cried Elsie. "Now you really are amusing. If I had your hair and eyes! Well, that's absurd, of course. But do you know I lie here imitating your ways, your calm, gentle, sweet way of doing things? I'm studying you, Brenda, and if I were to play a society part again you'd see! This is the way you say: 'Good morning, Dr. Kendall. * * * Ah, thank you so much. * * * Shall we see you again soon? * * * Goodby.' You make all the little things mean something. That's dignity, personality. I haven't any more than a blade of grass, but I'm gaining on it. If I live another week, I shall die and go to Daniel Frohman's No. 1 company instead of to heaven. I'd rather."

He came back with a tumbler.

"Do I speak like that when I address Dr. Kendall?" said Brenda, with a slight access of color. "Well, it may be so. You are very clever, my dear."

"This is the way you hold your arms when you walk," said Elsie. "Isn't that pretty? Of course I can't do it very well lying down, but see the fingers and the ease of the wrist. Were you taught to do that?"

"I used to have a governess who was crazy on Delsarte," replied Brenda. "But she presently went crazy on all other subjects also, and we had to send the poor thing to an institution. I was not aware of my debt to her."

"You owe her a great deal," said Elsie. "I wish I'd had a lunatic of that kind in my family. I couldn't afford to have much teaching. Of course I had some, but when I found what my mother was enduring in order to pay for it—well, I took an engagement with the first thing that came along. And it was a barnstorming crew! We gave six plays a week, and I had to learn a long part in every one of them. The second Monday, in the afternoon, the leading lady came into my room and found me huddled up on the floor in the corner gibbering—just gibbering, that was all—words out of all the plays, as she told me afterward, all jumbled together, and I was cross eyed with sitting up all night studying under little flickering gas jets. Yes, that's the way she found me, and the room was as cold as a barn too. I had the bed quilt wrapped around my shoulders and my arm through a hole in it.

"The leading lady yelled to the juvenile man, and he really was juvenile—about 18, as I remember. She said, 'Go get a glass of brandy!' The juvenile man went down to the bar and came back with a tumbler solid full. He had to carry it carefully in order to keep from spilling any. The leading lady was a temperance woman. She never touched a drop of wine, and, in fact, she was a regular straitlaced New England pilgrim, but somebody had told her once that brandy was

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER
—BY—
PHIL. A. KAUFER.

Official Paper of Red Lake County.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year

The merchant with tact has a business partner who will bring him many sales and assist nightily in making collections.

The two essential qualities of a successful business are to keep what the people want, and to tell them by persistent advertising that you handle what they need.

The Alexandria Post News in referring to Senator Grindeland's endorsement by his home town says: "Even such an endorsement from one's fellow citizens is a greater honor than to be elected to congress and the man that can win it is surely worth the votes of the people for any office."

While the press has presented an endless number of illustrations of the Mont Pelee disaster, the illustrations in the July Cosmopolitan, printed on fine white paper with the most careful art, give a clearer idea of just what that disaster means than anything hitherto presented.

John Lind, responding to the toast "The President of the United States" at the Banker's banquet at Winnipeg, paid a high tribute to President Roosevelt, saying, among other things, that "he embodies the highest type of American manhood." That is high eulogy, but it expresses the sentiments of the people of the United States generally, without regard to politics. It is a national tonic to have such a man in the presidential chair. May he always justify the people's confidence, standing unmoved against the awful pressure which always opposes the firm purpose of a president to do right.

The Grand Forks Herald sees in the opening of the neighboring Indian reservations the steady pushing of the frontier further on, and with his wonted wisdom, editor Winship concludes: The opening of the Cass Lake Indian reservation to settlement will be a great thing for the business activity of the northwest. Many thousand acres of land will thus be thrown open to settlement, and many million feet of pine timber will be rendered available for lumbering purposes. It will be some time before the arrangements for the disposal of the lumber and the settlement of the lands can be perfected, but next spring there will be a great influx of settlers into the new country. On the reservation there are thousands of acres of fertile land which have heretofore been unproductive, and which will now become the homes of a large population. The people who settle there will become the producers of many things which are needed abroad, and will in their turn be the purchasers of great quantities of outside goods. Naturally a great portion of the trade of the new section will go to the Twin Cities and Duluth, but the cities on this side will reap their share of advantage, and will profit directly by the settlement of the lands by industrious people. As good neighbors are necessary to the proper development of an individual, they are also necessary to the proper development of a community. A community which has a "frontier" or which is itself a frontier must go without some of the advantages which the communities farther in the interior enjoy, and it is gratifying to note that the territory which surrounds the Red River Valley is rapidly becoming settled by as good a class of people as can be found anywhere. There will soon be no more vacant lands on either side of us, and our people will be benefitted by that condition.

PHILIPPINE CIVIL GOVERNMENT

The Philippine civil government as finally agreed upon, provides for a Philippine legislature of two houses—one the Philippine commission, and the other an assembly elected by the natives, except Moros and Pagans. But this legislature is not to be created until after a census has been taken and a condition of general peace and good order shall have prevailed for two years. The legislature is to elect two commissioners to represent the islands in Washington.

The powers of the legislature are defined and an extended bill of rights set forth—the individual rights of citizens and their protection against unjust laws. Authority is given to issue bonds for the purchase of the friar lands, and when purchased these become part of the public domain.

The public lands are to be open to homesteaders, similar to the American system, and to prevent corporations from absorbing the lands, corporations holdings are limited to 1,204 hectares, or 2,500 acres. Corporations are also stringently regulated in holding mining and agricultural lands.

The conference committees of the Populist and Democratic parties have been called to meet at the court house in this city on Tuesday, July 8, at 2 o'clock, when an effort will be made to reach an agreement as to distribution of county and legislative nominations.

Crookston Times: The Beltrami County News publishes the birth of a son to Judge Reynolds under the caption of "Minor Events." If the editor of the News were forced to take the Judge's place a few nights about this time, it is believed he would be able to think out a more suitable heading.

KEEPING COOL.

During the heated term it will pay every housekeeper to spend some time each day in looking after windows and shades. By so doing she can make even the sunniest house comfortable.

The cool morning air should be let in, then windows and doors closed and kept closed, for the hot air of a July day will not refresh anybody. On the sunny side of a house shades should be drawn. On the shady side they may be raised. It does not take long to follow this arrangement and the best way to insure success is to have a stated time in which to look after the matter. Otherwise, in the busy morning hours one is likely to neglect what might otherwise contribute to the comfort of the whole family. The heat from the kitchen should not be allowed to penetrate through the living rooms. Then, the ironing. I leave it to you, reader, to ask your family where they'd rather see the wrinkles—whether in the dish towels, the plain underwear and in the sheets, or in your face.

Then, do not stand and wear out your nerve tissue ironing sheets. The hems and selvages may be quickly pressed and you have your time and strength to spend upon more important matters. Every duty is worth studying and the housekeeper who gives good, clear thought to her work is the successful as well as the cheerful one.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

TOMMY'S BIRTHDAY.

Tommy thought he was just a little more important than the other members of the family, for as he put it "I duess my birfday is on the Forsh Duly." When he was six years old his mamma planned a birthday party for him. Big uncle Ted came up bright and early with his cannon. Papa came home with no end of fire works and mamma and Bertha the maid were beating eggs and rattling tins in the kitchen in the most tantalizing way. The best was to be after dark when the friends and relatives would assemble to watch the fire works, which papa in his rubber coat and cap was to touch off. But in all the pleasant surroundings mamma noticed that Tommy seemed very uneasy. She was soon to see the cause. The guests were invited into the dining room which had been beautifully decorated with flowers, flags and bunting. There in the centre was a cake, beautifully frosted. But what queer word was that on top of the cake—"ommy?" Mamma seemed to know at a glance, for during a lull in the conversation she said: "I always thought my little son's name was Tommy but it is plain to be seen from this cake that he prefers to be called 'Ommy' as he has removed the T." Tommy hung his head in shame. His mamma had tried very hard to break him of the habit of picking at cakes and pies, but never succeeded, but this experience proved effective. Tommy was called "Ommy" a long time and he was so ashamed that he never went near the cakes for fear of getting into mischief.

HOUSEHOLD.

To rid places of mice and ants: Use 1 pail of water, into which pour one spoonful of carbolic acid. Stir thoroughly with a stick. Scrub floors and shelves of infested places and stop mouse holes with corks dipped into carbolic acid. Those using carbolic acid must bear in mind that it is very poisonous.

Relics of Savagery In Modern Dress

By Professor ALBERT SCHNEIDER, Northwestern University School of Pharmacy, Chicago

STIFF hats, coattails, collars, cuffs, shirt fronts and back and sleeve buttons are relics of savagery and unhealthful and unsightly adjuncts to personal appearance. The stiff hat and especially the silk hat of today is a pernicious and laughable article of clothing. The soft hat is the logical headdress for man.

Cuffs, too, are as useless as one can imagine. They are unhandy, awkward and not a particular thing of beauty.

The same may be said of collars. Why do men torture themselves in such straitjackets as stiff collars and shirt fronts?

I FEAR TO SAY WHAT A WOMAN SHOULD WEAR, BUT IT IS SAFE TO SAY THAT SHE SHOULD NOT WEAR USELESS AND BACTERIA RAISING TRAINS.

She should do away with the veil and especially with the spotted ones, as they are the outgrowth of the beauty spots. Women wear the extremes directly opposite to the extremes worn by men. When women begin to wear big sleeves to give their shoulders a broad appearance, men begin to give up shoulder pads. Trousers were first worn by women. Now they are worn by men and Dr. Mary Walker.

The U. S. Civil Service Commission will hold examinations during September and October, in several places in each state to secure young men and women for the government service. There are now 126,423 positions in the classified civil service, being an increase of 46,636 in six years. There were 7,972 persons appointed between July 1, 1901, and April 15, 1902, being at the rate of 10,070 for the year. There will probably be 11,000 appointments next year. Salaries at appointment vary from $660 to $1,200 a year with liberal promotions afterward. All appointments are for life and for most positions only a common school education is required. Politics or religion is not considered. Miss Lulu Riechel took the N. P. Monday for Grand Forks. She will visit for a time with her aunt Mrs. Carrie Robins.

Dr. N. M. Watson, Thos. Germo, L. C. Simons and J. F. Mathews left Monday night for St. Paul as delegates to the republican state convention.

H. L. Veigel has opened his saloon opposite the brick block. The saloon is elegantly fitted up, and Mr. Veigel will conduct a first-class place.

The city board of equalization has adjourned. They raised the valuations on personal property to such an extent that the total valuation now exceeds last year's valuation in round numbers, $20,000.

Lovie Zendt Purcell, the famous contralto of the Schubert Lady Quartette, has one of the deepest voices ever given to a woman, and is the only lady vocalist able to sing an octave below middle C in concert. Her voice is very powerful and yet so melodious that her strongest tone losses none of its sweetness. Hear her July 14th.

Scott C. Hall, who has been touring Becker, Clay and Norman Counties with the Johnson Illustrated Lecture Co, under the auspices of the state Prohibition League, came home Monday until after the 4th. Mr. Hall's part of the entertainment is rendering baritone solos, and he is meeting with success. He carries with him an interesting photo of the wreck of a church edifice in the Norman county tornado, and points out the building adjacent where he took shelter during the storm. Although but a few rods distant from the church which was utterly demolished this building and its occupants escaped, as if by a miracle.

Summer complaint is unusually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of the scribe. This is not intended as a free puff for the company, who do not advertise with us, but to benefit little sufferers who may not be within easy access of a physican. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summertime.—Lansing, Iowa, Journal. For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

Carrie Nation, who lectured at Crookston Saturday night, is described by an enterprising reporter as follows: Something that no century or age but the present could produce struck towo yesterday, and struck it hard. It was Carrie Nation, and half an hour afterwards, peaceable, conservative Sparks street resembled a three days' populist convention. Mrs. Nation is a wonder. Roll up P. T. Barnum with T. DeWitt Talmage, throw in a dash of Teddy Roosevelt with a background of Shylock, Sherlock Holmes and Wilkins Micawber, and the composite is a faint shadow of the real, the only Carrie Nation. Her appearance is uncommon. She is heavy, stout and above the usual height. Her face is kindly, motherly and sympathetic, but this is offset in a measure by shrewd, twinkling eyes and many facial lines that would frighten a horse trader who was looking for an easy deal. No gold brick operator would ever operate on the guileless Carrie. She is not built that way. When she started out from the Russel house at 4:15 there were few people knew she was in town. Half an hour afterwards thousands were struggling to get near her.

THE SOULS OF FLOWERS

Mingle in happy union in the exquisite perfumes we carry. Scents are as difficult to blend into harmony as sounds. It takes almost as high an order of ability to make true perfumes as is required to write good music.

No wonder so much of the perfume offered is rank, flat and unsatisfactory. If not wholly pleased with the odors you are now using, we would like to have you try some of the delightful ones we handle. Cost no more than poorer kinds.

Eugene Dempsey was in from Gurnea Tuesday telling of the fine crop prospects out that way. His brother John, who recently moved to Washington with his family, is now located at Clarkston, and is not overly infatuated with the country.

John Alstadt, Wm. Kraemer, John Keller and Peter Sauer returned Saturday from Minot where they went to look up government land. The latter two found something to their liking and entered filings.

The ladies of St. Mary's church will serve ice cream and cake on the Fourth at the following stands: At the baseball grounds, in Simons and Bourdon's office next door to Kaufer's barber shop, and in the opera house on the North Side. They cordially invite the public's patronage.

We have no recollection of so inviting a program as that of the Schubert Symphony Club and Lady Quartette which appears here on July 14, having been before offered our readers. Look over their program carefully and you will agree with us that it is too inviting to miss attending.

Maggie Alstadt, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Alstadt is ill with appendicitis. Drs. Breyback and Schumacher, of Perham, old friends of the family, came up yesterday and this morning at nine performed an operation, which was decided on as the only means of saving the patient's life.

J. F. Mathews, the popular Dorothy merchant and wheat buyer, was the first of the Red Lake county delegation to return from the Republican state convention. He says it was the biggest in the history of the party, with 1300 delegates, and the enthusiasm and harmony was marked. Mr. Mathews brought back some of the enthusiasm himself.

Henry Kaufer's new barber shop will be thrown open to the public in the course of about ten days. It will be one of the most up-to-date and complete barber shops in northern Minnesota. Mr. Kaufer will add an experienced barber to the force. There will be two bath rooms, besides a shower bath, and alcohol bath accommodations. The place will be a credit not only to the proprietor, but to the city as well.

Mr. St. Aubin had a pleasant surprise for his wife upon her return, having during her absence prepared their new cottage on Champagne ave. ready for occupancy.

Gully Sunbeam: The Lost River ditch was connected with the main river at the east end Saturday evening. A. G. Arneson, W. E. Phelps, Stephen Singer and Emil Refling went out there on Sunday to look at the new Improvement. They stopped at Contractor Egeland's, who thus decribes the connection of the ditch to the river. The workmen had left the place closed near the opening into the ditch until Saturday, and when they took out the last section of sod the water rushed into the ditch so strong that some of the workmen lost their sod hooks. The rush of the water drowned the sound of their voices and it was impossible to hear anything but its roar as it rushed from its years of imprisonment toward outlet. The water went down the ditch so rapidly that thousand of fish that were on the meadow above the opening were left in the mud to die or to cross dry land to the main channel of the river. The value of this Improvement will be appreciated by the settlers who will be enabled to cut the hay on their lands without wading in water that belongs in Lake Winnipeg.

The house, by a vote of 252 to 8, has adopted the conference report on the Isthmian canal bill, thus accepting in toto the senate canal bill. The bill now goes to the president.

The conferees of the two houses of congress on the Philippine civil government bill held their first meeting Friday and adjourned after four hours without having disposed of any of the important items of difference.

The labor committee of the house has perfected and ordered a favorable report on the bill empowering the president to appoint federal arbitration boards to investigate and adjust strikes, lockouts, etc., which are of such magnitude as to affect interstate commerce.

At the end of a nine-hour session and of a debate lasting night and day for a week, the house passed the Philippine civil government bill practically as it came from the committee. It was a party vote, 141 to 97, with the exception of Mr. McCall of Massachusetts, who voted with the Democrats.

Admiral Dewey appeared before the senate committee on the Philippines Thursday. His testimony was an important addition to the history of the surrender of Manila. He made the statement that the city surrendered on the day of the destruction of the Spanish fleet and that the subsequent surrender on the arrival of the American army was by definite arrangement between himself and the Spanish governor general.

KING EDWARD'S ILLNESS.

Sir Joseph Lister, King Edward's chief physician, declares his patient out of danger.

Many riots occurred in towns near London, by reason of postponement of the coronation ceremonies.

King Edward carries life insurance totaling $3,600,000, placed with English companies. This is on personal policies, upon which he pays premiums out of his private purse. The total risks on his life, on policies by business men, is placed at $21,000,000.

The latest bulletins regarding the condition of King Edward say he is making satisfactory progress. He complains very little of discomfort and is more cheerful. The wound due to the operation is doing well. The absence of complications makes his physicians hopeful.

The business section of London is slow in recovering from the stunning effects of the king's illness. London's business loss by the postponement of the coronation is incalculable and the people of Portsmouth, whose preparations had involved a great expenditure and expected to reap a large benefit from the naval review, are nearly crushed.

RED LAKE CO. SUMMER SCHOOL.

To Teachers of Red Lake and adjoining counties.

The Red Lake County Summer School will begin its session on Monday, July 14, at 9 a. m. at the High School building in Red Lake Falls, and continue four weeks, with the following corps of instructors: Supt. P. L. Kuntz, of Owatonna, Minn., conductor and instructor in the higher branches and mathematics; Pres. J. C. Satre, of the Crookston Business College, instructor in the common branches and mathematics; Miss Lydia E. B. Fletcher, of Red Lake Falls, model school and instructor in English Literature; Frank Jeffers, County Superintendent Red Lake county, who will look after special lines of work. This being the third year for Conductor Kuntz, he will be able to do more for the teachers who attend and better adapt the work to their needs than at any prior session. We especially invite teachers from adjoining counties to spend these four weeks in Red Lake Falls and thus secure the benefits from attendance upon a first class school. Each of the faculty is especially adapted to the work in his particular line and will be in a position to do the most possible for those who attend.

It will be the aim of the school to so arrange the work and manage the session, that a general line of culture will result, and not only a specific kind of technical answers to special questions formulated by an expert. The session is expected to furnish ample provision for graded school teachers, as well as for those in the rural schools, and it is to be hoped that such teachers as are seeking for a more general culture and a higher appreciation of the profession will lend us their presence and participate in its benefits.

We shall endeavor to give a line of work in music if the teachers desire it, and classes in Algebra, Geometry, Science, etc., will be formed. The primary object of the course will be to get the most good from the session, and give as general an opportunity to take particular work as will seem to be justified. It will be the purpose to do well what is undertaken—look to quality rather than quantity.

Be present the first day and assist in organization of the school. There will be an afternoon session the first day in order to give all an opportunity to register and thus enable them to secure a certificate of perfect attendance. An evening lecture and such other additional lines of work as the school will justify will be made a part of the program. The last two days of the session will be given to the writing of the State Teachers' Examination and the review work of the school will be found especially beneficial to those who are intending to write this examination.

It is the desire of the County Superintendent that all third grade teachers attend and prepare to raise their standing, as the year of limitation has expired in a number of instances. We also wish that all teachers take an active interest in making this the largest and best summer school ever held in this section of the state.

Respectfully,
Frank Jeffers,
County Superintendent.

White Man Turned Yellow.

Great consternation was felt by the friends of M. A. Hogartd of Lexington, Ky., when they saw he was turning yellow. His skin slowly changed color, also his eyes, and he suffered terribly. His malady was Yellow Jaundice. He was treated by the best doctors, but without benefit. Then he was advised to try Electric Bitters, the wonderful Stomach and Liver remedy, and he writes: "after taking two bottles I was wholly cured." A trial proves its matchless merits for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles. Only 50c. Sold by W. A. Schreiter, Druggist.

O. Sortedahl, to Ernest Buse, by a written assignment dated March 3rd, 1902, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Red Lake county, State of Minnesota on April 10th, 1902, 3:30 o'clock p. m.: in Book "S" of Mortgages, on page 252 to-wit:

Lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) and five (5) in blk three (3) of Railroad addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the official plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds within and for the said county of Red Lake and was given to secure the payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-five dollars with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, payable annually, on the 4th day of June in each year, according to the conditions of one principal note and interest coupon notes thereto attached, by failure to pay the annual interest falling due on the 4th day of June 1901 and by failure to pay the taxes levied upon said real estate for the years 1897, 1898, 1899 and 1900, and whereas the said assignee of the mortgagee, by virtue of the power contained the said mortgage, paid to the County Treasurer of Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, the following taxes duly levied and assessed by the said county against the land described in the said mortgage, and were due and delinquent at the dates when said payment were made, to-wit: On July 31st, 1900, paid $9.49 taxes for the years of 1897, 1898 and 1899; on April 10th, 1902, paid $3.86 taxes for the year 1900, in all the sum of $13.35 and with interest amounting to $15.41.

And whereas, said mortgage, provided as one of its conditions that in case of failure to pay any part of said interest when the same becomes due or to pay any taxes levied upon said real estate before the same becomes delinquent, the whole sum of money or indebtedness thereby secured shall thereupon become due and payable; and whereas said mortgage also provides that if such taxes are not so paid the holder of said mortgage may elect to pay the same and be entitled to interest on the same at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum and said mortgage stand as security for the amount so paid, with interest.

And Whereas, there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice on said principal indebtedness and interest thereon and to the date thereof and for said amount paid for taxes and interest thereon the sum of two hundred and forty 33-100 dollars.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. W. A. Schreiter, A. L. Reichert.

The road work in the southern part of Garnes township is nearly completed, and everybody is kicking because it was all worked out while the ridges and low places are left over for another year. It is a wonder our worthy townsmen are contented with this work, for it is the same year after year. What little poll tax we have certainly ought to be put where the public can and will receive the greatest benefit from it, and not on the ridges where it is passable most any time.

THE CELEBRATION

THOUSANDS PARTICIPATE IN THE FOURTH OF JULY FESTIVITIES.

FROM EARLY MORN TILL LATE AT NIGHT THE EAGLE SCREAMED.

The Fourth of July celebration in this city Friday was one of the most successful ever attempted here, and the record for attendance was broken. Farmers for miles around came in early, while the neighboring towns contributed a goodly representation, the St. Hilaire delegation alone numbering almost a hundred. In the morning the heat was particularly furious, and was intensified by the humidity of the atmosphere. In the afternoon a stiff breeze and a sprinkle of rain relieved the situation.

The civic parade starting at the corner of Washington av. and St. Mary's street was a pleasing feature, and what the floats lacked in number, was made up for in the fine display of those participating. The parade lined up as follows:

Ernest Buse, Marshal of the Day,
Farmer Brown's Band
Mayor Watson and President Bray Aldermen
G. A. R.
Home Guards
Spanish American war volunteers
Liberty wagon. Miss Rose Harren
Godess of Liberty
Colonial Dames Mounted
Red Lake Falls Fire Department
Engine
Hook and Ladder Truck
Red Lake Falls Milling Co float
Merchants State Bank
Krueger & Hinyton
Gazette Courier
First State Bank
Electric Light Co.
Terrebonne Band.

The Electric Light Co. float was a notable one. A traction engine, enclosed in a framework beautifully decorated with red white and blue bunting, furnished power to operate a dynamo which generated electric lights enroute. The enterprise displayed received recognition, the committee of judges awarding 1st prize to this float. Krueger & Hinyton had two floats, the one representing the confectionery store being a fine conception, and receiving second prize. The Red Lake Falls Milling Company's float was a general favorite. The idea as carried out was both artistic and pleasing in effect. The float represented a huge load of flour, and seated on top of this and under an arched sign "Flours of the Family" were a bevy of pretty little girls in white, with appropriate red, white and blue caps. A large mirror at either side added to the fine effect. This captured third prize.

After the parade exercises were held on the balcony of the city hall. President of the day Dr. N. M. Watson ably presided and after the invocation by the Rev. Andrew Walker, music by the band and a male quartet, delivered a fine patriotic address, which stirred all his hearers to enthusiasm. Miss Pauline Neiland, whose fame as a high school debater is state wide, read the Declaration of Independence. It was by long odds the finest reading of this immortal document we have ever heard. Thos. Germo was next introduced, and spoke eloquently for 15 minutes, going into his subject with a spirit which was caught by the vast audience. Wm. A. McIntyre delivered the closing address.

The decorations were a noticeable feature. An arch at the corner of Main and 1st attracted much attention. The huge piece which was made in red, white and blue in sections, was stretched across Main street and contained, in immense letters, in contrasting colors, the words "Welcome, 1776, 1902" The work was a great credit to those in charge, and occasioned much favorable comment and enthusiastic approval.

The sports in the afternoon were carried out according to program, and the winners were recorded as follows:

Hub and hub race.—200 yards, between hose companies 1 and 2. No. 1 1st prize, $10; No. 2, $5.

About 6:30 the long threatened rain fell. The elements had kindly waited until the out-door exercises were over, and all appreciated this. A large crowd gathered at Woodmen hall in the evening and danced until long after daylight the next day.

THE COUNTY BILLS.

State Public Examiner Johnson Makes Suggestions to County Commissioners.

State Public Examiner S. T. Johnson has sent circular letters to the several boards of county commissioners in the State, in which he calls the attention of the members to the system of auditing bills against the county.

In his circular the public examiner suggests that all the boards of county commissioners pass resolutions to the effect that all the bills against the county be filed in the county auditor's office at least eight days prior to the regular meeting of that body and that they be referred by the county auditor to the county attorney at least seven days prior to the meeting.

A form of the proposed resolution is attached to the circular letter.

The resolution also contains a clause that all reports of county officials be passed upon by the county attorney before being accepted by the board of county commissioners. Mr. Johnson, in his circular, says that hereafter his department will demand that all illegal payments, no matter how small, shall be returned to the treasury, even though it may be necessary to require such refund to be made by the county commissioners themselves.

Tribune to Mrs. Westphal.

The Graceville Phoenix pays the following tribune to the late Mrs. Westphal. whose death occurred here last week, and whose remains were taken to Wheaton for interment:

The funeral, yesterday afternoon, in Wheaton, of one of Traverse county's pioneers, removes a woman whose kind face and gentle voice was once familiar in Graceville. Mrs. Westphal who came with her family years ago and made a home on the prairie in what is now known as the German Methodist settlement was called hence, last Sunday, and the remains brought to Wheaton for interment. Although not strong physically, Mrs. Westphal never gave up the active, busy life she led until her work was finished, her family raised, and rest her reward. She had reached her sixty-third year.

BIOGRAPHICAL.

Mrs. August Westphal was born in Sciplory, Bromberg, Germany, May 20, 1839. She came to this country with her husband in 1864, and lived in Milwaukee, Wis., two years. The family moved to Hennepin county, near Minneapolis in 1866.

In 1882 she moved to a farm in Leonardsville. Traverse county, Minn., where she lived for seventeen years. In 1899 she moved to Wheaton, Minn., and March, 1902, she came to Red Lake Falls; where she was stricken with paralysis, June 26. After remaining unconscious for nearly three days, she passed away Sunday noon, June 29, at the age of 63 years, 1 month and 9 days. The remains were shipped to Leonardsville, Minn., and buried Wednesday, July 2. She leaves a husband, eight sons and four daughters to mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother.

Card of Thanks.

To the many friends who so kindly assisted us during the sickness and death of our loving wife and mother, we wish to extend our most sincere gratitude.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY

GREAT NORTHERN CONDUCTOR AND WIFE PERISH WHILE CHILDREN DANCE.

MAN WAS ALWAYS IN CHARGE OF PRESIDENT HILL'S PRIVATE CAR.

Grand Forks, N. D., July 6.—While their son and daughter and several young friends were singing and dancing in the parlor last night, Charles J. McCormick, a Great Northern conductor and his wife were dying in a bathroom on the same floor. Their bodies were found some hours later by their young son, who went to call them.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormick had been out driving in the evening, and upon returning home went to take a bath

The party in the parlor made merry until a late hour, and when the guests had left, the son went to call his parents, supposing they had fallen asleep. He could get no response, and sought assistance

When the door of the bath room was finally opened, Mr. and Mrs. McCormick were dead, in the bath-tub, and their clothing scattered about the room. Nearby stood a partly emptied bottle of beer and fragments of a lunch.

A physician who was called thought they had been dead two hours. No satisfactory explanation of the tragedy can be given, though the evidence points to poisoning.

Mr. McCormick was one of the oldest conductors on the Great Northern. He was known as President Hill's favorite conductor, and was always selected to take charge of the president's private car. His wife did not have as good a reputation.

At the inquest the doctor testified that indications showed that Mrs. McCormick "had not died" for fully an hour after her husband and the theory now held by those most intimate with the family, is that Mrs. McCormick must have poisoned the beer drunk by her husband and then taken the poison herself It is said that an examination of the beer showed the presence of aconite. Mrs. McCormick has been in very poor health for some time and it is believed that she was mentally unbalanced. She is said to have been addicted to the use of morphine.

When discovered both bodies were in the bath tub. Mr. McCormick was lying stretched at full length with his head at the end opposite the faucet, while the body of his wife was in a crouching position at his feet. Her arms were resting on the inside of the tub, and her head was buried in them.

A WOMAN'S VOTE.

Attorney General of Minnesota Holds That Women of This State are Independent in Election Matters.

The attorney general's department has prepared an opinion in effect that no husband in Minnesota has any right to coerce his wife to vote with him in school district elections.

Mrs. Arthur Gavin Greeman of Gentilly, Polk county, asked for an opinion. She intimated that her husband had been endeavoring to influence her vote, with a persistence that might, in fact, amount to a violation of the election law.

In Minnesota the school district elections occur during the present month, and in all school matters women have a right to vote in this state.

Brilliant Record of a Newspaper Man.

The success which has attended William E. Curtis. the famous correspondent of The Chicago Record-Herald, is rarely attained by newspaper writers. Beginning his career in Chicago in 1872 as reporter he rapidly rose to the position of managing editor. He resigned that position on receiving a government appointment as secretary of the South American commission. Mr. Curtis traveled extensively in Central and South America while in this position, producing several popular volumes as the result of his literary labors. Afterward co-operating with Secretary of State James G. Blaine, Mr. Curtis organized the work of the bureau of American republics, with the result that he was placed in charge of that organization, and at the World's Columbian Exposition he distinguished himself by his labors as the executive head of the Latin-American department. As correspondent of The Chicago Record-Herald Mr. Curtis's travels have carried him into every section of the United States as well as into all quarters of the globe. His China and Japan letters were published in book-form; likewise his letters from England, Germany and France, as well as those written during his travels in Mexico and South America.

No newspaper correspondent possesses the facility shown by Mr. Curtis in writing on any of the diversified subjects embraced in his correspondence and making it luminous. Nor is any correspondent followed so closely year after year by the thousands of readers of The Chicago Record-Herald. On his recent trip to the Holy Land Mr. Curtis' letters have been read more closely than ever, and his description of that interesting section of the globe as it appears to-day have been quoted everywhere.

BEHAVIOR IN PUBLIC.

At a musical entertainment recently there were several well dressed girls occupying seats very near to mine. Now I am an ardent lover of girls and always maintain that there is nothing sweeter in the world than a girl.

One is almost young again when one looks at the pure expression, the bright eye, and the winsome smile of a good girl. Therefore it was with admiration and pleasure that I found myself seated near this group. But I was soon to be disappointed. The musicale was given by home talent and one of the best numbers was rendered by two boys—no doubt the especial boys admired by my neighbors, for there were "a-hems," "a-hems," and other ill-bred noises until much of the number was spoiled for others. Then there was incessant talking and giggling until the manager was obliged to ask for silence. Whispering was next resorted to and snickering gave place to laughter. The finest vocal and instrumental music was spoiled for many—and no doubt those girls went home and related what a splendid time they had.

Girls, you all wish to be loved, admired and respected. Believe me, you will not reach your ideal by such actions in public. You are young, happy and heedless, and your elders wish you to have all the enjoyment possible in your precious girlhood. You are not supposed to sit and mope—but remember that it is no credit to anyone to be ill bred.

If you positively can not refrain from whispering, laughing and talking, don't go to church or to other places where many will be obliged to suffer for your wanton lack of consideration.

Do not forget your manners, girls; you can have all manner of fun and be well behaved besides.

HOUSEHOLD.

It is great economy to paint the window and door screens. If they are removed at the proper time and carefully stored they will last many years.

Every housekeeper should have a window drier. (Webster calls it a squegee.) At any rate it simplifies window washing to a degree and can be had for a quarter at any drugstore.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

Mary told me this story and it touched my heart, so I'll tell it to you, my dears.

When Mary was a little girl she lived on a farm nine miles out of the city. There were lots of children in the family and everyone had to help with the work as soon as big enough, for they were poor. During the summer months Mary's father often took vegetables to the city. In order to get there in time he left home at two o'clock in the morning. When Mary was ten years old she coaxed and coaxed her father to take her along to town and finally he agreed to take her, warning her though as to how cold the early morning trip would be and also how hot the sun would shine in the market all day. Mary said she would not mind that, and could hardly sleep a wink that night; for wasn't she going to market next day? Her father wrapped her up in a blanket and she was delighted to sit up so high. Then when the city was reached she held the lines all day long, eating the cold lunch in her possession with great pleasure. In the evening they returned home and Mary received a geranium from her father to remember the visit, and in her eagerness to make it bloom she kept it too wet, so that the roots rotted and her precious plant soon died. She had lots of beautiful plants after she learned how to take care of them and people really drove to their farm to see her posies. She is just as fortunate as ever with plants and if any of you happen to come this way no doubt you will notice her beautiful geraniums as you pass her house.

Her object in telling that story was to show how easily some children are pleased. What do you suppose my object is?

FROM TENNESSEE TO TEXAS.

A BEAUTIFUL WOMAN

Rescued From Death In a Desperate Way.

John Alexander Depew was a queer man, known throughout the South from Savannah, on the east, to Santa Fe, and the borders of old Mexico on the west. For thirty years he had gone to bed poor expecting to be rich the next day. He had spent his early days in unsuccessful mining ventures, finally becoming discouraged, and engaging in the cattle raising business in Texas, early in the sixties. But his turn came. Slowly, but surely, in the face of numerous vicissitudes, he accumulated a fortune of over a million dollars.

He now had money to burn. Notwithstanding he was on the shady side of sixty, with his hair and beard long and unkempt, he was considered a great catch by the mothers of marriageable daughters.

By the aid of a barber, a few Turkish baths and a tailor, Mr. Depew was changed from the rough cattleman to a very respectable, fine-looking, elderly gentleman. In this improved condition he returned to his old home in the east, where thirty years before, he had left a sweet-heart to whom he had vowed that he would return some time, and make her his wife. The girl had waited for years in vain for her recreant lover's return, finally giving him up for dead, and marrying a prosperous merchant. Her husband died during the war, she following a few years later, leaving a beautiful daughter.

On the old ranchman's return to the scene of his youth, he found his sweetheart, since a wife and mother, dead, but in her stead, he found an exact image in the daughter. His love for the child knew no bounds. He could scarcely realize that she was not his old sweetheart of thirty years ago. By his devotion and attention (possibly aided by his gold) he soon distanced all rivals, and Imogene Middleton was soon Imogene Depew.

Never was there a happier man than this old ranchman with his girl bride, notwithstanding the fact that a dark cloud hung over him in the form of a warning from his physicians that she was going into decline and could not live long. He refused to believe it, and added to her happiness by laying in her lap the wealth of thousands.

She grew fearfully and rapidly worse, and many of the leading physicians of the country were consulted, but no two agreed as to her trouble.

"A heart trouble," said one, with a grave look, "a complication of difficulties involving the liver and spleen," said a second; while the third pronounced it an "incurable lung affection."

In September of 1893, Mr. Depew and his dying wife visited Louisville, Ky, to consult, as a last resort, a noted Specialist of that city. This Specialist was out of the city for about three week at that time, and the disappointed couple returned to their southern home without seeing him.

The middle of the month, new symptoms developed, and after a consultation of physicians, Mr. Depew was informed again, that his wife was dying; that she might live a day or two, but that she could not last long.

Then it was that Mr. Depew sent to Dr. Rea, of Louisville, who was then at the Peabody Hotel in Memphis, Tenn., the following telegram:

"My wife is dying. Doctors have given her up. Come quick. Spare no expense. Answer at once."

To which Dr. Rea answered: "Will come without delay."

In thirty minutes Dr. Rea was on a special car, enroute to Galveston, Mr. Depew's home, and after a fast and exciting ride; he arrived at 12:05 the next day.

He was met at the depot by the anxious husband, who said: "I am glad to see you, but I am afraid it is too late, my wife is dying, she is unconscious."

"Let us hasten to the house," said the doctor. He found his patient propped in bed, in a half-conscious state, gasping for breath and cold up to the knees, with two nurses fanning her.

In less than one minute. Dr. Rea said: "I discover a great accumulation of pus, which is drowning out the lungs and heart.

He realized that the woman was nearly gone. In less time than it takes to write it, his instruments were brought into play. He made a deep incision; the heavy pus matter poured forth until nearly two pints were discharged. In twenty minutes the patient was comfortable, conscious and free from labored breathing. After inserting a drainage tube, and giving directions to the nurses, he pronounced her out of danger, and bade the family good bye. Just one hour and fifty-five minutes from the time he stopped at the depot, he pulled out for Louisville over the Southern Pacific Road.

Mrs. Depew improved rapidly, and in a few months, under Dr. Rea's care, through correspondence, was cured, and is this day a wonderful illustration of the pheoomenal skill of the most remarkable physician of this age.

Had not Dr. Rea, by his seemingly supernatural power detected accurately the exact location of her disease, his treatment would have beeo of no avail.

I say Dr. Rea can describe to any man, woman or child, better than they can tell him, the nature of their disease, without asking a word.

No wonder he cures his patients when all others fail. being able to detect the exact condition of any one, he is not likely to doctor them for the wrong disease.

His cures of such cases as the following speaks louder than words:

Mrs. Frank Wright, Ft. Madison, Ia., cured of heart and lung trouble, after the most noted physicians of that place had failed. W. O. Clark, Laurel, Iowa, cured of nervousness and kidney trouble. G. W. Smalley, a prominent lumberman of Muscatine, Iowa, cured of epilepsy of long standing. O. Doyle, Atlissa, Iowa, cured of a very severe case of catarrh. Harry Duffus, of Ft. Madison, Iowa, son of a prominent newspaper man of that city, cured of scrofula and hip-joint disease in three months, after having doctored with others for years. Mrs. Hooper, of Waterloo, Iowa cured of nerve and brain trouble. James Weldon, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, cured of blood trouble in a few months. Clinton Knouf, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, cured of nervousness and lost vitality, after many Chicago doctors had failed. Mrs. Henry Propst, Iowa City, Iowa, cured of female troubles and liver spots. Mrs. McFarland, Independence, Iowa, wife of a prominent business man cured of a fungus growth of the face, after it had almost taken her life. Wm. Brown, Waterloo, Iowa, railroad man on the Northwestern Railroad, cured of rheumatism in three week. Had not done a lick of work in eight months. Rev. E. H. Woody, of Dayton, Ohio, cured of nervous dyspepsia and catarrh of the stomach, after having given up all hope for relief. Addison Perry, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, cured of bronchial, lung and heart troubles of an advanced stage; had been given up as incurable. Miss Alice Mitchell, Galesburg, Illinois, cured of catarrh and catarrhal deafness; had tried twenty-one different doctors. Miss Minerva Lewis, a prominent society and church woman of Houston, Texas, cured of a most aggravated and developed case of consumption, when all other kinds of treatment had failed. Charley Lund, Burlington, Iowa, cured of kidney and bladder trouble. Mrs. Emma Miller, Pinkstaff, Illinois, cured of cancer of the stomach, three years ago, and has never been sick a day since. Joe Ting, Terre Haute, Ind., cured of eczema and falling of the hair. Miss Kate Linder, student at the State University, Iowa City, Iowa, cured of eczema and catarrhal deafness. Mrs. Frank Higsbee, Fairfield, Iowa, cured of a cancerous growth on the womb. Mrs. A. L. Hines, wife of a well-to-do farmer near Red Wing, Minn., cured of lameness of eight years's anding. Charley Wood, son of J. B. Wood, of Jonesboro, Ga., cured of double curvature of the spine, after all others had failed. J. E. Burns, Milford, Iowa cured of deafness in twenty minutes; had been afflicted for five years. Chas. Wole, Fairmount, Minn., cured of nervous debility and lost vitality. V. A. Arnold, proprietor of West End Hotel, Spirit Lake, Iowa, cured of kidney trouble in ten days Miss Christie, of Kahoka, Mo., cured of tumor on the face by electricity; no scar left. Miss Mary Stanley, Oskaloosa, Iowa, cured of eye troubles and catarrh in the head. E. H. Etherly, Little Rock, Ark., cured of total blindness. K. D. Hess, Brinkley, Ark., operated on for cross eyes and cured in three minutes. Mr. Sargent, proprietor of a livery barn in Spirit Lake, Iowa, cured of bladder trouble in three weeks' time. Mr. Ball, Donnelison, Iowa, cured of consumption.

Dr. Rea does not cure all his patients, nor does he pretend to; but it is safe to say that he does not lose one in ninety of the thousands of supposed incurables who come from all portions of the world for his help, after being giveo up to die by the skill of their home phyicians.

The writer of this letter was in Louisville, Ky., recently, and while there sought an interview with Dr. Rea in his office, but could not obtain it, as he was busy in consultation, examination and prescribing with the associate physicians of his institute.

good for the thing that I had—'white brain,' we call it. The juvenile man didn't know how much brandy a person ought to take, and I—well, I didn't know anything. So I drank it all, and then I lay down on the bed, and the leading lady covered me with everything she could find, and pretty soon the bed got up and stood on the ceiling, and I didn't care at all.

"When it came time to go to the theater (Brenda, it's disgraceful, but I was so—so drunk that I couldn't walk straight) the leading lady got me up and told the juvenile man to walk me around the block, and he walked me around about fifty times in the snow. We were in a little Minnesota town, and it had snowed for a week. When he took me to the theater, I was perfectly sober, and I didn't care for anything. I had no troubles whatever. I walked up to the stage manager, and I said cheerfully, 'Well, what do we play tonight?' He told me, and I couldn't remember ever to have heard of it, but I got out my part and studied it while I was making up.

"When I went on, I knew about half of my first scene, which was the longest one I had in the play. But I didn't care. I'd always been troubled with stage fright more or less, but not this time—not a fright. When I forgot, I waited calmly for the prompter, who was off left, having a fit. By and by I had to go across right and sit down by a table. I knew I couldn't hear the prompter there, so I walked over and got the table and dragged it clear across the stage, and the audience applauded because I did it so naturally.

"Then I went crazy, and what happened afterward I scarcely know. But when I came off after the thrilling climax of the scene I fell into the leading lady's arms, and she hugged me up tight. She said: 'You never played so well as that before. You were like Julia Marlowe.' And she kissed me on both cheeks. Julia Marlowe was my idol then, and I cried with heavenly joy on the leading lady's neck. That's all true, just as it happened, Brenda, and I never had stage fright afterward."

"Poor little Elsie!" said Brenda, kissing her. "It was a hard school where you were taught."

"It was," said Elsie. "Yet I think I wouldn't have amounted to much anyway. How could any mortal man fail to see the difference between you and me?"

"My child," said Brenda, "no man can. Why, the brass knobs on the posts of this bed know the difference between you and me—the vital, essential difference. They love you in their little brass hearts. Everybody loves you. Dr. Kendall, for a cold blooded sawyer of bones who could amputate my head without a trace of emotion, takes your hand with the eternal reverence of man for woman, and when he gives you pain I can see his own heart shrink. But he treats me as if I were a gentleman whom he had met at the club."

Elsie opened her eyes so wide that they seemed to light the room as she stared at Brenda, whose cheeks were flushed by her unusual earnestness.

"I am glad to hear you speak like that," she said.

Brenda rose and walked across to the window. Then she returned to the bed and took Elsie's hand.

"I am going to open my heart to you," she said. "It was not because Clarence Alden preferred you to me that I lost my self control that last day. I cared nothing for you, despised you; I admitted no comparison. It was because, though the intensity of his own nature for a time deceived him, he never really loved me at all. Nobody ever loved me. I am called good looking, even a beauty, in the society columns of the papers, and I am so rich that I have attracted many men. But not one of them was able to present even a creditable counterfeit of love (though some of them could counterfeit almost anything else, from good breeding to the national currency) until Mr. Alden entered the lists. That's hardly fair to him; he was sincere, but mistaken."

"Yet I didn't have at all the feeling that I have now," she continued. "It was only that last day that I became enraged, mostly at myself. It is since I have come here, since I have known you, the most womanly of God's creatures, that I have had some true comprehension of my own lack, some honest sorrow for it."

"Only since you have been here," said Elsie. "How remarkable! But, Brenda, it is sweet of you to talk this way to me, and I am so glad, so very glad! How long have you known Dr. Kendall?"

"What a queer question!" said Brenda. "About two years, but we haven't met a dozen times. By the way, he is going to be married."

"He is going to be married!" exclaimed Elsie. "To whom?"

"I don't know," Brenda replied. "From something he said the other day, I judge there's a difficulty. I don't know the lady's name."

"Well," said Elsie, letting her head sink back on the pillow as one relieved, "you will when it happens."

"If you mean that he cares anything for me, you are quite mistaken," said Brenda. "His manner when he is in this room should show that. I am nothing—a piece of furniture. Do you know, it has inspired me with something like jealousy—jealousy merely of the difference between you and me, which is the theme we started with."

"I'll show you what Dr. Kendall thinks of that difference," said Elsie. "Wait till he comes in here again. I'll suggest that you're going away, and then you watch him. He'll know that I'm going to stay till I'm carted away. But watch him."

"You must not do it," said Brenda. But Elsie insisted that she should, and they were still having a cheerful little quarrel about it when they were interrupted by Kendall's familiar rap.

"Upon my word," he said, approaching the bed, "you are the miracle of our species."

"I am so well," replied Elsie, "that Brenda is thinking of deserting me."

Kendall had been holding Elsie's hand. He dropped it and slowly straightened his tall figure till he stood erect. The dead white mice seemed to be dancing before his eyes.

"You can't mean it," he said, and his face was bluish gray as he thought of the certain inference that Elmendorf would draw from Brenda's departure at this time. "Brenda"— he began, "I truly beg your pardon"—

"That is my name," she said, "and I shall always answer when you speak it."

"I thank you from my heart," said he. "And—Brenda, you mustn't go—not now. I can't explain. I was taken unaware and may have said too much already. Upon my soul, I don't know what I have said. But don't leave us now"—

"I had no idea," said Brenda, "that my presence was so important."

"I can't think of anything earthly that is more important than your presence here," he said, with such impressive earnestness as would have carried conviction to any woman's heart. "This must seem strange to you, this sudden outburst, but I am nervous, overstrained. You must pardon me. I cannot tell you all I mean"—

"Go on," said Elsie. "Don't mind me."

And she put her fingers into her ears. Then for the first time Kendall comprehended the preposterous construction of which his words were susceptible. His face suddenly blazed with color.

"We—we really need you," he stammered, "both of us. Tell me that you will stay."

"I had no intention of going," said Brenda in a strange and stifled voice. "It was only Elsie's joke."

"Thank heaven!" exclaimed Kendall, and he took both of Brenda's hands. "I can't be sure of what you think I mean, but"—and he threw back his head with a fine, strong air—"whatever it is, I mean it from the bottom of my soul!"

"I have your promise?" said he.

He still held her hands, but not at all in the society fashion which Brenda had recently deprecated.

"I have your promise?" said he.

"I can't be sure of what you mean," she answered, smiling, "but whatever it is you have it!"

They looked straight into each other's eyes for a moment. Then they laughed together like happy children. Kendall's hands closed more tightly upon hers. He released them gently and inclined his head as he turned and left the room.

"Well, considering that that was only a little joke," said Elsie, "I don't think I ever saw so much for the money."

"What could the man have meant?" exclaimed Brenda.

"He probably meant," said Elsie, "that you were nothing more to him than a gentleman whom he had met at the club."

CHAPTER XVII.

THE RUNAWAY.

BRENDA sat down by the bed, and she looked very beautiful, a circumstance upon which Elsie did not fail to comment with great satisfaction.

NOT OPEN TO ENTRY

GOVERNMENT WITHDRAWS MUCH MINNESOTA LANDS FROM SETTLEMENT.

Ore Shipments From the Head of the Lakes Double That of Last Year. Postmaster at Grandy Killed by a Train—St. Paul Man Jumps From High Bridge and Escapes Serious Injury—News of the State in General.

Duluth, July 7.—A letter has been received by officials of the local land office from Commissioner Herman directing them to withdraw from settlement, entry or any other form of disposition certain townships and parts of townships in Cook and Lake counties, embracing in all 400,000 acres.

This action is taken pending a determination of the advisability of establishing what is to be known as "the Lake Superior forest reserve."

Nearly one-third of Lake county would be taken up by the reserve under the plan as proposed and a large portion of Cook county.

The land is not especially rich in timber, but it is well adapted to cattle ranching and farming. What are believed to be rich mines hidden underneath the surface will also be rendered inaccessible.

HEAVY ORE MOVEMENT.

Duluth, July 5.—The three ore shipping roads at the head of the lakes, the Duluth, Missabe and Northern, the Duluth and Iron Range and the Eastern Minnesota, have forwarded to July 1 a total of 5,005,785 gross tons this year, as compared with 2,754,970 tons for the same period in 1901.

The enormous increase for the first three months of the season is believed to be significant of an important increase for the year in this state. The greatest percentage of increase for the season thus far is shown by the Eastern Minnesota, which has forwarded 1,2[illegible]9,633 tons, as compared with 504,14[illegible] tons for the same period last season. The Missabe road also shows a handsome increase.

POSTMASTER KILLED BY TRAIN.

Cambridge, Minn., July 5.—The southbound passenger train ran over and killed Charles Mattson at Grandy, a little north of this place. The deceased left here on the northbound train at 1:30 a. m. for home, together with two comrades. After alighting from the train they presumably laid down on the track, too stupefied to know of the danger, with the above result.

Mr. Mattson was postmaster at Grandy and up to a short time ago had acted as express agent for the Great Northern Express company. Erick Anderson, one of the trio, had the crown of his hat torn off by the train, as he, too, was lying close to the track.

FIVE BOYS INJURED.

Passenger Train Crashes Into Their Wagon Near Monticello, Minn.

Monticello, Minn., July 5.—Five young boys were seriously injured by being struck by the engine of a passenger train near here. The party consisted of Harry Evers, aged fifteen; Willie Evers, aged eleven; Roy Sutton, aged ten; Andrew Hall, aged five, and a small boy whose name is said to be Nygard.

The boys were driving in a two-seated buggy, intending to come to this town to attend a picnic, when they were struck by the train and all quite seriously injured.

Sutton and Hall live in Minneapolis and the others at Monticello. The boys were taken to Minneapolis, where they were placed in a hospital.

JUMPS FROM HIGH BRIDGE.

Would-Be St. Paul Suicide Fails in His Purpose.

St. Paul, July 7.—Matt Vondrasek, a Hungarian carpenter, attempted suicide by jumping from the high bridge into the river. He is little hurt and will recover.

Two workmen employed on a log boom near the bridge witnessed the leap and, jumping into a boat, went to the rescue.

Vondrasek was dragged into the boat after he had gone under the water twice and was later taken to the city hospital.

The point from which the jump was made is directly over the channel, and is 140 feet above the water.

QUARTETTE OF VICTIMS.

Four Minneapolis People Drowned on the Fourth.

Minneapolis, July 7.—Four residents of this city lost their lives in drowning accidents on July 4. The dead are:

P. W. Emerson, drowned at Lake Calhoun; Paul S. Thompson, perished in Cedar lake; John Bucklay, fell from the steamer Cyclone in Lake St. Croix; William Roberg, drowned while bathing in Fish lake, three miles from Osseo.

PAYS A BONUS OF $30,000.

Zenith Furnace Buys Lease of Mine Near Biwabik.

Duluth, July 5.—The Zenith Furnace company has bought the lease to an undeveloped iron mine near Biwabik, paying for it a bonus of $30,000. The property contains 1,000,000 tons of Bessemer ore. The Zenith Furnace company owns the West Duluth blast furnace and is about to operate it at full capacity.

To Build a $100,000 Dam.

St. Cloud, Minn., July 5.—A. G. Whitney, who has closed a deal with the Davidson heirs of St. Paul for the purchase of their interest in the Sauk Rapids water power, announced that his company will shortly begin the erection of a water power dam with a maximum of 10,000 horse power and a minimum of 6,000 horse power at a cost of $100,000. It is understood that several manufacturing interests stand ready to use the power as soon as the dam is completed.

LAYS BLAME ON MAYOR.

Sensational Testimony in Trial of Minneapolis Police Chief.

Minneapolis, July 7.—Superintendent Fred W. Ames' testimony that not he, but his brother, Mayor A. A. Ames, was the real head of the Minneapolis police force, is the sensation of the chief's bribery trial.

The defendant was put on the stand immediately at the close of Victor J. Welch's address to the jury. After going through the story of his life Colonel Ames said:

"As superintendent of police I'm not permitted to define the policy of the department. The superintendent merely carries out the orders of the mayor. The mayor is the real chief of police. My duty is to sit in the office, hear complaints, instruct and detail the detectives and attend to correspondence. I have neither the appointing nor the discharging power. That is vested in the mayor."

Minneapolis, July 4.—The mob that surged about the entrance of Judge Simpson's court during the morning in expectation of hearing some sensational disclosures from ex-Detective Norbeck was not disappointed.

Norbeck was not called till just before the noon recess, but in half an hour told a story that set tongues wagging.

He confessed to acting as the helper of the big mitt men in their swindling operations, under orders from Mayor Ames and with the co-operation of Chief Ames. He startled the court with the announcement that he had been in that business a year and a half. He had mixed personally in the Roman Miex deal on which the present indictment of Chief Ames is based, and did so at the call of Chief Ames. The chief directed Norbeck to get the victim out of town.

Norbeck was to assist Gardner in mulcting the gambling houses, houses of assignation, candy stores, so-called, and all forms of graft and had no other police duties.

MINNESOTA POPULISTS.

Convention at Minneapolis Names a Full State Ticket.

Minneapolis, July 3.—One of the Democratic nominees, Spurgeon Odell, candidates for secretary of state, is included in the ticket nominated by the state Populist convention. The Populist ticket follows: Governor, Thomas J. Meighen, Fillmore county; lieutenant governor, John B. Hompe, Otter Tail county; state auditor, O. S. Reishus, Yellow Medicine county; treasurer, E. W. Knatvold, Freeborn county; attorney general, J. F. Steidel, Traverse county; clerk of supreme court, H. R. Imstahl, Marshall county; railroad and warehouse commissioner, F. C. Gibbs, Le Sueur county; secretary of state, Spurgeon Odell, Marshall county.

The platform rehearses the regular Populistic doctrines with relation to public ownership of public utilities, direct legislation, the issuance by the government exclusively of all money and the establishment of all branches of the currency as full legal tender. The trusts are denounced, together with the Fowler banking bill and the administration's colonial policy. Demand is made for the establishment of postal savings banks and for the enactment of an eight-hour law. Independence is urged for the Filipinos.

FORM INDEPENDENT LINE.

Important Move by the Striking Tugmen at Duluth.

Duluth, July 2.—The striking tugmen of Duluth, after being idle several weeks, have completed arrangements for the organization of an independent tug line. Captain B. F. Howard, formerly owner of the Bon Voyage, and an experienced man, was chosen as manager of the company and offices will be opened at once. The scheme is to be one of co-operation, all the members to share in the expenses and profits. The men say that the Lake Tugmen's Protective union is backing the enterprise, but it is believed that men of means are interested. One tug has already been chartered and four more will be in commission within a week.

The move on the part of the strikers will have an important bearing upon the action that has recently been brought by the manager of the Union Towing and Wrecking company, in which the strikers are charged with "hindering navigation on the Great Lakes." Marine authorities say that it would be likely to prove a decided obstacle, as it will be impossible to prove that they are interfering with navigation when all of the men are at work in the towing business.

DEMAND HIGHER PAY.

Two Hundred Miners at Sparta, Minn., on Strike.

Duluth, July 2.—The miners, more than 200 in number, at the Sparta and Malta mines at Sparta, on the Mesaba range, are on a strike for an advance from $1.75 to $2 a day.

The men on the night shift walked out and prevented the other shift from going into the mine. No violence was used but the men were intimidated, according to advices received by Sheriff Sargent. The Sparta Mining company offered to compromise with the men on a basis of $1.90 a day, but this was refused.

JOKE ON BURGLARS.

Carry Off a Duluth Safe That Contains No Money.

Duluth, July 7.—Burglars broke into two stores in Duluth during the night. They entered the Duluth Candy company's store, but were frightened away. At the Duluth Paint and Decorating store they blew off the lock of the door with a dynamite fuse or cartridge and stole the safe, which was a small one weighing 250 pounds and which contained no money.

Rafting Works Shut Down.

Winona, Minn., July 5.—The West Newton rafting works shut down on Wednesday evening after having been in operation for about six weeks, during which time 110,000,000 feet of logs were rafted. It is expected to reopen in three to four weeks if the water comes up in the meantime. The closing of the rafting works will not affect the Winona sawmills, as they secure a good part of their supply from the Stillwater and St. Paul booms, and will run right along.

ROOSEVELT AND THE TRUSTS.

> "The reign of trusts is drawing to a close. Hereafter the poor man must stand an equal show with the capitalists of the country."—President Roosevelt in his Pittsburg Fourth of July oration.

The statement goes out from Oyster Bay that President Roosevelt, not satisfied with the attitude of other house leaders in regard to trusts, has selected Congressman Littlefield of Maine to take charge of the anti-trust campaign that is being inaugurated by the chief executive. In almost every public utterance for the past three months President Roosevelt has touched upon the subject of enforcement of the laws governing combines that are in restraint of trade, and has evinced a determination that where the federal statutes are inadequate to deal with the matter, congress shall take up the great question, with a view to enacting definite legislation for the control and supervision of trusts.

Bryan's warning to Roosevelt that if he persists in his present attitude toward the trusts, he will stand no show of being elected to succeed himself as president, seems to have no terrors for the man who as the leader of the Rough Riders, faced unflinchingly the perils of San Juan hill, and who is not to be deterred by the fear of impending danger to his political career. The president, in his broad statesmanship, has conceived the true import of the trust question as a national issue, and is meeting the demands of the people for legislation that, while leaving to aggregations of capital adequate opportunities for healthy operation, still shall gaurantee to those masses protection from unjust manipulation.

Perhaps no question before the American people to-day is viewed with greater popular concern, and the president realizes the fact, and he has risen to the occasion. He could scarcely do more than he is doing, and while he stands as a sponsor for the rights of the people, making no threats of ill-conceived or radical methods that could give capital a pretext for taking fright, he is at the same time doing for his party what no other force within it has yet had the disposition or the courage to do—to disprove the Democratic theory that the Republican party stands sponsor for the trusts.

The American people will see that Theodore Roosevelt is re-elected to the presidency, so that he will have the opportunity of carrying out his noble purpose of directing the nation in the way of the greatest good to the greatest number.

The Crookston Journal report as to S. A. Swanson of this city withdrawing in favor of J. C. Norby in the senatorial race, is erroneous. Norby concluded that Red Lake county should furnish the candidate and as S. A. Swanson has no opposition for the honor, he will be the nominee. The candidate for representative will be a Beltrami county man. Iver Krohn, of the Shevlin Advocate, has been considered the logical candidate, but a county seat fight in which he is mixed up eliminates him as available timber.

Red Lake Falls has, during the past few months, made giant strides ahead. Two improvements—water works and sewerage—must come soon, however, if we would keep at the head of the procession. The matter should have serious consideration.

KNUTE NELSON'S GENIUS.

Knute Nelson is the genius of Minnesota statesmanship. One of the plain citizens of this great commonwealth, who has risen from the ranks, and yet travels with the infantry, his interests and sympathies closely allied to those of the masses, with a towering intellect and a personality that constitutes him as a shephard of a great flock, when he takes a position and announces to the world his conclusions, he seems almost invariably to be not only the moulder of public opinion, but the interpreter of the saner and more conservative sentiments of the masses to which he gives voice, even as the poet voices the pomptings of the human heart. There is a strong public feeling against the merger, a feeling which often prompts the use of violent expressions of condemnation. But to consider any great public question in the heat of passion is ill advised, and the calm reasoning of a Nelson serves as a safe guide to the impetuous as well as to the more conservative opponents of railroad monopoly.

In his state convention speech Mr. Nelson, while paying a splendid tribute to President Hill, the great man of whom all Minnesotans must feel proud, plainly condemned the merger. In conclusion, after referring to the high personal qualities of the president of the Great Northern road and his local associates, he said: "We are opposed to the consolidation, not so much because we fear that they would make a burdensome or hostile use of it, as because we know they are well along in years and may before a great while pass from our midst, and that then we would be at the mercy of a non-resident corporate body, composed of an army of non-resident stockholders, who will be more concerned about high dividends than low rates. Complete consolidation, whatever its purpose may be, becomes, nevertheless, in its essence a monopoly, and a complete monopoly necessarily involves absolutism, and this is repulsive to the great body of the people, and is dreaded by them in the realm of traffic no less than in the political world."

GOOD ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN.

The following epigrammatic peroids are from President Porter, Yale College: "Young men. you are the architects of your own fortunes; rely on your own strength of body and soul. Take for your star self-reliance. Inscribe on your banner, 'Luck is a fool; Pluck is a hero.' Don't take too much advice; keep at the helm and steer your own ship, and remember that the art of commanding is to take a fair share of the work. Think well of yourself. Strike out. Assume your own position. Put potatoes in a cart, go over rough road and the small ones go to the bottom. Rise above the mark you intend to hit. Energy, invincible determination, with a right motive, are the levers that move the world. Don't swear. Don't deceive. Don't read novels. Don't marry until you can support a wife. Be civil. Read the papers. Advertise your business. Make money and do good with it. Love your God and fellow-men. Love truth and virtue. Love your country, and obey its laws."

By the provisions of the irrigation bill passed by congress, there will during the next half century, be opened for settlement, agricultural lands at an average rate of 1,000,000 acres per annum. It is doubtful if a more perfectly conceived and drafted measure was ever enacted by Congress, for it is automatic, in that no further legislation and no appropriation will be required for its fulfillment. Under the provisions of the bill a fund, consisting of the receipts from the sale of public lands, which now aggregate upwards of $6,000,000, is already available as the nucleous of the "Irrigation fund." Accretion to this fund will result from every sale of public land. Each reservoir to be established and the land tributary thereto will be known as a "project" and the cost of each "project" will be added, pro rata, to the statute price, $1 25 per acre, of the irrigated land, the whole price to be paid in ten annual installments.

Editor Iver A. Krohn, of the Shevlin Advocate, although a populist, pays this beautiful tribute to Senator Clapp: The speech of Senator Moses E. Clapp in favor the election of United States senators by popular vote, recently delivered on the floor of the senate, advances him to the first rank as a debater and statesman. His arguments were backed up by an annalysis of constitutional law and citations of historic facts from the foundation of our government down to the present time, that shows him to be a student of our constitution and political history and possessed of a knowledge of facts unknown or not yet analyzed by some of the oldest and wisest of his brother senators.

Editor Frank Hanson, in the McIntosh Tribune, gives this wholesome advice: Don't smear your envelopes and letter paper with rubber stamp printing trying to make yourself believe that by such economy you are saving money. If you could but realize it you are advertising yourself in a way not to your credit by such miserly practices.

A Fertile Journal correspondent tells how a patient almost succumbed to a relapse occasioned by having too many callers; and continues: I take this incident for a text, preacher-like, but the sermon will be brief. Do not crowd into a sick room. Do not go there unless you are needed. If you do go and find others there, excuse yourself and go away at once. A sick person has no vitality to waste on callers. Usually there is none too much good air in a sick room, and the sick one needs it all. If you wish to show interest in the sick, call at the house, express your regrets, offer your sympathy and help, and excuse yourself. If you must see the sick do not sit down for a visit. "Brevity is the soul of wit." Then show your wit by the brevity of your call. If there is a place in the world where wisdom should be found it is in a sick-room. A word to the wise is sufficient; a word to the foolish is more than sufficient for it is lost.

The News and Comment editress of the Duluth New-Tribune grows eloquently serious and says: Why do women permit the parrot like repetition of the indictment of cruelty of their own sex against them? A woman who is devoid of charity, and she is a rare one, blames her erring sister, at the worst. A man's cruelty exceeds this He damns her with easy inuendo, and laughs at her. Blame is sweet when compared to heartless ridicule.

The personal property valuation of Grand Forks is $700,000—only about seven times as much as that of Red Lake Falls. The Herald says if the valuation of the whole state can be raised to about the basis on which Grand Forks is assessed the result would be good all around, but thinks Fargo's valuation which is 50 per cent. lower than that of Grand Forks is preposterous.

The 57th congress adjourned on July 2d at 5:30. A remarkable scene presented itself in the house of representatives. With the announcement of the Speaker that, the hour of 5:30 having arrived, the House stood adjourned sine die, over three hundred members burst into cheers, which were followed by the singing of "America," and then, at the suggestion of Speaker Henderson, the House sang "Dixie" to the leadership of General Henderson, who has lost a leg, and who stood with arms locked with General Hooker of Mississippi who has lost an arm. The two battle scarred veterans remained together on the rostrum until the song was concluded and the assemblage broke up in a storm of cheers.

There is no reason why Red Lake county should not give a nice majority for Gov. Van Sant this year. The people generally recognize merit in public officials, and it is Gov. Van Sant's aim to serve the best interests of the people.

The St. Paul Dispatch says: Those who are expected to have the management of the republican state campaign this year are planning to render strong aid to the local committees in counties where there is a fight for county offices. It is conceded that the state campaign will be easy, and it will be a good time for some of its managers to return some of the favors they have received from local hustlers. At the same time it will probably be found that this plan will prove very effective in adding to the vote for state officers, especially in big counties like Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis. The party leaders agree that the only danger of failure to make a complete republican sweep lies in a light vote. This they believe can best be prevented by a close co-operation between the committees.

THE SOULS OF FLOWERS

Mingle in happy union in the expuisite perfumes we carry. Scents are as difficult to blend into harmony as sounds. It takes almost as high an order of ability to make true perfumes as is required to write good music.

No wonder so much of the perfume offered is rank, flat and unsatisfactory. If not wholly pleased with the odors you are now using, we would like to have you try some of the delightful ones we handle. Cost no more than poorer kinds.

RED LAKE CO. SUMMER SCHOOL

To Teachers of Red Lake and adjoining counties.

The Red Lake County Summer School will begin its session on Monday, July 14, at 9 a. m. at the High School building in Red Lake Falls, and continue four weeks, with the following corps of instructors: Supt. P. L. Kuntz, of Owatonna, Minn., conductor and instructor in the higher branches and mathematics; Pres. J. C. Satre, of the Crookston Business College, instructor in the common branches and mathematics; Miss Lydia E. B. Fletcher, of Red Lake Falls, model school and instructor in English Literature; Frank Jeffers, County Superintendent Red Lake county, who will look after special lines of work. This being the third year for Conductor Kuntz, he will be able to do more for the teachers who attend and better adapt the work to their needs than at any prior session. We especially invite teachers from adjoining counties to spend these four weeks in Red Lake Falls and thus secure the benefits from attendance upon a first class school. Each of the faculty is especially adapted to the work in his particular line and will be in a position to do the most possible for those who attend.

It will be the aim of the school to so arrange the work and manage the session, that a general line of culture will result, and not only a specific kind of technical answers to special questions formulated by an expert. The session is expected to furnish ample provision for graded school teachers, as well as for those in the rural schools, and it is to be hoped that such teachers as are seeking for a more general culture and a higher appreciation of the profession will lend us their presence and participate in its benefits.

We shall endeavor to give a line of work in music if the teachers desire it, and classes in Algebra, Geometry, Science, etc., will be formed. The primary object of the course will be to get the most good from the session, and give as general an opportunity to take particular work as will seem to be justified. It will be the purpose to do well what is undertaken—look to quality rather than quantity.

Be present the first day and assist in organization of the school. There will be an afternoon session the first day in order to give all an opportunity to register and thus enable them to secure a certificate of perfect attendance. An evening lecture and such other additional lines of work as the school will justify will be made a part of the program. The last two days of the session will be given to the writing of the State Teachers' Examination and the review work of the school will be found especially beneficial to those who are intending to write this examination.

It is the desire of the County Superintendent that all third grade teachers attend and prepare to raise their standing, as the year of limitation has expired in a number of instances. We also wish that all teachers take an active interest in making this the largest and best summer school ever held in this section of the state.

Respectfully,
Frank Jeffers,
County Superintendent.

What is the Use of Running Chances on Your Harvesters

When you can get the McCORMICK? Remember, all machines need repairs sometimes and that's where the McCormick saves you 50 per cent. and always carries a full line with all agents. That means you won't have to drive all night to some town 22 miles away as some of our people had to do last season.

Hardware, Tinware, Nails, Fence Wire, Paints, Oils, Greases, Lumber, Lime, Salt, Farm Implements, McCormick Harvesting Machinery, Bicycles and Bicycle Repairs.

HILLTOP.

M. Brunelle, of Grand Forks, spent the 4th here.

Some of the farmers have commenced haying.

Last week's rain was enjoyed by the farmers and did considerable good to crops.

E. H Gerlach attended Ringling Bros.' circus at Grand Forks last Thursday.

Miss Anna Sutter went to Thief River Falls Thursday, returning Monday.

Misses Mattie and Freda Gerlach, of Red Lake Falls, visited with their cousins, Augusta and Minnie Gerlach, here this week.

When you awake in the morning feeling like the end of a misspent life, your mouth full of fir and your soul full of regrets, take Rocky Mountain Tea Great medicine. W. A. Schreiter.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. W. A. Schreiter, A. L. Reichert.

BRAY.

L. M. Roland, the St. Hilaire butcher, bought cattle here Wednesday.

A terrible windstorm, accompanied by rain and hail, swept over this vicinity Friday evening, doing slight damage.

John O. Carlson and Arvid Olson drove to St. Hilaire Thursday with six head of cattle that were sold to L. M. Roland.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. and Miss Hilda Erickson drove to Grand Forks Wednesday to attend to wedding of Miss Teckla Erickson, Mr. Erickson's sister.

Carl Akerlund and John, Minnie and Ella Peterson came up from Crookston Friday to help celebrate the Fourth. The three former returned Saturday.

A 4th of July picnic was held at Hans Hanson's. The attendance was small on account of many people going to Thief River Falls, but those present report a good time.

Vacation Days.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard them against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. No remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequenses. For cuts, scalds and wounds. "I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for sores, cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." Sure cure for piles and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. W. A. Schreiter, A. L. Reichert.

LOUISVILLE

Louisville can again boast of a ferry boat. Thank the Lord.

A good rain on Friday evening made everything look bright and smiling on Saturday.

A large delegation of Louisville people went to Red Lake Falls to celebrate the Fourth, some even remaining until the next day.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered for a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol, She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats anything she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. W. A. Schreiter, A. L. Reichert.

EMARDVILLE.

Miss Ewanda Nilson returned home from Grand Forks last week.

Work on the state ditch has been progressing rapidly the past week.

They had a sort of celebration at Plummer's crossing the 4th. The attendance was small.

Odin Jacobson returned home from Erskine last week, where he has been teaching Norwegian school the past five months.

We had a heavy rain storm here on the evening of the 4th that was welcome, but a hail storm passed on the 5th, slightly damaging the crops.

The Same Old Story.

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and retold by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

W. A. McIntyre, of Red Lake Falls, was here the latter part of last week, transacting business of a legal nature.

The Misses Hetu and Lambert, both employed here as teachers, finished their schools last week. Such is their ability to teach and so sweetened is it with their attractiveness that their services have been retained for the next terms.

Henry Cyr and Louis Falardeau were out fishing in the lakes east. They returned quite pleased although they were slightly disturbed by myriads of mosquitoes that had doubtless chosen that place as their summer resort.

GRIT.

Cash Waldron went to McIntosh for a load of store goods last Monday.

G. Hulmes and Halvor Holte returned from a five weeks' stay near Solway last week.

F. H. Compton and John Cameron have been busy this week hauling lumber for their new houses

C. Storholm, travelling salesman, for Finch & Smith, of Crookston, was doing business here this week.

Last Saturday's rain storm done no damage, and lots of good, and the crops are looking splendidly now.

The Salem Sewing Society, of Garnes held their auction sale on the Fourth and realized a neat little sum which will go to the church.

Thorald Auderson and wife and two daughters, of Fisher, who have been guests of Mrs. B. Kviste, returned to their home Friday.

Mrs. W. A. Swanson and Mrs. B. Kviste went fishing this week. They report catching one, but somehow he let go, however, the ladies are tickled over their good luck.

James Gaston and Lee Bryson who have been spending a week with friends and relatives at Fisher returned last week. Jim was promoted from bottle-washer to chief-cook before his return.

The range line between Garnes and Equality is now being worked up gratis by some of the parties that were left without any outlet to roads. It seems to be nothing but trouble over all the road work done in this vicinity—as our road overseers claim the benefit of the poll tax. All we ask is "do unto others as you have had others do unto you already" and don't thing that you are the only pebble on the marsh for there are others.

Well how did you celebrate Independence day? Did you march under the grand old stars and strips, with your hearts full of patriotism and shout your cheers of joy, while there lingered in the back ground of your memory gentle tokens and fond remembrances for the brave and noble heroes who fought and fell for the sake of freedom? But again the eagle's scream and the cannon's roar has been silenced in the stillness of the day that is past, and dead and gone are all the brave heroes that planted the stars and stripes upon this soil. But the day of Independence remains with us to honor and uphold with the same feeling of patriotism as our forefathers harbored in their hearts in those dark and dreary days of blood and war.

Americans like to laugh, and this fact is not overlooked by the Schubert Sympony Club. Several numbers of their program as well as all their encores are full of fun, and you will be highly entertained by their program at the Woodmen hall on July 14th.

Summer complaint is unusually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of the scribe. This is not intended as a free puff for the company, who do not advertise with us, but to benefit little sufferers who may do be within easy access of a physican. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summertime.—Lansing, Iowa, Journal. For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

Theo. LaBissoniere.

The farmer who has a number of cows and is a patron of the creamery is a lucky man, and one among those who is not much concerned as to whether their wheat crop goes ten or twenty bushels to the acre. The wheat crop is a secondary consideration to the successful dairyman. He wants plenty of corn and oats for feed and is therefore interested in crop conditions, for he turns his feed into milk and the milk into cash at the creamery. To have a monthly income of $75 to $100 from the cow is what increases the bank account of the farmer who has turned his attention from wheat raising to "milk raising."

A COUP

THEO. LABISSONIERE BECOMES OWNER OF THE STEINERT BLOCK.

The biggest sensation that has ever occurred in business circles here was sprung Saturday, when Theo. LaBissoniere bought the Steinert block, and signified his intention of moving in his stock as soon as the present tenants, Bangs & Co., have vacated, which will be in 30 days, since they had no lease. Bangs & Co., who have had the only double store in the city, and the finest in the county, are at sea as to what to do. Wm. H. Bangs Jr., for whom J. W. Rodgers has been managing the business, is in Boston, and nothing can be said definitely as to their plans until he either writes instructions or makes a personal visit. The firm is considering two offers from parties who are ready to erect suitable buildings. Manager Rodgers says the business has been better this year than ever before, and it is his disposition to continue.

The room occupied by Mr. LaBissoniere has been leased by Berthon & Armstrong, who will put in a clothing store. This leaves Bangs & Co. without quarters, but a room equal in size to the one now occupied by the firm will be erected within a couple of weeks if the firm gives the order.

All seem to have come for a purpose, and are striving to accomplish it. During the four weeks of the school much activity will manifest itself about the High School building. This is an opportunity every teacher and would-be teacher should take advantage of and devote the four weeks to a better preparation for her work. With high class instructors and enthusiastic work for a term of four weeks those who attend and are industrious can accomplish much, and give the public better service.

The state authorities deserve much credit for giving to the teachers of this county this opportunity for three years in succession. There are only thirty-seven such schools in the state, a number less than half that of the counties of the state, which indicates that this county has been favored.

The citizens of Red Lake Falls are invited to visit the school at any time. Talks by different citizens are being planned, announcement of which will be made in due time. An evening lecture is planned and arranged for to be delivered by Conductor Kuntz during the third week of the session. Prof. Kuntz is a very able speaker. He stands high in educational circles of the state, and has demonstrated his abilities as an organizer on many occasions. His work in the summer schools here is history and needs no commendation. Prof. Satre, of Crookston, needs no introduction to our people. He is president of the Crookston Normal School and Business College, and has a wide acquaintance in Northern Minnesota. Miss Lydia E. B. Fletcher, model teacher, is a Red Lake Falls young lady in whom our citizens take a personal interest. Her success in her chosen line—primary work—has been marked.

LITTLE DOUBT THAT THE G. N. DEPOT IS TO BE MOVED.

SURVEYORS WILL SOON RETURN TO COMPLETE SURVEYS.

Engineer Thill, who had charge of the Great Northern surveying operations here last month, writes that he will return with his crew at the end of the week, to cross section the route laid out, which is a veering of the line at section 12 north of the city, running in a southwesterly direction, crossing the Red Lake river a few rods up the stream from Healy & Bourdon's mill, and connecting with the N. P. track north of the N. P. depot, to which point the Great Northern depot will be moved. It is intimated that the work will be completed this fall, and G. N. connections made with the Duluth line at Tilden over the N. P. track from this city. The move will not effect the business portion of the town.

After having visited Crookston, Gentilly, and Louisville Rt. Rev. James McGolrick bishop of Duluth, arrived in the city yesterday to administer the sacrament of confirmation to several hundred candidates.

The first service was held at St Joseph's church After low mass, at which the bishop attended, occupying a position to the left of the altar, under the customary canopy, about two hundred young people were confirmed. Assisting in the ceremonials were Rev. Fathers Greene, of East Grand Forks, Roy, of Lambert, Theillion, of Gentilly, Ansgar, of St. Marys church, and the pastor, the Rev. E. Fayolle.

The bishop delivered a sermon before confirmation.

He assured his hearers that the sisters would bring with them blessings on the city of Red Lake Falls. The Great Buffalo and Wild West.

Among the leading attractions with the Great Buffalo and Wild West shows will be seen the only herd of real wild buffalos now in existence.

From remote ages past to within a third of a century ago, the vast plains beyond the Mississippi river were liberally crowded with the horned cattle of the plains—the buffalo—roamed in countless thousands.

Unwritten laws obtained among all tribes of western Indians, by which the progress of the buffalo was protected, being kept on the standard in the increase besides supplying the vast herd of savages with food and raiment.

THE DESTRUCTION OF THE BUFFALO began with the advent of civilization. Wealthy sportmen from the east came west on hunting expeditions bringing an army of friends and servants, and killed thousands for sport alone. Likewise Duke Alexis, of Russia came with his party of purpled aristocracy from Europe and entered into a carnival of slaughter never equaled before or since. It is estimated that more than 10,000 BUFFALO CARCASSES were strewn along his crimson trail across the western plains.

Hundreds of hunters and trappers followed the industry of killing for the hides, and so great was the supply that a buffalo robe became a drug in the market and commanded no higher price than the skin of a cowardly coyote.

The buffalo like the Indian, could not withstand the influence of civilization and succumbed to the inevitable and as a race vanished from the face of the earth.

A remote spot known as "Wild Horse Island" in the fastness of the Rocky Mountains, now affords the only herd of wild buffalo in the world. Choice specimens from this herd will be seen with the Great Wild West Shows, and appear at all performances.

Another instructive feature of the show are the Indian representatives of ten different tribes in tribal dances and warlike demonstrations. Chiefs and warriors of great renown and beautiful Indian belles decorated in the most bewildering costumes and colors, besides the Indian village which is of great interest to all.

Another great feature of the Great Wild West Show is the CONGRESS OF RANGE RIDERS of the world in unrivaled feat of "broncho busting," sharp shooting and cattle roping by "cowboys" and cow-girls."

Beautiful appaloosa, pinto and Arabian horses by the car-load and a herd of Montana "cow-ponies" will be see with this great Wild West Show.

The program is nearly three hours long. A whirl of action from start to finish. Grand street parade in forenoon headed by a celebrated "cowboy" band. The Great Buffalo and Wild West Show will exhibit at Red Lake Falls Monday July 21, afternoon and evening, rain or shine.

WE ARE IT.

SUING RIGHTS

SUPREME COURT SAYS TRIBAL INDIANS HAVE THEM.

THE MOOSEDUNG CASE REMANDED BACK TO DISTRICT COURT.

St. Paul, July 11.—Chief Justice Start of the supreme court today discharged the writ of prohibition and order in the case of Bem-Wsy-Bin-Ness at al., respondents, vs. Ezra Eshelby, et al., appellants, and holds that a tribal Indian, although not a citizen, may bring an action in the state courts to protect himself from injury to person or property off the reservation

The action established the right of five heirs of Moose Dung a Chippewa chief, to sue for a partition of 640 acres of land at the mouth of the Thief River in Red Lake county, and lying within the corporate limits of the village of Thief River Falls. The value of the property is estimated at $60,000. The land is now in possession of Eshelby and others.

Action in the Indian's behalf was brought in the Red Lake county court and transferred to the United States circuit court which remanded the case, claiming the United States court had no jurisdiction.

When the case was ready for trial in the lower court, Eshelby's attorney sued out a writ of prohibition in the supreme court, claiming that the Indians were tribal Indians and wards of the government, and therefore could not bring an action in the state courts.

The Indians set up the claim that they were civilized, cultivated lands, lived in houses as white people, and were entitled to the right of citizens.

The rights of the parties in respect to the land is not decided. The case is remanded to the Red Lake county court for a determination of that question.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. W. A. Schreiter, A. L. Reichert.

PURE READING.

The following is so much according to my views that I give it to my readers in place of my own. The article is from the pen of Charles R. Skinner and was published in the Chicago American:

The highest educational authorities of a great commonwealth may well give countenance and encouragement to all efforts which have for their object the ennobling individual and national life, the uplifting of men and women, through the influence of purity as an educational force and factor.

The work for purity is not and should not be confined to the great cities alone. Its influence should be felt in every great city and village and hamlet of the state and country, and every home should do its part of the work.

The great work carried on in our public schools is destroyed by the obstacles placed in the way of education by immoral and evil reading.

Sensational reading, even when not impure nor unchaste, is hurtful, because it makes the mind weak, incapable of continued effort, averse to real work.

It suggests scenes and incidents out of the ordinary experience of life, and fills readers with unreal, impracticable, impossible plans and projects, and unfits them for the plain, practical duties of to-day.

The mind grows by what it feeds upon. If fed by sensational books it can never gain the heights of excellence, for it has not the strength and endurance needed to reach them.

The boy with mind filled with fancies from sensational books and stories will never make a successful man.

The girl whose reading is sensational unfits herself for the duties of practical life. She can never rightly direct the education of children in the most impressionable years of their lives; can never retain their confidence and esteem when they grow up to manhood and womanhood.

Nor is it too much to say that the moral education of the young is sadly marred by sensational reading. The power to grasp and retain the great moral truths forming the basis of the noblest and purest characters is impaired and weakened by reading those books wherein of necessity these truths are ignored.

The mind lacks the vigor and fiber needful to hold strongly to anything. Besides, these truths become distasteful to those whose minds are fed on sensational novels.

The result is to lower and weaken the power that moral truths ought to have over the mind, over habitual thought, over conduct and life. This leaves the young easy victims to evil. They lack the moral stamina to resist temptation.

Because the way of life seems rugged and difficult they will not walk in it.

Because the way of ease and indulgence seems bright and pleasant they are eager to go there.

The experience of parents and teachers and of all interested in this question proves that sensational reading is one of the greatest obstacles to the education of the young.

What can be said of evil reading?

It weakens the mental vigor of our children. It loads the mind with foul images and corrupt thoughts, which not only defile but reduce the intellectual powers.

The pupil whose imagination has become polluted through impure reading finds these unclean images constantly appearing. Vigorous and continued mental action becomes distasteful.

The aimless look, the careless position, the listless manner show that real study is not performed. The entire mental machinery becomes enfeebled and useless for good work.

Pupils fail to give attention in recitations, the memory becomes impaired, a preoccupied air shows that lessons and studies, recitations and examinations are of no value.

The pupil simply acts in accordance with psychological law. The dominant thought in the mind is not history, nor language, nor mathematics, nor philosophy.

The forces of the brain are not correlating the facts taught, not building up in any sense a system of truth. The mind is busy rather with images of evil, with corrupt imaginings which drive out all thoughts of science or philosophy.

The natural results follows. Pupils fall behind in their classes, they lose desire for improvement. They live in an unreal realm of imaginative creation and become indifferent to the actual affairs of to-day.

They end by taking low positions in their classes or by leaving school with studies unfinished, their education defective, a reproach to themselves, a grief to their parents and friends.

Evil reading blackens the moral nature.

It is like charcoal. If kindled it burns the hand holding it; if not kindled, it blackens.

It burns and blackens the moral character; it prevents good, pure and wholesome thoughts finding place in the mind.

It presents constantly suggestions and images of impurity and wrong. Passions are stirred, propensities aroused, proclivities encouraged which neither time nor place nor companionship can curb.

What are we to do? A horrible evil confronts us as parents, as educators, as citizens.

Shall we sit idly down and wring our hands and lament the wrong? Far from it. We must rouse ourselves to greater effort. We must join hands with everyone fighting the evil; we must enforce our laws, and if the present law cannot suppress this monstrous iniquity, let us secure the enactment of laws that will suppress it. But first of all let us seek the aid of the press.

What tremendous power newspapers wield!

If rightly directed, what a mighty agency to make our boys and girls better men and women!

What responsibilities rests upon them if the education they give shall be in the wrong direction! Our American homes are the surest basis of our national happiness. Whatever uplifts the home uplifts the state.

Let newspapers teach our fathers and mothers and children that home may be and should be the happiest and most sacred place in the world.

Give up newspapers which we can offer freely to those whom we love best and feel that we are placing among them a friend whom we can trust and we will do much toward driving vile reading from our midst.

Newspapers can uplift the minister, the teacher and all who are pointing the way to better life and to better things.

They aid in that education which is not only the foundation of all that gives happiness in this life, but is the sure basis of the joy we hope for in the life to come. Nothing can be grander in this world than the power to rouse the desire for nobler and better things, for a purer and happier life.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

THE DOG'S ESCAPE.

Ed and William are two of the jolliest little boys you ever saw. They are up to so many pranks that we call them the "Ketzenyammer Kids." They think their uncle John is just the finest uncle in the land and I think I know why. You see they live some miles away and every few weeks uncle John is called to their town on business. He always goes to see them, he always gives them a nickel or more, and too he always romps with them.

Little Will, three years old, strikes an attitude the minute he sees his uncle and says: "Yanto Ite" (want to fight.) Some times he stands on his head and yell by way of greeting.

The uncle owns a fox terrier with a stub tail. Shorty after the boys had visited their uncle they found a dog on the street just like their uncle's—only he had a long tail. So they coaxed the dog into the house and their mother happened into the room just in time to see Ed holding the scissors in one one, the tail in the other ready to make the dog like uncle John's. Their mother punished them severely, but I think the uncle who caused the trouble was more to blame. Don't you?

White Man Turned Yellow.

Great consternation was felt by the friends of M. A. Hogertd of Lexington, Ky., when they saw he was turning yellow. His skin slowly changed color, also his eyes, and he suffered terribly. His malady was Yellow Jaundice. He was treated by the best doctors, but without benefit. Then he was advised to try Electric Bitters, the wonderful Stomach and Liver remedy, and he writes: "after taking two bottles I was wholly cured." A trial proves its matchless merits for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles. Only 50c. Sold by W. A. Schreiter, Druggist.

"You will be very happy," she said. And then she heaved a little sigh, presumably for herself.

"My dear child," replied Brenda, "this is altogether too sudden and incomprehensible to suit a conventional person like myself. This weird flirtation of the madhouse which Dr. Kendall and I seem to have begun in a manner shamelessly public may be only the temporary aberration of our minds and have nothing to do with our hearts. I hope it will strike in; I do most devoutly. Then you and Clarence could arrange your agreeable romance without remorse"—

"That is ended," said Elsie. "In fact, it never began. Brenda, you opened your heart to me; let me open mine to you. I want some one in the world, some one whom I care for, to know the whole truth."

"Are you sure you really wish to trust me with this confidence?" asked Brenda earnestly. "You do not really know me. Your mother may soon be with you."

"I would never tell my mother," said Elsie sadly. "She has had trouble enough. As for trusting you, knowing you—why, it seems to me that we have been here together since the dawn of recorded history and you were my friend the first minute. I'm afraid you may not care to be after you have heard the story, but I don't want to hold you by false pretenses. So hear me, Brenda."

"It will not excite you? It will not make you ill again?"

"It would excite and worry me if I should stop now after I have made up my mind," said Elsie. "Listen. You shall know everything but a name. I can't tell you that."

Brenda was silent. She was saying to herself: "I am afraid. My heart is trembling for this girl."

"It doesn't matter when, it doesn't matter where," continued Elsie, "but when and where fate pleased I met a man who took a great liking to me. I know little now, and I knew far less then, though it wasn't so long ago. He was an educated man, and I was not an educated girl, but I wished that I was. We met in a merry party, and I expected him to talk frivolity. He didn't. His conversation was very improving. Oh, he took a deep interest in my mind.

"What idiots girls are! Why, this man read me like a book. He saw that I was full of yellow covered ambitions and ten cent aspirations. He had probably seen a great many girls equally deserving of encouragement. I thought he was splendid. I put my hand in his and prepared to ascend the hill of learning.

"It was a supper after the theater, and we rode to my house together in a hansom afterward at 2 o'clock in the morning, and the chaperon of our supper party rode in another direction in another hansom with another man. My escort talked about the 'Rubaiyat' of Omar Khayyam, and I then first appreciated the beauties of that sublime composition. Afterward he spoke of my work in a very earnest and encouraging way. He let me know that he had been quite a student of the drama and that his criticism and advice would be of the greatest assistance. That, at least, was the inference. Finally he bade me good night on the doorsteps, with a gentle sadness in his manner which let me know that there was a romance in his life. That made me feel safe, for at that time I surely did not want him to fall in love with me, and I still retained the delusion of my earlier years that romances in a person's life acted like vaccination.

"The gentleman called upon me the next afternoon, and he was very entertaining as well as instructive. He brought me a large book. I forget what it was about. The next day he took me out to dinner, and I remember that he gave me some very shrewd and helpful criticism about my work. Then I didn't see him for two whole days, and I began to miss him very much. At that time I was lonely. My girl friends in the profession were all out of town, and some of the men in the company who wished to be kind to me were rough in their ways—not at all like the cultured gentleman whose acquaintance I had been so fortunate as to make."

"But didn't you ask about him?" said Brenda. "Didn't you find out how he stood socially?"

Elsie laughed.

"How was I to find out any of those things?" she said. "The world is a big place, in the midst of which is society as you know it, a little mutual insurance company for the purpose of protecting its members, especially the younger ones, against accidents. I only knew that I liked this man and that he seemed to be a true friend to me. What other guide was I to have except my own beautiful ignorance?"

"I don't know," said Brenda aloud, but to herself she was saying: "The more wrong she has suffered the more I want to help her. I won't let anything take her away from me."

"Presently I heard the story of the romance in his life," continued Elsie. "It appeared that the gentleman was married—most unhappily. Where was his wife? He had permitted her to obtain a divorce. This was pure generosity on his part. He would rather suffer an injustice than attack in the courts the woman he had sworn to love and cherish. He mentioned several high society precedents for this conduct. In fact, he convinced me that divorce was, upon the whole, a mark of distinction in these days. It appeared that his was a sort of limited divorce which did not permit him to remarry, but after this aspect of it had been presented to me on several occasions he discovered that he could marry under certain conditions with the full sanction of the law and heaven.

"Well, Brenda, let's be fair. I wanted to marry the man. I persuaded myself that I was in love with him. I wasn't. I can see that now. I wasn't within a million miles of loving him, but I was ready to be loved, Brenda; that's the truth about it. My heart was full of tenderness; and I saw the whole world rose tinted in the light of the dawn of love. That's poetical. But wait a minute. I am coming to something very unromantic. I wrote this story, Brenda—wrote it all down for a great heart thrilling novel—and then had sense enough to burn it. But that helps me to tell it straight, and you'll catch fine phrases now and then, but you won't laugh at me.

"Well, we were engaged, of course. My fiance presented me with a diamond ring, and diamonds are my soul's delight. After I got this one I used to keep a little light burning in my room at night so that I might see it sparkle if I happened to be wakeful. I subsequently learned that there was a financial irregularity involved in the obtaining of the glittering gem, but I did not learn that until after it had passed out of my possession."

"Where did fate find this precious rascal?" whispered Brenda. "And why did fate send him to you?"

"Why did fate send a good man afterward?" said Elsie. "Why not before? Well, 'the moving finger writes and, having writ, moves on'— It was to be. Finally the gentleman announced that a marriage under the laws of the state of Pennsylvania would meet the requirements of the situation. I was a good deal startled by this definite suggestion, and I wrote to my mother on the subject for the first time. The gentleman took the letter to post, and it has not been delivered yet, thank heaven!

"Before it was time to get an answer sudden business of great importance called my fiance to Philadelphia. How opportune! Well, Brenda, I packed a little hand bag and went. What must you think of me?"

Brenda bent down gently and kissed Elsie's hand and held it against her face.

"I don't know the story yet," she said, "but you have portrayed a thorough scoundrel. And you have also shown me a trusting and true hearted girl who went to be married with an innocent heart. Blessed heaven! Think of a man for whom a young and pure girl will go out into the world like that, as if to walk in the fields! Should not every fiber of his soul be thrilled to loyalty for all his life?"

"The gentleman in question had no soul," said Elsie. "I think he will be spared all punishment hereafter, as the brutes are. Let us proceed, Brenda, dear. The remainder of the story is not long. We took the 11 o'clock train and reached Philadelphia in time for luncheon. Our marriage was to be kept secret for awhile, and there seemed to be some slight objection to the public dining room of the hotel where our hansom set us down. However, we lunched there quite hastily, for I had no appetite. Then we re-entered the hansom and went to look for a minister. We had remarkable difficulty in finding one, considering that Philadelphia is a large city full of churches, but we finally succeeded. Then it appeared that we had neglected to comply with certain formalities, but the clergyman was able to rectify the matter, and so we were married pitifully, as I see it now, with stupid old servants and a chance laborer who happened to be at work in the house as our witnesses.

"When we got back to the hotel, it was 6 o'clock, and I was nearly famished. We hurried right into the dining room, and my husband ordered a great spread, with champagne, for our miserable celebration, and now I will tell you the unromantic part. In the midst of that dinner, and while I fancied that I was eating with a splendid appetite, I was suddenly seized with the most awful pain that ever devastated my poor little stomach. Yes, Brenda, it was a regular, terrible stomach ache—just pain, without a bit of nausea. I felt as if some one had my stomach in his hand—a hand about the size of Captain Neale's—and was crushing it to pieces.

"My husband said he guessed it would soon pass away, but it didn't, and so he left his dinner and ran out to a drug store to get me something to take. When he came back, I took it, and I didn't feel any worse, because that wasn't possible, but I certainly felt no better. In a few minutes I began to realize that I was going out of my wits. I talked insanely and saw things that weren't there. The next thing I knew we were riding up in an elevator, and it seemed to go up for a week. Then there was a woman leading me along a hall and into a room, and she began to take off my clothes in the bedroom of a little suit. I stared at her and asked her who she was.

"'I'm the assistant housekeeper,' she said. 'I belong to the hotel.'

"As if she had been a piece of furniture. Then I asked where my husband was, and she said he had gone out for a doctor. So she made me lie down. Probably I seemed to be there on that bed, but in reality—my own reality—I was playing in that old barnstorming company and studying, studying, studying on long parts that were always changing, but sometimes I was a little girl again in a town way out in Michigan, running through the streets, with my long legs flying and my heels touching the back of my head, as my mother used to say. I stole the neighbors' flowers in the scented June evenings and staid out under the little whispering stars till my mother came, weeping with anxiety, to bring me home. And, strangely enough, right in the midst of it all there stood the doctor, a tall, gaunt young man, asking me how I felt. But where was my husband?

"'He has not got back,' said the woman. 'I was afraid to wait any longer, so I got this gentleman, who is a New York doctor stopping in the hotel.'

"Then I felt something sharp pricking my arm and afterward the pain was easier, and my mind suddenly became as clear as it is now. I heard the doctor say that I would be all right when I had had some sleep, and then my husband appeared, looking in between the curtains that hung by the bedroom door. It seems that he had not brought a doctor, but had left word for one to come.

"My husband remained there, between the curtains, perfectly rigid, staring, pale as a ghost. He was looking at the doctor beside my bed, and glancing up I saw that the doctor was staring at him.

"You!" said the doctor.

"'You!' said the doctor, and he took three strides out of the room, my husband backing away as the other advanced.

"They whispered together; they thought I could not hear. But, Brenda, I would have heard them if they had been in New York.

"'She says you were married this afternoon,' said the doctor. 'How is that?'

"'Who in the devil's name called you in?' demanded my husband. 'Where did you come from?'

"'This is state prison business,' said the doctor, without minding the questions. 'You are living legally separated from your wife, but you are not divorced, and you never will be by your own consent, for her father is paying you to behave yourself.'

"'There has been no marriage here,' said my husband. 'Don't say anything. This is a mere freak of mine. I'll make it right with you if you'll keep quiet.'

"'You lie,' said the doctor, and then, 'Am I too late to save her?'

"My husband answered 'Yes.' Brenda, how is it possible for a human being to utter a falsehood like that? I was no more to him than you are except that I had promised before God to be his wife. And the doctor looked him in the eyes a moment and then struck him across the face with the back of his open hand and went out of the room.

"My husband came to the curtains and looked in; then he approached the bed, and I groaned as loud as I could. At that he seemed to lose his wits. He ran around the room aimlessly and at last snatched his hat from the floor and rushed out. I suppose he was going for another doctor.

"When he was gone, I invented an errand and sent the woman away. Then I got up and dressed. I don't know how it was possible for me to do it, but I seemed to be as light as a feather. I got out of the hotel easily enough and took a cab to the railroad station. I had not money enough for a sleeper, so I rode in a day coach all the way to New York, but my mind was in a thousand places, and some of them were beautiful, and I was happy there, and again I was in terror and pain.

"When I left the train at Jersey City, my head was bursting upon my shoulders and the air was fire. Honestly, Brenda, when the ferryboat ran into the slip on this side, I thought it was the mouth of the infernal regions. It looked like a great cave full of flames and it seemed that I was being crushed and thrust into it. Yet I must have had some part of my senses, for I found a cab and gave the driver my address. And so I came home from my wedding journey, Brenda. I let myself in with my key, and the people in the house never knew that I had been away that night. They found me ill and got a doctor for me, and before the day was over I was nearly well. The doctor said I must have eaten some sort of a thing—what do they

THE COURIER'S VOMITINGS.

The Courier should have sent a 10-year old boy with a grain of honesty in his make up to report the Republican mass meeting last week, Instead of inflicting upon that gathering the editor, whose account of the meeting instead of being a fair statement of facts, is nothing less than the malignant vomitings from the stomach of a disturbed political grafter.

The Courier charges the Republicans with violating the primary election law, and the article seems to be saturated with the gall and envy characteristic of the man.

In spite of the publicity given the fact that no slate would be made up, and no candidates indorsed, and the further fact that not a single word was said at the mass meeting that could be construed to the contrary, the Courier. after a tiresome attempt at belittling the gathering, concludes:

The first attempt to get around the primary election law proved abortive, and it is likely that it will be a good many years before the Republican party of Red Lake county holds another mass convention.

The Republicans of Red Lake county have every reason to feel proud and satisfied at the fine attendance and interest manifested in the meeting of the 7th, and we are strongly of the opinion that the Courier's howl is set up to blind the voters to the tactics pursued by those who engineered the conference of the democratic and populist committees which occurred, we are informed, behind bolted doors.

Let us contrast the Republican method, with those employed there.

The Republicans held an open, daylight, advertised meeting, and the public had been duly advised that no formal attempt would be made to nominate a ticket or indorse any candidate; to which all members in the county were invited, and where any aspirant for a county office could have his name brought before the public. No one was barred; no dictatorial slate put through.

The Courier's own testimony is all that is needed, however, to convict the Conferees. Read this:

On the other hand, the Peoples' and Democratic organizations are working in complete harmony, and whatever division may occur in state and congressional matters, on legislative and county issues they are united. Good judgment and wise counsel has prevailed [note the grammar] and a legislative and county ticket combining strength, character and popularity will be presented for the suffrage of the voters.

Yes, the ticket has already been presented. The Courier has been good enough to publish it. It was we are told, conceived at that conference last week, and appeared in the last issue of the Courier. Here it is:

Auditor, James E. Ford, (Democrat.)

Register of deeds, Samuel Gibeau, (Peoples.)

Treasurer, O. T. Tandberg, (Peoples.)

Clerk of Court, Joseph Perrault, (Peoples.)

Sheriff, a Thief River Falls Democrat.

County Attorney, Frank A. Grady. (Peoples.)

Judge of Probate, W. A. McIntyre, (Democrat.)

Superintendent of schools, Frank Jeffers, (Peoples.)

But hold! The primaries are yet afar off, and not until Sept. 16 can a ticket be nominated—and yet we find made to order and foisted upon the innocent voters of the Populist and Democratic parties in a manner that would put to plush Tammany hall in her palmiest days, a county ticket.

There is only one name for each office. None other need apply. If your name isn't on that ticket, you Democratic or you Populist office-seeker, you are supposed to go 'way back and sit down. There was a time in the history of the respective parties in this county when the honored name of a Spillane, a Lee, a Knight, a Taylor, a Meehan, Tarrant or a Morgan, a Burkee, Hoff or Linnihan, a Zeh, Satre or Wold, a Moran, Hebert or Tweet, a Duchamp, Englestad or Naplin, an Asp or a Berry, might have stood a chance of recognition. But you are back numbers, boys, you have failed to get in "touch" with the great spirit from Nobles county and the rest of the machine, and your race is run. Now let silence and obeisance reign; stand aside, and do not do a thing at the primaries.

Judge N. W. Tarrant, of Thief River Falls, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for judge of probate. The judge is said to be strong politically.

The subject of paramount interest politically among all classes, is the President's utterance on the subject of trusts, delivered at Pittsburg and the statement that Representative Littlefield of Maine has been chosen to draft an anti-trust law to be pushed at the next session of Congress. Generally speaking, Republicans are pleased with Mr. Roosevelt's statement and are ready to furnish the most positive assurances as to his honesty and sincerity of purpose.

WANTED.—A label for the Courier's politics.

H. E. Mussey, formerly editor of the Thief River Falls Press, is out for the Repubilcan nomination for clerk of court.

J. L. Cossette, of Terrebonne; Joseph Laurent, of Gervais, and J. F. Mathews, of Louisville, are mentioned as Republican timber for county treasurer.

The Gazette is authorized to announce that there will be a Populist candidate for judge of probate. the conference notwithstanding. He is a Red Lake Falls man.

We leave it to the voters of Red Lake county, which makes the better showing—the Republican love feast, where non were barred from recognition, or the Conference plan of a few self constituted leaders where all were barred, save the elite.

Hon. J. T. Knight wants The Gazette to retract the slander that he participated in that fusion conference last week. The Judge says he didn't, and that he never approved of this disregard for the primary law. We are glad to make the correction.

The same crowd who two years ago lied about Congressman Eddy and the Free Homes bill are at their old tricks, with a new dodge. Who was right two years ago, those who claimed the validity of that law or those who denied it? Ask the homesteaders who are proving up at a saving of $200 a piece.

H. E. Ives, until recently chairman of the Populist county committee, says in his paper, the St. Hilaire Spectator: "Governor Van Sant has proved himself a competent executive during the past two years and his election looks like an assured fact."

Pillsburg Academy, whose ad appears in this issue has six modern buildings, an endowment of $280,000, a corps of fourteen experienced teachers, and an average attendance of 225 students. The Hallock News talks right out in meeting in this wise: Argyle is to have a $6.500 city hall this year and is making several other improvements. Default having been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage made, executed, and delivered by Levi Bruuyatte, and Mary Brosyette, his wife mortgagors, to May Buse mortgagee, which mortgage bears date the 4th day of June, 1900, was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota on the 31st. day of July, 1900, at 3:10 o'clock p. m., in Book 20 of mortgages on page 226 and is now recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for the County of Red Lake State of Minnesota, in Book 20 of mortgages, on page 226.

Which said mortgage, together with the debts secured thereby, including taxes paid by the mortgagee, was duly assigned by May Buse, to M. O. Sortedahl by written assignment dated July 31st, 1900, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, on December 0th, 1801, at 4:15 o'clock p. m., in Book "T" of Mortgages, on page 91, and which said mortgage, together with the debts secured thereby, including taxes paid by the mortgagee and the assignee under the mortgage, was again assigned by the said M. O. Sortedahl, to Ernest Buse, by a written assignment dated March 3rd, 1902, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Red Lake county, State of Minnesota on April 10th, 1902, 3:30 o'clock p. m., in Book "S" of Mortgages, on page 252 to-wit:

Lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) and five (5) in blk three (3) of Railroad addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the official plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds within and for the said county of Red Lake and was given to secure the payment of the sum of one hundred and ninty-five dollars with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, payable annually, on the 4th day of June in each year, according to the conditions of one principal note and interest coupon notes thereto attached, by failure to pay the annual interest falling due on the 4th day of June 1901 and by failure to pay the taxes levied upon said real estate for the years 1897, 1898, 1899 and 1900, and whereas the said assignee of the mortgages, by virtue of the power contained the said mortgage, paid to the County Treasurer of Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, the following taxes, duly levied and assessed by the said county against the land described in the said mortgage, and were due and delinquent at the dates when said payments were made, to wit: On July 31st, 1900, paid $9.49 taxes for the years of 1897, 1898 and 1889; on April 10th, 1902, paid $3.86 taxes for the year 1900, in all the sum of $13.35 and with interest amounting to $15.41.

And whereas, said mortgage, provided as one of its conditions that in case of failure to pay any part of said interest when the same becomes due or to pay any taxes levied upon said real estate before the same becomes delinquent, the whole sum of money or indebtedness thereby secured shall thereupon become due and payable; and whereas said mortgage also provides that if such taxes are not so paid the holder of said mortgage may elect to pay the same and be entitled to interest on the same at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum and said mortgage stands as security for the amount so paid, with interest.

And Whereas, there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice on said principal indebtedness and interest thereon due to the date thereof and for said amount paid for taxes and interest thereon the sum of two hundred and forty 33-100 dollars.

And whereas, because of said defaults and of each of them the power of sale in said mortgage contained has become operative, and no action at law or in equity having been instituted to cover said mortgage indebtedness.

Now, Therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises above described which sale will be made by the sheriff of said county of Red Lake at the front door of the Court House in Red Lake Falls, in said County, on Saturday the 19th day of July 1902 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said indebtedness, the Attorney's fees of $35.00, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year thereafter, as provided by law.

Summer complaint is unusually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of the scribe. This is not intended as a free puff for the company, who do not advertise with us, but to benefit little sufferers who may do be within easy access of a physican. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summertime.—Lansing, Iowa, Journal. For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

Small grain in this vicinity is looking splendid in spite of a late and rainy spring.

Yesterday Miss May Weston, returned to her home at Thief River Falls, after teaching the spring term of school in district No. 153.

Amond Tonneson, one of Equality's south side bachelors, has been busy painting his house since he returned from a two weeks' stay in Grand Forks. We can all guess the rest.

Ljot S. Langbie, our mail carrier, some time ago notified the town board of Equality to fix certain parts of the road that he was compelled to travel, and that were not passable. They are now complying with his request. But inasmuch as the Garnes town board refuses to do their share by fixing certain parts of unpassable roads to connect with the Equality roads, conditions are far from satisfactory. The mail carrier is entitled to an outlet on roads. We are speaking from a practical standpoint.

Several cases of small-pox are reported from eastern Wyandotte and no quarantines.

A very pleasant party was held at the home of Knute Erickson, July 4. Those participating report a most enjoyable time.

Nels Haakinson has sold his team to F. E. Sullivan, and rumor says he will purchase a "naughty mobile." Nels says this is a mistake as hereafter he will navigate by ox-power.

The Ladies Sewing Society of the Lutheran church held an auction sale on the Fourth. They served dinner and supper to the hungry crowd, and netted a goodly sum.

The dance at Moen's Hall on the Fourth was not very well attended on account of the rain. But those present had a good time, and Landlord Moen served an excellent lunch at midnight.

R. H. Green invited a few neighbors to help make merry the Fourth. Plenty to eat, good spirits, neighborly chat, with a few fire crackers for the children, made the day pass quickly and pleasantly.

Old Glory waved, the eagle screamed, the small boy was present with his fire-crackers, the young man with his best girl, the old man, with his grandchildren and all were bent on celebrating the Fourth in Garnes—and they did.

The Numedal correspondent is inquiring about that rubber boot. Well to explain fully, we followed the downward course of that boot as far as it was preceptible to human eye-sight. Then the mud closed slimily but firmly over it, and unless it has passed through the earth and sprouts of it are giving promise of a rubber tree in some distant land, there it is entombed, and "no stone marks the spot where a comrade's form lies."

The church difficulty has now resolved itself into the question of whether to place the church facing west or north. The foundation is already in place facing west, but we understand it is to be turned now and make it face north. One gentleman suggested placing it on a turned-table as the only way to secure harmony in the congregation and perhaps it will yet be found the only way to avoid dissension.

The Same Old Story.

J. A. Kelly relates an experiance similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and retold by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker then former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered for a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats anything she wants, remarking that she feels no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy. Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. W. A. Schreiter, A. L. Reports from the district south-west, beginning at a distance of from three to four miles from the city, are to the effect that Tuesday night's storm did some damage. Just to what extent has not been learned, although it is not thought to have been serious.

Residents of Third street are complaining of the continual molestation from parties who seem eternally bent on mischief, and there is a necessity of the young gentry (and some old) to quit their depredations of flower beds and trees at night. In common with many others these citizens are trying to improve their premises by the planting and care of trees and flower beds, thereby contributing towards beautifying the city, and Third Street in particular. But it seems miscreants are bent on preventing this, for just as soon as the flowers blossom somebody is sure to step in and break them off, or they amuse themselves by indiscriminately breaking the branches of trees or whittling the bark off. We can state that some of these fellows are known and unless the depredations cease or parents warn their children somebody will wish he had been wiser.

THE PRIMARY LAW

THE SALIENT POINTS IN THE NEW LAW GOVERNING NOMINATIONS.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION THIS YEAR WILL BE HELD SEPT. 16.

> The primary election is held for the purpose of nominating candidates for the different offices by the voters of the respective parties.
> In 1902 the primary election will be held on September 16th.
>
> The Polls shall be kept open from six o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock in the evening. All persons present at the hour of closing are entitled to vote.
>
> The last day on which certificates of candidates can be filed is Aug. 27th.

For the first time in the history of the state the plan of making direct nominations by the people will be tried under the new Primary Election Law. The primary election takes the place of caucuses and conventions, at which, heretofore, candidates have been placed in nomination for the different public offices by the several political parties. As a rule, the majority of the voters in all political parties have taken little interest in caucuses and conventions in the past, hence the selection of delegates and the making of party nominations was left to those who did take such interest in political matters. Many good citizens have refrained altogether from attending caucuses. Too frequently it has happened that unscrupulous politicians and political bosses have manipulated both caucuses and conventions for their own selfish aims. Each political party has felt the need of some system whereby the great body of voters, the rank and file of the party, could make their influence felt in making party nominations. With this end in view the Primary Election law was passed by the last legislature. It gives the people a better chance to make known their wishes in the selection of candidates. Whether or not the people will avail themselves of this privilege depends on how generally they attend the primary election. It is the duty of every citizen qualified to vote to cast his or her vote at the primary election, which is as important as the general election.

At the primary election the voters meet as members of a political party. At that election the contest is not between opposing political parties, but between candidates of the same party, who may be rivals for a nomination for the same office. A political party within the meaning of the law is one which cast at least 10 per cent of the vote at the last preceding election.

At the primary election there will be as many different ballots as there are political parties with candidates in the field, and each voter will call for the ticket of the party to which he belongs or desires to be affiliated with. This ballot is very much like the Australian ballot used at general elections, but contains only the names of candidates of one party seeking the nomination for office.

If there is only one candidate for a certain office, there is no contest within the party for that nomination, but the voter ought nevertheless to record his will by the usual mark. If there are two or more candidates for the same office, the voter will make his choice by placing an X mark opposite the name of the one whom he desires to see nominated. No new names can be written on the ballot, nor can the candidates of one party be substituted for those of another.

WHEN HELD.

The primary election is held seven weeks before the general election, which makes the date for the election this year, Sept 16.

HOURS FOR VOTING.

The polls shall be kept open from six o'clock in the morning until nine o'clock in the evening. If at the hour of closing there are any electors in the polling place, or in line at the door, desiring to vote, and who are qualified to register and participate therein, and have not been able to do so since appearing at the polling place, said polls shall be kept open reasonably long enough after the hour to register and vote. No one not present at the hour of closing shall be entitled to register and vote because the polls may not actually be closed when he arrives.

The day of the primary election is also the first day of registration of voters for the general election, and before receiving his ballot the voter must be duly registered as a voter then and there in the manner provided by law.

PRIMARY ELECTION RULINGS.

Attorney General Douglas is credited with having made the following rulings on a few points involved in primary elections:

To be entitled to a vote at the primary election a man must have lived in the precinct at least thirty days.

No one can be a voter at the primary election who has not been a resident of the precinct for thirty days.

A man who is under twenty-one years of age cannot register. This applies regardless of the fact that he will be twenty-one before the coming election.

Names cannot be inserted on the ballot; neither can candidates on one ticket be substituted for those on another. A voter can only vote for candidates who are all Republicans or all Democrats, as the case may be, and cannot vote a mixed ticket.

Winnipeg Excursion.

The annual excursion to Winnipeg, called forth by American Day at the Exposition, was this year more largely patronized than ever before. The train pulled into Red Lake Falls Tuesday morning at 5 o'clock, and the coaches were so crowded that standing room could not be obtained by some, and a number of those who had gone to the depot intending to embark, turned back at the prospect of having to stand up all the way.

There were seventeen coaches packed to the guards, and the hottest day of the season must be added to the points worth mentioning.

Between Pembina and Emerson one coach left the rails and the passengers were shaken up a little. When the train stopped two hoboes who had been stealing a ride, tumbled out from under the car, very much chagrined at this disturbance, and the prospects of a miscarriage of their plans. It was only the work of a few moments to place the car in position on the rails and no further accident occurred to mar the pleasures of the trip.

The Exposition is better than ever this year and Winnipeg herself seemed more like a city of a hundred thousand population than one with half that many souls. The excursionists boarded the train for the return trip at midnight and reached here at 9:15 a. m. yesterday. The Red Lake Falls contingent numbered 75, and they were a tired but satisfied crowd.

SCHOOL MATTERS.

ANNUAL ELECTION, REORGANIZATION OF BOARD, HEATING PLANT CONTRACT.

The annual school election was held last Saturday night, and three new members were elected to fill the vacancies caused by the retirement from the board of E. E. Fletcher, H. M. Kaus and V. L. Knight. The polls were kept open but a short time and a very light vote was cast, divided as follows:

Frank E. Hunt	71
Sam Allard	61
Theo. Garceau	42
John A. Duffy	15
H. C. Hansen	14

Mr. Hansen, whose name was being used without his knowledge, arrived on the scene shortly after the polls were opened and at once served notice that he was not a candidate and would not accept the office if elected. Theo. Garceau's name was then substituted on the ballot.

The board is now made up as follows: Frank E. Hunt, Theo. Garceau, A. P. Toupin, Thos. Crumpa, Sam Allard, and Henry Hennemuth. Organization was effected Tuesday night by the election of the following board officers:

President, Frank E. Hunt.
Secretary, A. P. Toupin.
Treasurer, Thos. Crompe.

The board next proceeded to consider the matter of the steam heating plant for the High School building and the contract was awarded to J. E. Morrissey of Crookston for $1665. The work will be energetically pushed so that all will be in readiness for the opening of school.

Noted Correspondent and Traveler.

Few newspapers in the United States are able to command the service of as brilliant a corps of correspondents as that of the Chicago Record Herald. Its choice of a Washington correspondent is indicative of The Record-Herald policy of obtaining the best there is to be had. Walter Wellman, the well-known authority on political subjects and one of the best writers of the day, acts in that capacity.

Mr. Wellman was born in Mentor, Ohio, Nov. 3, 1858. At the age of 14 he began his newspaper experience, establishing at that age a weekly paper in the little town of Sutton, Neb. In 1878 he returned to Ohio, and a year later established the Cincinnati Evening Post. In 1884 he became the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Herald, and in 1892 he visited Central America and the West Indies and located the landing place of Columbus on Watling's (San Salvador) Island, and marked the spot with a huge stone monument. Mr. Wellman's dashes to the north pole are well known. In 1894 he made the first of his two arctic voyages of exploration, reaching the latitude of 81 degrees northeast of Spitzbergen. In 1898 he returned to the north, penetrated to Franz Joseph Land, returning again to this country in 1899. On each trip he met with wonderful success in the discovery of new islands and lands and brought back with him scientific data and information of great value to the American Geographical Society.

Mr. Wellman has been a voluminous writer for scientific magazines and popular periodicals. On returning from his arctic trips he renewed his connection with the Record-Herald and is now the Washington correspondent of that paper. His incisive discussion of contemporary affairs has given him a high place in the regard of statesmen and scientists of the day.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress.—W. A. Schreiter, A. L. Reichert.

A Bumper Crop.

Red Lake county will this year harvest one of the very heaviest crops in her history. Even corn, that a few weeks ago was backward, is booming now, with favorable weather. Red Lake county is truly one of nature's favored corners.

SUMMER SCHOOL

ENROLLMENT INCREASING AND GOOD WORK BEING DONE.

The interest and attendance at the Summer School are both increasing.

The Buffalo and Wild West show and Si Perkins both drew some cash from the students.

Fifteen new students enrolled this week, making a total enrollment of 65 to date.

Mr. Davis, representing W. G. Smith of Minneapolis, editor of Minnesota School Journal, is at the School this week in the interest of that and other publications.

Miss Bertha Tysseling took advantage of excursion rates to go to Winnipeg Tuesday morning. She resumed her work upon her return.

Mr. Ed Granger has gone on a business trip, as well as on a visit, to Canada. He expects to spend some months there, and perhaps remain permanently.

Next Tuesday evening Conductor Kuntz will deliver an address at the High School building. All are cordially invited, especially patrons, business and professional men and women. The address will be along educational lines, and those who know Prof. Kuntz' abilities both as an educator and as a speaker, are anticipating instruction and entertainment from his effort.

The Conductor's table is ornamented with a beautiful bouquet, thanks to the kindness of Mr. Philion, and though the courtesy of Mrs. Bourdo. These remembrances are much appreciated by the Summer School faculty.

Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

BANGS & CO.

THIS POPULAR FIRM DECIDES TO STAY IN RED LAKE FALLS.

J. W. Rodgers on Tuesday informed The Gazette that after consultation with Wm. H. Bangs Jr. of Boston, he had decided to continue in business in this city, despite the fact that it will be necessary to vacate the present quarters by Aug. 15. As will be seen by the advertisement of this firm in this paper, a great sacrifice sale is now in progress, with a view to reducing the stock as far as possible before moving time. Manager Rodgers says the way goods are going is a revelation. Purchases are made by people from every part of Red Lake county, and Polk and Marshall counties are also furnishing a goodly quota of customers. There seems to be no lack of cash in the country, and Mr. Rodgers is led to believe that we are into a new era of prosperity. He says he will remain to participate in the harvest.

At present four distinct propositions as to a home for the store are under consideration, and it is impossible as yet to state where the selection will fall. A 50-foot building is first choice, but if this cannot be had a corner room 25 x 110, two stores, with a gallery for the second floor, will probably be taken.

NEW LAND FIRM

THE GONIGAM REALESTATE COMPANY OPENS FOR BUSINESS.

H. Gonigam, of Walnut, Illinois, has rented the building formerly occupied by Lew Adams' barber shop, and will tomorrow take possession and open the Gonigam Real Estate Agency. Associated with him is his son O. E., who will have charge of the local office; his brother J. P. Gonigam, of Ottawa, Ill., and Geo. F. Clayton, of Bureau Co., Illinois. This makes a strong combination and the firm, which is already well known in Red Lake county, having extensive business dealings with the land firms here and at St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls, is no stranger to this field, and we predict for them a successful career.

"FLATBOAT MACLANE."

Mary's Father Once Navigated the Red River of the North.

Fergus Falls, Minn., July 15.—Mary MacLane, the Butte, Mont., girl whose freak book is said to have netted her $15,000, was formerly a resident of this city, and the people here are taking much interest in the reports regarding her peculiarities.

Her father, J. W. MacLane, was one of the celebrated characters of the Red River Valley in the early days, and was known as "Flatboat MacLane." He owned a small fleet of flatboats which carried supplies to Fort Garry, Winnipeg and other points when railroads were unknown in this section, his boats at times coming up stream to the rapids about half a mile below this city. When the railroads came through and flat boating was at an end, he settled in this city, built a handsome brick residence, and platted two additions, which are still known as MacLane's first and second additions to Fergus Falls.

His instincts were all those of the frontier, however, and he soon pushed west again and engaged in the cattle business in Montana, leaving his family at home here. He contracted mountain fever, returned to this city ill of the disease, and died three days later, leaving a family of four children, the youngest of whom is the now celebrated Mary MacLane.

His wife employed H. G. Kienzle of Butte, to look after her interests in the west and soon afterwards married him and removed to that city. The children were exceptionally bright students here.

MOTHER'S CORNER

BY MOTHER KATHERINE

A Staff contributor, who will write of every day affairs—the little units that go to make up the sum total of existence. Mother Katherine writes exclusively for THE GAZETTE. She is a mother who presides over an ideal home. A letter addressed to her in care of The Gazette will reach her. She is worthy of confidence.

DIPLOMACY IN THE HOME.

When we read of the appointment of a diplomat to an important post, it is understood that the appointee's diplomatic tact has won its first bout. This is as it should be, for without this diplomatic tact what would our minister in the foreign court do? There are many other places in which diplomacy can and should be used to advantage.

Take the home, presided over by a diplomatic wife. Can you not all call to mind instance after instance where a little clever management on the part of the wife and mother has brought her bark safely into port when there were lowering skies and threatening blasts from all sides?

Mothers, just be a little slow, a little thoughtful, be very kind and you can manage a whole houseful of refractory people. Your better half likes to feel that he is "monarch of all he surveys," why not humor him in the idea? In the mean time if you have just a little tact you can bring your leige lord to your way of thinking, and the amusing part of it is he feels confident that he is the originator of those very ideas with which you have so deftly imbued him.

Your husband is more to you than all the questions brought up in all the clubs in the country. Give him half the thought that you give your club and you will be better repaid than ever club can repay you. Then your children. Are you doing JUST right by them? Oh! you will say perhaps, that you work your very hardest to keep them well housed, well fed and well clothed. Perhaps it is in that very act that you err. You are too worn out to think of the MENTAL and MORAL needs of your children. You see perhaps that your boys are nervous, peevish and stubborn. Investigate this state of health before you criticize them too severely. Look into their reading matter. Some of the trash our children read is enough to make them nervous. Take a little time to talk with your children. They can get along without cookies this hot weather, you will have that hour or two, also the strength spent in a hot kitchen—use the energy to study out as to how best to manage your household.

We depend so much upon the spirit of the mother as to what the home shall be that she must needs bring every faculty to bear in doing her best—not the least of these being a daily heart cry to the Father above that he may give her grace and strength to direct as to the paths chosen for her loved ones on the HOMEWARD journey daily drawing nearer to a close.

HOUSEHOLD.

Jelly keeps much better if just a paper is placed over it. The waxed paper one finds in the cracker boxes of to-day makes the finest of covers. It is a mistake to use the tin covers which come with jelly glasses. You are pretty apt to find a musty condition under the tin. All that is necessary is the paper to keep the dust out. When jelly is placed on a shelf it is well to place a sheet of paper—news paper will do—over the glasses. Thus keeping the dust out of harm's way.

Raspberries and currants mixed makes the finest jam there is.

WAGON HITS STUMP

YOUNG WOMAN KILLED NEAR FRAZEE AS THE RESULT OF ROAD RACING.

Storm Causes Immense Damage to Crops in Otter Tail County—Filings on Red Lake Reservation Lands Annulled—St. Paul Boy Drowned in a Futile Attempt to Save a Companion. General State News.

Frazee, Minn., July 21.—For some time past there has been considerable rivalry between Eli Davis and his father, farmers living about five miles west of here, as to which owned the fastest team.

While they were returning home from Frazee they started to race on the outskirts of town. After running about half a mile the team driven by young Davis shied out of the road and the wagon struck a stump, throwing out the occupants. Miss Morton, a neighbor's daughter, fourteen years old, was killed, Mrs. Ole Nelson was seriously injured and her husband was slightly injured. Mr. Davis and Mr. Nelson's two little girls escaped without injuries.

CROP DAMAGE NEAR FERGUS.

Loss Will Aggregate $200,000—Many Fields a Total Loss.

Fergus Falls, Minn., July 19.—Late reports from the remote sections of the county materially increase the area that has been devastated by the hail storm Tuesday night, and the total loss in this county alone will aggregate over $200,000. It was supposed that the storm extended only as far south as Parkers Prairie, but it has since been learned that while a strip of country just south of the village escaped, the storm struck down again a little further on and did a great deal of damage. On the other hand, reports from the extreme northern border are equally serious, a wide swath having been cut through the towns of Candor, Dora and Edna. It is estimated that the crops in Dora are two-thirds destroyed, and one-half to two-thirds of the wheat is said to be ruined in Candor. Farmers are cutting some of the broken grain for fodder, but a great deal of it is worthless, and will be plowed under immediately.

MIND HAD BECOME AFFECTED.

Widely Known and Aged Man Suicides at Duluth.

Duluth, Minn., July 19.—James A. Smith, aged seventy-one years, former county auditor of St. Louis county for three terms and an early settler at the Head of the Lakes, placed a revolver to his head and fired, death ensuing instantly. Mr. Smith was taken ill recently and during the past few days members of his family noticed that his mind had become affected and they attributed the deed to this cause.

Decedent was widely known throughout the northern part of the state and until within a few years ago was very active in politics.

BULL DRAGS BOY TO DEATH.

Jackson, Minn., July 19.—Raymond, the fifteen-year-old son of Edward Stone, while leading a young bull yesterday, tied the rope around his body and was dragged through the woods by the animal. The boy was missed and found dead with his skull broken.

BOTH LOST THEIR LIVES.

St. Paul Boy Attempts to Save a Companion.

St. Paul, July 18.—Michael Reddington, thirteen years old, laid down his life in an unsuccessful attempt to save eight-year-old Nels Nelson from drowning.

The boys were on a raft in the Mississippi river near South St. Paul when it was caught in the current, and young Nelson, becoming frightened, jumped into the water. He could not swim and Reddington, who was a good swimmer, jumped after him.

When Reddington reached Nelson the drowning boy seized him about the arms so that he could not swim.

The two lads went down together and were drowned in the sight of a number of other boys who were on the shore, but were unable to aid them.

The parents of both boys live in South St. Paul.

FILINGS ARE ANNULLED.

Red Lake Reservation Lands Not Open to Entry.

St. Cloud, Minn., July 19.—The St. Cloud land office received today from Commissioner Hermann of the general land office at Washington several decisions on appeals taken from decisions relative to the applications to file on sections 16 and 36 on the Chippewa reservation shortly after the supreme court decided that the state had no claim to these sections.

On the Red Lake reservation several persons attempted to make homestead filing on these sections. All the applications were rejected and the decision was appealed from.

Commissioner Hermann decides that the conditions of the law have not been fulfilled and that the land is not open to entry, thus affirming the decision of the local land office.

FOR SECOND LIEUTENANTS.

Several Northwestern Men Among Those to Be Examined.

Washington, July 19.—The secretary of war has designed several men to be ordered for examination with a view to their appointments as second lieutenants in the army from civil life. The list is to fill the vacancies existing on the 1st of July, after the assignment of the graduates from West Point, and fill all vacancies existing on that date, and completes the army list.

The list includes Robert P. Updyke and W. C. W. Nelson of Minnesota, Harry G. Kemp of Wisconsin, Resolue A. Palmer of Iowa and F. E. Anders[illegible] of North Dakota.

INVADES MINNESOTA.

Cleveland Cliffs Company Looks for Ore on Mesaba Range.

Duluth, July 19.—The biggest independent iron mining company in the world, the Cleveland Cliffs company, owning mines on the Marquette and Gogebic ranges, a railroad, ships, furnaces and many other industries in Northern Michigan, and which has never before come into Minnesota, is now at work on several locations in the Mesaba range looking for ore. It has this week closed an exploratory option with the Itasca Mining company of Duluth for a large tract of land on the Western Mesaba that it will explore thoroughly. It pays some cash and agrees to pay an additional royalty, above the 20 cents going to the fee-holders, of 5 cents a ton. The deal was made through the Great Northern road, which will haul all ore found on the lands. This closes out the land of the Itasca Mining company except for eighty acres on which ore has been found. This company also had the Hawkins mine, now being opened by the Deering Harvester company.

call it—I always think of tomatoes."

"Ptomaines," said Brenda. "Oh, you poor child; you poor, wretched, lucky little Elsie! I am so glad, so glad!"

"Would you believe," said Elsie, "that that man tried to get my heart back again, to plead his cause with me? Well, he did, and, though I had peace for quite a long time, of late I have been much annoyed by him. You can understand now why Clarence Alden's love was torture to me, why—well, why I bought the picture of Tantalus to look at, Brenda. Oh, I love him, I love him so much! The feast of the heart that I can never have! He is everything I want, Brenda."

"But why in the name of all martyrdom should you hesitate to tell this story to him?" exclaimed Brenda. "What bar can it be to your marriage?"

"One day," said Elsie slowly, "when I was beginning to love Clarence so that my heart sang of him all the time, I was walking on Broadway and had stopped to look in at a jeweler's window. And I glanced up, and Clarence was coming down the street with that doctor!"

"The one who attended you in Philadelphia?"

"Yes," said Elsie. "They were laughing and talking together, and I shrank into a doorway and died of shame as they passed. Suppose they had seen me?"

"I think no harm would have come of it," said Brenda.

"Suppose I married Clarence and we should meet him then?"

"But, my dear," exclaimed Brenda, "take the wildest possible supposition. Say that this doctor believed the worst and told it to Clarence and lived to finish the story, which unless he is Samson reincarnated is not possible, it would make no difference. Unless Clarence can believe you absolutely against every other voice in the world, you don't want to marry him anyway."

"You don't know men," said Elsie, shaking her head. "One little doubt, and there is misery for a lifetime. I heard Clarence speak once of a woman who had gone wrong. It frightened my bones until they turned to dust in my body."

"But, Elsie, you haven't done any wrong," pleaded Brenda. "You were cruelly deceived"—

"I no more than the others," replied Elsie. "Every woman who goes wrong is deceived, or there would be no wrong. The point is, Brenda, that that is not the way to get married. No really good girl ever does such a thing. I should have had my mother and my friends to see me make my vow. That is the only right way; your way, Brenda, the way of your world. And, besides, I haven't told you all. I am really his wife."

"What do you mean?"

"His wife from whom he was separated was abroad at the time," said Elsie. "She died two days before my marriage. That's why I called him my husband all the way through the story."

Brenda was speechless for some seconds before the spectacle of this fatality.

"I don't see that that makes it any worse," she said at last. "Better, I should say. Such a marriage can be easily annulled. It does not even require a divorce."

"It requires legal proceedings," said Elsie. "It means publicity and branding. It means that Clarence Alden's wife will be marked as a woman with a past, with a romantic scandal attached to her name. It would be bad enough, Brenda, for him to marry me anyway, but an actress, with that story fastened to her! Well, you know what all the world would say. No; I would rather die. I would rather he should never know. I'd lie to him, Brenda, if necessary—I have lied to him, as you are aware—rather than he should think me the sort of girl who, on a hasty acquaintance with a man about whom she knows nothing, would run away to a strange city, trusting to luck to be married there."

Brenda kissed Elsie's hand again very tenderly.

"I'll tell you what, my dear," said she; "the fact is that you have brooded over this matter until you are not quite sane about it. I really mean what I say. Now, this is my advice to you: Tell Mr. Alden this story just as soon as you're strong enough to do it and"—

Elsie gripped her hand hard.

"I have told you this in confidence," she said. "Give me your solemn word that you will never breathe one syllable of it; that you will help me in every way to conceal it! Promise!"

"The word and honor of one who loves you, Elsie," Brenda answered. "Whatever you wish I will do."

"You are so good to me!" said Elsie, letting her head sink back into the pillows.

"There is one thing more," said Brenda. "Did he, your husband, strike this blow?"

"Don't ask me that," cried Elsie. "I can never tell you how I got this wound. Think what a frightful burden that knowledge would be to you if I should die."

CHAPTER XVIII.

BRENDA OFFERS A BRIBE AND A CAUTION.

ALDEN looked in at St. Winifred's about 6 o'clock, as was his custom before going to dinner. He had always left word where he should dine and had never gone far from the hospital.

On this occasion he met Mr. Elmendorf at the head of the stairs by which one ascends from the street level within the structure. The most unobservant and preoccupied person could not have failed to note that Elmendorf was possessed by an unusual excitement. Alden's greeting was simply, "What's the matter?" and the words were spoken in great anxiety.

"Nothing—nothing at all," replied Elmendorf. "Miss Miller is better than ever. She ought to be dead after what she's been through, but she isn't. She's fine, I assure you."

"We'll begin with A."

"What has she been through?" demanded Alden, and the detective became singularly embarrassed. He would say nothing except that Elsie had had a hard day.

"But I've struck a little clew in the case," he continued, brightening. "It looks to me like a sure thing. But don't ask what it is just yet. All I want is the names of all the doctors you know in New York."

"All the doctors I know!" echoed Alden in surprise. "Isn't that rather a large order? How am I going to remember them all?"

"We shan't need absolutely all," said the detective. "You can skip the old ones and the fat ones and the short ones. In fact, I want a tall, thin, gaunt man, and if you could remember walking down Broadway with him a while ago, perhaps two months"—

Alden laughed gently.

"I say, Brother Elmendorf," said he, "you're rattled, aren't you?"

"Perhaps I am," the detective admitted. "This new clew absolutely stands my case on its head. It seems to prove squarely and fairly that everything I had figured on was not only wrong; it was upside down. However, let us not be hasty. Let us think about the doctors. I'll take a list of them."

And he produced pencil and paper for that purpose.

"Now," said he, "we'll begin with A."

"Tall, thin, young doctor, whose name begins with 'A?'" said Alden. "I don't know any; but, passing to B, there's Blair."

Elmendorf leaned back against the wall and put the pencil and paper into his pockets.

"Do you mean to tell me that you knew Dr. A. G. Blair before this case came up?" he asked in a sort of hopeless tone almost laughable.

"Why, certainly," replied Alden. "I'd met him."

"You showed no sign of it over at Mrs. Simmons'," said Elmendorf.

"Didn't I? Well, the Lord knows what I did there. Blair certainly bowed to me."

"I was watching you," said Elmendorf. "However, this simplifies matters. You didn't know Blair well?"

"Not intimately. I'd met him several times, and," he added, with a smile, "I may have walked down Broadway with him, but I don't remember."

"It's only a small matter," said the detective, with a resumption of his usual demeanor. "I want to ask Blair a question; that's all."

"I'll go over with you," said Alden. "Wait till I have seen Kendall."

"You were going to see Dr. Kendall?" she asked. "Please wait in his room."

She hurried by him and reached the spot where Alden and the detective had stood, just as the latter was upon the stairs, for it had not suited Elmendorf's purpose to wait for Alden.

"I must speak with you privately at once," she said. "Come."

There was a sort of bay window opening from one of the corridors, and she led Elmendorf there. They were partially shielded from observation and could speak in guarded tones without much risk of being overheard.

"Mr. Elmendorf," she said, "how could you do this thing? I have a ser- [illegible]

WHAT THE POPULIST STATE TICKET REPRESENTS.

Replying to Tams Bixby's assertions, freely copied in democratic papers, that the populist ticket is nothing but a mid-road affair, Chairman Lawson speaks out in vigorous fashion in the Willmar Tribune He says:

As it seems to be the intention of the democratic papers to try to convey the idea that the convention that met in Minneapolis on July 2 was the so called mid-road faction, we shall have to nail that lie again. That convention was called by the state committee of the regular people's party organization. There was not a single mid-roader present at the meeting when that action was decided upon. Nine tenths of the delegates present at the meeting were men who had stuck by the organization through the entire fusion period. They decided upon independent action because they had become convinced of the futility of hoping for reform through the democratic party, on account of its tendency to go back to the old leaders and policies—or lack of policies. The midroaders were not present in large numbers because they wanted to wait and see what the former fusionists would do. Many of them felt that if they were present and had a majority, the action of the convention would have less weight with those who had hitherto voted the fusion ticket, and in this they were undoubtedly right.

The result of the school election last Saturday night demonstrated one thing—that the Courier's indorsement was unfortunately a millstone about the neck of one of our best and most worthy citizens, who has well earned claims to recognition.

IN RED LAKE COUNTY.

The Republicans feel confident of carrying Red Lake county this fall. They never claimed the county before, but the leaders aver this year that with good management the county will show a margin in favor of the Republican ticket, not only on state, but also on county offices with, of course, the probability of an exception here and there. Much depends upon the strength of the men nominated on the county ticket at the primaries. The "Conference" ticket is already before the people, and the fact that the spirit of the primary law has been so ruthlessly violated is looked upon as a bad break at the outset. The Gazette personally knows, however, that not all of the men whose names are mentioned on that ticket, approve of the methods, and that the program was carried out without their consent or co-operation.

There is much dissatisfaction in the rank and file of the Populist and Democratic parties over these high handed gag methods, and there is every probability of both Democratic and Populist nominations for every county office.

The combined Democratic and Populist vote on president two years ago, taking the elector with the highest vote, was 1165, while the Republican vote was 823.

There is a large Republican gain from defection in the ranks of the opposition, and from immigration, and it appears that the Republican confidence is well grounded.

Leading Democrats and Populists of Red Lake county say that the Red Lake County Courier as now conducted has done more harm to the respective parties in this county than can be repaired during the remainder of the campaign. They ought to know.

THE MERGER SUCCESS.

The three systems represented by the Northern Securities company, namely, the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington, appear to have more than fulfilled Mr. Hill's predictions a year ago to the effect that they would show an increase of not less than $10,000,000 for the year. It is figured by New York financiers that the three systems earned for the year ending June 30, a grand total of $128,587,700, a total increase of $19,698,000 or a little better than 18 per cent.

Such increases are in truth colossal, and while they are bound to please the shareholders of the Northern Securities company, they may also attract the attention of the interstate commerce commission and the various state railroad commissions in the northwest.

The gross earnings and increases of the various lines represented in the Securities company follow:

	GROSS EARNINGS.	INCREASE
Nor. Pac..	$42,305,000	8,345,006
*Burlington	49,318,000	3,555,000
Great Nor..	36,936,000	7,806,594
Totals....	128,559,000	19,807,594

*—Eleven months.

There is every reason to expect a still larger result during the fiscal year just begun. There is slight chance of any reaction.

Mr. Hill guaranteed only 8 per cent. and the increase amounts to 18 per cent.

This showing will tend to stimulate opposition to the merger, and while the curtailment of operating expenses will be cited as the main cause of increase in earnings, the public will rather attribute it to the absence of competition and a comprehensive system of rate advancement.

TAX AMENDMENTS.

Attorney General Douglas has completed a synopsis of the constitutional amendments relating to taxation to be submitted to the people at the November election. He states the effect of the amendment will be:

To prohibit the legislature from surrendering or contracting away the power of taxation.

To provide that when direct taxation for state purposes is no longer necessary, taxation for local purposes may be equalized for each county, as distinguished from state uniformity.

To authorize municipal corporations to levy assessments for local improvements pursuant to special laws

Authorize the legislature to levy a tax on franchises in addition to other property of the person or corporation owning the franchise.

Authorizing a gross earnings tax in lieu of franchise and personal property tax.

Authorizes a tax on incomes of over $1,000 per annum not derived from credits. Where registry tax is provided, it will take the place of other tax on income from credits.

People who like fair play are wondering why the Courier failed to omit from its report of the proceedings last week the appropriation by the county board of $50 for road work in Equality township. Can it be possible that it was done to rob "the commissioner from the Fifth" of the credit of looking after the interests of his constituents?

The Hallock News' report of the Populist state convention reads as follows: The populists of Minnesota got together on Wednesday and agreed that there should be no more fusion with the democrats in the future. There was not a delegate present who was willing to stomach Rosing for governor and they were pretty well convinced of what we maintained eight years ago, viz., that fusion from the democratic standpoint meant only that the democrats wanted to use the populist organization and never intended to adopted their ideas of political reform.

Gov. Van Sant's speeches always contain some good meat. At a recent convention in Ohio, the platform pointed with pride to the fact that the state finances had been so ably administered by the Republican party that the state could borrow money at three per cent. "That is a low rate of interest" said the governor tersely, "but in Minnesota we don't have to borrow money at all. We are now engaged in building a three million dollar capitol without incurring a dollar indebtedness." And then he continued in substance: "In our strong box we have more than eight million dollars worth of the bonds of other states from which we are cutting interest coupons twice a year. And there is as much outstanding, represented by mortgages given for land purchased by the sturdy farmers of our own state. Last year we received more than half a million dollars interest which was devoted to the education of our children. When the land is all sold we shall have a fund, estimated at thirty million dollars to be preserved forever intact to support the schools that will educate our children's children.

The First State Bank.

The statement of the First State Bank published in this issue, makes a very strong showing. This is the oldest financial institution in Red Lake county and the rapid increase in its business is due largely to its conservative, safe management. The deposites now foot up to a total of nearly $100,000.

The people of Gentilly and surrounding country will soon be connected by telephone with Crookston. The Iron Range company has been importuned to give the people there the necessary connection and has decided to do so if they will put up a small portion of the expense. Mrs. Laura S. Webb,
Vice-President Woman's Democratic Clubs of Northern Ohio.

"I dreaded the change of life which was fast approaching. I noticed Wine of Cardui, and decided to try a bottle. I experienced some relief the first month, so I kept on taking it for three months and now I menstruate with no pain and I shall take it off and on now until I have passed the climax."

Female weakness, disordered menses, falling of the womb and ovarian troubles do not wear off. They follow a woman to the change of life. Do not wait but take Wine of Cardui now and avoid the trouble. Wine of Cardui never fails to benefit a suffering woman of any age. Wine of Cardui relieved Mrs. Webb when she was in danger. When you come to the change of life Mrs. Webb's letter will mean more to you than it does now. But you may now avoid the suffering she endured. Druggists sell $1 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

Summer complaint is unusually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of the scribe. This is not intended as a free puff for the company, who do not advertise with us, but to benefit little sufferers who may do be within easy access of a physican. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summertime.—Lansing, Iowa, Journal. For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered for a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats anything she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. W. A. Schreiter, A. L. Reichert.

He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard them against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. No remedy equals DeWitts Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequenses. Mrs. E. F. Marshall yesterday notified The Gazette of the discontinuance of the daily star route between Crookston and Red Lake Falls. The mail will hereafter come in on the Great Northern at 12:05. The Great Buffalo and Wild West shows united gave an afternoon and an evening performance here Monday. The attendence, largely made up of city people, was good at both performences, and the large audiences were delighted with the show, which depicts with wonderful realism the life of the western plains as it was years ago. A heard of nineteen buffalo is one of the main attractions of the show. The Indians, cowboys and cow-girls, give equestrian exhibitions of the most thrilling kind, and from the first act to the last, there is not a dull moment. The show is very good. Organized on July 2d at Missoula, Mont., the make-up still in a crude state, their capacity for furnishing a good show now gives great promise of what may be expected when they have completed their organization

MORE DITCHES

RED LAKE COUNTY WILL PROBABLY GET THREE MORE CANALS.

On August 25th the county board will hear three new ditch petitions, and the probabilities are that all three will be ordered established. These are all in the eastern partion of the county, one in Garnes and Lambert, running from section 23 in Garnes south into Lost river. Another commences in section 13, Garnes township, running in a westerly direction and having as its outlet the branch ditch of Garnes-Emardville Ditch No. 1. The third commences in section 13, Lambert township runs in a northwesterly direction and terminates in Lost river, in section 4 in Lambert.

These are all short ditches, but will be very effective in draining large areas.

POLK CO. DIVISION.

GOOD JUDGES LOOK FOR SUCCESS OF ONE OF THE DIVISION SCHEMES.

Gov. Van Sant on Wednesday issued a proclamation allowing the people of Polk county to vote upon another proposed division. The petition provides for cutting off the southeast arm of the county which now extends between the counties of Red Lake and Norman from range 39 east to the Beltrami county line and creating the county of Star with Erskine as the county seat, says the Grand Forks Herald. The proposition will be voted upon at the general election to be held in November.

With the filing of this petition there are no less than four such propositions from which to make a selection. Three of them are identical as to the division, but differ as to the county seat of the new county.

Another petition, for the creation of Valley county, with East Grand Forks as the county seat, will be voted upon this fall.

Every voter of Polk county is entitled to a vote on only one proposition. If, however, one of the three eastern propositions and the Valley county proposition should receive more votes in favor of the division than there should be against them, then what is at present Polk county would be divided into three counties. In case two of the entire east propositions carry, the county seat would undoubtedly be located at the place whose proposition received the majority of votes.

As the matter looks at present McIntosh and Erskine will probably combine and throw the influence of both places toward the one decided upon as against Fosston. In speaking of the matter yesterday a prominent East Grand Forks business man stated that it looked as if one of the east propositions would carry, with either Erskine or McIntosh as the county seat, while both Fosston and East Grand Forks would meet with defeat.

COMING SOON.

Prof. C. A. George Newmann, the Great Mind Reader and Famous Hypnotist, will be at Red Lake Falls Aug. 4 and 5.

A young man who has been making a surprising record as a mind reader and hypnotist, is Prof. C. A. George Newman, of Rochester, N. Y. Prof. Newman has been connected with those eminent psychologists, McEwen and Flint, and has taken a post graduate course at the Mew York Institute of Science. Hypnotism is now recognized as a science by all men of learning; all educated thinking people admit its reality, and you should not miss this rare opportunity of seeing its possibilities demonstrated. Come and hear Newman's short lectures, and learn the truths of this great science. Learn how children may be controlled, diseases cured and bad habits corrected. Mental and moral reform demonstrated a possibility through hypnotic suggestions. Come! investigate, meditate, think and laugh as never before. Prof. Newman is a scholar, and his demonstrations must not be confounded with those of the ordinary charlatan, nor must he be compared with such inferior hyponotists as Pull or The Gillpins, as he is far superior to them. Satisfaction is guaranteed or your money refunded. Popular prices 15-25-35 cents. Tickets are now on sale at Schreiter's drug store, and it will be well to get your tickets early in order to avoid mistakes in the rush at the door. Remember it is Monday and Tuesday Aug. 4 and 5.

Vacation Days

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard them against the accidents incidental to most open air sports. No remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequenses. For cuts, scalds and wounds. "I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for sores, cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." Sure cure for piles and skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. W. A. Schreiter, A. L. Reichert.

LEADER STORE

ANDERSON & SCHWALEN'S PLACE ENTITLED TO THE DESIGNATION.

Messrs. A. M. Anderson and Wm. Schwalen, comprising the firm of Anderson & Schwalen, are this week moving into the Opera house block, the imposing new building just erected by them nearly opposite the post office. The ground floor, 50x84, is already well filled with a magnificent array of house furnishing goods. The upper floor is being finished up for an opera house.

Anderson & Schwalen carry the largest line of house furnishing goods of any house in Minnesota north of St. Cloud. They prepay freight 100 miles. Their growing business has compelled them to seek larger quarters, and the new opera house is the culmination. The great success achieved by this firm in the past is a promise of great things for the future.

And they richly deserve their success.

Messrs. Schwalen & Anderson have the Western push and grit which is bound to keep them at the head of the procession.

A FATHER'S CRUELTY

INFLUENCED BY WIFE NO. 2 HE TURNS DAUGHTER FROM HIS DOOR.

Mayor Hitchcock is investigating a case of cruelty to children and is likely to make it pretty warm for a Thief River Falls father.

The child is the 13-year-old daughter of Cass Jillette of Thief River Falls, formerly of this city. Several years ago the girl's mother died and shortly afterward Mr. Jillette married again. At that time Mr. Jillette was head sawyer at the mills here and now holds a similiar position in the mills at Thief River Falls. Mrs. J. No. 2 could not get along with the daughter and it seems that Mr. J. was also embittered against the child. He refused to give her a home and for some time past the girl has been living with Mr. and Mrs. Hoff who conduct a restaurant on Main street here. They have taken good care of her, but feel that they could not afford to keep her longer.

Last Thursday they purchased her a ticket and sent her back to Thief River Falls to her father. The man allowed her to remain over that night, but on, the following day sent her back to Crookston instructing her not to show her face at their door again.

The girl has been staying at the Hoff place since her return and yesterday Mayor Hitchcock's attention was called to the matter.

Yesterday the mayor called up Mr. Jillette over the 'phone and questioned him about the matter. He told the mayor that he would have nothing to do with the child; that he had released all claim upon her. This caused the mayor to become real angry and he told Mr. J. a thing or two. Mr. Jillette absolutely refused to take care of the child and Mayor Hitchcock says that he will be made to suffer for it.

The authorities of Red Lake county will be communicated with and Mr. Jillette will be compelled to give the girl a home and an education.

The man has a good trade, is employed steadily and makes from $5 to $7 a day. Several Crookston citizens who have heard of the affair are highly indignant and are willing to give Mr. Hitchcock every assistance possible in pushing the case against Mr. Jillette. He should be made to suffer for his inhumanity.—Crookston Times.

A SUCCESS.

LECTURE BY PROF. KUNTZ WELL RECEIVED—SUMMER SCHOOL NOTES.

Prof. Knutz gave a lecture at the High School building last Tuesday evening. Before the hour to begin had arrived the room was full. Mr. Kuntz in his jovial and happy way gave them a very interesting talk on intellectual and physical training. He spoke of the difference between the old and the new methods of teeching; that the school room is not a prison cell guarded over by a police officer; but rather a piece of refinement at the head of which is a progressive teecher. The schools of today become workshops, not prisons. He held that we should live in the present rather than in the future and that an education consisted in having a well trained body as well as a well trained mind. It is what goes over into spinal marrow, into real life, that makes us, and what we are going to get out of our school life is not bits of knowledge, not maxims and rules for getting this or that, for learning a little here and a little there, but it is the getting of the best, the real, and we may well call it character, manhood the best in life.

The members of the summer school have decided to hold a social on Thursday evening August 7. The program will be announced next week.

Professors P. J. Knutz and J. O. Sathre drove over to Crookston last Saturday and returned Sunday evening. They report having a good time.

Seventy-one students are now enrolled in the summer school and it will probably reach eighty before the end of the term.

Smallest Baby in Minnesota.

Gladys Lillian Plantz is the smallest baby in the State of Minnesota. She was born Monday, June 20th, 1902, and when three days old her weight including her clothes was barely one and a half pounds. So small is this baby's face that a common tablespoon will cover it, and a coffee cup could be used as a hood. A medium sized finger ring was passed over baby Glady's hand and arm up to her body. The full length of her body is fifteen inches. Her foot would scarcely cover two ten-cent pieces. She is not deformed in any way but on the other hand is a fully developed baby, and takes nourishment the same as other babies, and not only that but is just as sweet and promising as any.

Gladys Lillian is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Plantz who live on the McCue farm about four miles southwest of Delavan.

SUMMER COMFORTS.

How many of my readers are planning to take a vacation during the summer months? I'll warrant you scores of women speak of going away from home as their summer comfort. I've often wondered where the enjoyment for the husband and sons of a deserted home came in. While every one is welcome to take a short vacation I contend that women have much to answer for in leaving the home. Dismantled of everything that helps to cheer, the men of the house will not spend any more time than necessary in rooms that give out a hollow echo to every sound. Disorder will soon reign supreme in apartments where there is no fairy-like hand to set things aright. No attraction at home, diversion elsewhere is sought and found and fortunate is the woman who returns home to a husband who has not been going the pace that kills during his two or three months of desertion.

In nearly all places there are people who are only awaiting an opportune moment in which to spread the practice of intemperance and other vices. A lone-one, homeless man unless he be strong, very strong, morally, is going to be easy prey to such allurements.

Then when habits and acquaintances are formed the wife comes home, makes a discovery perhaps, and divorce follows. Certainly I do not uphold the man who is weak morally, but I censure every woman who leaves the male portion of her household to the tender mercies of the boarding house keeper and worse.

Only only exense holds good for long absence of the wife and home maker—that is poor health. When the health really requires a change of long duration there must be nothing placed in the way.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

PRINCE AND BILLY.

One day we heard a great noise in the yard, Prince barking, Eddie's crutch going humpity-bump and the Girlies declared that there was a baby's voice in the melee. So we all rushed out on the porch pell-mell to see what was the trouble. There was no baby in the yard but there was a young billy-goat. Eddie wanted to show us his prize so he brought him fastened to a rope. The goat led Eddie most of the time though. Prince objected to such intrusion and ran at Billy only to be butted by the little hornless head. I assure you it looked very funny to see such a little goat trying to make-believe he had horns when, in fact, he will have to wait a long time. Eddie is very proud of his prize and intends to have a harness as soon as Billy is big enough.

HOUSEHOLD.

In these days of humidity great care should be taken to wash and sun the bread box, the movable shelves in the ice box and the dish cloths. Those matters are of vital importance though they seem to be such little things.

A pinch of soda added to milk which is apt to turn in heating is a friend indeed when it happens to be scarce.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. W. A. Schreiter, A. L. Reichert.

ous wish to know."

"I can do anything," he answered, the picture of shame and woe. "There's absolutely no good in me. What made you think there was?"

"Do you remember that you rose when you saw that I was not seated," said she, "in Elsie's room that first terrible day? That's not much, but your manner was fully that of a gentleman."

"I was trained in a gentleman's home in Massachusetts," said Elmendorf. "So was the gentleman's dog, and we both remained brutes."

"You arranged a place to listen," said Brenda, "in that unused room next Elsie's. The nurse who helped you has confessed to Dr. Kendall. It was she and not you who overheard the story told this afternoon."

"She and not I?" echoed Elmendorf in a voice of the dead. "Do you think I ever listened there? Miss Maclane, there's some limit even to what I will do. No, no; I took the chance; that's all. This nurse, whom I seem to have got into a lot of trouble, as I always get everybody sooner or later—this nurse listened when her duties would let her. I knew Miss Miller would some day tell her story to you."

"Now that you have heard the story, what shall you do?" asked Brenda.

"It seems evident," replied Elmendorf, "that Dr. Blair is the physician referred to in the story. He has known her secret from the beginning. That was why she had him here, to plead with him. Well, I've no faith in Blair. He's crooked, or I'm no judge. But he seems to have played a fairly creditable part toward Elsie Miller."

"Dr. Blair?" exclaimed Brenda. "Think of his being called to dress her wound! Think of his standing there in that room with Neale and ourselves and keeping his own counsel so quietly! I begin to have an admiration for him."

"Well, I wouldn't go so far as that," said Elmendorf. "He has had his selfish ends to serve. However, that is neither here nor there now. I am going to him and I shall make him tell me who that man is."

"Her husband?"

"Yes."

"Then what will you do?" she added.

"Find him," said Elmendorf, "and see that he gets what he deserves. This will afford me many different kinds of satisfaction, Miss Maclane. I shall have credit for it in the newspapers, and they're the only friends I've got. My job will be safe for another year at least; I shall beat Joe Neale, whom I hate devoutly, and, lastly, I shall get square with the coward who struck down that little girl. I have longed for him ever since I first saw her. It's a poor thing to do for her, but it's all I ever can do, I'm afraid."

"It is no service to her," said Brenda; "far from it. You will reveal her secret."

"Nothing can save that," he replied. "It is a mere dream to think it can be done."

"It is not a dream," rejoined Brenda. "It shall be kept a secret if possible. She is wise to wish it, though of course she should tell Mr. Alden, and that she will do as soon as her mind gets back to its proper balance after its long strain with his wretched story. But she is right in thinking that publication of it will leave a stain upon her and perhaps bring many sorrows to herself and Mr. Alden. It will be distorted and redistorted in the telling until the poor girl's name can never be clear of it. And in any case I have given my word. Mr. Elmendorf, will money help?"

Elmendorf was silent.

"I think you are not a man to take a bribe," she began.

"Yes, I am," said Elmendorf decisively, "but not just here. If the circumstances were different, why, I could be bought and sold like my associates. But this isn't the time nor the place."

"You would like to get out of this life into a better one," said Brenda.

"I suppose most of us would," replied Elmendorf, "except that dying is disagreeable."

Brenda laughed, as one sometimes will at a funeral, from the effect of contrast.

"I didn't mean that," she said. "I meant that you would like another way of earning your bread. And I think you might have very high ambitions in another career. My father will put you in the way of profitable business, but don't fancy I would tempt you with an empty promise. I am rich in my own right by inheritance from my mother, and I will be glad to help you. We will give this a color of perfectly honorable dealing, and it shall be so indeed. Take $50,000 of my money and select whatever business pleases you, and I will be a silent partner—an equal partner, in the enterprise."

"Fifty thousand dollars," said Elmendorf, with awe in his tones. "Why, Miss Maclane, this is what I have prayed for. The idea of a tenth of it is the explanation of my going on the force. And to think that it should come at last in a way that I can't touch it! 'Billy Elmendorf's luck,' as the boys say."

At this moment Kendall, passing through the corridor hastily, glanced in toward the window.

"Brenda! Come!" he said. "The nurse you left there has sent for me."

Brenda turned as white as paper.

"It is I who let her talk and excite herself!" she said huskily. "I may have killed her."

She turned and seized Elmendorf's arm.

"One thing more," she said almost in a whisper. "Remember my promise and also remember this—that Elsie has not said it was her husband who struck the blow. Do not make an error now for your own sake and for—for all of us."

CHAPTER XIX.

THE EVIDENCE OF DR. BLAIR.

DR. BLAIR'S office was beginning to gather the night shadows in its corners when Elmendorf entered, although the long June day was still bright without. The doctor was sitting on his couch, staring at the pretty pillow that Kendall had noticed. He had not troubled himself to rise as he called, "Come in!" in response to the detective's knock.

"Mr. Elmendorf," said he, "good evening, sir. What can I do for you?"

"I want to ask you a few questions, doctor," replied Elmendorf. "Hello! Had a burglary?"

He pointed to a desk in the corner that seemed to have been broken open.

"There was a blankbook that had contained a business memorandum," he said, "and it was locked up in that desk. A friend of mine was so anxious to see it that, calling in my absence, he did not wait for me to return. He broke the desk and got the book. But, unluckily for him, I had already removed the page on which the memorandum appeared."

"Blackmail?" queried Elmendorf.

"Something of the sort," was the reply.

"If I can be of any assistance, let me know," said the detective. "And now I want to talk about the case of Elsie Miller. There's a little medical point"—

"Why don't you ask Kendall?"

"Dr. Kendall is not talkative," said Elmendorf, "and"—

"Neither am I," responded Blair. "However, let's hear your question."

"You remember," said Elmendorf, seating himself and looking across the table in the center of the room, his arms resting upon it, "that Miss Miller was stabbed in a peculiar way. There was a little mark, a scar you might call it, just below the collar bone on the left side"—

"The mark of what we call a 'green' fracture," said Blair; "that is, the bone was broken in youth. I understand she fell against a sharp point of something while she was at play. The rib at that spot was permanently weakened and somewhat depressed afterward, but not enough to interfere with the lung."

"It was no disfigurement when she wore a low cut dress, was it?" asked Elmendorf.

"Quite the contrary," replied Blair. "It looked like a large dimple."

"An ordinary man wouldn't have known what it was, eh?"

"Probably not."

"The knife couldn't have struck there by accident," said Elmendorf. "It looks to me like one of those freaks of a murderer who has brooded over the crime in advance."

"Curious point," said Blair.

"So it seemed to me," said Elmendorf, "and here's another. Of course the man who stabbed her meant to kill her."

"Certainly."

"A thief would have struck her on the head."

"I should think likely."

"So this was a murder case," said Elmendorf. "There was the intention to kill. Now, why didn't the murderer strike again?"

"He probably thought the wound was fatal," responded Blair.

"That's the queer part of it," said the detective. "I wouldn't have thought it was fatal. Most murderers go on stabbing; they strike half a dozen times in a sort of frenzy. This man was content with one blow, but it was a good one, and if the knife blade hadn't been bent"—

"Was it bent?" inquired Blair.

"Yes," was the reply. "And if the assassin was one who knew the location of the vital organs, but was at the time too much excited to notice the defect in the instrument, why, then, that bend in the blade may have saved her life."

"If it is saved," added Blair.

"It was certainly saved for a time," said the detective, "though every doctor who saw the wound immediately pronounced it fatal. That's a point in the case."

"From which you conclude—what?" said Blair, rising and taking a seat at the table opposite Elmendorf.

The detective did not immediately answer the question. He seemed to be deep in thought.

"By the way," he said suddenly, "there's another point while I remember it. I mean that letter."

"What letter?"

"The one Alden wrote and Elsie never got," replied Elmendorf. "The postman [illegible] of course, though he won't testify positively. It was undoubtedly put by the servant under the door of the vestibule, that little hall leading to Miss Miller's room. It was put under that door, but not far enough."

"Not far enough?"

"No. Somebody came along and pulled it out. If it happened to be a man who was in love with Miss Miller, the reading of it couldn't have been pleasant. But how did the man get there?"

"I don't know," said Blair.

"As to the motive," continued the detective, "that's pretty clear now. Miss Miller has told about her marriage. She hasn't named the man, but you know him."

"Yes," said Blair; "I know him."

He took up a very little bottle from the table and began to turn it idly in his hands.

"Now, then," said Elmendorf, "let's recapitulate. The murderer was a man who knew of that scar."

"Anybody might have seen that," rejoined Blair.

"He knew what it was," continued Elmendorf. "He also was a man who at the first glance believed that wound which he had inflicted to be fatal. We conclude that he was a doctor."

"Very pretty," said Blair.

"The individual subsequently tried to poison Miss Miller," said the detective, "and his way of doing it also bears out the theory that he was one who had a knowledge of medicine. He knew just what poison to employ, and he guessed that there would be some sort of food substance in the room into which the poison could be put. Now, besides being a doctor, what was he?"

"A scoundrel, I should say," replied Blair.

"He was a man who could go in and out of Mrs. Simmons' house when he pleased," said Elmendorf. "He was not one who depended upon any imperfect catch of a door. Perhaps he had lived in the house and had never given up his key. Anyhow it is certain that he went to see Miss Miller at 9 o'clock in the morning, an hour when most men would not think they had a right to call, but one who claimed to be her husband might. He saw that letter sticking out from under the door. He stole it, and he said after reading it, 'If not mine, then no man's.' He was a murderer in his heart, then."

"You mean to imply," said Blair, "that he had been accustomed to go in and out of that house without ringing the bell; that he was her husband, though she would not see him except when he presented himself at her door to plead and to be sent away, with his heart on fire. Well, I think that may be true."

"Undoubtedly," said Elmendorf, "but who was the man?"

There was a rap at the door, and Blair said "Excuse me" quite conventionally as he crossed the room to open it. He exchanged some words with a servant and for a few seconds stood outside, but his left hand was always visible upon the door, as Elmendorf carefully noted. When he returned to his seat, he set down the very small bottle upon the table.

"I had reasoned so far early in the case," continued Elmendorf, "and had even made an experiment with a person whom I had suspected. I cut my hand and let him bandage it, though that proved not to be necessary, for the man acquitted himself instantly by saying that I had cut 'an artery' when there was plainly no arterial bleeding, to say nothing of the location of the injury. So he surely wasn't a doctor."

"You seem to be quite an educated man," said Blair dreamily. "Have you learned anything in this life that would help you lead another if you had one?"

"Very little, I'm afraid," said Elmendorf; "but let us proceed. I had proved that the man was a doctor, and then came the Philadelphia story. You know what happened over there. The husband ran out for a doctor. That floored me at first, and I had to think it out."

"I was afraid she was poisoned," said Blair calmly, "and dared not be alone with her if she should die."

"You!" exclaimed Elmendorf, rising. "You! Well"—and he sat down again—"it doesn't surprise me!"

"You came here to get me," responded Blair. "I knew it as soon as you sat down there. I had no chance, though she promised to shield me in return for my clearing Miss Maclane. She'd have done it anyway, of course. That she had already proved. She was ashamed, ashamed, deadly ashamed, and sick to the soul of her for having ever loved me. Well, it's all over. If you know what happened in Philadelphia, it only remained for you to find the New York doctor. He's in Europe, however; left a week or more ago. His name is Osborne. Any more in-

His left hand was always visible upon the door.

"THE CRY OF THE RENEGADE."

The Courier editor, when lacking in the elements of decent ammunition, in an article last week under the above caption, substituted personalities for argument.

How about this renegrade business, anyway?

The New York Sun, than which there is no abler or cleaner newspaper in the United States, opposed Cleveland in one campaign, supported him in another; opposed and supported Harrison; supported McKinley. And this, when Charles A. Dana, the greatest journalist since Hurace Greely, was its editor, and nowhere was he charged with being a renegade—rather was he commended for his disinterested independence. The Sun opposed men seeking great public preferment when it conscientiously believed they were wrong on the most vital questions that separate parties; and as loyally supported the same men when it conceived they were right.

Go a step further.

John Lind at one time was the most rabid Republican in the state—later he sought refuge and succor in the camps of the enemy; paraded in the livery of a demo pop and literally spilled over in his audacious railings against his former associates. He was, in the language of the Courier, a "renegade" of the deepest dye. Yet this dresser of political scars from the vicinage of Nobles county picked him up with that evanescent ardor which a mellow youth displays over the sudden acquisition of a new toy kite; heralded him as the new found Moses, as the savior of drowning Democracy in Minnesota, as the very incarnation of Jeffersonian Democracy; with siren voice shouted for him, and with hat in hand followed the beleaguered band wagon of this "renegade" throughout the tortuous lengths of three campaigns; and in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and two, with tearful reluctance transfixed his devotion from the head of Lind to the heads of Rosing & Meighen. The type in his press room was kept hot in multitudinous employment, extolling the virtues and statesmanship of this awful "renegade."

It is too thin, John—this elongated article of yours on the "wail of a renegade." You can't pull the wool over the eyes of an intelligent patronage in that fashion.

If you've got any more bubbles to puncture, blow 'em out, Brer. King.

The Courier, upon emerging from its Shell (ask the gentleman from Worthington) finds that it is not the easiest undertaking in the world to attempt to run the three political parties in Red Lake county.

A POINT DEFINED.

Attorney General Douglas, in answer to numerous requests, has given as his opinion that at the primary election a voter can vote only the ticket voted by him at the last general election. A voter who voted the Republican ticket can vote only for Republican nominees, while only those who voted the Democratic ticket can vote for Democratic nominees. Section 16 of the Primary Law is as follows:

All persons entitled to registration as voters in the election district on the day of the primary election, for the purpose of voting at the ensuing election, shall be entitled to participate in the primary election, but no voter shall receive a primary ballot or be entitled to vote until he shall have first been duly registered as a voter then and there in the manner provided by law, upon which registration (unless challenged, and if challenged, then only in event that the challenge is determined in favor of the voter), he shall be entitled forthwith, but not later, to RECEIVE A BALLOT OF THE POLITICAL PARTY WITH WHICH HE THEN DECLARES (under oath, if his right thereto is challenged) that he affiliated AND WHOSE CANDIDATES HE SUPPORTED AT THE LAST GENERAL ELECTION and with which party he proposes to affiliate at the next election; provided, that a first voter shall not be required to declare his past political affiliation. Such ballot shall be indorsed with the initials of two of the judges upon the back of the ballot at the bottom edge. A judge of election shall instruct the voter that he is to vote for his choice for each office USING ONLY THE BALLOT OF THE PARTY WITH WHICH HE AFFILIATES, and that he must return the ballot folded with the edges upon which are the initials of the judges uppermost.

Reports from Nobles County indicate that the writer's former political friend, Senator Dan Shell, is in danger of being returned to the shades of private life. The news is almost too good to be true, but here's hoping the voters will not fail in performing the doty they should have attended to years ago.—Red Lake County Courier.

It appears to be true that the prospects are not so uniformely bright for Senator Shell. The removal of John King's opposition seems to have been the only thing that could budge the well-nigh invincible senator from Worthington. It might pay him to offer a bonus for King's return. The fund would no doubt be enthusiastically contributed to by Populists and Democrats of Red Lake County.

MEASURED BY HIS OWN STANDARD.

The status of an act is best measured by the underlying motive, and the degree of an offense is guaged much according to what constitute the ideals of the individual. Thus a public man, who professes love for political purity and poses as governing his political career by adherance to rigid principle and the inflexible following of his convictions to the sacrifice of all else, is convicted of hypocricy and suffers the penalty of a hasty measuring of the vast difference that separates his ideal from the real when he falls, and the naked truth flashes out.

Let us see how the political attitude of the editor of the Courier conforms to his own ideal. He has never, he says, hesitated to define his position on political or other subjects. But we very much fear our esteemed brother is attempting to pawn off a spurious definition for the genuine, and is not living up to the high standard which he flaunts, and measured by which he stands a hypocrite, a stealthy traitor to party associates in state and county, a spy and a decoy. Where is his political purity? Not in evidence; and his posing, unconscious that the public stands undeceived, is ridiculous.

His first editorial indorcement given to a gubernatorial candidate is to T. J. Meighen, the Populist nominee, whose candidacy he weil knows sealed the political death warrant of the man he helped to nominate. A more treacherous breach of political faith was never recorded—political principle going down in this case before political expediency. What was his purpose? Undoubtedly a sop to the Populists of Red Lake county whom he wishes to conciliate by holding up the arm of the man who thrust a dagger under the fifth rib of the political aspirations of the standard bearer of Minnesota Democracy—L. A. Rosing—and this after he had accepted the trust of Red Lake county Democrats, went as a delegate to the state convention, and assisted in Rosing's nomination! Judas himself could not have gone further.

John King may have come up from Nobles county with the purest of purposes, as a Democrat from principle, but he has played with fire, and has fallen very low beneath the fine standard he assumes to wave. His Courier is to-day a club to beat back, from county and legislative offices [illegible] are unconsciously clinging to a traitor's craft—who are not wanted, if they cannot be made to serve his selfish ends.

John King came to Red Lake County less than a year ago, an avowed Democrat—but he evidently lacked the moral courage to stand by his guns, facing the Populist preponderance in Red Lake county, and he has gone down. He is to-day juggling with what he terms "undying principles" and his watchword seems to be anything for the offices and the patronage. Democrats, whom he stands ready to trade off, can no longer trust him, and no others will. What a mean man Bro. King must be in his own eyes!

The Courier [illegible] tion that its politics need a label and goes on to tell how the Gazette supported Bryan in one campaign and opposed him in another, "twice supported Lind and once opposed him." All of which would be interesting if true. The Courier man claims to be a Democrat. How many Democrats is he supporting in this campaign? A thought or two on this phase of the situation will convince any one that the label for the Courier's politics is still needed.

There's no use talking, if our esteemed contemporary wants to be known as a Democratic sheet 'twill have to be labeled. There seems to be no alternative, the way things are running there.

The Old Home Unhurt by the New Woman

By Rev. MINOT J. SAVAGE

WOMEN are claiming the right to share the governmental powers with men, and step by step they are gaining the recognition that they desire. THE COMING WOMAN, THE FREE, INDEPENDENT WOMAN, WISHES TO BE EDUCATED, TO ATTEND HIGH SCHOOLS AND UNIVERSITIES, TO BELONG TO CLUBS, TO ATTEND LECTURES ON ALL SUBJECTS, TO ENTER INTO THE PROFESSIONS, TO COMPETE WITH MEN IN THEIR BUSINESSES AND OCCUPATIONS.

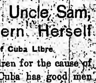
I BELIEVE EVERY GIRL OUGHT TO BE EDUCATED IN THE HIGHEST AND NOBLEST SENSE IF IT IS POSSIBLE, TRAINED TO DO SOMETHING BY WHICH SHE CAN EARN HER OWN LIVING.

I do not believe this is going to stand in the way of the home. It is only going to set women free, so they shall be able to choose the home and not be driven into it merely for self support.

CUBA, Guided by Uncle Sam, Can Govern Herself

By TOMAS ESTRADA PALMA, President of Cuba Libre

CUBA has shed the blood of her children for the cause of freedom and intelligence. That Cuba has good men there is and can be no doubt. WE PROPOSE TO SHOW TO THE WORLD THAT CUBA, UNDER THE GUIDANCE OF THE UNITED STATES, CAN GOVERN HERSELF. I will guarantee that the people of Cuba will constitute a government free and independent. But, with it all, the ties of love and liberty and thankfulness will ever bind us to the people of this country.



The Cubans will forget all past differences, and they will pull together in the future. The people who have said the Cubans are not capable of governing themselves do not know the latter day blood that flows in the veins of the Spanish.

PATRIOTISM AND LOVE OF COUNTRY ALWAYS WILL PREVAIL AMONG THE CUBANS IN THEIR EFFORTS TO MAKE THEIR COUNTRY GREAT.

We will do our best to advance the cause of civilization, and we shall of course look to this country for both moral and practical support if it is necessary.

Chas. Richard, who went to Alberta in company with Henry Lizotte, purchased a 160-acre farm there and has sent for his family. Lands adjacent to towns of from two to three thousand inhabitants are selling for from $2 to $5 per acre. The main drawback is lack of transportation facilities. 'Tis said that the cost of marketing a bushel of wheat is 36 cents.

F. L. Compton, one of the gritty farmers from Grit, out east in Equality township, was in the city Monday proving up his claim, and took occasion to subscribe for The Gazette. Mr. Compton complimented this paper upon the able correspondent representing Equality township in The Gazette, and we will add that all the good things said about that writer are well merited. He is one of our mainstays.

E. H. Draper came down from Thief River Falls Monday to feel the public pulse with reference to his candidacy for sheriff on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Draper was for many years a resident of this city and has many friends here who are urging him to make the race. He is, however, not the machine candidate, and his move is not looked upon with favor by the machine element of that party here.

Dashes of Relish From the Bright Sayings of Youngsters.

Tommy (aged six)—I wonder what makes our cat afraid of mice?

Bessie (aged five)—I guess it's cause she's a lady cat.

"Our baby has teeth," said little Margie, "and yours hasn't."

"He don't need eny," replied little Nan. "We feed him soup out of a bottle."

Willie—You think your papa can do everything, but I'll bet he can't see with his eyes shut.

Harry—I don't know about that, but mamma says he talks in his sleep.

First Small Girl—I'm never going to speak to you again. Your papa keeps a saloon.

Second Small Girl—And I'm never going to speak to you again. I saw your papa going into my papa's saloon.

"Oh, mamma," exclaimed little Elmer as the cat with arched spine and elevated rudder strutted around the table, "do look at puss! She has eaten so much she can't shut her tail down."

Aunt Mary—Johnnie, isn't that your mother calling you?

Johnnie—Sure thing.

Aunt Mary—Then why don't you answer?

Johnnie—What's the use. Pa ain't at home.—Chicago News.

Commendable Scruples.

"I am of the opinion," wrote the honest intentioned poet to the editor of the magazine, "that I inclosed 2 cents more postage than was necessary with that spring poem I submitted to you last week. I drop you this note to assure you that I did not do so with the intention of affecting your decision in the matter. I trust that I am not so infected with the coarser motives of humanity as to attempt to bribe one who sits in judgment upon those things which should tend to uplift and benefit mankind."—Baltimore American.

The Fever.

An Atchison girl who got $50 a month and had an easy time of it caught the fever two years ago and chased a man. She had an athletic training, soon caught up with him and landed him. Now she does all her own housework, including washing and ironing, has twin babies and gets her board and clothes. Her name should be furnished all women seized with this man catching fever.—Atchison Globe.

Another Disappointment.

"So you moved out into the country for the purpose of getting exercise, did you?"

"Yep."

"Well, are you getting it?"

"No. It's too blamed tiresome to have to go and change your clothes every time a fellow wants to do a little digging out in the yard."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Careful Opinion.

"Our party has a great future," said the political enthusiast.

"Well," answered the pessimist, "there isn't any doubt about its future being all right as to quantity, but I don't know about the quality."—Washington Star.

Contemporary.

Tess—Is it, really, dear? Of course you ought to know.—Philadelphia Press.

His Parentage.

Johnny Henpec—Pa, you an' me's one cause ye're married, ain't yer?

Mr. Henpec—Yes, my son.

Johnny—Waal, which one are you?

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT
THE GREAT FAMILY MEDICINE

Thedford's Black-Draught has saved doctors' bills for more than sixty years. For the common family ailments, such as constipation, indigestion, hard colds, bowel complaints, chills and fever, biliousness, headaches and other like complaints no other medicine is necessary. It invigorates and regulates the liver, assists digestion, stimulates action of the kidneys, purifies the blood, and purges the bowels of foul accumulations. It cures liver complaint, indigestion, sour stomach, dizziness, chills, rheumatic pains, sideache, backache, kidney troubles, constipation, diarrhoea, biliousness, piles, hard colds and headache. Every druggist has Thedford's Black-Draught in 25 cent packages and in mammoth size for $1.00. Never accept a substitute. Insist on having the original made by the Chattanooga Medicine Company.

I believe Thedford's Black-Draught is the best medicine on earth. It is good for any and everything. I have a family of twelve children, and for four years I have kept them on foot and healthy with no doctor but Black-Draught. A. J. GREEN, Illewara, La.

Sortedahl, to Ernest Buse, by a written assignment dated March 3rd, 1902, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Red Lake county, State of Minnesota on April 10th, 1902, 3:30 o'clock p. m., in Book "S" of Mortgages, on page 282 to-wit:

Lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) and five (5) in blk three (3) of Railroad addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the official plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds within and for the said county of Red Lake and was given to secure the payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-five dollars with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, payable annually, on the 4th day of June in each year, according to the conditions of one principal note and interest coupon notes thereto attached, by failure to pay the annual interest falling due on the 4th day of June 1901 and by failure to pay the taxes levied upon said real estate for the years 1897, 1898, 1899 and 1900, 1901 and whereas the said assignee of the mortgagee, by virtue of the power contained the said mortgage, paid to the County Treasurer of Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, the following taxes duly levied and assessed by the said county against the land described in the said mortgage, and were due and delinquent at the dates when said payments were made, to-wit: On July 31st, 1900, paid $9.49 taxes for the years of 1897, 1898 and 1899; on April 10th, 1902, paid $3.86 taxes for the year 1900, on July 29, 1902, paid $1.86 taxes for the year 1901. Summer complaint is unusually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlein's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of the scribe. This is not intended as a free puff for the company, who do not advertise with us, but to benefit little sufferers who may be within easy access of a physican. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summertime.—Lansing, Iowa, Journal. For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

Ed. Huot the Louisville merchant, transacted business at the county seat last Thursday.

The five-year old son of George Hill accidently shot and killed himself last Monday. The child being left alone in the house, walked upstairs and finding a gun behind a chest proceeded to pull it out. In doing so the charge went off, striking him on the left side of the face near the nose, killing him instantly.

The Same Old Story.

J. A. Kelly relates an experiance similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and retold by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

Mother Always Keeps It Handy.

"My mother suffered for a long time from distressing pains and general-ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats anything she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good. Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food. It is nature's own tonic. W. A. Schreiter, A. L. Reichett.

An Omission In a Wedding Ceremony That Didn't Count.

A distinguished officer of the United States navy once told this story on himself:

At the time of his marriage he had been through the civil war and had had many harrowing experiences aboard ship, through all of which he kept courage and remained as calm as a brave man should. As the time for the ceremony came on, however, his calmness gradually gave way. At the altar, amid the blaze of brass buttons and gold lace marking the full naval wedding, the officer was all but stampeded and what went on there seemed very much mixed to him. Fearing the excitement of the moment would temporarily take him off his feet, the officer had learned the marriage ceremony letter perfect, as he thought, and he remembered repeating the words after the minister in a mechanical sort of way.

After the ceremony was over and all was serene again, including the officer's state of mind, the kindly clergyman came up to him and touched him on the shoulder.

"Look here, old man," he said, "you didn't endow your wife with any worldly goods."

"What's that?" asked the bridegroom, with something of astonishment in his voice.

"Why, I repeated the sentence 'With all my worldly goods I thee endow' several times and despite my efforts you would not say it after me."

The bridegroom seemed perturbed for a moment, and then a beaming light came into his face.

"Never mind, sir," he said. "She didn't lose a blessed thing by my failure."—Washington Star.

RED LAKE FALLS GAZETTE.

Vol. 19. RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA, AUGUST 7, 1902. No. 47

FROM ALASKA

L. P. HUNT, OF MANKATO WRITES ENTERTAININGLY OF ALASKA.

TELLS OF THE SALMON CANNERY OF ALASKA FISH & LUMBER CO.

Through the kindness of E. L. Healy, who is heavily interested the Alaska Fish & Lumber Co., The Gazette publishes the following article written by L. P. Hunt, of the Mankato Free Press, who is now in Alaska:

The Alaska Fish & Lumber Co, the home office of which is in Mankato, have made some very important improvements here during the past three months. They have one of the largest salmon canneries in Alaska, wholly equipped with new and modern machinery, and the best and largest wharf, according to captains of boats who ply Alaska waters, in the southeastern part of the territory. It is certainly by far the best that we saw at any port out from Seattle.

Salmon canning is certainly a great industry, and one that requires the employment of the most careful, painstaking and competent help. When the fish begin to run, the season of which is now on for sockeyes, the red fish, there is no room for drones and no rest for anyone. It may not be interesting for the readers of the Free Press to follow us through the process of canning a case of salmon. At any rate we will make bold to explain the handling required before being made ready for the market, and the cleanliness with which the work is preformed.

In the first place aside from a superintendent and foreman of the cannery, other Chinese and Japanese labor is employed. For canning fish they seem by nature to be especially designed. Of coure the all-important thing in canning salmon is first to catch the fish. This is done by fishermen schooled to the art. They provide themselves with various dragnets and boats and go to points near fresh water streams. When the salmon start to run, they start for these fresh waters and it is then that they are gathered in. A fair catch for a single net in a single haul is from three to six thousand, although several times the larger number are frequently seined. Every alternate day the cannery sends out a steamer to bring in the salmon, and then the chatter of Chinamen and the buzzing of machinery begin within. The fish are first relieved of their heads, then their fins, next the entrails and lastly their tails. They are then pushed through an opening, where they drop into a tank that is constantly supplied with clean water. Here they are thoroughly scraped inside and cleanly washed, after going through this process they are drop into a tank of clean water directly in the rear, and are picked up by another set of cleaners and thoroughly scrubbed with a stiff brush and passed along into the final bath when they are ready for the cutting machines. In the rear of the cutting machine stands a high rack, with slats for a floor laid two or three inches apart and set on an incline for draining purposes. A Chinaman or Jap stands in this rack and feeds the fish into a revolving cylinder, carrying the fish through a gang of knives that cuts them into equal parts of the size to be fed into the canning machine, or fillers, as they are more properly called. There are two fillers to every cutter, and it requires two men to feed each filler. The cans are first salted and fed into a trough that runs to the filler and each plunge of the machine fills a pound can and sends it spinning down to the man who takes them out and puts them unto a feed table where they are taken by another and put into the crimper. This crimper is a sort of endless chain that revolves with prongs sticking out about six inches long and about six inches apart. The can in place, this crimper catches it, carries it to a revolving disk with a perforated steam pipe immediately over it ejecting hot steam. The can is whirled around this disk with lightninglike rapidity and as it revolves it comes in contact with heavy brushes that thoroughly cleans the outside of the can. On the opposite side of the can carrier stands a little Chinaman, with a speed almost incomprehensible feeds the top of the can into a groove. This comes into contact with the filled can a little further along, is caught by a cunningly devised arrangement, called the "topper", where it covers the can, is pressed to place, carried further along and automatically tipped into the soldering trough where it runs through over hot lead and soldered tight. It keeps on going for twenty or more feet, is carried through a spray of cold water and is then taken out and placed upon a tray. This tray when filled, is trucked to a tank of steam heated water, grabbed by hooks and tackle and dropped into the vats. Here experts take possession and sort out the imperfectly soldered cans. These are discovered by little bubbles arising, but only a Chinaman's eyes could discern them without consuming too much time. The leaky cans are passed over to a "mender" and then go in with the batch. The filled crates are then put onto a truck six feet deep and run into a retort. When filled a retort will accommodate 3,024 cans or 63 cases of 48 cans to the case. The steam is then turned on and the temperature run up to 212 degrees. When this heat is attained they are cooked for 30 minutes and taken out. Every can is then pricked by means of a small mallet with a sharp brad in the end. This allows all accumulated moisture or water to escape that may have remained in the salmon when going through the first process. The holes are closed with solder and the cans rushed into another retort where they are cooked for 60 minutes under a temperature of 240 degrees. They are then taken out and put through a tank of steam heated caustic soda water to take off all dirt and grease from the cans, rinsed in a tank of clean water and rolled away to the cooling room. Here they are left for a week or two. Then the cans are lacquered, labeled, put into boxes made for the purpose, nailed up, and are ready for shipment. From three to four weeks are usually taken after canning before salmon are considered proper for the market.

One More Game Won.

The St. Hilaire "Sports" and the "Wise Guys" came down Sunday, thinking they saw something six years ago that reminded them of a baseball game, and of course they thought they could remember how it was played. At about 2 o'clock, to the tune of the Junior Band, the Red Lake Falls Cyclones and the St. Hilaire aggregation marched to the baseball parks and immediately after started to play ball. Schusser did the twirling for the Cyclones and shut the Saints out "only" seven times, they scoring in the fourth and fifth innings, bringing in twoscore each time.

Ittner, of printer's fame, thought he had to throw about as hard as he does when he throws type across the room at the devil but found different, the Cyclones running in nine scores, only shutting them out three times in nine innings. The St. Hilaireites who remembered something about a baseball game were: Running, Ittner, Deach, McCraig, Perrsnto, Enderly, Cook, Mucke, Dahl. The Cyclone team was composed of the following cracks. Peppin, Richard, Healy, Bnse, Lemieux, Erickson, Brady, Thompson and Schusser.

A Good Showing!

We are in receipt of a copy of the Crookston College catalogue which has just been published. It's a very interesting pamphlet showing what a private institution can do when it meets the demand of the people. The school was organized seven years ago and has grown rapidly. Over fifty students graduated last year from the commercial, shorthand and teacher's department. All these graduates are holding good positions as clerks, book keepers, stenographers, teachers, etc. The school is in session all year. You can begin at any time and take up such studies as you may desire. Send a postal card to J. C. Sathre and he will be glad to send you all information necessary.

THOMAS GERMO,
Republican Candidate for County Attorney.

Thomas Germo, practicing attorney of Red Lake Falls, owes the success he has so far attained to his own well directed efforts. Born of Norwegian parents on a farm in Medo, Blue Earth county, Minnesota, in 1870, his boyhood days were spent on the farm, until 16 years of age, when he set out for himself. He was educated in the country schools, Rochester Business College, State Normal School at Mankato, and at the University of Minnesota, graduating from the law department of the latter institution with the class of 1900.

Indomitable pluck and tenacity of purpose have marked every step of his career. School vacations were no times of rest or idleness for him. During these periods he employed himself with the task of earning and saving money, in order to further prosecute his studies. Like so many young men who set about to make their way through school, he took up such occupations as canvassing for books and teaching. He was employed for a time as stenographer and book-keeper at the Janesville bank, as court reporter of the Third Judicial District and at different times as reporter for newspapers. A resident of St. Paul for five years, and always interested in politics, he has an extensive acquaintance with the political leaders of Ramsey county. While at the University law school he took night lectures and during the day was employed about the city in different capacities, earning money to carry him through.

Before entering the University he gained valuable practical experience by serving one year apprenticeship in the law office of W. Logan Breckenridge, of Rochester.

Mr. Germo's life has been as an open book, with the pages well ear marked by successful struggles against difficulties that would have deterred many a less plucky young man.

He has always been a Republican and has since early manhood always taken an active part in politics, often taking the stump in the interest of his party, and attending as delegate at conventions in Blue Earth, Hennepin and Ramsey counties before coming to Red Lake Falls. At the University he was twice chosen orator to represent the Law Literary society in the inter-society contests. His career in Red Lake county has been marked with that success, earnestness of purpose and unimpeachable integrity, which have won for him the esteem of our citizens, and a constantly growing practice. Loyal to friends, a congenial companion, no man stands higher in the estimation of our citizens. A man who may be trusted; an able attorney. When the ballots are counted in November it is a safe guess that the majority will be recorded in favor of Thomas Germo for county attorney.

SAW MILL NO. 2.

The Bemidjiets Will Probably get Another Large Concern.

The Bemidji people are now congratulating themselves upon the bright prospects of having two large lumber mills established in their city. The Shevlin Carpenter people are fixed for a site, and it is expected that they will have a mill in operation next spring, that will be a big thing in the way of wage distributor.

Meantime Winton Bros. who are interested in the Thief River Falls Lumber company, have secured an operation on the Steidt mill property at Bemidji and contemplate securing the property and refitting the mill to bring it up to a capacity to meet their demands. They own a large amount of pine in the Red Lake region and with the extension of the Nebish logging road to the M. & I. line they will be in a position to get their cut to the mill with a comparatively short rail haul. The company has a 30 day option.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED,

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Colombia, in a recent letter states: "last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result prescribed it. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

SUMMER SCHOOL

NOTES FROM THE SCHOOL ROOM THE TERM CLOSES TOMORROW.

This evening the school will give a social to its many friends and a good time is expected.

Miss Dwyer gave an exhition in club swinging on Tuesday. It was a very pleasing exhibition, Miss Dwyer being an expert in the art of handling the clubs.

Miss Dolly Pettengill, of Stillwater, who has been visiting her sister at St. Hilaire has decided to take in the summer school and has been with us these four weeks.

Rev. Walker spoke to the students on Wednesdey. His subject was moral training in our schools. Mr. Walker made it very clear to the school that as the teacher is so will the pupils be.

Last Monday Mr. Mcintyre gave a very interesting talk on American history. He handled the subject in a very scholarly manner and presented it in such a way that it was both instructive and interesting to the audience. He continued the discussion again on Wednesday.

The work at the summer school will close on next Friday. It has been the most successful year in the history of Red Lake county summer schools. The instructors report excellent work done in their respective departments and the attendance has exceeded any previous year by over 25 per cent. The teachers and students have worked in harmony and much good has been accomplished.

FACTORY IN A PROSPERING CONDITION---FIRST-CLASS PRODUCT.

Wylie, Minn., August 5—Monday was pay day at the Wylie Cheese factory and checks ranging from $40 down were distributed among the patrons, making a total of $467.60. 56000 pounds of milk were received at the factory during the month of June and netted the farmers 83½ cents per hundred pounds for that month. The product of the factory is giving excellent satisfaction and commands the top price of the market.

Berthon & Armstrong.

L. P. Berthon and J. B. Armstrong of the Surprise Clothing store, returned Tuesday from a business trip to the Twin Cities where they added greatly to their already large stock of clothing and men's furnishing which they have purchased. While their they secured the exclusive agency for Hart, Schaffner & Marx, of Chicago, line of clothing. In a conversation with Manager Williams, he said to The Gazette reporter that the firm would handle nothing but clothing and gent's furnishing. They buy all goods direct from the manufacturers and will make a specialty of fitting the man who is slim, the stout man, or the man who wears extra sizes. They will make a special effort to please young men in up-to-date clothing and furnishing.

In children's stock they will carry all the leading makes and will endeavor to please mothers, who are invited to call and look over their stock when they are located in their new store room, LaBissoniere's old stand, not for the purpose of buying but just to look over their line and be satisfied that they can get a suit for their little boys any time they wish.

Mr. Williams is a pleasing and obliging gentleman and we dare say will satisfy anyone who talks clothing to him. Messrs. Berthon & Armstrong had many applications for the position now occupied by him, but from the recommendations received and practical experienced men he was selected. He has had 20 years experience, having for over eleven years been with H. D. Pixlay, who has had clothing stores all over the Northwest. Mr. Williams is from Minneapolis, having been in the employ of the Surprise Clothing Store there until he came here.

RELIQUES.

Apropos of spring house cleaning how many of my readers have handled dozens of articles, dusted and aired them, then replaced them in the storeroom, wishing heartily that there were not quite so many reliques to air. Now let me tell you how to manage. Don't air them. What—not air them? No, give them away to some one who needs and will use, what in your possession is merely a dust and perhaps a moth collector, will be used daily by another. I say again give everything that you have no use for to the needy. I love memories and reliques myself, but consider it the height of selfishness to keep for instance, the outgrown clothing of my children or the old style garments. Many a family can be made happy if we but keep on the alert. Again I do not believe in hunting up just ANYBODY to be loaded down with an indiscriminate lot of rubbish, that is not charity. There are so many people who need help, why not divide up what we have to give? Again if you have a relative anywhere who WOULD BE BENEFITED by receiving your gifts, hunt that relative up, help him first then help strangers. Blood is thicker than water, though one often sees people give to strangers WITH FOOLISH what has been given them, while many a worthy relative is never noticed.

In giving away clothing care should be taken to select only such articles as can be of service. I recall an incident where a needy family had the loft filled with cast off garments sent them by mistaken though kindly people. Expensive buttons, buckles or lace are usually removed from garments before they are stored. This is proper and right, here let me say that anybody who owns a good button, buckle or bit of lace has a treasure the uses of which can not be imagined. Those three mentioned articles go in and out of style regularly, so take good care of them. But in giving a garment from which the buttons have been removed, do in all kindness replace them with neat but cheap ones. Hats are a nuisance after being discarded and yet I knew a woman who owned every hat which she had bought in ten years. Her husband, poor man, had to bring them and numberless other reliques into the sunlight twice a year. Perhaps it would be interesting to note right here that Mrs. Blank No. 2 now wears some of the treasured clothing of Mrs. Blank No 1. she having succumbed to the inevitable long since. It is a good idea to arrange everything that one can spare in boxes. One can have, perhaps half a dozen families the more the better, in mind. As soon as an article turns up in the household that would just do for any one of the families, place the article in box alloted to that especial family. It is surprising how well the above scheme works.

There is some little girl who has no hair ribbon for instance. Your little ones have many which they do not use, wash and press them and the little one who needs them will smile happily as she receives a gift so much needed. The principle will work clear through your house, and work well the year around.

Some one has no lounge, you perhaps set yours in the attic. Give it away do not have reliques to air, it pays doubly to give them away.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

PICKING HOPS.

How many of my boys and girls have seen a hop yard? You know hops are useful in a great many ways. There are rows and rows of poles all covered with the beautiful vine. A prettier sight is seldom seen.

I visited a hop yard in hop picking time and was reminded of a big picnic. In the morning there was a jolly ride in the bus which went from house to house gathering boys and girls who did the picking. Each one carried a lunch. There was lots of fun during the refreshing drive in the fine morning air. Many plans were made as to what would be bought with the money earned. There were big boxes in which to drop the hops and a man emptied the boxes as fast as the busy boys and girls filled them. Here and there a woman or man could be seen picking. I remember one women especially who furnished much amusement by her way of calling for more hops. There was a man who brought a new pole as soon as the old one was cleared. To him this woman would call out p-u-l-e (pole). In a moment the pickers all about her were laughing merrily. They enjoyed lunch time as it seemed, like a picnic every day.

HOUSEHOLD.

In a recent visit to the shops black and white in every conceivable combination, was the most forcible detail noticed.

White shirt waists are worn more than any other color. Many are buttoned in the back. Those buttoned in the front have eyelets instead of button holes worked in them. Pearl buttons of all shapes are used, oval, square, but the predominating button is the large round one an inch or more in diameter. The buttons are held by small safety pins. They are so much more readily adjusted with the pins than with the rings used formerly.

Snakes Used by Charmers.

Cobras are selected by the so called snake charmers of both Egypt and India for their performances. The Egyptian charmers sometimes pretend to change the serpent into a rod, and, according to Geoffrey St. Hilaire, this appearance can be induced by giving a strong squeeze to the animal's neck, which induces a convulsive rigidity from which the animal soon recovers. It need hardly be said that the snake charmers always carefully extract the fangs of the snakes they use.—Quarterly Review.

Death Superstitions.

Death superstitions are rife in the West Indies. To the people there everything out of the ordinary is a "sign." In Cuba a person with a sore or wound of any kind will not look upon a dead person, fearing that the spot will become incurable. The rum used in washing a dead body is, however, regarded as a sure cure for all eye troubles. If the light from a candle or lamp falls on the face of the dead, death will shortly come to him or her who was carrying the light.

Their Loss Our Gain.

"Women have no sense of humor," said he.

"That is a dispensation of providence for which the men should be truly thankful," she retorted. "Providence deprived women of a sense of humor that they might not notice how preposterously absurd the men are when they're in love."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

A Little Misunderstanding.

Soon after the convening of a new session of congress announcement was made of the approaching marriage of Anson G. McCook, who was then secretary of the senate. A subscription was immediately started among the senators for the purchase of a wedding present. Two or three prominent senators volunteered to collect the money. Senator X., one of the richest men in the senate at that time, was one of these.

Seeing a new senator who had not yet been approached on the subject, Senator X. went to him and said, "Senator Blank, I want you to give me $25."

"What for?" demanded the new member.

"For McCook's wedding present," explained Senator X.

"I'll see you about it tomorrow," answered Blank, with a scowl.

"All right," said Senator X. as he walked away, "but don't forget it."

Senator Blank watched him until he was out of hearing, and then, turning to his colleague, remarked with warmth:

"Well, I've heard of cheeky things in my life, but that man beats all! What do you think? He just asked me to give him $25 to buy a wedding present for his cook!"—New York Times.

The Tall Gentleman.

A Frenchman visiting a fashionable concert garden in St. Petersburg some years ago stopped a passing Russian officer and asked for a light for his cigar, which had gone out. The officer, after a moment's hesitation, handed his own cigar to the Frenchman and looked on with a smile of resignation at the latter's frantic efforts to get a light.

"You are French, I believe?" said the officer.

"Not only French, but from Toulouse!"

"Is this your first visit to Russia?"

"Yes."

"Ah, now I understand why you did not salute the tall gentleman in uniform who was with me when you asked me for a light."

"The tall gentleman? I did not notice him. Who is he?"

"The emperor," replied the officer, at last regaining possession of his cigar.

"Are you sure?"

"Perfectly. He happens to be my father."

THE TROUTING SEASON.

Now to the brooks
And far off nooks
The fishermen are going,
Each feeling sure
That he'll secure
Some beauties well worth showing.

The trudge is long,
But legs are strong,
And, though there's frequent stumbling,
The fishermen
Push on again
And never think of grumbling.

At last they look
Upon the brook
That's just the place for trouting;
The poles are fixed,
The lines unmixed,
And luck not one is doubting.

They decorate
With tempting bait
The hooks with which they're fishing:
Then here and there
With greatest care,
The lines are soon sent swishing.

They swish and swish,
But nary fish
Is to the surface rising;
They try and try,
And then they sigh
O'er failure so surprising.

To other brooks
And other nooks
Their toilsome way they're wending,
But not a trout
Can they yank out,
Though oft the lines they're sending.

They fish away
Till end of day,
And then they're homeward going;
They try to grin
While yarns they spin,
But not one trout they're showing.

formation I can give you, Mr. Elmendorf? It's all up. I might as well talk."

"Why didn't you run?" demanded Elmendorf.

"I staid to play the game out," replied Blair. "There was money in view, and I love money, my friend; also I love life. How absurd, but I do—now that it's over! Think of it! And there isn't a man in New York this minute as wretched as I am. Why, I'd just heard from the hospital, and I was sitting there on that couch, staring at the pillow she made for me, thinking of the endless stitches and the love —Elmendorf, she told me that every one of them was sewed with love for me. Why does that stick in my mind? Why couldn't I be straight? Well, well, I'm done for—done for!"

Elmendorf eyed the man curiously. His face was flushed as if with fever, and his words were thickly uttered and hurried, as with delirium.

"You didn't get the money?" said Elmendorf.

"Money!" echoed Blair. "For the first time in my life I forgot that there was such a thing. I read that letter, as you guessed, and I was crazed. I knew she was holding her secret, and would put him off for shame, and because she treasured up something he had said that frightened her—about some woman who ran away to be married. Well, I went there that afternoon; I talked with her, raved at her and then—well, you know what happened. I thought every one would know I did it. We had had more meetings in the last few weeks than you'd believe possible," he rambled on, "but then nobody cares what his neighbor does here in New York. Our whole romance passed without notice. I was on the balcony when Robinson came."

"Did you know that he returned?" asked Elmendorf.

"Returned?"

"He left his cane in the room, got outside the house, got in again because the lock hadn't caught and entered the room, thinking that he had heard an answer to his knock. There was the money right on the table, and nobody in sight, you and Miss Miller being on the balcony between the windows. He needed money, and he took it, and I traced it. The man's at headquarters now. He tried to skip, but he was shadowed at the time, as I knew and he didn't."

"I thought Neale got the money," said Blair, starting as if from a doze.

"Robinson will be released," said Elmendorf. "There'll be no complaint. This whole case will be covered up."

"Covered up?" echoed Blair, and he laughed. "I'll be covered up—in my grave, and, by ——, Elmendorf, I don't want to die! I don't want to die! Can you understand that?"

"Don't die, then," said Elmendorf; "there's no need of it. I shan't trouble you. I could make a lot of money by letting you alone, and I'm going to do it for nothing, or, to be exact, I'm going to do it for Elsie Miller. You'll go scot free, Blair, you black hearted, lying brute!"

Blair suddenly rose to his feet. He seemed to be impossibly tall as he stood there with raised shoulders and clinched hands, staring down at Elmendorf.

"Do you mean to say that you have not come here to take me?" he demanded.

"That's what I mean," said Elmendorf. "You can go where you please, and you'd better go as fast as you can, for Alden may be here at any moment. Perhaps you have observed certain physical peculiarities of Mr. Alden? I seem to hear your bones crack, Blair, in his hands."

Blair gave utterance to a terrible oath.

"Do you know what I have done?" he cried in a voice that sent a chill to Elmendorf's heart. "Look here!"

He lifted the small bottle and then dashed it down to shivers.

"I'm done for! I've taken enough of that to kill three men. No electric chairs for me. And now—I might have lived! I might have gone abroad. I could have had money—found a new life; but I'm a dead man."

He had wrenched open the door of a locker upon the wall, but at the last words he turned to launch a frightful curse at Elmendorf.

"I may still save myself," he babbled, and there was a rattling of bottles in the cupboard. "This is it. Great heavens! There is hardly enough. Bring me that water."

Elmendorf started to comply, but his speed did not equal Blair's impatience, and the latter sprang forward so that they came together. There was a tinkling of glass upon the floor.

"It's all I have!" he cried. "It's my last chance! And you—you did it!"

With incredible strength and suddenness he seized a heavy paperweight from the table and aimed a fearful blow at Elmendorf. The detective reeled for an instant and then fell face downward upon the floor, where he lay perfectly still.

Blair glanced at him once, then rushed to a mirror near the window and stared at his own livid face. [illegible] he gasped, one hand clutching his breast. [illegible]

He seized his hat instinctively and rushed to the door, through which he passed into the hall.

"Dr. Blair," said a remembered voice. "I must speak with you. Come back with me. Where is Elmendorf? Have you seen him?"

Frantic, he tried to shake off the hand that was on his arm, but the hand was of iron. He babbled unintelligible words.

"Poison!" cried Alden. "Who is poisoned? Come back here to the light."

And he thrust Blair into the office, practically carrying the man at arm's length. Utterly insane with the fear of death, Blair struck at his captor vainly and screamed like a child.

Elmendorf was struggling to his feet as they entered, and Alden uttered a cry at the sight of him.

"Did he do this?" he exclaimed, pointing at Blair, whom he had released.

"Yes," he said hoarsely; "this—and the other!"

Alden paused an instant, the strength of his body gathering for effort. Then he leaped forward and seemed to pass half through, half over, the body of Blair, as if it had been a ghost in garments. Turning, he saw Blair lying upon the floor, his limbs contorted, his face bearing the unmistakable stamp of death.

Elmendorf staggered forward and knelt beside the body.

"We're going to keep her secret," he said. "Her name must not appear in this. We must see what the man has in his pockets and in the room. Some of these fellows make strange memoranda."

"Brenda has told me the story," said Alden. "It could not be concealed. In fact, I had got so much from the nurse you bribed that the remainder mattered little. And this man was her husband, this cowardly wretch, this assassin of women!"

"He was also an inventor of women," said Elmendorf. "And I never knew a shrewder trick."

"Do you mean that he lied about seeing one?"

"There was no mysterious woman in the case," replied Elmendorf. "It was a pure fiction and worthy of its author. He was clever, and for a thoroughgoing scoundrel— Hello! What's this?"

He had drawn a sheet of paper from Blair's pocket, and after a glance at it he handed it to Alden, who read that Arthur Gordan Blair and Joseph Neale, captain of police, were equal partners.

CHAPTER XX.

THE ONLY THING THAT MATTERS.

THE document appeared to possess the power of a spell, for while Alden held it in his hands he heard one heavy blow upon the door, and then Neale strode into the room.

"What's this?" he demanded. "Elmendorf, didn't I tell you to let this man alone?"

"I'll let him alone now, captain," said Elmendorf. "You can bury him. And see that you bury everything else too. This whole case is on the quiet. I can steer things at headquarters with a little money, Mr. Alden, and Joe Neale must take care of the precinct. This is a mysterious suicide, Neale; due probably to financial trouble or ill health. It has no relation to the case of Miss Miller."

"Since when did I take orders from you?" cried Neale.

"Since I got hold of this," replied Elmendorf, showing the partnership agreement. "I know the whole game, Neale, and you can't stand it just now."

"That's off anyhow," said Neale, with deep bitterness. "Duncan Maclane was too smart. He has got the Holbein company's option himself, for the gent who was to have been his son-in-law, of course."

And he bowed grotesquely to Alden.

"Maclane smelled a rat after he had given up to Blair," he continued, "and so he stepped in ahead of us. And now, Elmendorf, I'm willing to call this thing a draw on your terms. I'll attend to matters here strictly on the quiet, and you take care of your own end of it as well as you can. Is it a go?"

"It is," replied the detective. "As soon as I get my head patched up I'll go down to headquarters and get Robinson out or start things moving that way. And you, Mr. Alden?"

"I am going back to St. Winifred's," was the reply.

When Alden reached the hospital, he went at once to Kendall's room, from which place he sent word of his arrival. Both the doctor and Brenda presently joined him.

"I think the danger is all over," said Kendall, taking Alden's hand. "This last attack of faintness was to be expected, but I do not look for any recurrence. But how is it with you? Something serious has happened?"

Alden told them simply and directly just what had occurred.

"She is free, then!" exclaimed Brenda.

"Yes, and partly by my hand," he replied. "Brenda, I am glad of it. I am glad to have been concerned in that man's death. I am more than half a savage. From the first instant, when I learned that Elsie had been struck down, I had scarcely more than one idea, one passion—the desire for vengeance. I wanted to kill with my own hands the man who had done this thing. All softer feelings were swallowed up in that one desire."

"You mean that I seemed to be guilty of this crime?" said Alden calmly. "Well, there was murder in my heart at the time, you see, and I cannot blame any who misjudged me. And now, Brenda," he said, drawing himself up and clinching his white and delicate hands that gave so little hint of their enormous strength, "I am glad that I can go to her and tell her that he is dead; that that dreadful nightmare of the past need not hang over her; that all these horrors"—

"My friend," said Brenda, checking him, "you will do nothing of the kind."

He asked her in surprise what she might mean.

"You will utter no such violent sentiments," she said. "Elsie believes herself a sinner. She looks upon that folly as if it were a terrible offense, and, what is much more important, she believes that you will so regard it. She thinks that you will look upon her as a girl disgraced by her own act and saved by chance. The whole matter has assumed a shape utterly monstrous in her eyes. Now, what will you do—thank God in her presence that the dreadful drama closed with your hands upon Blair's throat? Never, never! You will be very gentle always. You will say to her in the beginning that you love her dearly and that nothing else matters in the least. You will speak as little as possible of this tangle of crime. It is not important. Do you comprehend? Love is what matters. Throughout these first difficult days and for all your life you will do the same thing. You will help her to forget that such men as Blair are in the world; that she ever met one of them. It won't be a forbidden topic. Oh, far from that; merely a matter not worth brooding over in a world full of sunshine and love."

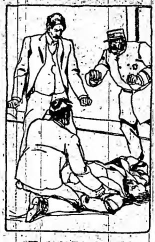
"Brenda," said he, "this is the flower of wisdom. I think I might have erred in a way that would have taken a long time to set right. Can I see her now?"

"I think you can," said Kendall—"now."

And with the last word he looked at Brenda. Alden understood.

"I shall be all you wish me to be," he said.

So they went to Elsie's room, Alden lingering until the way was prepared for him. He entered smiling and handsome in the way of the days before. He knelt down beside Elsie's bed and in the gentlest way let her know that her secret had come into his keeping and that he had forgotten it again. Then he told her that she was free, but not with any words to picture the horror of the last scene. The man had died by his own hand, as it was best he should.



"What's this?" he demanded.

"But still this story, Clarence—think of it!" she said. "It is bound to be told."

"My child," said he gently, "if you are my wife and are received by the Maclanes and a few other people whom I know"—

"Including the Kendalls," said Brenda. "Don't forget them."

"No," said the doctor, "that wouldn't do at all. Why, a dozen years ago, when the phrase 'the Four Hundred' was first heard, an old dowager of my tribe protested against it. 'Four hundred indeed!' cried she. 'Why, there are more than 400 Kendalls!' So there's the size of your clan, little girl."

"So only love matters," said Alden, still upon his knees. "Is not that true?"

Elsie was silent for a moment. Then she suddenly opened the hand that Alden wasn't holding and showed him something which had been clasped in it.

"Do you recognize it?" she said. "I've kept it all the time."

"My message that I sent the first night you were here," he exclaimed, taking it.

"The mysterious message!" said Brenda.

"You may read it if you like," said Alden, giving her the paper. "Elsie is willing."

"Wait!" cried Elsie. "You may read it if you will give it to Dr. Kendall afterward."

"That will be no more than ordinary politeness," said Brenda, glancing at the paper—"only three words—'I love you.'" [illegible]

The arrangements of Captain Neale and Detective Elmendorf accomplished a beautifully complete suppression of the news in the case, and the latter received the sincere thanks of Alden, who spoke for all others concerned. There might have been other considerations than mere thanks; but, in the detective's opinion, the time was not ripe for corruption.

About a week later Alden was surprised to meet Elmendorf in a car of the elevated road dressed in a patrolman's uniform.

"Back to the ranks," said Elmendorf gloomily. "Neale's pull has finally got me. The 'front office' expressed regret. I don't know why."

"Resign," said Alden. "I want you with me. My deal has gone through in great shape. I can put you in the way of making money."

"Nobody can do that," said Elmendorf. "I wasn't born for it."

Alden did not reply in words, but he fastened a grip on Elmendorf's arm that couldn't have been loosened without a major surgical operation and led him out of the train despite his protests on the ground of duty. They went to Alden's office, and when they left it "the force" had lost an excellent officer and really able detective.

ROOSEVELT-VAN SANT.

The Gazette did not support Gov. Van Sant in the campaign of 1900, neither did we support the Republican presidental ticket. When the Gazette supports a candidate, the public generally knows it, and equally so when we oppose a candidate. Therefore it is not at all necessary for us to "define over position." We take pleasure, however, genuine pleasure, (and this is one of the privileges of a newspaper man, and one which to us seems to compensate for many editorial disadvantages and burdens) in giving all credit to the public official who does his duty, which is nothing more nor less than to stand for the people's interest. Then we commended Gov. Lind in his day as an able and good governor. nor did we oppose him in his last efforts at re-election, although our contemporary down the street says we did. Samuel R. Van Sant was elected without the support of The Gazette (plurality small) and he has made a good governor. In fact he is a veritable brick, and The Gazette is deriving a great deal of satisfaction in supporting him. He has been tried, and not flinched. He is the people's champion. He is the kind of a governor we want.

Then we come to President Roosevelt—another faithful sponsor for the interest of the masses—fearless in the cause of right. The Gazette's blood tingles in its veins with enthusiasm over such men. While the reigns of government are in their hands, the ship of state will be steered aright. And the very little we can do to hold up their hands will be done.

THE MINNEAPOLIS JOURNAL TRIES TO STRAIGHTEN HIM OUT.

The Red Lake Falls Courier says: The republican party is becoming very near like the Unitarian church. Differences in creed and conviction cut no figure. Free traders and protectionists, imperalists and anti-imperalists, mergerites and antis. all gather at the republican shrine and are given full fellowship—provided they vote the straight ticket and allow the bosses to run the machine.

Only one kind of democrat, is there? Then why all this fighting for narmony? Cleveland and Hill, Henry Watterson, Teller and William J. Bryan have their little "differences in creed and conviction," and does not the broad democratic mother-wing hover over the gold bug, the silver bug, the recriprocity advocate, the free trader, the government ownership faddist, the single taxer and the mergerite with equal loving care?—Minneapolis Journal.

The Thief River Falls Press thinks Judge Knight may again take the field. The Judge is not a candidate but should he decide to enter the race, he would win hands down, despite the opinions of the Press. No man in Red Lake county is so close to the hearts of the people as Judge Knight, and the Press is behind the times if it does not know this. He has made a first-class judge, and if he is not re elected, it is because he does not want the office. There is not an officer in Red Lake county to-day who could make a stronger run on the strength of his record in office, and the judge is being pressed every day from all parts of the county, and from men in all parties, to stand for a third term. He may well be proud of himself and of his hosts of friends.

THE CONFERENCE PANORAMA.

The seeds of dissension sown by the Democratic-Populist machine at the conference held in this city some weeks ago are bearing fruit. The picture is certainly an interesting one. The old RedLake County Populist boat seems to be afloat on the restless and treacherous sea of politics, tempest-tosted, with a professed Democrat at the rudder. A select few (see the conference slate) have been taken aboard, while many of the old Populist war horses who have borne the brunt of the fight for these many years, are seen struggling in the waves, ortempested-tost. are hurled against the breakers. The most aggravating feature, no doubt, to them, is the sight of several office seekers, in the garb of Democrats. but in reality poiitcial pirates, aboard the craft, serenely unsurping their places, while the directors of the machine, with heads together and sinister smiles upon their lips, continue to plan the "fusion" campaign. There are many signs of revolt in the rank and file of both parties, whose members look aghast at the boldness of the political grafters. A life-boat in the shape of a straight out and out Populist ticket is being hurriedly put to sea, and the candidates who were kicked overboard will soon be on a dry platform.

Meanwhile, the voters have taken cognizance of the situation, and will mark their disapproval of the conference scheme at the polls.

Although the officials of the department of justice have been closely observing the developments in the "Beef Trust" litigation and have watched with the keenest interest the recent movement which it is alleged will ultimately result in the ownership, by a single individual or company, of the great packing interests of the country, they have, heretofore, been most reticent on the subject. Now, however, they are replying to the inquiries of newspaper men with confidence. They say they are certain that the department would be able to defeat the contemplated combine, which will be formed in violation to the Sherman anti-trust law. It is believed that the packers, in forming the combine, assume they will be immune from the prohibition of the Sherman law and that they base the assumption on the fact that the Supreme Court decided against the government in the case of the United States against the E. C. Knight Sugar Refining Co. In this decision the court held that the manufacture of sugar could not be regarded as interstate commerce in the sense meant by the law; but the department holds that if the packers form the proposed combination they will become liable to another provision of the law which prohibits an attempt at "the monopoly" of a part of "the commerce between the states." As this feature of the Sherman law has never been passed upon by the courts there is no absolute precedent on which to base an opinion and the litigation under this phase will be watched by the jurists with unusual interest. It is not deemed probable that the suit now in progress will be considered in the courts before next October, so that relief from the present prices of beef, from that source, cannot be hoped for in the immediate future. The officials of the department of Agriculture, however, say that when the grass fed cattle of the ranges begin to arrive in Chicago in considerable numbers the price of beef will show a considerable reduction.

Bro. King should come out for Gov. Van Sant. His man, Meighen, can not be elected, and Rosing certainly does not represent the Courier's views on the subject of the railroad merger. Why not be honest with yourself, Bro. King, and give voice to your convictions? Follow principle ahead of party, and say a word for the people's champion, Gov. Samuel R. Van Sant.

Gates is in a new coal deal, but be says it is only a little flyer on the side, as he doesn't expect to make more than $10,000,000 or $15,000,000 out of it.

The Railroad the Key to the Trust Riddle

By MARTIN A. KNAPP, Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission

NO BODY OF MEN CAN ACQUIRE $100,000,000 IN A SCORE OF YEARS WITHOUT GROSSLY DEFRAUDING THEIR FELLOWS BY SECURING RATES AND FACILITIES FOR PUBLIC CARRIAGE OF WHICH OTHERS ARE DEPRIVED. That is the sleight of hand by which the marvel is produced, the key to the riddle which has alarmed the nations.

RAILROADS ENGAGED IN PUBLIC SERVICE ARE ONLY PURVEYORS OF THE PUBLIC PRIVILEGE, AND LARGE SHIPPERS ARE ENTITLED TO NO SMALLER RATES FOR THEIR COMMODITIES THAN IS THE SMALLER SHIPPER IN THE SAME LINE.

No service which the government undertakes can be more useful and no duty which rests upon it is more imperative than to secure for the public always and everywhere equal treatment by every railway carrier. WHEN THE NATURAL ADVANTAGES OF CAPITAL ARE AUGMENTED BY ARBITRARY DEDUCTIONS FROM CHARGES COMMONLY IMPOSED, THE COMBINATION IS POWERFUL ENOUGH TO FORCE ALL RIVALS FROM THE FIELD. Production is controlled, wages are fixed, prices raised to the desired profit, monopoly reigns.

Deprived of special and exclusive rates, an advantage far greater and more odious than exemption from taxation, these trusts would be shorn of their advantages and divested of their principal danger.

What Liberty Worship Will Not Do

By President ARTHUR T. HADLEY of Yale

WE ARE ON THE THRESHOLD OF A REACTION AGAINST THE EXTREME WORSHIP OF LIBERTY AS THE MEANS OF WORKING OUT SALVATION. Liberty in business has helped the consumer, but we have come to a point where liberty is ceasing to act through great business combinations. Liberty in politics is beginning to lead to a compromise between conflicting selfish interests at the expense of the community. Liberty in conduct has tended to produce unselfishness, but it undermines more surely than did the gross poems of sin the spirit of the gentleman and Christian.

People see the vast business corporations, they see these combinations in politics, they see what is and what is not accomplished by what the world calls success. Very few take these things to heart, but IT IS RECOGNIZED THAT LIBERTY WON'T DO EVERYTHING THAT WAS EXPECTED OF IT ONCE. Some persons want to go back to authority, but that is past. What shall we do?

WE MUST RELY UPON THE DEVELOPMENT WITHIN THE INDIVIDUAL OF A SENTIMENT IDENTIFYING OUR WELFARE WITH THAT OF THE COMMUNITY. THE LESSON OF TRUSTEESHIP IS WHAT WE NEED AND WHAT I BELIEVE THE WORLD IS READY TO ACCEPT AS A PRINCIPLE.

HIS HORSES WERE WOODEN

But All the Same He Had to Pay For a Livery License.

As "his honor" sat on the bench from which even handed justice was dispensed in the town of Lavilla, which flourished way down in Florida before the days of Greater Jacksonville, he was amazed to note among the prisoners at the bar a "paleface."

Casting the eagle eye of the law over the room, he was agitated still more to observe a "biled" shirt and standing collar and that these were worn by another white man.

The marshal, being called on, explained that one white gentleman was arrested by him for running a "flying jinny" without a license, and the other was his lawyer. To a man cast in a less heroic mold than the mayor such complete smashing of all records and invading of precedent would have been a Waterloo. A white man arrested in Lavilla and a lawyer appearing to plead in its court! To what are we coming?

Repressing all signs of such a strain on his judicial composure, the mayor announced that to fittingly mark so great an occasion he would disregard the calendar and take up the white man's case first.

The lawyer demanded the immediate discharge of the prisoner on the ground that there was no ordinance requiring "flying jinny" to pay a license and threw the court on its "beam ends" by asking for a copy of the ordinance book.

No one had seen it in years. Many doubted if there had ever been one. A whispered consultation was held between the mayor and the marshal and a search instituted which revealed the book, with a brick on top of it, supplying the place of a missing leg of the stove.

After looking vainly through the book for law on "flying jinnies" his honor delivered judgment as follows:

"Ordinance No. 11 requires all keepers of livery stables to pay a license of $10 and imposes a fine of twice the amount for running without a license. The defendant must pay both the fine and the license."

"But," objected the lawyer, "this man don't run a livery stable; he runs a 'flying jinny.'"

"He keeps horses for hire, doesn't he?"

"Yes, but they are wooden horses, and he charges a nickel for one ride."

"The ordinance makes no fine distinction. It says livery stables require a license. A livery stable is a place where horses are kept for hire. It makes no difference whether they are wooden horses or 'meat' horses. Next case, Mr. Marshal."—New York Mail and Express.

Stone Throwing.

A propensity to throw stones regardless of consequences has been one of the earliest signs of natural depravity among men since time began and, we fear, must continue that way until the millennium ushers in the era when bad boys are no more and stones are confined to their proper and legitimate uses.

Anyway, the mischief wrought by this vicious and execrable habit looms up into serious proportions when the figures are given out by plate glass insurance men showing that it costs not less than $250,000 a year to make good the losses thus caused by reckless boys in this country alone.

With stone throwing costing $250,000 a year, carelessness in setting fires costing hundreds of millions more and heedless accidents causing immense sacrifice of property, the good people have many bills to foot which ought not to be theirs.—Leslie's Weekly.

The Coffee Heart.

The largest part of the coffee grown in the world is consumed in the United States, and some of our life insurance societies are beginning to realize how its excessive use increases the risks of life. Its effect is in shortening the long beat of the heart, and medical examiners for insurance companies have added the term "coffee heart" to their regular classification of the functional derangements of that organ. These physicians advise that the use of coffee be limited to not more than two cups a day. Coffee topers, they say, are plentiful and are as much tied to their cups as the whisky toper. The effect of the coffee upon the heart is more lasting and consequently worse than that of liquor.—Detroit Free Press.

Advance Prayers.

A young Germantown mother in putting her five-year-old son to bed noticed that he clambered under the covers without saying his prayers. She grew reproachful. "Why, Warren, mother never knew you to forget your prayers before."

"Indeed, mother," was the reply, "I didn't forget. Grace and I said them for four nights during the rain yesterday, when we couldn't play. We would have got through the whole week if nurse had not come to dress us."

His Queer Way.

Gargan—In what way?

Dumleigh—I was saying that Tyson claimed to be a great mind reader, but he was unable to read my mind, and Synnex said that the best book reader could not read if there was no book before him. That's the way Synnex has of suddenly wandering from the subject.—Boston Transcript.

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElree's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. All druggists have $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

Lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) and five (5) in blk three (3) of Railroad addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the official plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds within and for the said county of Red Lake and was given to secure the payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-five dollars with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, payable annually, on the 4th day of June in each year, according to the conditions of one principal note and interest coupon notes thereto attached, by failure to pay the annual interest falling due on the 4th day of June 1901 and by failure to pay the taxes levied upon said real estate for the years 1897, 1898, 1899 and 1900, 1901 and whereas the said assignee of the mortgagee, by virtue of the power contained in said mortgage, paid to the County Treasurer of Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, the following taxes duly levied and assessed by the said county against the land described in the said mortgage, and were due and delinquent at the dates when said payments were made, to-wit: On July 31st, 1900, paid $9.49 taxes for the years of 1897, 1898 and 1899; on April 10th, 1902, paid $3.86 taxes for the year 1900, on July 29, 1902, paid $1.68 taxes for the year 1901, in all the sum of $18.03 and with interest amounting to $20.09.

And whereas, said mortgage, provided as one of its conditions that in case of failure to pay any part of said interest when the same becomes due or to pay any taxes levied upon said real estate before the same becomes delinquent, the whole sum of money or indebtedness thereby secured shall thereupon become due and payable; and whereas said mortgage also provides that if such taxes are not so paid the holder of said mortgage may elect to pay the same and be entitled to interest on the same at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum and, said mortgage stand as security for the amount so paid, with interest.

And Whereas, there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice on said principal indebtedness and interest thereon and to the date hereof and for said amount paid for taxes and interest thereon the sum of two hundred and forty nine 63-100 dollars.

And whereas, because of said defaults and of each of them the power of sale in said mortgage contained has become operative, and no action at law or in equity having been instituted to cover said mortgage indebtedness.

Now, Therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises above described which sale will be made by the sheriff of said county of Red Lake at the front door of the Court House in Red Lake Falls, in said County, on Saturday the 13th day of Sept. 1902, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said indebtedness, the Attorney's fees of $35.00, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year thereafter, as provided by law.

SUMMER SCHOOL

ATTENDANTS OF TRAINING SCHOOL GIVE INFORMAL RECEPTION.

The reception given by the faculty and students of the summer school at the High school building last Thursday evening proved to be one of those enjoyable events which come only at rare intervals. Everything conspired to rob it of the remotest semblance of stiffness, each of the numerous guests entering into the spirit of the occasion with zest and enthusiasm.

The main hall, which was used as a reception room, was artistically decorated with bunting, potted plants, and cut flowers. From the walls hung beautiful paintings, and the Oriental rugs covering the floor, gave a cozy home-like appearance to the place. Here the guests were welcomed by the receiving committee, consisting of Professors Kuntz and Sathre, Misses Lydia Fletcher, Tessie McAffery and Mayme Dwyer and County Supt. Jeffers. The guests were then ushered into one of the West rooms, which had been skillfully transformed into a charming drawing room, whose inviting cozy corners and easy chairs attracted and held many in delightful repartee.

The large Assembly room, in which the program for the evening was rendered was made beautiful with elaborate decorations. Old Glory formed a background for the rostrum on which the entertainers stood, while a large arc light cast its gentle rays upon the surroundings. The trio by the Misses Josephine Kaus, Marjurie Rodgers and Eleanor Findelsen, which was exquistly rendered, furnished a fitting opening. The program was continued with recitations and music. Professor Kuntz and Miss Dora Marchand entertained with humorous selections, while Miss Eleanor Findeisen and Abner Fletcher delivered dramatic recitations. Following these came vocal solos by Mrs. Wright, of Thief River Falls, and Misses Della Toupin and Margaret Kuus, each of which was received with hearty appreciation. A beautiful piano solo by Leland Healy concluded the program.

Throughout the evening frappe was served beneath a tastefully draped canopy in one corner of the hall.

At eleven o'clock the guests departed with many kind words of thanks to the faculty and students of the Red Lake county Summer School for the opportunity afforded them to spend a pleasant evening with the teachers of Red Lake county.

Professors Kuntz and Sathre left Friday afternoon for their homes at Owatonna and Crookston, respectfully, amid many invitations to return to our city again, having made many friends and acquaintances during their short stay of a month here.

About Minnesota.

Minnesota was organized as a territory in 1848; as a state in 1857. The population of the territory in 1848 was 4,680, the population of the state in 1900, 1,751,394. Identified with the growth of the state has been the improvement of the celebrated North-Western Line which to-day stands world-famous for its incomparable roadbed, magnificent equipments and fine train service, especially the North-Western Limited between Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago.

FOUR ARRESTED.

AN ASSYRIAN SHOT WHILE PASSING A HOUSE OF ILL-FAME.

A mysterious shooting was reported from Thief River Falls Monday afternoon, and the victim of the affair is a poor Assyrian peddler, who was making a tour through the northern part of the county, and was at the time the shooting occurred driving through the "wild west" of Thief River Falls. Immediately after the shooting occurred County Attorney Grady was notified and he left for that city. Upon an investigation the following facts were brought out.

On Monday afternoon at about 3 o'clock, four young men, namely, Fred Nolan, Oscar Johnson, Geo. Teepla and Tarvol Ness, in company with two inmates of the house, Ollie Clark and Etta Demars, were standing in front of the "joint". They had three 32-caliber rifles, when a band of Assyrains passed by, one of the bunch aimed at Sada Dein, (the Assyrain peddler,) and shot him in the back. The victim is at present in the hospital and the bullet has not yet been located, though the physicians says he will live.

The two girls made good their escape, though Attorney Grady says he confidentially believes they are secreted away, while all four of the boys were immediately arrested and are now out on bail.

A preliminary hearing will be had next Wednesday at 10 o'clock. Fred Nolan, a former resident of this city, is the suspected party.

The Minnesota State Fair.

From every part of the northwest comes the cry, "We are going to attend the State Fair during the first week of September!" From the report which come to the officers of the fair it appears that every part of the northwest will be well represented. As one man put it. "This is a state fair year." Good crops, good prices good times and a good fair explain the situation.

The Minnesota state fair of 1902 will be larger than ever. Last year's National Life Stock exhibition will be repeated on a large scale and reports from other departments of the fair show that exhibitors are expecting to increase their displays to correspond with the increase exhibit of cattle. The live stock department in every branch will be phenominal. An enormous sheep exhibition building has been built to care for the increasing flocks which want space at the Minnesota Fair each year.

In the horse department it is certain that every stall will be filled.

Last year when the new agricultural building was put up it was thought it would take care of the department of farm products for at least a few years without crowding but this year it will be hard work to get all horticultural and agricultural exhibits into the building.

The Exposition Building was filled before the summer had hardly commenced and the fair management has been forced to plan a large street for booths for great numbers of exhibitors.

In the farm machinery department it will be very difficult to find room for all would-be exhibitors and the same is true of the poultry building, dairy building and women's building and all the higher departments of the fair.

Amussments have not been forgotten. The race entry list for the 1902 fair is the greatest and best list of horses ever entered in a western fair and is pronounced, by the highest authority, to equal any entry list of any eastern grand circuit racing association this year

Marvelous specialties will supplement the racing program and each evening of the fair there will be a great entertainment consisting rac ing under electric lights. Baloon ascension bicycle and automobile performances by Kilpatrick and other noted riders; and, finally, each night a production of Pain's latest pyrotechnic marvel, "War in China." will be given on the enormous stage in front of the grand stand.

The grounds have been much improved this year and numerous buildings have been added. Increased transportation facilities have been arranged for and a half-rate made by all the railroads.

The fair will open Monday, September first and will be in complete order by 9 a.m. on that date. As there will be enormous crowds this year, each intending visitor will do well to plan going to the fair early in the week.

The president of the fair this year is C. N. Cosgrove of LeSueur. E. W. Randall is secretery.

New Horse Disease.

New disease among horses in the north part of the state is baffling the veterinary surgeons of the section infected and the veterinary department has been applied to without much success. The disease is popularly known as swamp fever. It has been known in Manitoba for several years and veterinarians of that province have been studying it in vain for several years to ascertain what really causes it.

Good Word for M. W. A.

To the head officers of the Modern Woodmen of America:

Receive my thanks for the prompt payment of my claim, amounting to $1,000, for benefit certificate issued to Joseph Leblanc, my husband. I will recommend the Modern Woodmen of America to all my friends. They are the fraternal society to take care of the widows and orphans. I must also thank the clerk of the Terrebonne camp and other neighbors who have troubled themselves for my sake. Once more I thank you all. I remain the one who will never forget the Modern Woodmen of America.

Every Body Vote at The Primaries.

The statement is made by close observers that the primary election law may fail if the farmers do not take sufficient interest in the coming test of the system to turn out and vote. They contend that the towns and villages would control the nominations as under the old convention system. The only way to disprove these assertions is for every farmer not to fail to cast his vote, even though the election comes at a time in the busy harvest season when the farmers have little time or thought for matters politic.

We predict that the farmers of the state at whose demand the primary election law was passed will interest themselves sufficiently in the test to make the law on the 16th of September to go to the poles and cast their ballots. Should they fail to vote at the primaries the law will certainly be repealed and the political bosses will resume there control of the nominations

Every farmer and every other right thinking citizen should take a personal interest in the primary election, be it only to protect the political future of our state.—Crookston Journal.

For Another Treaty.

The Thief River Falls citzens will make another attempt to get the eastern eleven townships of the Red Lake Indian reservation opened to settlement and Mayor Kratka went up to Red Lake this week to have a talk with the Indians regarding the making of a new treaty for the cession of the eleven townships just east of Thief River Falls. The present treaty asks the government to advance the money for the purchase of the lands, and Mr. Kratka is going to see if they will not consent to an agreement whereby the land can be purchased by the settlers, and the goverment act as a trust agent. The only objection to the present treaty being ratified by congress is that it carries with it an appropriation of $1,000,000, and if this obstacle was removed there would be no difficulty in securing its passage by congress.

If Mr Kratka finds that another treaty can be made, it is thought that Mayor McLaughlin will come and do the job.

The Site Selected.

The site for the new state building has been selected at the south end of the east arm of Lake Itasca, which is twenty-four miles from Grand Rapids.

Condemnation proceedings are being taken in the courts to secure for the state a quarter secton of land at the north end of the park, which belongs to private parties. When this has been secured the state will own all the shore line. About one-third of the land in the park area, five by seven miles in extent is owned by private parties, and this will be secured by purchase if the price fixed by the owners is reasonbale, and condemnation proceedings if it is not.

MOTHER'S CORNER

BY MOTHER KATHERINE

A Staff contributor, who will write of every day affairs—the little units that go to make up the sum total of existence. Mother Katherine writes exclusively for THE GAZETTE. She is a mother who presides over an ideal home. A letter addressed to her in care of The Gazette will reach her. She is worthy of confidence.

FOR SUMMER DAYS.

Girls I want to whisper a secret to you. I love you so well that I'd rather talk to you in the Corner than any one else. I love to have girls about me and to have their confidence. I like to have heart to heart talks with girls, and I am glad to say that many come to me with their little stories. Perhaps it is as well that girls do not realize what a power they have for they might lord it over us older creatures. The golden days of girlhood are the most beautiful in life. Therefore girls cannot be careful enough as to how the pages of the book of life shall read. I look at a home where there are grown daughters and the thought always comes to me: What a fortunate family that is to possess those dear daughters? What a comfort to father, mother and the little ones! What a source of refuge Sis. can be to the boys! She can settle many a difficulty for them, and also can be a pleasant companion who leads "the boys" with jolly and harmless ways. Oh girls, you can do more than the busy mother in the home has power to do. How much are you doing these summer days? Some of you are trying to enjoy yourselves, thinking that the only road to fun is gaiety and often, alas, laxity. Do not imagine for one moment that the young men who laugh at your slangy expressions or join with you in too frivolous a merry-making are admiring you as you wish to be admired. The young man looking for a wife wishes to feel that he can look up to the gain of his heart. He wishes her to be the embodiment of purity. He wishes to feel that she is just the grandest, noblest soul on the face of the earth. Do you merit such sentiment my girl readers? Just ask your brother if I am right. Another thing, do not trust yourself to carry on platonic friendship, for you may learn to LOVE YOUR FRIEND dearly while he remains a true disciple of Plato.

Avoid the cause of heartache that you may be happy in your lovely girlhood days.

More of this later.

LAW HELD INVALID

INHERITANCE TAX LEGISLATION KNOCKED OUT BY RAMSEY COUNTY JUDGE.

Reuben B. Galusha, Pioneer St. Paul Attorney, Dead—Big Strike of Iron Ore a Short Distance North of Duluth—Flour Output at Minneapolis Breaks All Previous Records—News of the State in General.

St. Paul, Aug. 8.—The state of Minnesota has no valid inheritance tax law on its statute books.

Judge Bunn of the Ramsey county court hold that the law of 1901 is unconstitutional and invalid, and decisions of other courts have already found irreparable flaws in the laws of 1879 and 1902, so that there is no inheritance tax law whatever, under which great estates of rich men who die may be compelled to pay a toll into the treasury.

Judge Bunn's ruling, now made, may, it is true, be appealed to the supreme court for review, but that court can hardly do otherwise than adopt his view and affirm his decision.

WAS AN OLD SETTLER.

Reuben B. Galusha, Well Known St. Paul Attorney, Is Dead.

St. Paul, Aug. 11.—The death of Reuben B. Galusha, which occurred at the hospital at Rochester, adds another name to the list of the old settlers of St. Paul who have joined the great majority. The decedent came to St. Paul in 1858, and had been prominently identified with the legal history of the city since that date. On his arrival here he at once entered into the practice of his profession, and for many years was one of the foremost practioners in the courts. He was connected with the late Henry J. Horn in business, and was one of the attorneys who took part in the litigation following the transfer of the old St. Paul and Pacific railroad to the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba company. For a number of years he was general attorney for this road, but retired from the position in 1885. Since that date until a few years ago he was engaged in private practice of his profession. Three years ago he was obliged to retire owing to ill health.

BIG STRIKE OF IRON ORE.

New Field Discovered Some Distance North of Duluth.

Duluth, Aug. 7.—The discovery of what is said to undoubtedly be a large deposit of ore far south of the southern run of the Mesaba and Vermillion ranges has created a stir in iron ore circles.

The find is one thirty-seven miles north of Duluth, or thirteen miles north of Two Harbors, on the Duluth and Iron Range road, which line is controlled by the United States Steel corporation. The new ore deposit is in Lake county and not far from Highland Station.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

CHARLES AND THE CITY BOY.

Charles spends a part of every summer in the country. On leaving home he buys a big hat and other articles of wear which will be handy on the farm. Two years ago Charles helped the farmer to dispose of garden truck. They left home at two o'clock in the morning and drove to the large city, there getting good prices for such produce as they wished to sell. Charles thought it quite a lark to peddle greens. One day as he was making a sale, Sam, the farmer, bought a bottle of pop for the youngster, thinking it about time for refreshments. There were a couple of boys in the yard and they said: "Hi! there, we'll show you how to open the bottle. (They thought he didn't know how to open a bottle with a patent stopper.) He took it as a big joke and let them think that he was green. Then they asked the GREEN KID to join them in a game of marbles. He did so and won every marble in the whole crowd, then bade them a pleasant good day. The gamins stood staring, one venturing to remark: "Gee, he's some one" Charles had returned to his perch upon the load of garden truck, laughing heartily at his experience.

This goes to show, my dears, that clothes must not cut too much of a figure in our estimation of those we meet, for Charles you see, though dressed in overalls and other common clothes, had wits just as sharp as those of the sharpest city lad.

HOUSEHOLD.

Look out for musty rooms in the humid month of August. Get sunshine and fresh air into every nook and corner of your house. This may be done early in the morning without interfering with the comforts of the home. Look out for baby's food during the month of August. This month of August is particularly bad for babies. Meat should be given to young children sparingly. Those in their "second summer" should NEVER have meat. It is much better to feed baby from a cup and spoon than to use a bottle. Mothers have no idea of the danger their darlings are exposed to when bottles are used. Keep flannel over the bowels even though you leave the little feet bare.

There is much excitement among the settlers on the Iron Range road in the vicinity of the discovery, and it is believed by many Duluth people that a new iron ore district has been stumbled upon. Several of the big iron ore concerns have dispatched experts to Highland to examine the new property and pass upon the prospects for further possible discoveries in that vicinity.

DYING OF RATTLESNAKE BITE.

Girl Working in the Field Attacked by the Reptile.

Winona, Minn., Aug. 9.—Miss Minnie Jacobs, the pretty eighteen-year-old daughter of a prominent farmer residing at Beaver, near this city, is lying at the point of death at her home as the result of having been bitten by a rattlesnake.

Miss Jacobs was working in the field with her father when the reptile plunged it fangs into her foot. She fell over in a dead faint and was carried into the house by her father.

Her body was so badly swollen that it was found necessary to cut her clothing off. Physicians have practically given up all hopes of her recovery, but as a last resort will amputate the leg that was bitten.

MILLS TO BREAK RECORDS.

Flour Output on 1901-1902 Crop the Largest Ever Known.

Minneapolis, Aug. 8.—The output of the Minneapolis flour mills for the 1901-1902 crop year promises to be the largest on record, according to the Northwestern Miller, which says that, estimating for the ensuing four weeks, they will in the year ending Sept. 1 make 15,600,000 barrels of flour.

This will be about 300,000 barrels more than they have produced in any other year.

The chief gain was in the first five months of the year, during which the mills ran as never before.

FORTY YEARS IN MINNESOTA.

Henry E. Selden, Pioneer Contractor, Dies at Lake Minnetonka.

Minneapolis, Aug. 7.—Henry E. Selden, a pioneer resident of this city, died last night at his summer cottage at Breezy Point, Lake Minnetonka, of cancer of the stomach, from which he had been suffering for more than a year. He was sixty-seven years of age and had lived in Minneapolis since 1861. He was a prominent contractor and among his public monuments are the Masonic Temple, the public library and the Syndicate block. He enlisted in Company D, Sixth Minnesota, during the Civil war.

Rear Admiral Taylor and party, composed of Senator Clapp of St. Paul, Lieutenant Commander Winslow and Congressmen Morris of Duluth and Jenkins of West Superior, last week inspected the sites offered for the proposed naval training station at Minnesota Point and Big Island. It is thought that the site on Big Island will be chosen, if the station goes to Duluth at all.

MUST REOPEN THE DEPOT.

Minnesota Railway Commission Wins Suit Against Northern Pacific.

Duluth, Aug. 7.—Judge Cant of the district court has filed a decision in the case of the state of Minnesota upon the relation of the railroad and warehouse commission against the Northern Pacific Railway company.

The case involves two principal questions, namely, whether the railroad shall be required to reopen and maintain the depot at Twentieth avenue west, which was closed in May, 1901, and which was formerly maintained by its predecessor, the St. Paul and Duluth, and whether the road shall be required to run its passenger trains between the Duluth union depot and the city of St. Paul on the old St. Paul and Duluth road wholly within the state of Minnesota.

Judge Cant finds for the plaintiff. It is a victory in the first place for the business and others of the west end of Duluth, who appealed to the railroad and warehouse commission for relief, and with success at that time, and for the railroad and warehouse commission, whose order to reopen the depot was ignored by the Northern Pacific.

ANOTHER RAILROAD MERGER.

St. Paul and Missouri Pacific Systems Working Together.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—A traffic agreement that amounts to practically a merger has been formed by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Missouri Pacific system.

This agreement, or merger, will give St. Paul a direct line to Salt Lake and Mexico, and the Missouri Pacific and entrance into Chicago, something it has long desired.

The alliance of the Gould and Rockafeller interests in this merger is a result of the fight of the Pennsylvania road on Gould, who is backed by the Rockefeller interests.

Railroad men deny the agreement has been formed, but it is believed that all of the details have been arranged, and that the announcement will be made in the near future.

The two systems will control, as a result of the agreement, more than 12,000 miles of railroad, and will be enabled to do many things heretofore regarded as impossible.

ARE DESPERATE CHARACTERS.

Waseca, Minn., Aug. 11.—Much excitement still prevails as a result of the duel between Sheriff Frank Collins and the desperado Saturday and the subsequent man hunt conducted by the sheriff's posse, which resulted in the fellow's capture in a swamp together with his two pals, who were captured by another posse, headed by Chief of Police McGonough. He is lying in the county jail suffering from his wounds and awaiting information.

A telegram from Sioux City, Ia., develops that three men are wanted there for recent jail breaking and officers from that place will come here to view the prisoners. It is not thought that they are the parties wanted there, inasmuch as they bear no marks of recent incarceration. It is plainly evident that the men are much more desperate than the ordinary criminals and the fact that they arrived in this city from the east lends strength to the train robbery theory.

NAVAL TRAINING SCHOOL.

Rear Admiral Taylor Inspects Probable Sites at Duluth.

Duluth, Aug. 7.—Rear Admiral Taylor, Lieutenant Commander Winslow, Senators Clapp of Minnesota and Jenkins of Wisconsin, and Congressman Morris of Duluth, made a tour of inspection of Minnesotan point and Big Island, in St. Louis river, as possible sites for the proposed naval training school. The visitors were much impressed with the advantages that Duluth offered and while they declined to make any statement as to the chances of Duluth being selected the impression prevailed among the committee that had them in hand that Big Island, which is located in an advantageous spot in the river and contains about 400 acres of land, was looked upon with much favor.

MAY BE THE ROBBERS.

Five Men Suspected of Burlington Holdup Under Arrest.

St. Paul, Aug. 8.—George McKinnon is under arrest in the county jail, suspected of being one of the men implicated in the Burlington train robbery, in which $100,000 was taken by six men. In the Ducas street police station are H. D. Coleman, Henry Lee, F. D. Patchen and William Dunn charged with vagrancy, but who were arrested on information indicating that there was some reason to suspect that they were connected in the robbery.

The five men were arrested at the Concord street station on the Great Western freight train, on which they were beating their way into the city.

MINNESOTAN MURDERED.

Echo, Utah, Aug. 11.—A body identified by papers as that of John McDonald of Sandstone, Minn., was discovered alongside the Union Pacific tracks west of here.

An ugly hole, apparently inflicted by some dull instrument, appears on the back of the head, and the body is otherwise bruised and mangled.

Five Residences Destroyed.

St. Paul, Aug. 6.—Fire at an early hour destroyed or partially destroyed five houses on Lincoln avenue, causing a loss of nearly $10,000. The fire started in the residence of J. W. Lenihan, it is supposed from the explosion of a lamp.

Killed the City Marshal.

Joplin, Mo., Aug. 11.—At Webb City, a mining town two miles from here, City Marshal Rich was shot and killed by Joe Gideon, who was then killed by a policeman. The officers were trying to arrest Gideon and his brother Jim

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED.

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Colombia, in a recent letter state: "last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result prescribed it. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

PREJUDICE AND PARTY LOYALTY.

The human mind is given to prejudices. We venture the assertion that personal prejudice is a stronger tie to bind men to parties today than principle. The Demomocracy of the south, for instance, is held together by a bond of sentiment nurtured on the poisonous sustenance of sectional prejudice. The high-tariff senators and representatives in congress from Louisiana, Mississippi, and other southern states, who came so conspicuously before the country during Cleveland's second term by their opposition to the tariff reform schedule, which incidentally effected the great cane sugar interests of their constituents, were Democrats only in name. Their southern environments had made the name Republicanism hateful to them, and year after year they paraded in the livery of Democracy, when in fact the one vital principal which separated their party at that time from the Republican organization, made them nominally Republicans. The same sectional prejudice holds the "solid south" together for Democracy today. The old political war horses dying off. bequeath to their male successors at the ballot box, their bitter inheritance, moderated perhaps, but in an almost imperceptible degree.

The presidenal campaign of 1896 was a good illustration of the attempted arraignment of the prejudices of class against class. Never in the history of the country were party ties held of so light a value. Through the principles enunciated, the class struggle inaugurated, in the brief space of a few weeks there was seen a re-alignment in the political arena. Millions of votes had changed places. Party prejudice in many cases was not strong enough to hold the idnividual, because a stronger potion in the way of class prejudice had been administered. The bitter individualistic feeling of inborn animosity felt by the poverty pinched and sorely tried bread-winner was intensified and made strong by the union of a mighty host under one banner—class against class. Class prejudice, stronger and more bitter than the substitute, party prjuedice, had done the work.

The fire of 1896 had burned out before the campaign of 1900, but party bands, once broken, left the individual free to choose his way for the future, and in a majority of cases, the old ties, in lieu of something stronger, drew them back to former associations. Gold Democrats, silver Democrats, free traders, expansionists and anti-expansionists find themselves caring little to-day whether the Bryan or the Cleveland wing of the party secure control of the reigns. It's the old Democratic party anyway. "I have never voted anything but the Democratic ticket" the faithful proudly announces, despite the fact that the principles of the party have not remained fixed and unmovable. Anything to win, is the watchword of the average politician, regardless of principle or policy. To-day the rank and file of the Democratic party stands ready to blindly follow the band-wagon, whether it be named by leaders of the Bryan or Hill wings of the party, or both. "Harmony" is the watchword and harmony in this case means the substitution of expendiency for principle. Thus the unmovable and unalterable adherance to party, in the name of principle must often be carried out at the sacrifice of convictions.

A STRONG CANDIDATE.

The decision of Thos. Crompe to enter the race for the Republican nomination for register of deeds is probably the most important move on the political chess board of Red Lake county made by any individual this year. Mr. Cromp's friends, we understand, had for some time been urging him to make the run, and finally after due deliberation, he decided to yield to their solicitations. Mr. Gibeau, the Populist candidate, and Mr. Crompe, have long been personal friends, and both gentleman show a disposition to continue their pleasant relations uninterrupted, allowing the voters to decide. That it will be a battle of giants is not gainsayed, for both gentlemen have strong following. Good judges, however, figure that at the outset, Mr. Crompe has the advantage. He may, if nominated confidently expect to poll the full Republican vote, and to take no less than half the French-Canadian vote which is largely Populistic. If he can secure even one third of the French-Canadian vote, he will be elected.

No man in this section of Red lake county stands higher in the estimation of the masses. He has a personal magnetism that attracts and keeps friends. He is a model citizen, a progressive man with ideas of his own, and a man of unquestioned abilities. If elected the voters will have enlisted the services of a thoroughly capable official.

Dr. Watson is as silent as an Egyptian Sphinx on the subject of his candidacy for the state Senate, while it is conceded on all sides that he is by long odds the strongest candidate so far mentioned.

One man near North Yakima, Wash., last year raised, among other things, $2,000 worth of muskmellons. He had a 20-acre farm and sold it last spring for $7,500.

The National Retail Butchers and Meat Dealers' Protective Association is holding its ninth annual convention in Washington and has adopted resolutions recommending that the Government eliminate the duty on live stock or modify it to such an extent as will prevent its being prohibitive of the importation of cattle and live stock during periods of extreme high prices. These delegates disclaim any political intention in the resolutions adopted and state that they are impelled by business reasons to demand legislation which is necessary to their success. They have not agreed as to just how much duty should be removed but ask that all, or so much as is necessary to bring the price of meat "within reasonable limits", be removed. A further request of the Association is directed to state authorities and asks that they estabelish public abattoirs where, on payment of a proper fee, retail butchers may slaughter their own cattle. A vote of thanks to the Attorney General for his proceedings against the beef trust and a resolution recommending that bounties be paid eastern cattle raisers were also passed.

The Gazette knows that in the United States the policies of government are fixed by parties, and the individual has not the opportunity of casting his ballot to minutely represent his ideas. In this event, the only course to presue is in the choice of a party representing in the largest possible degree those policies which in his judgment subserve the greatest good to the greatest number. In our opinion at the present time this party is the Republican party, and until there is a reversal of the general policies governing that party, our opinion will remain unchanged.

Now one, now the other, of the "Big Four" in the Ninth, appear, disappear and reappear while the muffled rumblings of public opinion are yet too fickle to serve as a barometer by which to pick the winner.

E. J. Swedback, of Bemidji, the well known lumberman and sawmill man, has announced himself as a candidate for the republican nomination for state senator for the first senatorial district, comprising Beltrami, Red Lake and Norman counties. Mr. Swedback is one of the most substantial and best known citizens of Beltrami County.

Thomas Germo, Republican candidate for county attorney is meeting with great encouragement from all parts of the county.

Every indication points to the largest Republican majority in Minnesota ever recorded in an "off year." Gov. Van Sant's splended record as a public official has disarmed criticism and knocked the bottom out of a half hearted and lukewarm opposition. Let it go at that.

Red Lake Falls should look into the matter of a water works and sewerage system. The lack of these modern conveniences is today the only barrier to the achievement of Red Lake Falls, ambitions to become a metropolitan little city, up-to-date in every way.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Beltrami county will have a new $5,730 jail.

× ×

The annual meeting and picnic of the Old Settlers Association of Beltrami county, will be held on the shore of Lake Julia near Buena Vista on the 28th day of August, 1902, the anniversary of the landing of Beltrami, the first white man who visited Beltrami county, and from whom the county gets its name. All persons who lived in the county previous to August 28, 1901, are eligible to become members of this association.

× ×

The Crookston boys are going in for blood in the game with Red Lake Falls to be played tomorrow afternoon in that town. The High School team has strengthened up considerably and the boys feel confident that they will get the game.—Crookston Times. The boys will have to strengthen up "some more yet."

× ×

× ×

The little village of Ulen now has a system of water works.

× ×

The Crookston Journal is again spreading itself—this time they are moving into fine new quarters in the McKinnon block.

× ×

At Minneapolis Saturday the county morgue, a brick building which weighs over 300 tons and measures 38 x 40 feet, was moved. It required 400 horse power to move it on rollers. At Ninth avenue S was encountered the incomplete Rock Island Freight house, which intersects the avenue. A trestle was built up from the basement to the street level, and the building rolled across in safety.

× ×

N. C. Hopper, the Chicago amateur rider, lowered the amateur half-mile bicycle record, on the Salt Palace saucer track, covering the distance in 53 2-5 seconds. The previous record was 58 seconds.

× ×

It seems strange that people keep robbing trains when they never get anything worth while, according to the reports of railroad officials.

And now "Coffee John," former police captain of Minneapolis, returned from Indiana with Mayor Ames' resignation, and claims he saved the city $30,000 by inducing the Mayor to change the date of his resignation.

The Red Lake Falls postoffice has received a stock of the new McKinley postal cards. The new card is the same size as the old one but has several distinctive and unusual features. The lettering the wording of which is changed, is almost in the middle of the card, instead of at the top, in order to leave space for cancellations. The stamp is a bust of McKinley, underneath which are dates of his birth and death, in place of the head only of an American statesman. The card itself is smoother and of better material than any previous issue.

TROUSERS AND PATENT LEATHERS.

One August eve not long ago
  Eight young people
Their wheeling to show
  To the country journeyed far.

The sky grew dark,
  Their joy was spent
They on a hill at last did stop
  "Shall we go back?" Well I guess not.

So on they went until they came
  Unto a ladie's house.
It rained and rained, and still it rained

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. All druggists have $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage made, executed, and delivered by Levi Brouyette, and Mary Brouyette, his wife mortgagors, to May Buse mortgagee, which mortgage bears date the 4th day of June, 1900, was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota on the 31st day of July, 1900, at 3:10 o'clock p. m., in Book 20 of mortgages on page 226 and is now recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, in Book 20 of mortgages, on page 226.

Which said mortgage, together with the debts secured thereby, including taxes paid by the mortgagee, was duly assigned by May Buse, to N. O. Sortedahl by written assignment dated July 31st, 1900, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, on December 9th, 1901, at 4:15 o'clock p. m., in Book "T" of Mortgages, on page 91, and which said mortgage, together with the debts secured thereby, including taxes paid by the mortgagee and the assignee under the mortgagee, was again assigned by the said N. O. Sortedahl, to Ernest Buse, by a written assignment dated March 3rd, 1902, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Red Lake county, State of Minnesota on April 10th, 1902, 3:30 o'clock p. m., in Book "S" of Mortgages, on page 292 to-wit:

Lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) and five (5) in blk three (3) of Railroad addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the official plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds within and for the said county of Red Lake and was given to secure the payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-five dollars with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, payable annually, on the 4th day of June in each year, according to the conditions of one principal note and interest coupon notes thereto attached, by failure to pay the annual interest falling due on the 4th day of June 1901 and by failure to pay the taxes levied upon said realestate for the years 1897, 1898, 1899 and 1900, 1901 and whereas the said assignee of the mortgagee, by virtue of the power contained in said mortgage, paid to the County Treasurer of Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, the following taxes, duly levied and assessed by the said county against the land described in the said mortgage, and were due and delinquent at the dates when said payments were made, to-wit: On July 31st, 1900, paid $9.49 taxes for the years of 1897, 1898 and 1899; on April 10th, 1902, paid $3.86 taxes for the year 1900, on July 29, 1902, paid $1.68 taxes for the year 1901, in all the sum of $15.03 and with interest amounting to $20.09.

And whereas, said mortgage, provided as one of its conditions that in case of failure to pay any part of said interest when the same becomes due or to pay any taxes levied upon said realestate before the same becomes delinquent, the whole sum of money or indebtedness thereby secured shall thereupon become due and payable; and whereas said mortgage also provides that if such taxes are not so paid the holder of said mortgage may elect to pay the same and be entitled to interest on the same at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum and said mortgage stand as security for the amount so paid, with interest.

And Whereas, there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice on said principal indebtedness and interest thereon and to the date hereof and for said amount paid for taxes and interest thereon the sum of two hundred and forty nine 63-100 dollars.

Frank E Hunt,

GENERAL HARDWARE

THE BEAVER

Consolidted Mining Co.

No business has paid in recent years like cupper mining. It is not a gamble, nur a wild speculation, but a legitimate, safe business, based upon business principles, and when rightly handled, pays enormous profits. The richest copper district in the known world today is in Beaver County, Utah. A copper mine that yields 100lb of copper to a ton of rock is very rich. Many excellent mines yield far less than a hundred pounds, yet have paid millions ol dollars in dividends. The O. K. mine, located in Beaver County, has shipped a number of train loads of ore in the past year, all of which has yielded 800lb and more per ton.

Stop and realize what that means!

The veines uf the O.K. mines pass directly into the property of the Beaver Consolidated Mining Co., which company I am representing. We are selling stock for the purpose of paying for the property and doing development work. We expect to be dividend payers and shippers within a year. Until August 20th I am authorized to sell this stock at 20 cents per share. The stock of the O K. mine joining us, is selling at $10 per share. There is no reason why, when we are shippers, ours should not sell for just as much. The veins are true fisshres; this means that they are permanent. The ore budies are very large and as you see exceedingly rich. We are near a railroad and water and have every advantage a company could ask for. We have an excellent management. I personally know the manager and have been all over this ground within the past few months and know that my representations are true. In sixteen years of mining I have never had so good a proposition laid before me. I can show you that the ore in the United Verde mines, in Arizona, yields not to exceed 160lb of copper per ton; the stock once sold for 50 cents per share. Today it brings $1500 per share. What would it be worth if they got 800lb per tun. I will be in town a few days and will be pleased to show you samples of this ore and go over the entire proposition with you. I can satisfy you beyond eny doubt whatever that it is a grand opportunity to make a safe investment and large profits.

The output of the Minneapolis flour mills for the 1901-1902 crop year promises to be the largest on record, according to the Northwestern Miller, which says that, estimating for the ensuing four weeks, they will in the year ending Sept. 1 make 15,600,000 barrels of flour.

Hereafter Blue Earth City will be officially known only as "Blue Earth." The new city charter lopped off the word "city" when adopted two years ago. The express and railroad companies soon followed suit and now the postoffice has been changed to plain "Blue Earth."

The discovery of what is said to undoubtedly be a large deposit of ore far south of the southern run of the Mesaba and Vermillion ranges has created a stir in iron ore circles. The find is only thirty-seven miles north of Duluth, or thirteen miles north of Two Harbors, on the Duluth and Iron Range road.

Applications for homestead entry have been made at the United States land office at St. Cloud for many tracts of land in the Northern Pacific indemnity belt in Morrison, Todd and Crow Wing counties. It is estimated that fully 150,000 acres in this belt have been sold by the railroad company to settlers.

Traffic officials of the Chicago-St. Paul lines have received verbal notice that the Great Northern and Northern Pacific would reduce grain rates from all Northwest territory to St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, to take effect Sept. 1. It is announced that the maximum reduction will be 2 cents per 100 pounds.

Lazarus Silverman, the Chicago banker, who is an extensive owner of stone quarries around Duluth, signified his willingness to donate enough granite for the construction of the new courthouse to be erected in the Zenith City at a cost of $300,000. RAIN, FIRE, HAIL.

SOUTHERN PORTIOM OF RED LAKE COUNTY VISITED BY HAIL STORM.

M. SHAGNAN'S BARN STRUCK BY LIGHTNING AND BURNED TO THE GROUND.

A furious storm swept through the southern part of Red Lake county Sunday evening. Sunday afternoon was very hot and the atmosphere was sultry and oppressive. The storm commenced to gather at about five o'clock, and between six and seven the black clouds let go of their heavy burden and rain fell in sheets for about 40 minutes.

Just as the rain was slackening up a fire alarm was turned in from western Central addition where M. Shagnan's barn was struck by lightning and set on fire. Luckily Mr. Shagnan noticed the fire before it made much headway and he sceeded in getting out his horse, cow, harness, etc. before the barn burned down. The firemen responded promptly to the call and made a desperate attempt to reach the fire, but on account of the long distance, the hose was too short, and no water was turned on. The hook and ladder company, however, reported at the fire after almost a mile run through the mud with their heavy truck.

After the fire the storm cleared away, but later in the evening another storm gathered and swept through the southern part of Red Lake county. This was accompanied by hail and the lightning was terrific. The fall of rain that followed was heavy and long continued, and the storm is regarded as the worst in many years. The hail fall was heavy and the stones of a very large size.

The townships in this vicinity visited by the hail are Gentilly, Louisville, Lake Pleasant, Red Lake Falls, Gervais, Terrebonne, and Poplar River. Some of the townships did not get the full force of the storm, but in many places the loss is total. Lake Pleasant, Red Lake Falls and Terrebonne townships suffered the heaviest, Wm. C. L. Demnnn and John Schaneour of Lake Plearant report an entire loss. The loss seems greater coming as it does just at the dawn of harvest.

We noticed that a few of our more interested citizens lent a helping hand to the praiseworthy members of the hook and ladder company as they made their long run to the fire, while many others walked leisurely up the sidewalk looking for excitement. The department is all a volunteer department and we cannot see why people do not give the boys a lift when they have a chance. Of course in this case it turned out to be a small fire, by chance probably, and everything went well. But remember your home may burn some day and you will notice who is putting in a helping hand.

Takes Western Claim.

The following from the Crookston Journal will be of interest to our citizens, eight Red Lake Falls people at present being in the seme locality looking for pine claims:

J. M. Stevens reached the city this morning returning from California, whither he went four weeks ago to look for pine lands. He remained long enough to satisfy himself that he was right as to location, and then took a quarter section and purchased two others. He estimates that there are fifteen million feet of pine on the three claims, and after spotting a few others he came home. His choice of location was governed somewhat by the fact that T. B. Walker was in the same location and had purchased nearly three hundred thousand acres of land covered with timber. Mr. Stephens will go back this fall and possibly remain all winter.

Advertised Letters.

Georgina Bouvette, Rosana Oclaire, Mrs. L. Preno, John B. Lindquist, James Noonan, Olof Ramstad.

If not called for in two weeks these letters will be sent to dead letter office as prescribed by law. In calling for the above please say "advertised."

Obituary.

Fred H. Altnow, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Altnow, died at the home of his parents in this city Tuesday, August 12, at 3 o'clock a. m., of consumption. Deceased was born at Arlington, Minnesota, March 14, 1877, where he resided until coming to this city last spring.

When 19 years of age he was kicked by a horse in the region of the right long and at once inflametion set in which soon showed signs of consumption. His father had tried all different climates in the hope of benefiting his health, sending him to the Pacific coast, to the southern states and on the ocean, but of no avail, relieving him for a while but not improving his health.

Three years ago he went into real estate business at Arlington but last winter was compelled to sell out on account of poor health, and had been unable to work since. He was the only son of the family, therefore making the loss so much harder to bear. The deceased leaves his parents and two sisters, Mrs. H. W. Ollig, of Arlington, and Florence, of this city, to moarn his loss.

For two weeks previous to his death he was continuously watched, fearing death any moment, being seated in a chair when he died. Before his death he expressed a wish that his body be placed in a brick vault after death, and accordingly he was buried in the Oakwood cemetery.

Funeral services were conducted at the Opera House by Rev. Val Kern, of Wylie, Thursday afternoon, and probably the largest funeral train ever witnessed in this city followed the remains to the cemetery east of the city.

The following from the Arlington Enterprise will show the high esteem in which he was held by the citizens of the city in which he was born and raised to manhood:

Fred was familiarly known to practically every resident of these parts, from his business as a realestate agent; and was respected and admired by all for his many sterling qualities and matchless grit in trying to throw off the disease that had fastened itself upon him. All last winter he was sick unto death at the home of his sister, Mrs. H. W. Ollig, but rallied when warmer weather came in the spring. He went to Red Lake Falls from whence came favorable reports of his condition from time to time, but a few weeks ago the sickness took a turn for the worse and his weakened body was unable to stand the strain.

Fred Altnow will be sincerely mourned by all who knew him as a companionable and excellent young man.

CARD OF THANKS.

THOMAS A. CROMPE.
Republican Candidate for Register of Deeds.

Thomas A. Crompe, Republican candidate for Register of Deeds, was born on a farm in St. Isidore, near Montreal, Canada, September 25th, 1859, where he continued to reside untill he was fourteen years of age, attending French and English schools during the time he was not employed on the farm. In March, 1874, he removed with his parents to Fall River, Massachusetts, and for two years attended the public schools there, after which he was employed by the Prepples Brothers, shoe dealers, five years. In 1881 the Crompe family returned to Montreal, and the subject of this sketch took a thorough course in the Montreal Business College, subsequently went to work in a grocery store in that city, continuing there until 1884, when he removed with his parents to Minnesota, locating on a fram in Terrebonne, this county, where his parents still reside. The same year that he migrated to Minnesota he was married to Miss Eva Frigon, an estimable young lady of Montreal.

In Terrebonne he served six years as Town Cleak to the general satisfaction of all residents therein. In 1891 he secured employment with the Monarch Elevator Company as grain buyer and local agent, and removed with his family to Red Lake Falls, remaining in there employ two years, at the end of which time he entered into employment in a like capacity with the Red Lake Falls Milling Company, is still so employed, having been in continuous service with the latter Company ten years.

Mr. Crompe is immensely popular with the people of Red Lake Falls, as is evidence by the fact, that while never seeking office, his friends have often prevailed upon him to accept of some public recognition. Brought about in that way, he served two years as assessor, two years ago he was elected to the position of Director on the School Board of this City, was elected a member of the city council at the last city election and this year was elected School Treasurer. His popularity is not confined to the City of Red Lake Falls, but extends to the citizens throughtout the country generally, having an extensive acquaintance with the farmers, by reasons of his long service as a grain buyer, and everywhere and by everyone who knows him he is recognized for his honesty and accommodating manners.

Of excellent habits, attached to his family, consisting of his wife and seven children, he is charitable disposed and is never to busy to extend assistance to a neighbor in trouble or in need. Of a long record as a trusted servant, a large experience with the keeping of books and the conduct of business, his perfect honesty never called into question, he is eminently fitted by nature and training to fill the office to which his friends are determended to elect him—that of Register of Deeds of Red Lake County, to the credit of himself and the satisfaction of all our citizens.

Another Land Firm Dissolve.

Yesterday afternoon at about 5 o'clock papers were signed whereby Allen W. Wood and P. B. Gaass dissolved partnership in the Union Land & Investment Co., P. B. Gaass having purchased Mr. Wood's interest. Mr. Gaass will continue the business under the same name as before. Mr. Wood, the retiring member, has not as yet decided what he will do but thinks he will embark in business out west, intending to leave for Seattle about the 10th of September. He will, however, visit with his father, E. G. Wood, at Whiting, Kansas, before his departure.

During their short stay of two years and a half in the city, Mr. and Mrs. Wood have made many friends who will be loath to have them leave, being both very popular with the young folks as well as the older ones. Mr. Wood has shown his ability as a business man to be of the very best, and says for personal reasons he has sold to his partner. A few of Mr. Wood's friends have suggested that he be a candidate for county treasurer, and he elected so that the family will have to remain.

Mr. Gaass, who continues the business has long demonstrated his tactics for a realestate dealer and they give assurances of his future success.

The Gazette wishes both gentlemen a long and successful career wherever they may go.

Allard-Brady.

Yesterday morning St. Mary's church was crowded to the doors with invited guests who had come to witness the ceremony that was to make two of our popular young people man and wife, Miss Margaret E. Brady and Mr. Joseph M. Allard.

Promptly at 9 o'clock the bridal party entered the church in the following order: Mr. Allard, ushered in by Messrs. Leo Spillane and Orson Doe; Miss Ellen Brady, bridesmaid and Peter F. Pouliot best man followed by Miss Melvine Allard, maid of honor, and James G. Brady, groomsman; then came the beautiful and stately bride, clad in a gown of white silk organdie and wearing a veil, leaning on the arm of her father who led her beside the groom who was standing expectantly before the altar, and after a few gentle and kind remarks by the Rev. Fr. Anscar the happy couple were united in marriage at low mass.

After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's father, where a most delicious breakfast was served. In the afternoon the bride and groom, and the bridesmaid, maid of honor, best man and groomsman drove to Maple Lake, where they remained two days. The happy couple continued their wedding tour to Grand Forks and other places, while the rest of the party returned today.

Neither one of the newly married couple need an introduction to the citizens of Red Lake Falls, having both grown to manhood and womanhood in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Allard will go to housekeeping in the pretty residence erected by the groom last summer on 6th street. They are among the most popular of our young people and their host of friends have been lavish in extending well wishes and loads of costly and beautiful presents to attest the high regard in which they are held.

A Minneapolis Young Man Achieves a Fortune

Luck Occarionally Comes ta a Few.

The desires for one to become rich are numerous, but, to the contrary, the opportunities are few and far between. A certain individual in Minneapolis, who at at one time pocketed $4,500 and started for the stock exchange with the express intentiou of buying 100 shares of the Northern Pacific railroad stock, met a friend, who advised him not to do it and as an excuse claimed that these railroad stock and bond business were gambles, and that they were too uncurtain to be relied upon. Had this individual not let him self be pursuaded at that time the amount ha would have nurchased would have brought him in clear cash $170,000. This is only an instance of what perhaps occurs to thousand of people and how often do they have such presentiments.

The instance in question, which I have intended to relate, is as follows: A young man is one of the officers in a Minneapolis buisness house, having saved a littla spara money, and being of that venturesome turn of mind, possessed the thought of investing his savings in a way that occurred to him as being profitable; therefore taking the advise of no one, proceeded to carry out his plans and within the period of a few months this young man with a capital of saveral hundred dollars netted himself a profit of nearly $16,000. Now, had he been led to believe as some others believe or had he been persuaded as others have persuaded, that young men would still have been plodding away, drawing his salary, with very little prospects of ever deriving any great amount of this wurld,s gouds. Other instances are those peopla who are sick and in seek of help from different doctors, institutions and the like. They are often persuaded from such attentions, and are advised to try this or some other simple remedy or means of relief, which they do without avail without halp or assistance. No one knows the condition or feelings of one better than the indivial person himself: therefore is it not more advisable and profitable to take the dictations of your own feelings, and du as your mind tells you to? An instance that occurs to me is that of H. P. Deluny, a sufferer of u chronic disease caused by an over-indulgence. Mr. Delany had tried many plans of treatment and different doctors and had had but very little relief. He had, however, never consulted a specialist for his troubles, but on learning of some of the wonderful cures being performed by Dr. Rea, a specialist of much prominence, representing a department of the Southern Medical and Surgical Institute, of Louisville, Ky., having his office at 329 Boston Block, Minneapolis, Minn., decided to make a last effort to get well, and, acting on the advice of no one but himself, consulted Dr Rea, and, while the doctor pronounca it a very difficult case to cure, said that with care and personal attention, that in four or five months he would have him up and as healthy as any one. A quick and speedy relief, soon followed Dr. Rea's treatment, and a cure was soon effected Mr. Delany says in part that he never had treatment to act so quickly, nor did he ever take anything that acted as it did. In fact, it went right to the spot and he could almost feel the disease passing out of the body. He is now a healthy and well man, and is loud in his praises of Dr. Rea's treatment. Dr. Rea as a specialist has had years of special study in the treatment and practice of his profession. He has gone among a class of peopla who are the worst and hardest to cure. Time and again are people brought before him that other physicians, even physicians of undisputed ability have failed to cure, and as a last resort they seek the service of Dr. Rea. Dr. Rea loves his profession, and, being especially adapted to that class of work, can, of course, do more for his people than one who has but very litt e confidence in anything. Dr. Rea does not limit his system of treatment. He uses allopathic, homeopathic, eclectic, physico-medicalism, or any other system of medicine that he knows to be good. He has been connected with some of the largest hospitals in the country, and has no superior in tha treating and diagnosing of diseases.

Ha can do more for his patients and at a more reasonable price than the average specialist. It is claimed by his friands that he can tell the disease of patients without a question and that he is the only living doctor who can do so. For tha benefit of some who are sick and afflicted I herewith take tha liberty, by their permission, to publish their names. Persons who were in need of treatment and those who have tried other physicians and have had no good from their treatment: Mrs. Arthur Roberson, Mallory, Minn., cured of a large fungus cancerous growth of the womb. Cured by the absorption plan and without an operation. Daughter of Arthur Robinsin, same place, cured of chronic nasal catarrah.

Mr. Eward Strange, Duluth, minn., writes personally that "I am better under Dr. Rea's treatment than I have been for years even after many other doctors have doctured me. None of them seemed to know what was the matter with me."

Frank H. Pryor, 400 W. Mulberry St., Baltimore, Md., writes that Dr. Rea has been associated with doctors and hospitals for years and that ha knows what ha is talking about.

Alex R. Sprague, Charles City, Ia., writes that Dr. Rea's Cascola, Cascarine treatment is the best treatment for tha cura of stomach diseases that he ever got hold of. He is now close to 60 years and says that it has cured him of stomach troubles that he has had for almost all his life.

Mrs. W. T. Stroud, Mabel, Minn., writes that Dr. Rea's Cascola, Cascarine treatment is the best medicine that she ever used and highly recommends it for liver, kidney and stomach troubles.

John Ronning, Garfield, Minn., cured by Dr. Rea of a deep ulcerated sore that hospital and other traatment failed to make an impression on.

Mrs. Anna Lillerdahl, Fargu, N. D., cured of chronic and liver troubles.

Severt Hanson, Cokato, minn., cured of a cancer of the nose by Dr. Rea's famous injection plan of traatment that has never been known to fail. This cancer had been treated by number of other doctores and was growing worse all tha time.

J. F. Brown, Litchfield, Minn., cured of chronic kidney trouble and Bright's disease. Cured in a few months' treatment and with very small expence.

Mrs. Gust Hammerbeck, Wheaton, Minn., cured of a tumor on the thigh. Cured with threa treatment, Dr. Rea's injection plan.

Mike Keggen, Grafton, N. D., cured of chronic catarrah and bronchial troubles.

J. E. Whelan, Wadena, Minn., writes that Dr. Rea's Cascola, Cascarine treatment is the best medicine he ever used for dyspepia, that he feeles better than he has felt for years since taking it.

Mrs S. A. Winson, Grand Rapid, Minn., writes that there is nothing like Dr. Rea's trentment. For years sha has been suffering of stomach troubles and thinks this medicine is the best she ever tried.

Miss Bertie Voris, Litchfield, Minn., cured of asthma.

Alex Johnson, Forest City, Minn., cured of rheumatism when all other medicines failed. He says he is glad to recommend Dr. Rea to any one with rheumatism or other chronic disease.

Alonzo Springer Windmore, N. D., cured of cancer of tha face in one treatment. There is no pain nor any detention from business whatever.

Such is the grand work of Dr. Rea and his associates. May his work still continue and may his cures be as numerous in future as they have been in the past.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED.

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Colombia, in a recent letter states: "last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysantery. Everything I prescribed for her, proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result prescribed it. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was autirely well." For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

FARMERS, USE YOUR OPPORTUNITY.

The first test of the primary election law will be made in Minnesota on Tuesday September 16, 1902. On that day will be decided a matter much more important than the success or failure of the ambition of any individual can be—the voters of Minnesota themselves will be put to the test, on the proposition as to whether or not they desire to have conferred to their charge the management of the political parties. Government in the United States is one of the parties, and the capturing of the great parties by the masses from the domination that has heretofore been wielded more or less by the politicians, will mean a great stride ahead in the march toward political purity. The selection of candidates on county, legislative and congressional offices, is left to the decision of the voters at the primaries, which has been substituted by the laws of 1901 for the old convention system of making nominations. The primary election law does away with all caucuses and conventions in the nomination of candidates for county, legislative and congressional candidates in this state, and was enacted by the last legislature in response to a general demand by the masses for relief from the machinations of a professional politicians and grafters. Now the success or failure of the new law is left entirely in the hands of the voters. If that interest which should be displayed by every patriotic citizen is taken in the success of the primary election law, the permanency of the reform, and its improvement on the line toward perfection will be assured. On the other hand, if the majority of the voters of the state—which means the farmers—stay at home, and leave the selection of candidates to the voters in the villages and cities, dissatisfaction will be the result; the nominations will not meet with the approval of the masses; the cry that the politicians rule as of yore will be raised and the golden opportunity will be lost. It behooves the farmers to look the situation squarely in the face. Realizing that the situation is in their hands they must also acknowledge the responsibility, and if the primary election law, which will first be put to the test on Sept. 16 of this year, proves a failure, none will be to blame but the farmers, who constitute the vast majority in this state to-day.

It must be the hearty desire of all good citizens to see the primary election law, that great step in the direction of purity in politics, a success, and we earnestly commend the subject to the serious consideration of our farmer readers, who hold the power to perpetuate or annihilate that reform.

Prepare to attend the primaries on Sept. 16. The contest for nomination is open to all, and whoever desires to run for any county, legislative or congressional office, need not consult the political bosses, but has the privilege of filing his intention to run, whether the machine says yea or nay. Then, on Sept. 16, the voters should turn out en masse, select good men for standard bearers, and the great election refurm will be indorsed in such a manner as to evince its perpetuity.

Farmers, stand up as one man for this great reform, by casting your ballots on Sept. 16.

Ed. L. Healy denies the report that he is a candidate for state senator.

Thos. Germo is meeting with much encouragement in his campaign for county attorney. The farmers like Tom. He is a farmer's son. He has followed the plow, husked corn, split rails and generally followed the career of a husky farmer boy. After dark when the family had retired, Tom was seen under the evening lamp, studying. He studied and work all the time, and finally secured by his own unaided efforts, a fine educatiun. He is, however, still plain Tom Germo, and the humblest farmer who meets him is given the hand-clasp of fellow-ship. Everybody acknowledges his ability and his unimpeachahle honesty. The voters of Red Lake county will honor themselves if they elect Tom Germo county attorney on the 4th day of November next.

E. J. Swedback, of Bemidji, who has filed against W. F. Street, of the same town, for the republican senatorial nomination in Beltrami, Red Lake and Norman counties, was at the Windsor today. Mr. Swedback says the sentiment of the republicans all through the district is favorable to Gov. Van Sant and against the railroad merger, and for that reason, if for no other, he believes that he will win at the primaries. At the polls in November a large number of voters who have heretofore supported the democratic or populist tickets will vote for Gov. Van Sant. L. H. Hailey, who was chairman of the Beltrami county delegation in the state convention, was with Mr. Swedback and agreed with him as to the political sentiment in that section.—St. Paul Dispatch.

The end of Tracy, the out-law, will serve as a good tonic to be imbibed by the susceptible who were effected by the man's daring definance of law and order. Honesty is the best policy. That old copy-book motto is a truism whose worth should grow on us with age and experience.

Iver A. Krohn, of Shevlin, has filed for representative on the populist ticket in the 61st district, composed of Becker, Red Lake and Norman cuunties.

A first voter does not have to be of age to vote at the primary election, providing he will be of age upon Nov. 4, the day the general election will be held. Neithet does a voter have to reside in a precinct thirty days before the primary election, providing he intends to reside in that election district until the time of holding the general election. This will be of interest to the young voters, many of whom will not be of age when the primary election is held, but will be in time to vote at the general election. They can thus participate in putting up candidates.—Wadena Pioneer.

Hon. C. G. Rapp has decided not to enter the political arena this fall, and notwithstanding the earnest solicitation of his friends, he positively says that he will not be a candidate this fall for any office.

As a member of the last legislature Mr. Rapp made a most enviable record and his actions were endorsed both by the press and his constituents regardless of party. It is to be regretted that he will not run for the same office this fall as the district which he represented will not be able to find a better man to take his place.—St. Hilaire Spectator.

The primary election law is a measure for which the voters of Minnesota may thank the Republican party. 'Tis said that for this very reason many political leaders in opposition parties are not very enthusiastic for its success. The voters should beware of such false prospects, and stand up for their own interests.

Adam Zeh, county auditor, has filed his certificate for nomination on the People's Party ticket to succeed himself. Mr. Zeh has had a fair trial as a county official and has given the best satisfaction, is always obliging and accommodating and makes as good an official as can be found in the county.

Louis Falardeau, of Lambert, has filed for the Republican nomination for county commissioner from the 5th District. This makes the third candidate from that district.

The voters of Red Lake county will make no mistake in selecting a man of Mr. Germo's make up and well known ability.—Blue Earth County Enterprise.

A Cure for Cholera Infantum.

"Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker, of Bookwater, Ohio, "an infant child of our neighbors was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days time the child had fully recovered, and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recommended this Remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElree's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. All druggists have $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

MOTHER'S CORNER

BY MOTHER KATHERINE

A Staff contributor, who will write of every day affairs -the little units that go to make up the sum total of existence. Mother Katherine writes exclusively for THE GAZETTE. PRIEST OR PLUMBER.

The family O'Connor had a row. In fact, they had many rows, and when they could not settle the difficulty between themselves, they called in their priest. He made the way clear, for every belligerant listened to his counsel. One day there was a fierce war in the O'Connor home and they asked Mr. Daly to go for the priest. "Priest is it? Shure yus better be sendin' for the plumber, then be botherin' Father. By the way yez act, I think there is sewer gas escapin' piz'nen your mind and blood."

The story goes that the plumber was sent for, the leak adjusted, and peace restored. Be that as it may, many of us, I think, would do well to hunt up the plumber and clear the cloged portions of our minds. The best you do to the contrary, your life is a reflection of your thoughts. Let a man harbor pure, charitable and good thoughts, banishing from his mind anything to the contrary, you may depend upon it, that man will be a fitting companion for the purest of maidens. You say that your thoughts are your own, yes so they are. Loving yourself above all mankind why not live in good company; for your thoughts can be the BEST COMPANY in the world if you only so choose. Those who think for one moment that they can make the world see them as saints and leading lights, while their minds are swarming with loathsome thoughts, are mistaken. Man's action are but the outcome of his thoughts. It pays to cultivate cheerful thoughts. THERE IS NO NEED OF BEING LONESOME, your thoughts can be as the merriest company, a veritable treasure throne if you only will it. You can read of travels, good plays and good books all the while you are cosily swinging in your hammock in the greatest ease. Resentful thought begets revenge. Banish resentment as you would a thief in the night, for while you think you are safe in selecting your own thoughts if they are not good ones you are preparing an existence for yourself, such as you would not wish for your worst enemy.

You never can tell what your thoughts will do
In bringing you hate or love,
For thoughts are things, and their airy wings
Are swift as a carrier dove.
They follow the law of the universe
Each thing must create its kind—
And they speed o'er the track to bring you back
Whatever went out from your mind.

The above little poem by Ella Wheeler Wilcox says much that will help us if we only THINK WELL while reading it.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

ME TOO AND MR. JOHNS.

When the Girlie who was known as "Me Too" was a wee little tot she made friends with an old gentleman and his wife. They could be visited by simply crawling through a board fence. This meant much to timid little Me Too, for she was afraid to go into the street alone because "Like's chickens looked at me." She followed Mr. Johns about in his garden all day. He thought she was a most wonderful child because she did not touch anything. She had a doll nearly as big as herself and she wanted very much to show it to Mr. Johns for they were boon companions but she was too bashful to take the doll into the next yard, so one day when Mr Johns was in his garden, she ran into the house as fast as her little legs could carry her, soon returning with her treasure. She stood at the fence a moment but her heart failed her, and she stuck the big doll between the boards of the fence and left it there. Mr. Johns saw it of course and made much of it so Me Too came out from behind a lilac bush and smiled gladly to think that Mr. Johns appreciated her big doll. Mr. Johns loved her dearly because she always obeyed her mamma promptly. Also because no matter what article was given her to play with she always replaced it before leaving for home.

KILLED IN A CUT

SECTION MEN ON THE MINNEAPOLIS AND ST. LOUIS RUN DOWN BY TRAIN.

Reduction in Grain Rates Agreed on by Northwestern Roads—Two Brothers Drowned at Cass Lake While Fishing—St. Paul Woman Fatally Burned by Alcohol Explosion—General State News.

Albert Lea, Minn., Aug. 18.—Lewis Anderson of this city and Thomas Farrel of Claremont were killed and Thomas Thorson sustained severe injuries, as the result of a collision between the Minneapolis and St. Louis freight train and a hand car near here.

The men were working on the section and had just started out from this city. After going about two miles north of Albert Lea they were overtaken by the freight train in a cut and run down.

ALCOHOL CAN EXPLODES.

St. Paul Woman Dies in Terrible Agony From Burns.

St. Paul, Aug. 14.—Mrs. Vincent Markel, 522 Edmund street, was burned by an alcohol explosion early in the morning and died four hours later, after suffering the most excruciating agony. How the explosion occurred will probably never be known, as the unfortunate woman was unable to speak, when neighbors rushed to her assistance.

It is supposed that Mrs. Markel rose, as was her custom, about 6 o'clock to heat some milk for her one-month-old baby. To do this she was obliged to light an alcohol lamp, and it is assumed that she attempted to fill the lamp from a gallon can of wood alcohol which was in the room. The alcohol lamp was a crude affair, evidently made at home, and it is likely that when Mrs. Markel attempted to replenish it, the gallon can exploded in her hands, throwing the blazing liquid all over her.

AGREED ON REDUCTION.

Grain Rates Will Be Lowered by Northwestern Lines.

St. Paul, Aug. 16.—It is reported that the prolonged conference of traffic managers of the North Coast and Northwestern roads have agreed upon a general reduction in grain rates. Within a week it is expected the lines interested will announce the exact reductions.

Some of the reductions in rates will amount to 1½ and 2 cents per hundred pounds. As the rate to Minnesota terminals is 14 cents, that means a reduction ranging from 14 to 18 per cent. It would make the through rate to Chicago 19½ cents instead of 21½ cents.

By a reduction of half a cent a bushel on a crop of 150,000,000 bushels of wheat in the three states, a total of $750,000 would be saved, while the total on all grains is expected to be $1,250,000.

TWO BOYS DROWNED.

Young Sons of Nic Henry of Cass Lake, Minn.

Cass Lake, Minn., Aug. 16.—The most distressing accident in the history of Cass Lake occurred Wednesday afternoon, when George and Henry Henry, young sons of Nic Henry, were drowned in Pike bay. The double drowning was not discovered until 6 o'clock in the evening.

James Allen was crossing on some boom sticks when he discovered a straw hat laying on top of the water. A short distance from the hat he discovered the body of a boy, on his hands and knees, at the bottom. Allen telephoned for a doctor, secured help and went to the place where he made the discovery. While reaching for the body, another child was discovered, lying but a few feet distant, in exactly the same position.

Mr. Henry was fishing with the boys in the forenoon. In the afternoon the little fellows went out by themselves to catch some minnows for bait. They were not again seen by their parents till their dead bodies were brought home.

SUPPRESSION OF CRIME.

Duluth Minister Starts a Movement for Sunday Observance.

Duluth, Aug. 14.—Rev. Harry W. Knowles, pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal church in this city and chaplain of the state legislature, has inaugurated a movement having for its purpose the suppression of crime and enforcement of Sunday laws throughout the states of Minnesota and Wisconsin. He has asked the support of Catholic as well as Protestant clergymen in the work and declares that already there is the greatest enthusiasm over the venture.

Boy Arrested for Horse Stealing.

Luverne, Minn., Aug. 15.—Carl Swenson, eleven years old, was arrested by Sheriff Black during the evening on a charge of horse stealing. The boy stole a horse a week ago from Arm Carter, who recently adopted him, and showed great skill in eluding officers who were constantly on his track. After stealing the horse he traded it for a bicycle.

Crushed Under the Wheels.

Monticello, Minn., Aug. 18.—Harry Strout, the fifteen-year-old son of Charles Strout of the firm of S. J. Mealey & Co., was instantly killed while jumping from a flat car of a Great Northern train. He fell beneath the wheels and his body was horribly crushed.

Morris Not a Candidate.

Duluth, Aug. 16.—Page Morris will not be a candidate for the Republican congressional nomination. He was greatly surprised and annoyed to learn that during his absence from the city a general report had been spread to the effect that he would again seek congressional honors.

General Alger may succeed the late James McMillan as United States senator from Michigan.

Secretary Walsh of the Democratic national committee has written a letter to Iowa Democrats affirming his loyalty to the Kansas City platform.

PREDICTS BIG EARNINGS.

J. J. Hill Says $150,000,000 for Three Merger Roads.

St. Paul, Aug. 14.—James J. Hill, president of the Northern Securities company, is reported to have made the prediction to a close friend before leaving on his western trip ten days ago, that for the ensuing fiscal year the Burlington, Great Northern and the Northern Pacific would show gross earnings aggregating $150,000,000.

He is understood to base his estimate on general conditions of business, the natural development of the West and the prospects of an immense crop.

It is expected, too, that the three companies will have more thoroughly developed the system of interchange of traffic. This, it is generally believed, is what saved the Burlington from showing a deficit in earnings last year.

Granting the gross of the three systems to totalize $150,000,000, as Mr. Hill is reported to have said, the Burlington will earn $60,000,000 of that amount, the Northern Pacific $50,000,000 and the Great Northern upwards of $45,000,000.

LITERALLY GROUND TO PIECES.

Langdon (Minn.) Man Killed by a Train Near Newport.

St. Paul, Aug. 18.—George Gibbon, residing at Langdon, Minn., was run over and instantly killed by a Milwaukee freight train one and one-half miles northeast of Newport. The mangled remains were picked up scattered along the track for over a mile. They were placed in a bushel basket and brought to the morgue.

How Gibbon came to his death cannot be determined, but the indications are that he was beating his way on the "rods" or brake beam of the freight and fell off. The first discovery of the remnants of the body was by a party of men walking towards St. Paul Park. Blood was noticed on the rail by one of the party and in a short space of time bits of human form were seen. Gibbon's body was literally ground to pieces. The lower portion of his body, including the limbs, had to be picked up here and there, crushed entirely beyond recognition. The trunk was intact, but his face was a pulp and a shapeless mass.

SAD DEATH OF A CHILD.

Minneapolis Militia Captain Accidentally Shoots a Three-Year-Old Boy.

Minneapolis, Aug. 18.—Three-year-old Johnny Krisko, son of a milkman living at Columbia Heights, was accidentally killed by a bullet from a rifle fired by Captain Percy A. Walton, captain of Company F of the First regiment of the Minnesota state troops.

Captain Walton had several members of his company out for target practice on the range. Seven men had fired ten shots each from the regulation Springfields, and the captain was asked to experiment with a small caliber rifle which one of the company possessed.

"I can't shoot at the target," he said, "for only regulation rifles can be used. I'll shoot at that piece of paper," pointing at a white spot about thirty yards away, and some fifteen yards out of the line of fire.

Captain Walton fired, and a little boy sprang into the air and rolled over on his back, shot through the body.

EVIDENTLY A CRANK.

Unknown Man Creates Consternation at La Crescent, Minn.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 12.—An unknown, evidently a crank, created consternation in La Crescent, Minn., a village across the river from La Crosse, by entering the residence of Rev. Father Dalle and attempted to rob the priest.

Rev. Dalle attacked the man with a butcher knife and drove him from the house.

Later in the day the unknown sent an infernal machine to Postmaster Everitt Webster. He later went to the drug store of Thomas Minshall and threatened his life. Afterward he ran to the postoffice and called for the infernal machine, which was destroyed.

A vigilance committee was called together and pursued the man several miles up the road with tar and feathers. He escaped, however, and has not been captured.

More Minneapolis Indictments.

Minneapolis, Aug. 13.—Former Chief of Police Ames was arraigned before Judge Pond in the Hennepin court under two indictments, each of which accuse him of entering into a conspiracy. In one of these indictments Mayor A. A. Ames, Christopher C. Norbeck and Irwin A. Gardner are indicted with the chief. In the other he is accused of having conspired with Joseph Cohen.

St. Paul Broker Expelled.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—Lewis A. Wood, of the firm of Edwards, Wood & Co. of St. Paul, charged with reporting fictitious trades, was expelled from the Chicago board of trade during the day by the directors. Transactions in grain carried through a Milwaukee house that neglected to make the required clearances formed the ground for charges.

Pioneer Minneapolis Man Dead.

Minneapolis, Aug. 14.—John Rice who at the time of his death was the oldest settler in Hennepin county, passed away at the home of his son, John Rice, Jr., at the age of eighty-nine years. Mr. Rice came to Minneapolis in 1856, the same year that the late Colonel John H. Stevens built the first house on the west side of the river.

Gives Birth to Four Boys.

Prominent G. A. R. Man Dead.

La Crosse, Wis., 18.—Captain P. C. Morris, commander of the first G. A. R. post in the United States to be named after the late President McKinley and one of the most prominent G. A. R. men of the state, died here during the day, aged fifty-eight years.

CANDIDATES GALORE

MANY ASPIRANTS FOR NOMINATION AT THE PRIMARIES.

THREE TICKETS WILL BE PRESENTED TO VOTERS OF RED LAKE COUNTY.

Yesterday was the last day for candidates to file their intentions and when the auditor's books were closed on the first chapter of the 1902 campaign under the new primary election law, there were found to be a total of forty candidates for county offices. The list is as follows:

This makes practically three tickets in the field, but no party has a complete ticket. The Populists lack a candidate for commissioner in the 3d district, the Republicans lack a candidate for treasurer, while the Democratic ticket is very incomplete.

OREGON FIR.

RED LAKE FALLS PEOPLE TAKE CLAIMS IN THE COAST COUNTRY.

The Red Lake Falls party which started for Oregon three weeks ago to look up timber claims has returned, several members of the party coming back Saturday via the Great Northern and the balance on Tuesday via the Northern Pacific.

At Tacoma and Portland on the going trip, they were joined by others and eleven filings were made at the Roseburg, Oregon, land office on fir timber claims on the Umpqua river. The claims are estimated to contain eight million feet of merchantable timber each, and there is little doubt that the colony has run on to a good thing. Minnesota lumber firms are buying up claims as fast as they can immediately they are proved up, the going prices now ranging from $1200 to $1600. The C. A. Smith Lumber Co., and the Pillsburys have purchased many claims in the immediate vicinity of the Red Lake Falls colony. It is not likely that any of these claims will be put on the market at this time. Conservative judges see in the movement of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota lumber kings to the Coast country, the prospect for speedy development and a consequent rapid rise in the market value of timber stumpage. During the past three years these lumber kings have been quietly extending their holdings by purchase of claims, railroad lands and government scrip, until it is estimated that the investments already made foot up to $30,000,000 and the movement continues, although the opportunity for securing timber lands by scripping has now practically passed, and the prices on railroad pine lands have advanced to an average of from $5 to $8 per acre according to location.

Both the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads are carrying Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin claim hunters to the coast in train loads, and it is a common thing to see a special car enroute to the fir and pine country chartered by people from one city.

The Red Lake Falls colony includes Geo. McConnel, G. G. Kindseth, J. J. Padden, Harry Healy, E. G. Storaasli, P. A. Kaufer; Andy Erickson, of Thief River Falls, Mr. Wolfe, of Crookston, Misses Sue Boyle and Catherina McNerthney, of Tacoma.

Telephone Troubles at Warren.

Some time ago when it became an assured fact that the N. W. Telephone Co. would soon have its line from Crookston to St. Vincent constructed, Manager Swanson of the Warren telephone exchange sought to make an arrangement with the Northwestern for connecting the local system with their line. The Northwestern was willing to effect such connection, provided they were permitted to absolutely dictate the terms. Believing that it was to the interests of all concerned that such a connection be made, Mr. Swanson made them a counter proposition, offering a consideration that he deemed exceedingly liberal under all the circumstances. The company, however, would do no business with him except on their own terms. Last week the council took the matter up and at a meeting of that body held Wednesday evening, the representatives present of the Northwestern were given to understand that unless they should make an agreement for connecting the long distance with the local system, they would not be permitted to do business in Warren. So the matter stands. To-day a story is circulated about to the effect that the Northwestern people threaten to build around Warren and establish no station there at all in case the city council stands fast and will not recede from the position it has taken.

TO THE BONE.

PETER LACOUSIERE, AGED SIX, MEETS WITH SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

LEG CAUGHT IN MERRY-GO-ROUND, AND SAWED TO THE BONE.

Yesterday afternoon Southeran & Cyr's merry-go-round was giving free rides to the little folks by way of an opening, when a serious accident occurred. Peter Lacousiere, aged six, son of Hercule Lacousiere, sustaining severe injury to his right leg, immediatly above the ankle. Peter was enjoying the first ride on the merry-go-round and unmindful of the repeated warnings of the manager, was performing all kinds of antics on one of the horses. Finally he held his foot out and his leg was caught between a stationary platform running in a semi-circle even with the outer edge of the revolving platform.

The space between is less than two inches, and as his leg was pulled through, the flesh was literally sawed off down to the bone. The bone was not broken. Jos. Normandin, standing near, gave the alarm, and the merry-go-round was stopped and the prisoner released from his awful position. Viewing the scene of the accident, one would not deem it possible for an ordinary limb to be crowded into this small space which is more like a crack than anything else.

The boy was taken at once to the office of Dr. J. C. Wilkinson where the wound was dressed. The Doctor is confidant of bringing his patient out without permanent disability.

Grocery Swindle.

A word of warning comes to the effect that a stranger is working the country districts in near by counties, representing himself to be an agent for a large supply house and pretends to be endeavoring to establish grocery routes. The concern he is supposed to represent pretends to have the interest of the farmers deeply at heart and will supply him with his groceries much cheaper than he can secure them from the home merchants. The main article they work is granulated sugar, which they quote at $4.25 per 100 pounds, and in payment will take eggs at 16c per dozen. The agent now begins his work and offers to give a $20 graphophone free with every order for groceries amounting to over $5. The unsuspecting victim signs the supposed order for groceries and in a few days finds that instead of ordering groceries he has ordered enough graphophone supplies together with a $20 graphaphone to start up a show, and to his astonishment finds that he has signed an order which reads like this: "Deliver at my place at your earliest convenience one disk gramaphone, one record case, one cabinet, 15 flats of assorted records, two Germans and one extra horn and stand. Upon delivery of the above goods I, undersigned, agree to pay to the above named company, or bearer, for said gramaphone, flats, horn and stand, record case and cabinet, $20 each." The $20 is printed in large type and the word "each" in smaller type so that the dishonest nature of the transaction is veiled throughout. These fellows evidently believe in the words of Barnum, that the American people like to be humbugged, and have started out to do their share of humbugging and reap their profits off the large crop of unsuspecting people who invariably get taken in by those smooth tongued sharpers.

Ready For Harvest.

Jerome's addition was invaded today by nearly a hundred men with teams, ready to work in the fields of that section. They have been working in other parts of the country and have congregated here ready to start on another trip. This is about as large a gang of harvest hands with teams as has ever struck Crookston at one time, and they made quite a showing. They arrived here just before dinner and prepared their meal over camp fires distributed along the street.—Crookston Times.

GRAND OPENING, SATURAY,

AUGUST 30, 1902.

DATE IS AGREED ON

COUNSEL IN MERGER SUIT DECIDE TO BEGIN HEARING ON SEPT. 15.

Wheat Shortage at Minneapolis Compels Several Mills to Close Down. Reduction in Grain Rates to Take Effect Immediately — Mother and Babe Accidentally Drowned Near Raymond—General State News.

St. Paul, Aug. 25.—It has been agreed between counsel for the department of justice at Washington and the Northern Securities company that the taking of testimony in the suit being brought by the government against the company will begin at the offices of the United States district attorney in New York city on Sept. 15.

Special Examiner Ingersoll of St. Paul, named by Judge Lochren to receive the testimony in the case, will go East within a short time in connection with his duties. Testimony will first be offered by the witnesses in behalf of the federal government, after which the Northern Securities company will try its hand.

It is believed that Solicitor General Richards will represent the federal government at the hearing. Who his assistants will be has not been learned. Mr. Richards has been taking an active interest in the matter, and it is understood will conduct the hearing, especially as Attorney General Knox plans a trip abroad.

WHEAT SHORTAGE SERIOUS.

Number of Minneapolis Mills Forced to Shut Down.

Minneapolis, Aug. 22.—The continued light movement of wheat to Minneapolis, coupled with the small stocks in store here, is the source of much concern to local flour manufacturers, at least to a number who are unfortunate enough to be without terminal stocks to draw on—and these are said to include all of the large mills, except the Pillsbury-Washburn company, which owns practically all of the good milling wheat in store here.

The shortage of milling wheat became so serious last week that several mills were forced to suspend operations.

It was expected the movement of new wheat to the local market this week would be sufficiently large to materially relieve the situation, but rains have interfered with threshing and receipts have shown little, if any, increase over last week.

IN EFFECT AUG. 28.

New Grain Rates Agreed on by Northwest Railroads.

St. Paul, Aug. 22.—The conference of traffic officials held at the general offices of the Great Northern regarding the reduction in grain rates from Northern Minnesota, North and South Dakota to Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth, Milwaukee and Chicago, agreed to place the same in effect on Aug. 28.

The reductions average from 8 to 12 per cent per hundred pounds of grain shipped according to conditions.

None of the roads would give any idea of the revenue which will be lost through the reduction, and it is impossible to estimate the aggregate sum saved to the farmers and middlemen of the Northwest on the present crop.

OLD SETTLER KILLED.

Freeman Keen of Duluth Struck by a Street Car.

Duluth, Aug. 22.—Freeman Keen, aged seventy-one years and the oldest settler but one at the Head of the Lake, having come here in 1852, met almost instant death at West Duluth by being run down by a street car. Mr. Keen had stepped down from the car on which he had been a passenger and started across the adjoining track when a car coming in the opposite direction struck him in the head, crushing his skull. He was conveyed to a hospital, where he survived but a few moments.

Mr. Keen is survived by a family of grown sons, his wife having died here two years ago.

MOTHER AND BABE DROWNED.

Found in a Well, Where They Had Both Apparently Fallen.

Raymond, Minn., Aug. 25.—News has reached here of the accidental drowning of Mrs. H. P. Jensen and her little eighteen-months-old babe, in a well on their farm, about three and a half miles northwest of town. Just how the accident occurred is not known, but it is supposed that the little one was playing about the well, which was an open one, and that it fell in. The mother, trying to rescue her drowning babe, met with the same fate.

FULFILLS THE PROPHECY.

Woman Distracted by Fakir's Prediction Takes Her Own Life.

Minneapolis, Aug. 23.—Religious differences between a betrothed pair, coupled with a fortune teller's prophecy, thrust the woman into a strange melancholy, which found its climax in suicide. Mrs. Jennie Falk ended her life with carbolic acid, fulfilling the prediction of a soothsayer, whom she had consulted only a week ago.

The unfortunate woman's former husband died two years ago, leaving two children—a boy of six and a girl of four years—to her care. Since his death Mrs. Falk met and loved and became betrothed to Frank A. Hesik, Jr., a city fireman.

Hesik is an ardent Catholic. His family knew of their son's attachment for the girl, but insisted, it is said, upon her becoming one of their faith. The aged parents of the girl were interested in their daughter's future welfare, but told the young couple that they would leave the settlement of their religious difference to themselves.

A week ago she visited a fortune teller. To him she breathed her inmost soul and told him of the religious differences that seemed to keep herself and the man she loved from the matrimonial altar. The soothsayer told her her lover would prove faithless and she would die before her wedding day.

The prophesy of the fortune teller "that her lover, to whom she was soon to be married, would prove faithless and that she would take her own life and become a spirit to watch over him," preyed upon her mind, and thrust her into a state of melancholy in which she ended her troubles by her own hand.

OFFICIALS FACE ARREST.

Prominent Minnesotans Charged With Violating Game Laws.

St. Paul, Aug. 25.—Judge David F. Simpson of the Hennepin district bench; former Judge J. H. Steele, chairman of the Republican state central committee during the Eustis campaign; F. L. Randall, superintendent of the state reformatory at St. Cloud, and Dr. Hoyt, a prominent dentist of that city, are to be taken before the court at Detroit, Becker county, charged with violation of the game law.

Executive Agent Fullerton of the state game and fish commission has directed the issuance of warrants for the quartet and will try to give them the full limit of the law.

There is also likely to be a clash between Major Simon Michelet, Indian agent at the White Earth reservation, and the officials of the state game and fish commission growing out of the affair.

It is charged that Indian Agent Michelet has been in the habit of inviting friends to visit him on the reservation during the latter part of the year and in order to make the time pass pleasantly for his guests has allowed them to shoot prairie chickens and ducks.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED.

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Colombia, in a recent letter states: "last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result prescribed it. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by W. A. Schreiter.

ROSING AND THE MERGER.

Red Lake Falls was on Saturday honored by a visit from Hon. L. A. Rosing, Democratic candidate for governor of Minnesota. Mr. Rosing is said to be a brilliant, brainy man, a natural leader, and one on whom rest easily the honors of his position. But the people are not taking to Mr. Rosing with any great degree of enthusiasm. The masses in Minnesota are very well satisfied with Gov. Van Sant, and no one, not even Rosing himself, doubts that Gov. Van Sant will be re-elected.

Mr. Rosing's attitude towards the railroad merger is interesting. Gov. Van Sant having pre empted the position as the people's champion versus the merger, Rosing early gave indications of a disposition to side with the merger. In this connection, the address delivered by him at the Minneapolis Jefferson banquet is now of interest. It was generally understood that the address was prepared in consultation with ex-Gov. Lind, and was intended to be an "opening gun."

Perhaps the most significant portion of Mr. Rosing's address was the contempt in his tone and the ridicule in his language when he spoke of the governor's attitude towards the railroad merger. The address is certainly an honest indication of Mr. Rosing's views, as reflected from Mr. Lind, on the merger question as a public policy. He clearly and totally disagrees with the governor as to the evil of railroad consolidation on the Hill-Morgan plan. Gov. Van Sant believes it to be an unmixed and unqualified evil—something that should he untiringly fought and relentlessly resisted by every weapon at the command of the state and of its officials. He does not believe that there is any reason, or even a good excuse, for it, or that there can be any result of it that will he other than a menace and a positive and constantly growing danger to the state. Mr. Rosing is clearly committed to the theory that the merger is only a scarecrow—a bugaboo, as he terms it, and that the efforts to prevent or suppress it are a mere waste of energy and money.

If Mr. Rosing is right in his premises he is right in his conclusions, for he unconsciously admits where he refers to the conference of governors in Montana that that conference was the real occasion of "all the trouble." He unconsciously admits that it was that conference which placed the governments of all the other states traversed by the lines of these two roads, not on the defensive, but on the offensive.

It was that difference and the public discussion of it that interested the federal government and which induced President Roosevelt to issue a mandatory order to the attorney general of the United States to bring the matter to a hearing.

If, as Mr. Rosing premises, there is no danger to the public in the merging, or consolidation, of 15,000 miles of railroad, formerly under three managements, into one grand system—one enormous trust—then Mr. Rosing is correct in his conclusion that Gov. Van Sant has "taken a whole lot of trouble for nothing." However, Mr. Rosing will probably find some difficulty in convincing any great portion of the public that he was right in his premises, so it does not so much matter what his conclusions are.

The Minnesota Issue, state organ of the populist party, says Rosing has as much show of winning now as Becker had in 1894.

Theo. LaBissoniere.

Daniel Linnihan has filed for the Democratic nomination for sheriff.

Moses Ducharme, of Badger Creek, was a visitor to the city Tuesday and desires The Gazette to quote him as saying: "There is no use of having a vote on county auditor, for it's all one-sided for Adam Zeh who will be elected without a doubt, and that is what all the other people in my neighborhood are saying, too."

The candidacy of L. C. Simons, republican, for representative, came as a surprise to the public generally. C. G. Rapp having decided not to stand for re-lection, the field was left open, and Mr. Simons was urged by many members of his party to enter the race. His opponent will be Iver A. Krohn, of Shevlin. This makes a pretty balance—Beltrami will have the Republican nominee for senator, and Red Lake the Republican nominee for representative, while the Populists have it vica versa. Norman county, also in this senatorial district, was very generous, asking for nothing, Norman constituting a legislative district by herself.

Later,—O. K. Strand, of Norman county, filed for senator for this district on the Republican ticket at the last moment. It is asserted that Strand is the administration candidate, although F. J. Swedback's friends claim this for him.

The Gazette advertisers have demanded much of our editorial space this week, and our readers may trade this opportunity of financial, for the intellectual, profit, thereby irretrievably lost!

The Minneapolis Journal says: Alex McKinnon, of Crookston, carried out the program yesterday, and filed as a democratic candidate for congress in the ninth district. He has been conceded the place for some time, and if he had not filed both the democrats and populists would have considered it a "throw down." The deal has been carefully made, and there will be no populist candidate in the district. They will devote their attentions to the state and legislative tickets, and support McKinnon as a straight democrat, in the fond hope that they can carry the district. Mr. McKinnon carried it in 1898, when running for state treasurer. If it was in 1898, the deal would alarm republicans of the ninth district. But conditions have changed, and the ninth is expected to return a rousing majority for every candidate on the state ticket, and for the winning candidate of the congressional field. Two causes have contributed to the change—the melting away of populism and return of many populists to the republican ranks, and the influx of new voters from Iowa and southern Minnesota.

"Prove all things and hold fast to that which is good" is a saying as good as it is old, but it's a saying that is preached more than practiced. The legislators have given us the primary election law and it now behooves us to prove it and if we find it is good, to hold fast to it. This law was enacted for the purpose of taking the power of nomination out of the hands of the polictal ring leaders and place it in the hands of the common people. The people should appreciate this fact and turn out on primary election day and exercise their right or it will be taken for granted that tha people do not care for this privilege and the law may be repealed. Everybody turn out in spite of the busy season.

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElree's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

LITTLE HORSES.

The May number of Frank Leslie's popular monthly magazine gives a very interesting account of a herd of living horses discovered on the top of a mountain situated on the island of Lilanl, near Hayti, W. I. From a distance it was supposed that they were goats scampering about on the mountain top, so Mr. Buffum decided to go hunting there. You may imagine how surprised he and his companions were to find little horses no bigger than a Scotch coolie dog and weighing about fifty pounds each.

After much trouble several pairs of the midgets were captured and brought to a horse farm in the east. It will hardly seem possible but Mr. Buffum relates what big prices those little vets brought. Two were sold to a Montreal gentleman for $70,000, and others brought equally high prices. Mr. Buffum invites his readers to call at Meadow Island farm, Weckford, R. I. to inspect his treasures. He owns several colts at present. I think it would be a pleasant sight to take a look at them, don't you?

LIGHT AND SHADOW.

On a recent journey the dark side and the light side in the drama of life were enacted in such an impressive manner that it seems to me a sketch of the play may do my readers as much good as it did those who were the onlookers. Not wishing to leave a shadow in the hearts and minds of my readers I'll give the sad story first. In giving the light I wish each and every one to determine that the shadow shall NOT reach his realism of existence. For life is what we make it. Unhappiness can be banished by the most unfortunate if there be an effort made to do the Maker's bidding, let the path be ever so rugged.

THE SHADOW.

Enjoying the comfort which a Palace car alone can afford on a long journey, I was disturbed by hearing a child cry in the most heart-rending manner. As the cries continued passengers went out to see what caused the child such terror. A most distressing sight met their eyes. On the platform at which our train was stopping a man and a women were struggling for the possession of the child, a little boy of perhaps seven years. Evidently it was the same old story—a disrupted home—love of man and wife dead. but love of child stirred up in utter selfishness. A gentleman stepped up to the struggling trio and endeavored to make peace. Each parent told a story to enlist sympathy. but the mother-love won the day, for the father had neglected both mother and child until the mother had determined to support herself and boy The father w s bidden to leave hands off. the stranger acting as guardian of the helpless. The father became more violent than before, whereupon the big stranger hurled Mr. Father several feet off, bidding the mother and child go their way. Think of the unhappiness that must have led up to a scene like this! The father, though he had promised to guard and cherish the woman of his choice had neglected and even beaten her. What caused THE FIRST misunderstanding in that home? It is for my readers to take heed—there is ALWAYS danger in a quarrel, think of that and control your tempers.

THE LIGHT.

Among our traveling companions there was a family consisting of husband and wife, four children and nurse. The sun would seem to shine in their home on the darkest of days, for there was LOVE in all their bearings. Despite the fact that the faithful nurse was ready and willing to care for the infant baby, the father carried him about in the car, giving us permission to fondle his darling a moment. No sooner was baby in nurse's arms than Mr. Kindly (such was our mutual name for him) brought his three-year-old through the car. He chanced to sit near me and it did my heart good to hear him answer such numberless questions as only a little three-year-old could think of asking. One question amused some of us greatly. Said the little maid: "Papa why don't you have your hair all cut short on the top of your head like that gentleman?" Papa said "I DON'T BELIEVE I'D CARE FOR THAT STYLE OF HAIR CUT DEAR." (No more would any of my male readers. I dare say.) The mother of this family had a sweet, placid expression which said plainly, "I'm as happy as a queen, for love reigns supreme in our home."

I wish I could tell all the amusing things the elder children said, but the Corner would not hold all those sayings.

Every one of my readers have not the money to go traveling with nurse and porter at beck and call. But every one has the power of making life fit into either one of these sketches. If only people could realize how easily litte Cupid is killed and how readily the monster Ill Will elides into the home as a PERMEMANT TENANT they would be more careful in their dealings with one another.

Grand Forks Herald.—When one woman spanks another woman's kid there is usually something doing in that neck of the woods at once. This was the case yesterday in the south part of the city, when a certain lady took it upon herself to chastise a little boy that belonged to a neighbor. There was a wordy warfare that would look bad reproduced in a Sunday paper, but would be great stuff for a yellow journal, after which the woman whose kid had been spanked headed for Judge Mc Laughlin's office for a warrant, with her face red with rage and her eyes sticking out a foot, vowing vengeance with every step she took. The judge, luckily, was not in his office and by the time the irate lady reached home she was cooled off somewhat and had not made another trip for the warrant up to the time of going to press at 4 o'clock this morning.

TWO WOMEN SLAIN.

Double Tragedy Occurs at White Earth, Minn.

Minneapolis, Aug. 21.—Local police are searching for Joseph Williams, a halfbreed Indian of Oakes, a town on the White Earth Indian reservation, in order to question him concerning the murder of his mother, Mrs. Julie Williams, and his sister Nellie.

The bodies were found early Tuesday morning shortly after Williams boarded a Northern Pacific train for Minneapolis.

Mrs. Williams' remains were found in the house with a bullet wound through the head, and the body of the girl was discovered in the barn, chopped to pieces.

The bloody axe with which the crime was committed was found near by. It is the belief of the officers that after the women was slain the murderer pursued the girl to the barn and killed her.

Mrs. Williams was sixty-two years of age and Nellie, the daughter, nineteen.

G. N. TIME TABLE

LOCAL SCHEDULE WILL LIKELY GOBACK TO OLD TIME CARD.

RESULT OF ACTION TAKEN AT PUBLIC MEETING FRIDAY MORNING.

A public meeting of representative business men held at the Mayor's office Friday morning to discuss the advisability of recommending a return to the former system of passenger service on this line of the Great Northern resulted in a favorable decision. The matter has been under advisement for some time.

The present schedule is very satisfactory to Red Lake Falls, but not so to the people of the northern part of tha county who desire to transact business at the county seat between trains. Under the present arrangement this can not well be done. The up-country people find it necessary to either drive down, or to stay all night, as the train comes from Crookston direct to Red Lake Falls, and does not return to this city until 4:45. Thief River Falls has been entering vigorous protests, but to no avail. At the meeting Friday, after due deliberation, it was decided that Red Lake Falls, being the county seat, would make a sacrifice for the benefit of the balance of the county, and would recommend a change back to practically the old system as a matter of accommodation, and to remove the inconvenience which has been so apparently the lot of up-country citizens since the new schedule went into effect.

It is likely the train will leave Crookston at 9:20, the same as now, but making faster time, will arrive at Thief River Falls about 10:30, reaching here about 11:30, remaining here until 5:00 p. m., returning to Crookston via Thief River Falls.

This will give us our morning mail only about 20 minutes later than at present, and the out-going mail will close but 10 minutes earlier than at present. This action, we understand, is very much appreciated by the people of the northern part of Red Lake county, and Thief River Falls citizens especially have not been slow in expressing gratification to Red Lake Falls people for what they term a "square shake."

POLITICAL PICKUPS

THE CAMPAIGN BY THE "BIG FOUR" IS CLOSE---LOCAL NOTES.

In the eleven counties comprising the ninth congressional district there were cast at the last election about 16,700 republican votes, as follows: Becker, 1,700; Beltrami, 1,200; Clay, 1 800; Kittson, 900; Marshall, 1,400; Norman, 1,400; Otter Tail, 3,000; Red Lake, 1,000; Polk, 2,800; Roseau, 700; Wilkin 800. The counties conceded to Valentine will cast about 5,000 votes; those conceded to Steenerson will cast about 4,600; those conceded to Grindeland will cast about 4,000 votes. Clay, with 1,800, is conceded to Comstock. This shows how very close the race in the ninth district really is. No one but a prophet could predict the result.—St. Paul Dispatch.

Prof. Jas. A. Wilson, of Thief River Falls, was in the city Saturday, getting acquainted. Mr. Wilson has been city superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools for the past two years, and his high standing as an educator impelled many citizens from all parts of the county to urge him to become a candidate for county superintendent, and after due deliberation he filed for the Republican nomination. He is a graduate of the state university, and is recognized as one of the ablest educators of the northwest. He proposes to make a thorough canvass of the county, and will deliver lectures on educational matters, illustrated by stereoptican views.

E. A. Moran will be the Populist nominee for judge of probate. His opponents are N. W. Tarrant, Democrat, and James McIntyre, Republican, both of Thief River Falls. Mr. Moran expects to have the solid support of the Populist organization, and being the only candidate for that office in this part of the county, ought to make a very strong run. He is one of the original Farmers Alliance and People's Party men in this section, and has always been a hard party worker, and a wide awake citizen of ability, and there is a disposition on the part of his friends for special efforts in his behalf.

D. Linnihan, who has filed for sheriff on the Democratic ticket, will be remembered by the voters as the Democratic candidate of two years ago. He made a good run against heavy odds, and in view of his sacrifice then, thinks the Democrats should confer on him the nomination this year. Mr. Linnihan is not a machine candidate, but is immensely popular with the masses and he will give the other aspirants for the nomination a hard chase.

The Fergus Falls Free Press says: Editor Boen has filed as a populist candidate for the legislature. When it comes right down to business no man should be eligible as a member of the house unless he is a newspaper man. You know revenue bills must originate there and newspaper men are experts in contracting debts. Besides this they have well developed brains, and these should be used for the benefit of the people.

Reports from Red Lake Falls are to the effect that Frank Jeffers, Populist candidate for county superintendent of schools, is managing Halvor Steenerson's campaign in southern Red Lake county. Mr. Jeffers, however, will soon have to commence looking after his own candidacy, and thus Halvor will soon lose the services of an able lieutenant.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford County, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when editor Ward, of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effects. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by W. A. Schreiter Druggist.

WINTER WHEAT

A RED LAKE COUNTY FARMER WHO HAS SUCCEEDED WITH IT.

John Greenwald, of Emardville township, was in the city this week telling of his experiment with winter wheat. Last fall Mr. Greenwald decided he would experiment, and accordingly seeded about half an acre of his land to winter wheat, using a bushel of seed. Last week he threshed 10 bushels of No. 1 hard wheat from this patch, having harvested the crop in July. He sees in winter wheat for Northern Minnesota great possibilities. The crop can be harvested and the ground plowed so early in the season, that it is almost equal to summer fallowing. The seed is put in in the fall before the fall rains set in, and the danger from late springs, and muddy, inaccessible fields, is averted.

Mr. Greenwald will sow all winter wheat in future. He says he does not expect as trying a season as last winter for many years to come, as it was too open. Alternate thawing and freezing is what is dangerous for this crop, and a good stiff winter he would regard as favorable.

Mr. Greenwald's further experiments will certainly be followed with much interest.

The Hessian Fly in Minnesota.

This wheat pest is alarmingly on the increase in the state. Its presence in a field may be detected, either before or after cutting, by the fact that some or many of the stalks are bent over above one of the lower joints, their heads lying on the ground. In these stalks, just above the joints which are beneath the breaks in the stalks, one can detect by the use of a pen-knife the puparia or so called "flax seed" which will later turn into the fly. These "flax seeds" are not really within the stalk, but very closely applied to it within the sheath of the leaf. If the farmer does not want his wheat to suffer next year, these "flax seeds" must be destroyed as soon after cutting as possible. The following are acceptable methods for accomplishing this:

(1) Burning the stubble when possible. This is more easily done if the wheat is cut short, that is, if long stubbles are left on the field.

(2) Plowing the stubble in such a way that the straw is completely turned under. This must be done thoroughly to be effective.

(3) All screenings and litter about the threshing machine should be cleaned up and either fed or burned. Leave no litter of the threashing on the field. There is no need, however of burning the straw pile.

(4) Since the fly lays its eggs, as a rule, in the same locality where it emerges from the "flax seed", it is best not to plant wheat on the same ground two years in succession. This is still done in some places and is a practice which should be stopped. Rotations of crops should be the rule everywhere. Varieties of wheat which produce a stout stalk are the least effected by this pest.

A more complete account of the life history of this insect will be published later in report from this department.

TAX LEVY.

Auditor Dunn Says One Mill Should Be Enough and More Will Soon Be Unnecessary.

State Auditor Dunn thinks the next legislature should wipe from the books the special levies for the funding tax, the soldiers' relief fund and the state university and provide money for these purposes by appropriation. This is in line with the general policy of reducing the state tax levy.

"It will be a few years," he said recently, "when no state levy will be necessary. The increase in gross earnings taxes and receipts from other sources will provide sufficient revenue for all purposes. This year we shall be able to make a very substantial decrease in the levy. I have said it might be cut down two-tenths of a mill. I now believe that we can do better and reduce the levy for state revenue to one mill. This, at our increased valuation, will raise enough money with what we get from gross earnings. There will be a great increase from railroads. In St. Louis county, they have it all figured out and the roads will pay the state on this year's business, $25,000 more than last.

"I see no reason why, after this year, a 1 mill levy should not provide revenue for all purposes except the schools. With the 1-mill levy for the state school fund, we would have next year a flat rate of 2 mills. The legislature next winter can abolish the levies for the funding tax, the soldier's relief, and the university and make whatever appropriations are necessary for these purposes out of the revenue fund. The 1 mill tax ought to raise enough for all these purposes two years from now."

The result was a decided victory for the Tall Pine, tha vote standing as follows:

A BAND-SAW MILL

THOS. SHEVLIN SAYS HE WILL MAINTAIN SUCH A PLANT AT ST. HILAIRE.

Leo. Steinert on Tuesday received a letter from Thos. Shevlin relative to the project of putting in a 75-barrel flour mill at St. Hilaire. Mr. Shevlin says it is true, the saw-mill at St. Hilaire will not be retained at its present capacity, but that tha plant will be converted into a single band-saw mill. It had for some time been understood that the mill would be moved from St. Hilaire, and the latest decision of the lumber magnate will no doubt afford some relief to the St. Hilaire people. Mr. Shevlin is not sure that he can spare as much water as would be necessary to furnish power for a 75-barrel mill, and Mr. Steinert went to Minneapolis Tuesday to confer with him relative to the matter.

It is calculated the change in the St. Hilaire plant will reduce the capacity about two thirds.

SURPRISE STORE

GRAND OPENING, SATURDAY, OF THE EXCLUSIVE CLOTHING HOUSE.

Berthon & Armstrong's clothing emporium was on Saturday opened for business. Manager Williams had spent much time and energy upon the arrangements, and his completed work showed the touch of an artist. The Surprise Store is strictly a metropolitan institution, and has been well named. It is by long odd the finest clothing store in the Northwest. The inside fixtures, from Paulee, of St. Paul, and the window fixtures from Braum's Brass and Model Works Company, Minneapolis, surpass those of any store in Minnesota, north of the Twin Cities. The stock is not only larger than one would expect, but the manner of display and the general make-up of the store is such as to excite comment. It is generally conceded that the proprietors have been courageous to put in the large investment necessary in carrying out these plans, into what may be considered an experiment. The store will be a great benefit to Red Lake Falls in drawing trade, and our citizens show a disposition to back up Messrs. Barthon & Armstrong, in this practical illustration of faith in this city and its future.

About Minnesota.

The first hotel in St. Paul was a log tavern erected in 1835, where the Merchants hotel now stands. The first "Limited" train between St. Paul and Minneapolis and Chicago was the famous North-western Limited, and it still stands as the acme of the car-builders' art.

NOTES ON WOMAN.

When Our Redeemer was leaving this world He said to St. John: "Son, behold thy mother." Do you note the word "MOTHER"? He did not say: Behold thy council, thy advocate, thy judge or thy governor. But simply "Behold thy mother." Thus placing mother-hood not "upon a crumbling pedestal," but upon a pedestal which upholds the world.

When all this prating about advancement has been sifted down, what have we? Behold women seeking the highest(?) paths of life, sometimes to the detriment of soul and body. Motherhood and the practicing of a profession do not go hand in hand. Therefore motherhood is looked upon by many advanced (?) women as a state FOR OTHERS, though, strange to say, wifehood is eagerly sought after. Homes are abandoned, or left to the care of the hireling. Children, if such there be, are recipients of care, grudgingly given, by such persons as are available. Where is the advancement? Again our Redeemer said: "Blessed are they who, not seeing, still belive." Shall we then teach our daughters to believe only that which they see? Look about you my friends, and see which is the better off in time of need. She who derives her comfort from "the wonderful philosophy of nature" alone, or she who can look upon the true comfort which alone can help the sorrowing carry burdens. Let the women of this generation who have opened their eyes and tried "to face the truth" go a step further. Let them face the whole truth that while teaching their daughters as well as their sons, the grave responsibility of mental gifts, they do not lose sight of the great fact that to Christianity they owe their present position, their honor, yea even their very names—for the most advanced woman must admit that before the Christian Era women had only such position as man chose to give her.

The time worn companions "time and space" are not mine. Therefore one example of a great woman who lived long ago will have to suffice for to-day. In a letter from Bethlehem, dated May 3, William C. Curtis relates what a good and wonderful woman Empress St. Helena was. Her pedestal is solid, my friends, though I doubt if the socalled advancement worried her mind. Many churches stand to-day to pay tribute to her greatness. Though I love to see my sisters advance, I fail to see how they can gain by many of the suggestions made by the radical new women of to-day.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

FAY AND THE GUINEA HEN.

When Fay was three years old she visited her auntie. There were such dear children across the street that Fay would run away even though the gate was tied. There was a board loose on the fence and she could slip through very nicely. Finally her auntie said: "You will run across the street until something happens to you." Of course little Fay didn't believe anything could happen until one day, when she was nearly across, she heard a strange noise and saw a strange thing near her. She thought of her auntie's warning and dropped right in her tracks, screaming and crying out "I'll never go again without asking, I'll never, never, never." Auntie came out and picked up the little girl, who was limp with fright. Fay never ran away again.

The thing that frightened her was an innocent though noisy guinea hen, and I think a guilty conscience helped some. Don't you?

HOUSEHOLD.

Crepe paper is being used for decorative purposes in my lady's room. It is surprising how many loops, rosettes and drapes can be made out of one roll, at the expense of seven cents. Many a girl who would like to trim up her room is hampered by a lack of funds. But she can afford crepe paper and white lawn, surely, with which to decorate mirrors and cozy corners galore. Besides being artistic, crepe paper is durable.

A GROWING FAIR.

Great Successes of the Minnesota State Agricultural Society.

Visitors at the Minnesota State Fair last fall felt that the limit of success had been reached. In buildings, in size, beauty and condition of the grounds, exhibits in all departments and finally in the vast quantities of people that throng the place from early morning till late at night was seen, it was believed, all that could be expected or desired in the way of an exposition of the resources of the people of a great state. But while this may have been the popular thought it was not the thought of those who have the conduct of this great enterprise in hand. To them present excellence and success were finger-boards pointing the way to greater achievement. And it is only fair to say that if the fair of 1902, which opened on Sept. 1st, falls below its predecessor in any particular it will not be the fault of the management, nor of its ability to devise even more attractive and educational features than the past has witnessed.

Liberal premiums attract exhibitors and increase the number of exhibits, it is true, but the chief attraction is the assurance of a large number of people to see the exhibition, and it is now known by all exhibitors that there is no question about the number of sightseers at the Minnesota Fair, hence each returning year finds the number of exhibits offered greatly increased, and the average standard of quality elevated. The management takes advantage of the desire of exhibitors to get into this fair to give preference to those who have the most meritorious articles to display, and this becomes a guarantee to visitors that they will have things to see and study that will amply repay them for the cost involved in time and money. In this lies a strong inducement to the public to swell the attendance at the fair. Big crowds one year assure a vastly improved exhibition the next, which in turn, makes it deserve a larger patronage than its predecessor; and this is one basis for the faith of the management that the fair is yet a long way from its limit of attractions, usefulness and attendance.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning" writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night "but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1 00. Trial bottles free at W. A. Schreiter's drug store.

SEPT. 10, 11.

READ THE FOLLOWING CAREFULLY.

THE SUNLIGHT OPTICAL CO. has made an arrangement with Dr. C. G. Mugg, Eye Specialist, of Minneapolis, to use their Preshyopsic Reading Lenses in his practice. The substance of the contract is this:—The company furnishes the lenses free, and the Doctor is to charge no more than one dollar ($1) for examination. This will enable all preshyopes who have frames to have glasses at a merely nominal price. Why the Optical Co. can do this is plain. Every preshyope should have their lenses changed from year to year, and ninety out of one hundred must change them inside of three years. This exchange will cost 50c, 75c or one dollar ($1), according to size of lens. After the first examination of which a record is kept, all the patient need do is to send in their glasses or if broken or lost, give date of purchase and town and another pair can be sent.

Every person forty years of age or over is preshyopic and should wear reading glasses. Hence, it is easily seen that the future exchanges will make the company a large income, and at the same time keep their patrons supplied with reading glasses at a price to small to figure on. All lenses exchanged can be repolished and will be as good as new.

Improve this chance. See Dr. Mugg. Have your examination recorded and be in a position to get your reading glasses for a song. Dr. Mugg must average ten examinations a day or he cannot afford to hold the contract, hence, this offer may not appear again.

Very truly,
THE SUNLIGHT CO.

NOTES OF NOTABLES.

Attorney General Knox and Senator Spooner will go to Paris in a short time to go thoroughly into the matter of title in the Panama canal.

Dr. H. H. Furness, the Shakespearean scholar, possesses a pair of buff gauntlets, embroidered in gold, once worn by William Shakespeare.

Samuel Hinkle, of Springfield, Ills., owns the old leather hat box carried by Abraham Lincoln to Washington on the occasion of his first inauguration as president.

It is said that Lord Rosebery has written a novel, but has decided to put it aside for a time, at any rate, fearing that the publication might injure him in his political career.

Perry Rodgers of Bordenstown, Ky., owns the bugle which sounded the Continental army's call to arms in many of the most famous battles of the American Revolution.

P. H. Harrison of Manchester, N. H., is compiling a history of battleflags of this country, especially of those carried in what he incidentally calls "the "brothers' quarrel" in 1861-65.

R. J. Seddon, who is premier of New Zealand, is a mechanical engineer by profession. He emigrated from England as a gold seeker in 1867. Besides being premier, he is a general utility man.

Generals Botha, De Wet and Delarey will shortly come to America to collect funds in behalf of the Boers who were ruined by the war. The former will shortly publish an official history of the war.

The Davis family of Wisconsin is remarkable. It consists of father, mother, nine sons and two daughters. The children, though American born, all speak Welsh. The parents, Benjamin J. and Sarah Davis, live at Barneveld, Wis. The former is ninety years of age.

The physicians who attended Queen Wilhelmina in her late illness have been receiving honors at her hands. Professor Rosenstein has been promised to be a commander of the Order of the Lion of the Netherlands, and Professor Kouwer and Drs. Roessingh and Pot have been appointed knights of the same order.

The Rev. Dr. W. H. Milburn, the venerable blind chaplain of the senate, is nearly eighty years old. In early childhood he lost the sight of one eye totally and of the other partially. He entered the Methodist ministry at the age of twenty and in the course of twelve years' itinerancy traveled over 200,000 miles in the discharge of his clerical duties.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

"The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast" is undergoing a thorough renovation for its revival at the Illinois theater in Chicago on Sept. 1.

Miss Harriet Ford is making good progress on the new play she is writing for James O'Neill, and it is promising exceedingly well.

Edna May will be seen in New York early next season in a new musical comedy. Awhile ago it was said that Miss May was going to visit Australia before she returned to New York.

Miss Eleanor Robson did not go abroad this summer, but with her mother, Mrs. Madge Carr Cook, is seeking rest and recreation in one of the most delightful spots in the Adirondacks.

Alida Cortelyou, who was seen in this country in "The Sign of the Cross" several years ago, will return to the United States next season as a member of William Gillette's company. Miss Cortelyou, though an American, has acted principally in England.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS.

Confucius, it is said, was passionately fond of watermelon seeds.

Cardinal Richelieu loved cats. When he died, his favorite Angora cat refused to eat and soon perished.

Handel used, when traveling, to order dinner for three, or, if hungry, for five, and then eat the whole himself.

Philip, the duke of Burgundy, spent much time in contriving trapdoors to his house and grounds to souse unwary strangers in water beneath.

Next to money Rembrandt loved nothing so well as his monkey. He shed tears when his ape died and painted a portrait of his pet from memory.

Cowper loved pets and had at one time five rabbits, three hares, two guinea pigs, a magpie, a jay, a starling, two canary birds, two dogs, a "retired" cat and a squirrel.

RUSSIAN PROVERBS.

Poverty is not a sin, but twice as bad.

Where there is an oath there is also a crime.

Calumny is like a coal; if it does not burn it will soil.

ENGLISH ETCHINGS.

For a quarter of a century no new houses have been built in the Sussex (England) village of Slindon.

It is estimated that there are at least 80,000 barmaids in England, and it is proposed to start a friendly society for them.

King Edward's newly created Order of Merit, which meets general approval in England, goes under the nickname in parliamentary circles of "the Twelve Apostles."

Policemen at High Wycombe, England, have received as part of their equipment dusters with which to erase the literary and artistic effusions of little boys on walls and pavements.

Replying to the Humanitarian league, Earl Selborne, as first lord of the admiralty, has declined to order the Britannia cadets to substitute a drag hunt for their pack of beagles.

In order to prevent suicides on the Central London railway the company has removed the planking at its various stations between the central rail and the line next the platform. Any one who jumps in front of a train must, it is stated, fall into the recess thus formed.

THE FASHIONS.

The combination of lace bands and appliques with fine swiss embroideries of different tints and widths is very popular.

Among the new green gowns are those made of pineapple gauze, etamine, pongee, nun's veiling, French chambray, taffata, grenadine and satin foulard.

Mercerized summer cheviots are among the populer fabrics for general wear on the beach or in the mountains. They are to be found in pure white and a number of delicate colors.

One of the latest fancies in the way of trimming is the use of very fine woolen laces and insertions in ivory white, cream color and pale soft tints to match etamine, voile, albatross or other woolen gowns.

There is a sudden craze for monogram decorations in silver filigree, chased gold, faceted steel, jet, jewel beading, embroidery and lace, en applique, on belts, collars, hosiery, lingerie, slippers and even parasols and shirt waist hats.—New York Post.

SPORTING NOTES.

E. Bowne worked Searchlight three miles at Hartford, Conn., recently in 2:13, 2:11 and 2:10.

C. W. Littlefield, Milburn, N. J., has bought the brown gelding Cassella, 2:24¼, by Cecil Wilkes.

In the all England ladies' tennis championship games, held at Wimbledon recently, Miss Robb beat Mrs. Sterry, the holder of the national title, by 7—5 and 6—1.

Kid Lavigne, the ex-lightweight champion of the world, has recovered from his recent San Francisco breakdown, and the doctors hope to bring him around all right.

A match will probably be arranged between Tommy Ryan of Syracuse, who has returned from England, and Jack Root, the recognized middleweight champion of the west.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

Mulch quince trees with coal ashes.

An unfruitful orchard may often be brought into bearing by a heavy application of manure.

Many orchards are seriously injured by allowing too heavy a growth of grass around the stems of the trees.

By keeping the fruit under the trees cleaned up a large number of pests that injure both the trees and the fruit will be destroyed.

Where such plants as dock, plantain or dandelion are growing in a lawn they may be effectually destroyed by an application of vitriol.

Gooseberries and currants are largely propagated by cuttings. In cutting out the old wood the most vigorous pieces can be cut into short lengths and set out for this purpose.

GERMAN GLEANINGS.

Germany has at present 145 chambers of commerce and ten of agriculture.

Berlin has to provide for 5,280 pauper lunatics, among whom are a number of ex-government officials, actors, artists and musicians.

In Berlin a student who wrote for the newspapers has been fined heavily for publishing the substance of a professor's lecture in his articles without permission.

An "antitipping" society has been formed in Berlin. The members of the society pledge themselves not to give "tips" either in hotels, cafes, railways or in any place where "tipping" is customary.

CYNICISMS.

Some men have a good time fishing, even if they do not catch any fish, which is usually the case.

Don't be surprised because people do contemptible things. You no doubt are occasionally guilty yourself.

The trouble with experience is nearly every man thinks he is so smart that he can win where others have failed.

Very few people hide their talent under a bushel. Most of them drag it out and try to sell it at five times its value.

NOTHING TO CONCEAL.

The Courier accuses The Gazette of "knocking" Red Lake county. The editor of the Courier in making such statements lays himself open to ridicule. Red Lake county was born and flourished years before our excited brother down the street decided to cast his lot amongst us. He has yet to learn that it will take more than a local hail storm to hurt the prestige of this county, and that, futhermore, we are not claiming for Red Lake county different climatic conditions from the balance of the Red River Valley. In other words we are not misrepresenting conditions here. This spot has been a good enough one for us for twenty years past, and while we are pleased to see Bro. King manifest an interest in public affairs generally, we assert that he may point out conditions here as they actually exist without doing harm. His effort to make the public feel there is something to conceal will do much to arouse suspicion among prospective investors, especially land-seekers. Red Lake county has nothing to conceal. The garden spot of the Red River Valley, the home of prosperous people, a recital of events as they transpire, and the display of conditions as they really are, will always be the best advertisement. The Gazette sees no need of misrepresentation. We will give the Courier a monopoly of that method. The prosperity of Red Lake county is, we opine, as much to us as it is to the man from Nobles county, not yet dry behind the ears.

BIOLOGICAL RESEARCH.

The first tangible contribution to science by the Carnegie Institution has just been made. It consists of a "substantial appropriation" for the purpose of establishing what will be the finest biological laboratory in the world, to be located at Wood's Hole, Mass. There is already a biological laboratory at that place maintained by the University of Chicago and many scientists combine pleasure and study by spending their summer vacations there. It has not yet been defitinley determined whether the Institution will purchase the present laboratory and make it the basis for the new institution to be located there, or whether an entirely new laboratory will be established. The location of the town makes it a particularly desirable site for such an institution, for the study of the great problem of life is now turning in the direction of marine specimens and the lower orders of creation have already served to enlighten scientists on many points heretofore undiscovered. It has been found, for instance, that the eggs of the sea urchin can be developed by electricity and without fertilization, this being but one of the many remarkable phenomenon revealed by recent study of sea fauna.

The Courier, commenting upon the candidacy of Prof. Wilson, for county superintendent, assumes that M. E. Todd, who has also filed, has not been fairly treated. Mr. Todd's friends were ready to pull off their coats and work for him, when he made the announcement to a Republican committeeman that he had decided not to run. This information was made public, and Prof. Wilson was thereupon induced to file, while no doubt counting upon Mr. Todd's support. Later it was found there were two filings, one of whose was Mr. Todd's. That there should be anything but a friendly contest for the nomination between these two gentlemen is surely out of the question. All other considerations aside, each must concede to the other the privilege of aspiring to and filing for the nomination.

BETWEEN TWO CHAIRS.

In Red Lake county the Populists have a full county ticket but there are evidently still a few hopes in the heart of the Courier editor that he may be taken into the fold, and not left out in the cold, to get his inspiration through the keyhole or at best through the window. Still, we don't see how his counsel or aid can be looked upon by the Populists of Red Lake county with anything but suspicion, inasmuch as it is given out on high authority that his friendliness to Populism is only a mask; that, up to a short time ago, he was working early and late to wreck the Populist organization in Red Lake county, and that his plea, as made to leading Populist office holders, was for them to give up the Populist organization and run as Democrats. A Democrat who would promise the Courier patronage, was to be worked in here and there, and the whole beautiful structure palmed off on the unsuspecting Populists of the county. But these Populist office holders said "get thee behind me, Satan," and turned unto him a deaf ear. It was then a case of Mahomet going to the mountain. Of course party loyalty cut no figure with this political hypocrite. It was well to keep up a show of holy reverence for political principle, but miserably failing in his efforts, he soon deserted party associates to hobnob with members of the party whose organization he had tried his best to wreck. Democracy is not strong in this county, and this political pirate soon trimmed his sails accordingly. But it will be a cold day when the Populists of Red Lake county forget that had the counsels of the editor of the Courier prevailed, their party in this county would to-day be ship wrecked on the high seas.

Democrats who have been ignored and betrayed since he learned the strength of the Populist organization here, may well be indignant at the treatment received, while Populists of the rank and file will do well to keep an eye on the man who would have engulfed them.

Politically, he appears to be going down between two chairs.

Dr. Jules Gendron is soliciting subscriptions to his book of poems, songs and legends, entitled "Echoes de L'ame" which, translated, means "Echoes of the Soul." The doctor is having the book printed by a Minneapolis publishing house. It will be a 12 mo volume of 200 pages and the selling price will be 50 cents upon delivery. The criticisms which have already been published concerning the work, show it to be of high literary merit, and the author is receiving subscriptions from all over Canada and the United States. In fact, Dr. Gendron has made a name for himself in the realm of French literature in Canada, having been voted the poet laureate of the Northwest, and Red Lake Falls citizens will take no small interest in the forthcoming publication.

How do the Democrats of Red Lake county like the enthusiastic (?) support being accorded Hon. L. A. Rosing by the Courier? The further we progress into the throes of the campaign, the more apparent it is that there is a growing need of a label for the Courier's politics. Hon. L. A. Rosing says the People's Party hustlers are not at work for a large vote for Meighen, the Populist nominee, realizing that a lift for Meighen is a help to the Republicans. So according to Rosing's own views the Courier, which editorially boosts Meighen, is helping the Republican candidate and hurting him. Evidently the editor of the Courier and the Democratic nominee for governor need to get together. Their ideas at present seem to coincide like a head-end collision. Another conference would seem to be in order, this time between the Democrats themselves, over the subject "That political conundrum, the editor of the Courier," for it appears now that it would take all the best brains of the party including his own to rightly "define his position" at the present writing.

The ladies should not forget that they are entitled to vote for their favorite for county superintendent at the primary election. Special ballots are provided by law the same as in the general election.

FACTS AND FANCIES

At this late date Mille Lacs county is publishing her 1901 financial statement.

× ×

Beltrami county has done just what Red Lake county should have done—sent a carload of farm and field products for exhibition at the State Fair.

× ×

The Commercial Club of Minneapolis is distributing cash prizes for the best kept and most attractive lawns, front and back, of premises owned and occupied by those whose salary does not exceed $1,200 a year.

× ×

A Good Roads convention will be held at Fargo, Sept. 15 to 20. The railroads have granted a rate of one fare for the round trip.

× ×

A. W. Keays, a Sherburne county, Minnesota, farmer, sold $640 worth of strawberries from one acre this year.

× ×

Several farmers adjacent to Red Lake Falls have refused offers of $45 an acre for their farms.

× ×

The new first class battleship Maine is the fastest battleship in the Navy, having attained an average of 18.6 knots per hour as against 17.8 knots made by the Illinois.

× ×

The new State normal school at Duluth was opened Tuesday. There are ten instructors, six of whom are women. Duloth is distinguished for her bright women, and this happy preponderance on the new state Normal School faculty is in line with Duluth's usual good luck.

× ×

The Princeton Union editor grows sentimental in contemplating "the passing of the small band of Mille Lacs Indians, the Ojibways, as they are known in history" and says it forms an interesting chapter of fidelity and pathos on the part of the Indians and of deception and fraud on the part of the white man. There are 364 Mille Lacs Indians. They will be removed to White Earth or Leech Lake as they desire where the government will provide them with 80 acres of land each, a house, furniture, stock and farming implements.

× ×

Thief River Falls Press: Thomas Germo, the popular Red Lake Falls attorney, was in the city Wednesday, looking after his political interests. Mr. Germo is seeking the nomination for county attorney on the Republican ticket with every prospect of success. He is an exceptionally bright young man who has done good work for the ticket in previous campaigns and is well entitled to the support of of his party this fall both at the primary and at the general election.

× ×

Those attending the political conference at St. Hilaire Saturday were Messrs. Staples, Spurgeon, Morgan, Tarrant, Hanson, Kelly, Cernousek, Lawson and Sotberan, of Thief River Falls, and Messrs. King, Gibeau, Jeffers, Swanson, Ford and Ducharme, of Red Lake Falls. The Spectator says they endorsed the action of the conference committees of the parties at a meeting held in Red Lake Falls. In which connection, we ask, what else would they be expected to do? After the campaign is over will be soon enough to begin kicking themselves.

× ×

Thos. Crompe is given a write-up in the St. Hilaire Spectator this week, and his likeness adorns a prominent position. Mr. Crompe is to be congratulated. His candidacy has the good will of four out of a total of five Red Lake county newspapers. He is certainly making a great campaign.

DREAD SKIN DISEASE.

Stanford, Cal., Sept. 1.—Dr. Vernon Lyman Kellogg, head of the department of entomology, who accompanied Dr. Jordan on his summer trip to Samoa, has returned to the university, bringing with him many specimens of sea and animal life to be added to the national museum at Washington. His most special work in Samoa, however, from a practical point of view, was his investigation of the fallaria, a wormlike animal living on mosquitos and producing in human kind the dread skin disease elephantiasis. Almost half the native population of Samoa are afflicted with this disease and at the suggestion of Captain Sebree, U. S. N., governor of the American islands, Dr. Kellogg has devised a plan looking to the removal of the scourge by preventing the use of infected water, etc., by the natives.

Four Boy Counterfeiters Arrested.

A PAIR TO DRAW TO

ARE WAKING UP

RETALIATION IS THREATENED

Will Not Stand Indefinitely Being Shut Out by the American Tariff While Keeping Open House for American Traders in the United Kingdom. Government Stirred Up by Commercial and Colonial Discontent.

London, Sept. 1.—The approaching expiration of the time limit for the completion of the Atlantic shipping combine is arousing the British press to all sorts of speculation regarding J. Pierpont Morgan's ultimate plans as well as the government's scheme for dealing with the combination. The promised statement of the premier, A. J. Balfour, on the reassembling of parliament is awaited with intense interest. The statement has already been printed that the government plans are complete and that the authorities are ready to make an effective countermove against the American syndicate. Inquiries made by the Associated Press in the best informed quarters indicate that this announcement is not true. The government has had to deal with so many powerful and conflicting interests that it has not yet been able to definitely decide on a plan of action. In spite of the opposition to a general subsidy scheme, well informed persons consider this to be the most likely solution, on the lines of a generous distribution of government support, not in behalf of one, but of several companies. The form which such assistance will take is still under discussion, there being considerable opposition to straight subsidies. There is no doubt that Mr. Balfour's announcement will include a scheme for a direct fast Canadian service, in which the Canadian Pacific railroad will probably participate, but not as originally planned as sole promoter and beneficiary. The indications point more and more to the drawing together of the Atlantic lines outside of the Morgan combine. One of the alliances which may be earliest expected is a combination of the Allan line and Elder Dempster & Co. The heads of the English lines are on the Atlantic outlook. Time is rather intensifying than allaying their jealousy of the American bid for the Atlantic trade and the government has been so thoroughly stirred up that it will not leave a stone unturned to allay the existing commercial and colonial discontent. In this connection it may be mentioned that the tariff discussions at the recent colonial conference were very intimately connected with the shipping situation. A leading shipowner and a close friend of the colonial secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, said to a representative of the Associated Press:

"America must not think that the imperial government is going to leave the colonies at the mercy of the shipping or any other trust. The discontent is acute enough now in many quarters of the empire. While Great Britain does not want a commercial war with the United States she will not stand indefinitely being shut out by the American tariff wall while keeping open house for American traders in the United Kingdom.

"The question of retaliatory duties is not so improbable as so many people imagine. There is no reason why the British colonial markets should not be opened to British goods on a preferential basis. We have been asleep here in England for a long time, but when we wake up America had better look out."

Sir Christopher Furness, who has been referred to as the possible head of the English financial syndicate which is likely to purchase the Cunard fleet as the nucleus for a British shipping combine, hinted at similar possibilities in his speech before the steamship meeting at Manchester, but as he was addressing a public meeting he was not so outspoken as the leading shipowner quoted above.

RUMOR GIVEN CREDENCE.

Portuguese African Possessions Sold to Great Britain.

New York, Sept. 1.—One of the most interesting features of the slack season in London is a revival of the rumor anent Delagoa Bay, cables the Tribune correspondent at London. It is asserted that the purchase of the Portuguese possessions in East Africa will be announced when parliament meets and that it will be followed by German acquisition of a portion of them, in accordance with a secret convention with Great Britain. There is no direct confirmation of this story from an authentic source, but there is circumstantial evidence that leads close observers to credit the rumor. Lord Milner's recent visit to Lorenzo Marques never has been satisfactorily explained, nor have the proposed annexations of Transvaal territory to Natal any significance unless the intervening district adjacent to the Portuguese frontier can be added. Men versed in Africa affairs are predicting the speedy purchase of Portuguese territory and the extension of Natal northward and material compensation to Germany for the neutrality maintained during the Boer campaign.

Cable in Working Order.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 1.—News has been received via the steamer Cottage City that the cable between Skagway and Juneau is again in working order. Sergeant Bruck opened the cable for dispatches at noon on Aug. 25. The cable has given a great deal of trouble in the past but is said to be giving good service now and little trouble is anticipated in the future.

C. E. Peters, representing Fairbanks, Morse & Co., of St. Paul, manufacturers of scales, engines, pumps, etc., has been in the vicinity this week in the interests of his firm, and succeeded in disposing of four 12-horse power portable gasoline threshing engines. The gasoline engine seems to be superseding steam engines, the idea being to do away with the long, tedious wait incident where the large threshing rigs are used. One of these small separators operated by a 12-horse power gasoline engine can thresh about 1200 bushels of grain per day.

Max Bass, general immigration agent of the Great Northern, thinks that the fall home seeker movement will be exceptionally heavy. Mr. Bass said concerning the movement of settlers westward: "The harvest rates are bringing a great many people, more, in fact, than is ordinarily supposed. These come from Indiana, Illinois, West Virginia and many others of the central and eastern states, and they are as a class extremely desirable people. We are advertising the low rates that will be offered in the fall through all the country these people come from, and there are excellent prospects that many of their friends and neighbors will come. All of the reports of the prospects for a heavy fall movement are gratifying. People are taking an interest in western opportunities at the railway offices and of our traveling men. It is impossible to predict what the travel will be, but I am certain that it will add substantially to Minnesota's population, and be of corresponding benefit to the Dakotas."

A Much Dreaded Fly.

The man eating fly of Central America inhabits the low lying coast regions and is much dreaded by the natives for the fearful results which follow its sting. Naturalists call it Lucilia hominivorax. The average specimen is about a third of an inch long. It has a big head, with the eyes on top. Its cheeks are a golden yellow, its abdomen dark blue with purple bands, its legs black, its wings unusually big, and they produce a continuous and loud buzzing when in motion.

The person bitten by this fly gets a disease called myiasis. It generally begins with an itching of the nose; then that organ swells and bleeds, next it becomes ulcerated, and in these ulcers may be found the larvæ of the fly. The whole face becomes swollen; erysipelas sets in, followed by meningitis and death. One man I knew, said a traveler in that country, shot himself after he had been bitten rather than face the tortures he knew were certain. Cure is difficult. Subcutaneous injections of chloroform sometimes do good, but as often fail. One man I heard of was cured by lemon juice injected into his blood.

Ten Years Ago and Now.

There is no better antidote for despondency than to take a measure of your own community as it was ten years ago and as it is today, unless you live in an unrepresentative and stagnant community. You will be likely to find the roads or the streets better than they were, the railroad service, the postal service, possibly even the telegraph and the telephone service better. You will observe better houses, more attractive grounds. The people are better clad or more are well clad. Inside their houses you will find more books or, better, more bathrooms, better lights and better furniture. A larger proportion of children and youth are receiving good training at better schools. All this means more than prosperous years. It means a higher level of life and a stronger ambition. The well being of the people of the United States is rising higher and especially is it diffusing itself wider. Life is constantly becoming more comfortable and more cheerful as well as longer and safer, leading to better conditions for intellectual growth and social development.—World's Work.

Couldn't Be Mistaken.

A Derbyshire squire recently invited some London friends down for a little shooting. One of the sportsmen, after shooting for three hours without success, was considerably annoyed by the keeper in attendance on him repeating after every miss, "I can't be mistaken, surely."

"For goodness sake, be quiet!" he at last shouted. "What do you mean with your everlasting 'I can't be mistaken?' "

"Well, sir," was the reply, "if you 'adn't put a few shots through my 'at, peppered both my legs for me and popped a full charge into my right foot I'm blowed if I shouldn't think as 'ow you was a-firin' with blank cartridges!"—London Answers.

Carlyle Would Talk.

Professor Blackie said of Carlyle: "I admired his genius. But how he would talk, talk, talk, and give nobody a chance to put in a word! One night I actually shook him. His wife had been trying all the evening to say something, but there was not the smallest chance. I took hold of him and shook him, saying, 'Let your wife speak, you monster!' But it was of no use."

Looking Forward.

Old Bullion (on his deathbed)—All my property is willed to you, but I'm afraid my children by my first wife will make a contest, and then the lawyers will get it.

Young Wife—Don't worry, my love. I can easily fix that. I'll marry one of the lawyers.—New York Weekly.

Man's Conscience Awry.

"The average man's conscience," said the Tobacconist to the Wooden Indian, "is that still small voice within his breast which tells him he wouldn't be as mean as his wife's relatives are even if he knew how."—Syracuse Herald.

SELECTIONS

ABSENCE OF GRAY HEADS.

A Stranger's Comments on the Members of the House.

"I visited the house of representatives the other day," remarked a stranger, "and I was impressed by one or two facts which interested me.

"In this, one of the two great legislative bodies of the United States, I expected to see a great many—the majority, in fact—of the members of venerable aspect. I could but observe the absence of gray heads among the representatives. In short, men of venerable aspect were so largely in the minority that I was at once struck with the fact. Most of the members appeared to be young men and men in or under the age of middle life. I pointed out many of the gentlemen on the floor of youthful appearance and asked the doorkeeper if they were really members of the house. He replied in all instances they were members and seemed surprised that I should ask the question.

"I consider this fact a striking illustration of the possibilities for the young man in American political life. As I am a foreigner and used to seeing graybeards in high legislative and executive positions on the continent the contrast was the more noticeable. I was also informed that the bill under debate had been before the house for several days, was bitterly contested and that much feeling existed on either side. The 'feeling' the doorkeeper referred to was not observable to me. If Americans consider the debates in their lower house to be 'animated,' they should see what a really 'animated debate' amounts to in the French chamber of deputies. They would experience a change of mind.

"I could also but remark upon the limited space in the galleries allotted to the general public, and I was informed that this space had been even more curtailed during a reconstruction of the interior of the chamber last summer. I supposed, of course, that the best part of the galleries would in this country be given over to the public. At every door but two I was refused admission except upon the production of a card or a personal identification that I was a member of the diplomatic corps or one of the official government family. In the space allotted to the public there were not over 100 seats, if that number. Of course the seating capacity of the galleries is not great, but the reserved space must take up over 90 per cent, while I thought the opposite rule would be found to be true."—Washington Star.

Cause For Mourning.

"During the year that I have been getting manuscripts back from unappreciative editors," said Charles Theodore Murray the other night, "I have observed a general tone of apologetic regret in the accompanying notes of rejection, as though the dear editors feared that my feelings might be hurt. Of course I have become so hardened by this time that the return of some of my manuscript fails to arouse any feeling at all, but I must confess that Richard Watson Gilder rather startled me to thinking last month when he sent me back a humorous sketch of which I was especially fond in an envelope with a deep black mourning border and without comment."

Prices In Manila.

Manila's supply of beef, mutton, pork and lamb is drawn chiefly from Australia. The meats retail at the following prices: Sirloin steak, 55 cents a pound; mutton, 40 cents; fresh pork, 55 cents; lamb, 55 cents. Other prices are: Smoked cod, 60 cents a pound; bacon, 60 cents; ham, 65 cents; cheese, 50 cents; lard, 40 cents; turkey, 65 cents; salmon, 35 cents; mullet, 30 cents; lobsters, $2 each; butter, $1 a pound; grouse, $2.50 each; rabbits, 60 cents; hares, $1.25; fowl, $1.50; tame duck, $1.35; condensed milk, 75 cents a pint.

"Wooden Russia."

The name "wooden Russia," says our consul at St. Petersburg, is familiarly applied to the vast forest areas of Russia in Europe, which cover 464,548,000 acres, or 36 per cent of the entire area of the country, yet some fear is felt that the country may be deforested through the carelessness of private owners, and the government is considering steps for the protection of the forests. In Russia houses built of any other material than wood are almost unknown outside the cities, and wood constitutes the principal fuel.

An Ill Omened Title.

There is a proposal in England to revive the somewhat ill omened title of duke of Gloucester, which was borne by Richard III. before he slew his way to a usurped throne. The title was last revived by George I., who in 1714 made his grandson duke of Gloucester. This young man was not an ornament to the peerage. The dukedom became dormant again when the second of this creation died without issue. Should the title be revived once more it would be conferred probably on one of the Prince of Wales' sons.

Carry a Green Lined Parasol.

It has been a fad for the last few years for girls to be quite regardless of their complexions during the summer, but the girl who is wise will take my advice and carry a parasol, and for the greatest comfort and to prevent all strain and glare to her eyes let her have a dark green lining to it. This lining will not affect in any way the outside covering or the appearance of her parasol.—Mrs. Ralston in Ladies' Home Journal.

O. Sortedahl, to Ernest Base, by a written assignment dated March 3rd, 1902, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Red Lake county, State of Minnesota on April 10th, 1902, 3:30 o'clock p. m., in Book "S" of Mortgages, on page 292 to-wit:

Lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) and five (5) in blk three (3) of Railroad addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the official plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds within and for the said county of Red Lake and was given to secure the payment of the sum of one hundred and ninety-five dollars with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, payable annually, on the 4th day of June in each year, according to the conditions of one principal note and interest coupon notes thereto attached, by failure to pay the annual interest falling due on the 4th day of June 1901 and by failure to pay the taxes levied upon said realestate for the years 1897, 1898, 1899 and 1900, 1901 and whereas the said assignee of the mortgagee, by virtue of the power contained in said mortgage, paid to the County Treasurer of Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, the following taxes duly levied and assessed by the said county against the land described in the said mortgage, and were due and delinquent at the dates when said payments were made, to-wit: On July 31st, 1900, paid $9.40 taxes for the years of 1897, 1898 and 1899; on April 10th, 1902, paid $3.86 taxes for the year 1900, on July 29, 1902, paid $1.68 taxes for the year 1901, in all the sum of $18.03 and with interest amounting to $20.09.

And whereas, said mortgage, provided as one of its conditions that in case of failure to pay any part of said interest when the same becomes due or to pay any taxes levied upon said realestate before the same becomes delinquent, the whole sum of money or indebtedness thereby secured shall thereupon become due and payable; and whereas said mortgage also provides that if such taxes are not so paid the holder of said mortgage may elect to pay the same and be entitled to interest on the same at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum and said mortgage stand as security for the amount so paid, with interest.

And Whereas, there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice on said principal indebtedness and interest thereon and to the date hereof and for said amount paid for taxes and interest thereon the sum of two hundred and forty nine 63-100 dollars,

A Communication.

Mr. Editor—Allow me to speak a few words in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with the bronchitis and could not sleep at nights. I tried several doctors and various patent medicines, but could get nothing to give me any relief until my wife got a bottle of this valuable medicine, which has completely relieved me.—W. S. Brockman, Bagnell, Mo. This remedy for sale by W. A. Schreiters Druggist.

EMARDVILLE.

Several of our boys went to the harvest fields last week.

Rain has interfered with stacking which was well under wey.

Mrs. A. E. Sorensen entertained a few of her friends last Sunday.

Rev. O. Kolstoe conducts services at the church Sunday forenoon.

Mrs. and Mrs. Odin Jecobson, Mrs. Arvor Bugge and Mrs. Harold Bugge were on the sick list this week.

Anton Lea and Fred Anderson, of Wyandotte with their families visited at P. O. Myckleby's last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Kolstne with their daughter Martha, visited at Odin Jacobson's Sunday and Monday.

Odin Jacobson opened a months' term of Norwegian school in the school house in District No. 16 Monday.

Buttermaker Charley Gray, departed Monday for Twin Valley, where he has secured a job for the rest of the season.

The stockholders of the Emardville Creamery Association met last Saturday for the purpose of deciding whether the creamery should be kept running any longer this fall. It was decided to cease operations until early next spring.

BRAY.

We had a spell of bad weather during last week.

Some of the threshing rigs around here have started threshing already.

Harvest is about through except a little flax, which is yet too green to cut.

Messrs. Christ and Sam Person, of Polk Centre, were here Saturday evening.

Mrs. Aug. Peterson, of Crookston, a former resident of Bray, has been visiting friends and relatives here for some time. She returned home Friday.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Mundey, a lawyer of Henrietta, Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50c at W. A. Schreiter's drug store.

Many men and teams from this vicinity have left here during the week for the Dakota wheat fields.

Harvest is now nearly completed in this vicinity, and the farmers all seem satisfied with the crop prospects.

Chris Stroholm, salesman for Finch-Smith Co., of Crookston, was transacting business in the country stores hereabouts this week.

These must be lonesome days for the widows on the Red Lake Reservation, since they are left alone, while their better halves are tossing the long straw on the Dakota plains.

W. A. Bishop received a short message from his wife in Erskine last Wednesday to the effect that he is the father of a baby girl, that arrived there last Monday. W. A. has been all smiles ever since in spite of the rheumatism.

We surely have enough candidates for county commissioner for the 5th district, by the way it now appears. But as a matter of fact, who shall we nominate? That is the question, and it is now placed before us. Now, thus far we have had little or no representation to speak of in this end of the district, although not because we were not entitled to any representation. Not much! The records plainly shows that we are some of the heaviest tax-payers in the county. We should try and nominate a man as far back in the district as possible; so that if his good qualities should fail, we could have the honor of electing a man from the end of our district once, at least. What would be the matter with our friend and neighbor, O. N. Skomdehl? He is a good capable man, and surely has the qualifications to fill the office in every respect. In the mean time talk the matter over with your neighbors, and be fully prepared for the coming primary election to be held Sept. 16. But don't fail to show up.

A Funny Language.

The native dictionary of Samoa is interesting in the light it casts upon the Samoan character. I find "an impossibility, such as an old man getting a young wife." Another word means "to beg deliriously for fishhooks." "Unwelcome" is given, "such as a visiting party that is accompanied by neither a handsome man nor a pretty maid." The definition of "widow" or "widower" is synonymous with detached shellfish.

There are also definitions that show considerable thought and irony. "Menaness," for instance, can go no further than "to climb out on your own breadfruit tree to steal your neighbor's breadfruit." Fanpuatama, like a trumpet blown by wild lads, blown anyhow and all times; so conduct without consideration. Popoga, to look owl eyed, as a person staring when food or property is being divided. "Good brown earth" describes an honest, unpretending man. To show how difficult the language is for the stranger I may say that the little word ta means I, we two, to beat with a stick, to play on a musical instrument, to reprove, to tattoo, to open a vein, to hail a cannon, to wash clothing by beating and to turn a somersault.—Century.

Her Vanity.

Some years ago a marble sculptor had his place of business on Penn avenue near Ninth street. A business man lost his wife, and he ordered a tombstone for her grave from the sculptor It was to be a life size study of her. The figure was finished in due time and placed in the cemetery.

Several years passed, and the figure had not been paid for. The sculptor was a man of business, not given to sentiment, and he took the figure out of the cemetery, placing it on exhibition in a window at his place of business. It naturally attracted a good deal of attention, and one day a woman in passing stopped to look at it. She recognized the figure, but to make certain went in and asked the sculptor and found that she was correct.

The woman shook her head and said sadly, "Ah, Mary Jane was always a vain critter, but I never though she would go this far."—Pittsburg Press.

Where Four States Meet.

It is queer to think of the possibility of being in four states at once, yet there is one spot in the United States—the only place in the world—where it is possible. Look on your map of this country, says the St. Louis Republic, and you will find an intersection between two straight lines, where Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona meet.

The place is not often visited, as it is not easily reached. The stone erected there by the government surveyors is on top of a spur in the Carriso mountains. The nearest railroad town is Mancos, Colo., nearly 100 miles from the "four corners."

The region about was once densely populated by cliff dwellers, but now there are no human beings within miles.

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElree's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. All druggists have $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

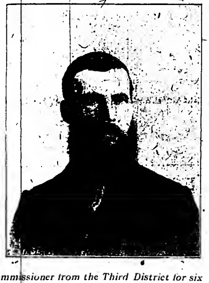
Vote for Swedback for Senator---He is Opposed to the Merger.

Ole J. Johnson



County Commissioner from the Third District for six years and who has no Opposition for Re-election.

Ole J. Johnson, of Wyandotte township, is one of Red Lake county's strong men. Mr. Johnson, upon the division of Polk county, was one of Red Lake county's first commissioners, representing on the Board the 3d district. Four years ago he was re-elected, at a time when only one other Republican in the county could boast a like distinction, winning over a strong Populist candidate. This year he has been renominated by the Republicans, and so well and faithfully has he discharged the duties of his office, that no nomination has been made against him and he stands unanimously endorsed for re-election by the people of his district. This is surely an enviable record and one of which any man might well be proud.

NOT PROMISING

DEPARTMENT DOES NOT FAVOR AMENDMENT TO RED LAKE TREATY.

Mayor Kratka has returned from a trip to St. Paul where he went to confer with Senator Clapp in regard to securing an amendment to the Red Lake treaty.

Considerable correspondence has passed between the gentlemen and the Interior department and up to the time of Mr. Kratka's return, the officials did not look favorably upon the new scheme, not considering it advisable to change the original policy of the government. However, the fact that the Indians themselves favor the new plan is being pressed home to the department and it is just possible that they may decide to allow Major McLaughlin to take up the work of securing the amendment some time this fall.

To Whom it May Concern.

On the last day of May, 1902, a certain party left some money in my office for taxes or interest on school land, but failed to give name or discription of property. Please call.

O. T. Tandberg,
County Treasurer.

Street Declares Himself for the Railroad Merger

At the Republican county convention for Beltrami county held at Bemidji on June 24, 1902, W. F. Street, who opposes E. J. Swedback for the Republican nomination for state senator in the 61st district comprising Red Lake. Beltrami, and Norman counties, publicly declared himself in favor of the merging of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads in the Northern Securities company, and concluded with a statement to this effect:

I am in favor of the consolidation of these railroads, and I think you men are foolish not to see it as I do.

Whereupon the convention showed its disapproval by turning him down on a test vote, 2 to 1.

AUSPICIOUS EVENT

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Metropolitan Opera House Friday night. Invitations sent out have been responded to by many outsiders, among them Gov. Van Sant, E. J. Swedback, S. G. Comstock and others—some of whom, not able to be present, have nevertheless sent in their remittances.

Messrs. W. A. McIntyre and
Theo. Garceau,
Finance Committee,
Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Gentlemen:—

Herewith I send you my check for five dollars to pay for the ticket to entertainment in the new opera house Sept 12. I regret very much that a previous engagement will prevent my being with you.

I return the ticket; please give it to some gentleman of moderate means who is not able to purchase one, and whom you will be pleased to have present.

I want to congratulate you on having such public spirited citizens—as Messrs. Anderson & Schwalen. I am more than pleased to contribute my share and regret exceedingly that I cannot be with you on such a happy occasion. I will express the wish that you, and all the citizens of your place may have the greatest prosperity, and that your beautiful little city may continue to increase in population. In the near future I hope to be in your county to inspect some of the state ditches, when I will personally call and meet and greet you.

Yours cordially,
S. R. Van Sant.

The Opera House is one which reflects credit upon the proprietors,—no less than upon the city. The Gazette urges a general participation in the opening by our citizens. The price of tickets includes supper.

HON. CYRUS L. SMITH

DELIVERS ABLE ADDRESS AT COURT HOUSE FRIDAY EVENING.

The first political speech of the campaign was delivered in the court house Friday evening by C. L. Smith, Beltrami county's candidate for congress. Mr. Smith is a very entertaining speaker and his views on the issues of the day, were well received. Mr. Smith will speak every night from now until the campaign closes Sept. 15, and he is very sanguine of success. He is a man amply qualified to represent the district in congress.

He said in part:

When we, of Minnesota, first began the agitation regarding control of Railroad Traffic I took the position that any corporation created by law should be controled and regulated by law. We have made the mistake of chartering all kinds of enterprises without providing for control and regulation. In this we have been negligent of our rights and duties.

The combinations of various kinds formed during the last decade, have in some instances proved a menace and danger to the people that demand a remedy. That remedy should be a just, equitable and intelligent control and regulation of every form of corporation.

I favor such amendment to the constitution as shall give the government full power over every form of corporation. I favor such laws as shall make it impossible for large combinations to crush competition or discriminating prices for commodities or rates of transportation. To make such laws effective the penalties attached for violation must be so severe as to make the violation dangerous and unprofitable. Corporate officials or agents who violate the laws should be punished by imprisonment, not by fines to be paid by the stockholders.

I do not believe in destroying or crippling any legitimate business; but provide by law for the control and regulation of all corporate business, then enforce the law.

I am a protectionist of the McKinley school. I believe in the principle and policy of protection to American Labor and American capitol. The figures of the tariff schedule should always be as great as the difference in wages paid here and in other countries. The figures of the schedule should be changed from time to time to conform to changing economic and industrial conditions. Wherever it can be shown that the tariff is utilized to create a monopoly and injuriously raise prices to the consumer I should favor the reduction or entire removal of the tariff on such articles. To that extent I would favor tariff revision; but I would never favor or consent to any tariff changes that would impair the wages of the American laborer or destory his opportunity to labor.

I believe in reciprocity and if I had been a member from Minnesota I should have voted for the Cuban Reciprocity measure as amended.

I hold that in reciprocal treaties the interest of the farmer in larger and better markets for the products of his farm should receive the full measure of consideration accorded the manufacturer.

We should not endanger our present era of unparralelled prosperity by any hasty experiments. We should avoid even promises of experiment with Democratic and Populistic theories that have proven so disastrous in the past.

The policy of the Republican party is progress and improvement, not destruction.

Intelligent reforms are retarded by the exaggeration and misrepresentation of over zealous reformers who often seem to be actuated by a sort of insane desire to smash something, never seeming to realize that they themselves are more than likely to be the victims under the wreck.

Wisdom, caution, conservatism and patience, are necessary in dealing with the defects in our present industrial system or we may overthrow the great that is good in a blind rush to remove the little that is bad.

Ditches to carry the surplus water from the lands of Northern Minnesota are just as necessary and just as deserving of National aid, as ditches to carry water onto lands of Idaho, Washington and Oregon. The next bill to appropriate money for irrigation should also give a fair proportion to the Ninth District of Minnesota for drainage.

E. J. Swedback

E. J. Swedback, who has filed for the Republican nomination for state senator in the 61st senatorial district which comprises Red Lake, Beltrami and Norman counties, is about 56 years of age, and has been a resident of Minnesota for nearly thirty years, having made his home at Delano, Minnesota, for 24 years, removing to Bemidji four years ago. Both at Delano, where Mr. Swedback lived for so many years and at Bemidji, which is now his home, he stands very high in the estimation of the people. A man of liberal education, a thorough-going, honorable, capable business man; a deep thinker; a hard worker; a man of marked public spirit; a manly man, true to his friends and ever alert to the best interests of the community with which he is identified—it is noteworthy that any enterprise, public or private, fortunate enough to enlist his masterful, iron-jawed interest, may from the moment his co-operation is assured, be counted as a success. There is no doubt these qualities would make him equally forceful and successful as a representative of the people in the state senate.

Mr. Swedback has repeatedly declined public preferment, and has never been an office seeker. His candidacy to-day is merely an answer to the call of duty, brought about in spite of his protests by the almost united demand of the Republicans of the district, who desired a senator in sympathy with the people and in accord with the state administration. W. F. Street, Mr. Swedback's fellow townsman, who also aspires to the senatorial nomination, having declared himself as opposed to Gov. Van Sant's policies, and in favor of the railroad merger, Mr. Swedback was pressed into the race by the people, who did not wish to be misrepresented on this vital question.

E. J. Swedback thus stands today not a representative of his own personal interests, but of the people's. There can be no doubt that on next Tuesday the Republican voters of the district will see that he receives the nomination.

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElree's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him, for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. All druggists have $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effects. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by W. A. Schreiter, Druggist.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

MORE VICTIMS OF MONT PELEE.

It has been learned from the gendarmes of the Island of Martinique that 1,000 persons were killed and 1,500 injured during the last eruption of Mont Pelee. According to an official account the eruption of Aug. 30 was one of the most severe that has been experienced. Morne Rouge and a great part of Ajoupa Bouillon were destroyed. The zone between the River Capote and the valley of Champ Flore and Fonds Marie Reine has been devastated. Mont Capote suffered severely and the hills around Basse Pointe were burned.

The governor of the island is arranging for the evacuation of the northern parishes and the removal of the wounded.

During the eruption the sea entered Fort de France for a distance of forty feet. The French cruisers Suchet and Tage are bringing the inhabitants of the northern part to Fort de France. The previous scenes of distress and panic are being repeated.

The Paris edition of the New York Herald publishes a dispatch from Pointe-a-Pitre, French West Indies, dated Sept. 4, which says that constant detonations heard there during Wednesday night indicate a terrific volcanic eruption on the Island of Martinique. Thick, black clouds were seen to the southward of Gaudelope. The heat at Pointe-a-Pitre was intense. The population was said to be greatly alarmed and apprehensive of a tidal wave in the event of the collapse of Martinique.

It is generally believed that the Island of Martinique is doomed to total destruction and the fear is that when the catastrophe comes Guadeloupe will be visited by an all-destructive tidal wave. Business is absolutely at a standstill there.

The French government has decided upon the evacuation of the entire northern part of the island of Martinique.

The gunboat Crete-a-Pierrot, which was in the service of the Firminist party of Hayti, has been sunk at the entrance of the harbor of Gonaives by the German gunboat Panther. The action taken was the result of the Crete-a-Pierrot holding up a German vessel and confiscating a shipment of arms and ammunition.

The troops of General Nord, war minister of the Haytian provisional government, were defeated Thursday near Limbe. The opposing forces are said to have lost heavily. General Esmangard, who actually commanded the government force engaged, was captured by the revolutionists and a portion of the government artillery fell into the hands of the Artibonite forces.

PRESIDENT'S NARROW ESCAPE.

President Roosevelt escaped a tragic death by only a few feet in a collision between his carriage and an electric street car at Pittsfield, Mass., while one of his most trusted guards, Secret Service Agent William Craig, was instantly killed, and David J. Pratt of Dalton, who was guiding the horses attached to the vehicle, was seriously injured. President Roosevelt himself was badly shaken up, but received only a slight facial bruise. Secretary Cortelyou, who occupied a seat directly opposite the president in the landau, sustained a minor wound in the back of the head, and Governor Crane, who sat beside the president, extricated himself from the wreck practically without a scratch.

The carriage was demolished by the impact of the rapidly moving car and the wheel horse on the side nearest the car was killed outright. The crew and passengers of the car escaped injury.

The president returned to Oyster Bay after the accident.

NORMAN COUNTY SHOULD SUPPORT SWEDBACK.

First, there is no possible show for the nomination of A. K. Strand, and those Republicans who believe the Governor is right in his anti merger crusade, must choose between Street, the mergerite and Swedback, who stands for the administration policies, state and national. A vote for Strand, is merely taking chances on the nomination of Street. It should be the concern of every loyal Rebublican to avert this consummation. Red Lake county is for Swedhack. Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls will cast an almost solid vote for him, while he will get the bulk of the vote of St. Hilaire. Red Lake county farmers will vote for Swedback to a man, bacause he represents the anti-monopoly policy.

Furtner, Norman county conceded the senatorship to Red Lake county, and now Red Lake county as one man rises up and asks the support of Norman county for her candidate, Hon. E. J. Swedhack.

Norman, Red Lake and Beltrami counties constitute one legislative district, with one senator accredited to the three counties; one representative between Red Lake and Beltrami counties, and one for Norman county alone. Thus Norman will hardly ask for the double representation this year to the exclusion of Beltrami county. Norman county Republicans are not the kind who, by unreasonabie demands, will stand for any attempt at an unfair division of representation, which would mean an attempt to deprive Beltrami county of fair representation; and further, they are not the kind who in the face of the fact that there is no chance of Strand's nomination, will aid the merger candidate, W. F. Street, in his fight for nomination.

The wice course, and the only course open to Republicans who are opposed to the policies advocated by Street, and who favor equity and fair play within the party organization, will be to vote for E.J. Swedhack at the primaries.

The Gazette this week gives a short biographical sketch of Cyrus Little Smith, one of the five Republican candidates for congress in this district. We have here-to-fore published reviews of the other candidates, and this completes the list. On next Tuesdav the voters of the Republican party will nominate one of these five candidates at the primaries.

Brains and abllity each possesses In abundance, and no matter who wins, the district will be ably represented in congress.

W. F. Street, candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator, speaks of the development of certain cities in the 61st district, and mentions favorably every city except Red Lake Falls. We jndge that would be about as much attention as he would pay to us were he senator. The advice of those who have the best interests of the county and district at heart is, "Vote for E. J. Swedback at the primaries."

Vote for Swedback—he is opposed to the merger.

No one should waste a vote on A. K. Strand, who aspires to the Republican senatorial nomination in this district. The fight is clearly between Swedback and Street. If you are opposed to the railroad merger vote for Swedback.

The Courier editor is apparently so full of trickery himself that he must needs assume every typographical error in The Gazette is there as some deep-laid plot. Brush out the cob-webs, brother. Snspicion is horn of sin, you know—and you seem to be awfully suspicious.

E. J. Swedhack sided with the people before he was a candidate for the state senate; W. F. Street sided with the attempted railroad merger. The man who was for the people before he was a candidate is the man who will be with them after election. Vote for Swedback for senator at the primaries, and endorse his manly stand.

E. J. Swedhack is making an aggressive campaign for the senatorial nomination, and has strong hopes of securing substancial recognition at the approaching primaries. Mr. Swedback is a self-made man, who has by years of industry and toil built up a flourishing business on a sound financial basis. His honesty has never been questioned, and his past is an open book to all who care to look it up. He is in thorough accord with Governor Van Sant in his position on the merger question as against combines of competing lines of railroads.

The above is from the Beltrami Co. News, published at Bemidji, the home of Mr. Swedback, candidate for state Senator. Just such men as he should comprise onr legislative bodies. The man who makes a moderate success of his own business can be trusted to deal intelligentiy with public affairs. In Mr. Swedback's case, brains and honesty are combined—the kind of material the voters are looking for.

It is worthy of note that these reductions in grain rates have been forced upon the Chicago roads by the so-called "merger," yet not long ago the people of the Northwest were assured by the political accident in the governor's office in this state, and by the demagogue newspapers that abetted the political "strike" that the merger of the two northern roads in the Northern Securities company would "throttle competition," "rob the producers and shippers," and "prove detrimental to the interests of the Northwest. Now it is shown in an unmistakable way that, instead of oppressing the producers and shippers, the merger is benefiting them to a large extent by the reduction of freight rates, while the opposition to the reduction comes from the Chicago roads, which are not in the merger, and are supposed to be in strong competition with the northern roads and with each other. —Duluth Herald.

It probably has never occurred to the mouthpiece of Minnesota Democracy that not the "merger" but Gov. Van Sant is responsible for this reduction of freight rates. In what possible way could the merger, resulting in the more complete control of the markets, cutting off competition in the securing of grain freight, and turning all returns from grain hauling into one common purse, induce the reduction of grain rates? Do men suddenly grow generous when they have a cinch? The fact is that Gov. Van Sant's courageous action so aroused and centered public opinion, that the merger has heen forced in self protection to reduce rates. It is also noteworthy that no other paper in the state has such close personal relations to Candidate Rosing as has the Herald.—Alexandria Post-News.

The Courier talks of "north end leaders against south end" in hopes of stirring up dissension in the Republican family, but you can't do it, esteemed brother.

When the Wise Wife ✠ ✠ ✠ ✠ Maintains Silence.

By HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD

If a wife said just what she thought or showed just what she felt concerning her hushand's friends who come into her purview, there would either be a great disturbance on the spot and it would be found out who was master, or the husband would take to meeting his friends somewhere outside the home, where it might be best neither for him nor for her. Or, again, a wife objects to her husband's pipe or cigar, but she knows very well that it is wise not to waste herself upon the small vices, but to reserve her reprobation for the greater occasions. She may very possibly find things that are unpleasant to her in the traits of her husband's family; but of what use to betray it? Without question he may feel the same obout her's, and it gives away her advantage to express it. There they are, and the wisest and pleasantest course for her is to suppress her feelings unless exasperated to outburst.

One thing which, as a rule, never does cease to exist is her objection to the way in which her hushand corrects the children. Yet to lift an eyebrow it about she knows is not only likely to make the matter worse, but it is bad for the children themselves, and not by a look askance—unless positive and unbearable cruelty supervene—will she discount the father's influence and authority.

Experience and observation, however, have shown her that tact is the viceroy of success, and that it accomplishes much more than the direct means of open opposition do.

Default having been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage made, executed, and delivered by Levi Brunyette, and Mary Bronyette, his wife mortgagors, to May Buse mortgagee, which mortgage bears date the 4th day of June, 1900, was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota on the 31st day of July, 1900, at 3:10 o'clock p. m., in Book 20 of mortgages on page 226 and is now recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds, in and for the County of Red Lake, State of Minnesota, in Book 20 of mortgages, on page 226.

Which said mortgage, together with the debts secured thereby, including taxes paid by the mortgagee, was duly assigned by May Buse, to N. O. Sortedahl by written assignment dated July 31st, 1900, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, on December 0th, 1901, at 4:15 o'clock p. m., in Book "T" of Mortgages, on page 01, and which said mortgage, together with the debts secured thereby, including taxes paid by the mortgagee and the assignee under the mortgagee, was again assigned by the said N. O. Sortedahl, to Ernest Buse, by a written assignment dated March 3rd, 1902, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for Red Lake county, State of Minnesota on April 10th, 1902, 3:30 o'clock p. m., in Book "S" of Mortgages, on page 232 to-wit:

Lots one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) and five (5) in blk three (3) of Railroad addition to Red Lake Falls, according to the official plat thereof on file in the office of the Register of Deeds within and for the said county of Red Lake and was given to secure the payment of the sum of one hundred and ninty-five dollars with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, payable annually, on the 4th day of June in each year, according to the conditions of one principal note and interest coupon notes thereto attached, by failure to pay the annual interest falling due on the 4th day of June 1901 and by failure to pay the taxes levied upon said realestate for the years 1897, 1898, 1899 and 1900, 1901 and whereas the said assignee of the mortgagee, by virtue of the power contained in said mortgage, paid to the County Treasurer of Red Lake county, State of Minnesota, the following taxes, duly levied and assessed by the said county against the land described in the said mortgage, and were due and delinquent at the dates when said payments were made, to-wit: On July 31st, 1900, paid $9.49 taxes for the years of 1897, 1898 and 1899; on April 10th, 1902, paid $3.86 taxes for the year 1900, on July 29, 1902, paid $1.68 taxes for the year 1901, in all the sum of $18.03 and with interest amounting to $20.09,

And whereas, said mortgage, provided as one of its conditions that in case of failure to pay any part of said interest when the same becomes due or to pay any taxes levied upon said realestate before the same becomes delinquent, the whole sum of money or indebtedness thereby secured shall thereupon become due and payable; and whereas said mortgage also provides that if such taxes are not so paid the holder of said mortgage may elect to pay the same and be entitled to interest on the same at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum and said mortgage stand as security for the amount so paid, with interest.

And Whereas, there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice on said principal indebtedness and interest thereon and to the date hereof and for said amount paid for taxes and interest thereon the sum of two hundred and forty nine 63-100 dollars.

And whereas, because of said defaults and of each of them the power of sale in said mortgage contained has become operative, and no action at law or in equity having been instituted to recover said mortgage indebtedness.

Now, Therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises above described which sale will be made by the sheriff of said county of Red Lake at the front door of the Court House in Red Lake Falls, in said County, on Saturday the 13th day of Sept. 1902, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said indebtedness, the Attorney's fees of $25.00, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year thereafter, as provided by law.

During the past week or ten days thousands of innocent prairie chickens have been slain by the blood thirsty hunters that have roamed the country o'er in their wild rage for sport. Chickens are now being slain like the buffalo in olden times—merely for sport. What a cruelty and a shame! Just think of it! When one man with his dog can slay from twenty-five to one hundred and more in one day. Is not this outrageous? Where does the game law protection come in? It is with shame that we point back to the cruelty and abuse of the Buffalo and the deer, the way they were doged and hounded to death for sport mostly. And today our chickens receive the same treatment. Are we to remain silent and see the innocent blood spilt. Not much! Why not limit the shooting of chickens like that of deer and other game, and also prohibit the use of dogs? The chicken certainly has as much right to exist as the fish. To protect them, the net was prohibited, and now to protect the chickens the use of dogs must be prohibited, or otherwise, they will in a short time like our buffaloes, be no more. Our present laws are far from being just in this matter, and it is now time that they were made in a way to protect the innocent chicken from such wild sport that now exists. We therefore appeal to the law-makers of our state for ample protection to the innocent prairie chickens and for justice to the poor farmers who feed them the year around.

Hon. C. L. Smith.

Cyrus Little Smith was born at Dover, Wayne county, Ohio, January 22, 1845, his father being a farmer, and while the subject of this sketch was still young the family removed to southern Michigan where his early education was secured. When the war broke out in 1861, Mr. Smith enlisted, though only sixteen years of age. He became a member of Company E, Eleventh Michigan infantry, and served three years and two months, principally in Kentucky, Tennessee and Georgia. Among the noted battles in which he participated were those of Stone River, Chickamauga, Lookout Mountain, Mission Ridge and the battles before Atlanta.

As a republican Mr. Smith has been especially active since 1885. During these later years he has done much aggressive work for the republican party. His observation of the condition of the farming classes and the common people for many years have convinced him that, notwithstanding all the mistakes made by the party of his choice, its principles and policies have been for the best interests of the people. During the Fish-Donnelly regime of the populist party, Mr. Smith was state organizer of republican clubs, and made an aggressive campaign against the populistic influences. He frequently met the enemy on the stump and was active and successful in joint debate. Mr. Smith was one of the organizers of the Minnesota State Horticultural Society in 1866. He served as secretary of the State Forestry Association for four years, and as a member of the executive committee for four years, and was a member of the State Dairymen's Association since its organization, and on January 25, 1895, was appointed Assistant Dairy Commissioner of the State Dairy and Food Commission of Minnesota, serving four years, at the end of which period he was retired by Gov. Lind. Mr. Smith rendered valuable service in preparing the Minnesota forestry exhibit for the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893. He took an active part in the first farmers' institute held in the state, and aided in securing their establishment as a permanent state institution.

In 1899 he located with his family of grown-up boys and girls on more than a section of land in the township of Turtle River, Beltrami county, and expected to devote the remainder of his days to farming. But his reputation as a lecturer on dairying and diversified farming was such that his services were in constant demand, and during the past three years he has lectured in Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. These lectures have been very popular and have wonderfully stimulated the interest in dairying and stock-raising. During the past fall and winter he lectured two and a half months for the Washington Agricultural College, one month for the University of Idaho, and two and a half months in the employ of the Department of Agriculture of British Columbia. That these lectures have been highly appreciated is amply evidenced by the hundreds of very flattering newspaper reports.

The Northwestern Horticulturalist for November, 1901, says:

"Twenty years ago the farmers of Minnesota were on the verge of bankruptcy because the single crop system of grain raising did not pay. One of the principal leaders to inaugurate the change in the methods of husbandry from that which created chattel mortgages to that which caused such prosperity that the local banks now contain more farmers' money than they know what to do with is Mr. C. L. Smith. Mr. Smith did much good lecturing to the farmers of Oregon last year, taking up the same principles before the farmers there which lead to such prosperous conditions in Minnesota. Mr. Smith is a lecturer of much experience and ability. He makes it a point to study surrounding conditions in his field of work and is thereby enabled to point to improved methods by such striking contrasts as to make his teaching lasting, impressive and effective."

As to what Mr. Smith did for the State Forestry Association, see Legislative Manual, 1901, (Minnesota) page 342, Title, State Forestry Association, paragraph three, where it says:

"Up to 1883 the work was very ably carried forward by its efficient promoter and secretary, Leonard B. Hodges, who untimely death was a serious set-back for the association and its plans. The following three or four years very little active work was performed by the society, until Mr. C. L. Smith took up the duties as secretary in 1887, carrying them forward very creditably. In connection with the Farmers' Institute corps, lectures were delivered and forestry literature distributed, which together with other work, gave the society an impetus from which time on it has gained ground until it now holds a firmer footing than at any other time in its existence."

Mr. Smith has taken an active interest in every question that has come before the farmers of this state, pertaining to improvement in the methods for developing the various farm industries. The encouragement of tree planting on the prairies. Relief from unjust and unnecessary burdens. Better homes and home conditions; and everything that could improve the conditions or advance the interests of the farmers and their families. This has been done with the pen, through the press and from the platform. This has been done intelligently, persistently and honestly. Mr. Smith is not a politican in the strict sense of that term. He has been active in the politics of his state, as every American citizen should be, but, during his long active career in public matters, this is the first time that he has asked the suffrage of the people.

HALVOR STEENERSON

The Great Lawyer and Candidate for the Republican Nomination for Congress from the 9th District, who will Address a Public Meeting at the Woodman Hall, Red Lake Falls, To-night.

POLITICAL STRAWS

CONGRESSIONAL FIGHT IS THE ALL-ABSORBING TOPIC NOW.

The fight for the congressional nomination in the Ninth district grows daily more interesting, and one of the most picturesque features is the candidacy of Cyrus L. Smith. Mr. Smith while the intellectual peer of any of the candidates and the best political speaker of the five, entered the race very late, and after the lines were pretty well drawn as between the other aspirants. However, he has made a great campaign, almost entirely among the farmers, and it is now conceded that his vote will be an important factor in determining the nominee. Mr. Smith claims Ottertail, Becker and Beltrami counties, and says he will pull out of these counties with 3,000 votes, and that these with a good scattering vote from the balance of the district, will nominate him. His candidacy in our estimation has killed off any chances Valentine may have had. Together with Comstock, he has waded into the Valentine vote and cut it to pieces. Steenerson and Grindeland, with the northern part of the district to themselves, are now battling like two giants for supremacy. A total of 17 442 Republican votes were cast in the counties comprising the Ninth district, in 1900. We give below a table of this vote for president, both Republican and Democratic:

Counties	M'Kinley	Bryan
Becker	1790	771
Beltrami	1339	767
Clay	1903	1166
Kittson	885	562
Marshall	1457	905
Norman	1492	964
Otter Tail	3446	3257
Polk	2863	2533
Red Lake	823	1165
Roseau	632	537
Wilkins	812	663
Totals	17442	13280

It is not likely that the total vote at the primaries will reach anything like the propositions attained at the last general election. Allowing a total of 15,000 votes, with five candidates in the field, 4,000 will nominate. But we do not look for a total of 15,000 votes. It may be less than 12,000. In this event, the candidate who carries the cities will have the lead. It is conceded that Steenerson is strong in the cities.

Attention is called to the fact that the primary law is compulsory and that the primary election must be held in all election districts. Also the polls must be open at 6 o'clock in the morning and kept open until nine at night. This applies to country as well as city districts. No one who votes at the primaries can afterward sign the petition of anyone seeking to be an independent candidate for office. Such petitions must be signed by those who did not exercise their right of choice of candidates at the primaries.

The St. Paul Dispatch political writer says:

"Congressman Eddy predicts that Halvor Steenerson will win the republican congressional nomination in the Ninth district."

The fight between Grinderland and Steenerson grows hotter and hotter as the primary date approaches.

E. J. Swedback is deserving the support of every Republican voter for state senator. He has been a shrewd and successful business man and to use the scriptural proverb, "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold." This can well be applied to the name of Mr. Swedback.—Turtle River Pine Tree.

The flour production at the head of the lakes amounted to 214,500 barrels during the month of August, compared to 78,355 barrels during the same month last year.

Balloonist Jake Hoffman dropped 400 feet at the state fair grounds one night last week because his parachute failed to work. Both legs were broken and internal injuries sustained.

Mayor Ames of Minneapolis failed to appear Sept. 5 to plead to an indictment against him and his bail of $5,000 was declared forfeited. There was no appearance on behalf of the mayor.

Fred Malie, a resident of New Ulm since 1856, is dead. He served with General Sibley in his campaign against the Indians and was prominent in all the affairs of the city and county from their organization.

The Minnesota Veterans' association held its annual reunion at the state capitol last week with 200 veterans present. The session was taken up with personal greetings and business pertaining to the association.

The iron ore shipments for the past season, up to Sept. 1, show an increase of 3,011,549 gross tons over last year. The Missabe railroad broke all records for one month's business by shipping 947,698 gross tons during August.

Professor Washburn, state entomologist, says that 12 per cent loss on account of the Hessian fly is a very conservative estimate for the counties of Douglas, Otter Tail and Clay. In spite of the presence of this insect, the wheat crop is turning out wonderfully.

The lumber production of Minneapolis this year will be about 150,000,000 feet less than last, although there is almost double the amount of buildings under construction. The cause of the shortage is low water which prevailed early in the year in the northern part of the state.

Twenty-two person were injured, one probably fatally, in a collision of street cars at St. Paul Sunday night. The survivors of the Fourth Minnesota regiment, at a meeting last week, decided to retain the two flags of the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-ninth Mississippi regiments which the survivors of those regiments had asked to have returned. Twenty of the veterans present were in favor of returning the flags, and twenty-six voted to keep them.

Joseph (Reddy) Cohen, alleged personal representative of Mayor Ames and Chief of Police Ames and "go-between" for the Minneapolis city administration between gamblers and women of the town, has been arrested by the sheriff of Butte, Mont. Cohen has been searched for by the authorities of Hennepin county for nearly two months.

The State Dental association held its annual convention in St. Paul last week. Officers were elected as follows: President, Dr. F. R. Holden, Duluth; vice president, Dr. A. M. Davis; secretary, Dr. George F. Todd; treasurer, Dr. H. M. Reid, Minneapolis; chairman executive committee, Dr. J. M. Wall, St. Paul; master of clinics, Dr. J. O. Wells.

The records of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce show that for the crop year ending Aug. 31 that city established a new record for flour shipments, having shipped 16,316,333 barrels, as compared with 14,851,464 barrels for the previous year, an increase of 1,464,869 barrels. The best previous record of 15,097,946 barrels in 1898 was exceeded last year by 1,218,387 barrels.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford County, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when editor Ward, of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effects. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by W. A. Schreiter Druggist.

Primaries Show Big Slump to Republicanism in Red Lake County.

RED LAKE COUNTY'S VOTE

GRINDELAND AND SWEDBACK RESPECTIVELY CARRY THE COUNTY.

The primary election passed off very quietly here. An air of lethargy settled down over the city and held sway all day, except when a little long-haired dog, with a tin can tied to his tail, relieved the monotony. The threat of rain was verified early, but the showers were light and not sufficient to cause a general cessation of threshing operations. Interest centred in the congressional fight, and it was apparent that the Populists were taking a hand in the fray, since a number who avowedly have no intention of affiliating with the Republican party called for Republican ballots. The vote in Red Lake Falls was very light, but the returns from Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire show a good vote. At Thief River Falls an effort was made to freeze out Steenerson and his vote was held down to 14, while Grindeland scored heavy. A feature at Thief River Falls was the heavy vote for Prof. Wilson, the ladies having turned out to make sure of his nomination.

In the Fifth commissioner's district John B. Hebert is nominated over Peter Hince by a majority of three. E. J. Swedback carries the county handsomely.

On the face of the returns Red Lake county is heavily Republican. The Populist vote is amazingly light. So is the Democratic vote, all things considered. They had a lively scramble with three popular candidates for sheriff. Furthermore, the Democratic vote in this county is confined largely to the cities, and a special effort had been made to get it out. Outside of Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls the total Democratic vote is 43. The Republican vote on congressman is more than twice the vote of the other two parties combined.

The indications are that Red Lake county will be found in the Republican column this fall. Straws show which way the wind blows—and this has reached almost the proportions of a Republican tornado.

Will the esteemed editorial straddler down the street please point out just how much damage The Gazette's espousal of Republicanism has done the Republican party in this county to date?

Red Lake County Republicans are intensely happy over the showing made at the primaries—and not without reason. Explain as they will, the opposition has to face the fact that Republican votes outnumber the combined Democratic and Populist vote two to one. If this means anything, it means Republicanism militant and irresistibly marching on to victory in Red Lake county. And why not? Republicanism as represented by Roosevelt and Van Sant has caught the masses; Republicanism with whose accession to power dawned such prosperity as the country had never before seen is good enough for the people, and the results are telling.

STEENERSON WINS

IN CONTEST FOR REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATION.

Special to The Gazette.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 18, 1902.—Halvor Steenerson of this city is the happiest man in the 9th congressional district to-day. Returns from every county of the eleven in the district with a few precincts missing, give Steenerson a plurality of 425 over Grindeland, his closest competitor. The race was a hot one from start to finish, and the winner is justified in his elation, while Mr. Grindeland may be proud of the splendid fight made and of his hosts of warm friends. His showing of strength will make him a power to be reckoned with in future contests.

Lennon-Schusser.

The Daily Missoulian of Sunday, Sept. 14, gives the following account of the marriage of two young people well known here:

The marriage of William Lennon and Miss Anna Schusser will be solemnized at the Catholic church at 8 o'clock this evening. Immediately following the service the bride and groom will leave for a tour of the Yellowstone park and eastern Montana points. Their home will be at Crookston, Minn. Mr. Lennon is a lumberman, in the employ of a large concern at Crookston. He has been for thirty days inspecting the industries of western Montana and Idaho in this line. The bride is the sister of Mrs. Paul Holtznecht of South Missoula and has visited the summer here.

About Minnesota.

The first dramatic performance in St. Paul was in 1851, when a troupe from New Orleans enacted "Slasher and Crasher." The first fresh oysters were brought from St. Paul to Chicago in kegs in 1850 by Gov. Ramsey. The first dining car service between the Twin Cities and Chicago was on the famous North-Western Line.

THEIR STOCK GOING FAST.

Backers of the "Farmers' Trust." Incorporated in South Dakota, Make Big Claims.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—The Farmers' Co-operative association, known as the "Farmers' Trust," has opened offices in the Royal Insurance building.

The officers say that they do not intend to attempt any co-operation in the running of farms, as that plan has been tried and has failed several times. It is their idea to do away with the middleman and to control prices. The company was recently incorporated at Pierre, S. D.

The benefit to farmers will come mostly from the fact that the entire crop will not be thrown on the market at once, the officials say, but will be disposed of in such a manner that the highest prices can be secured to the producers.

Backers of the plan assert that within a year the association will be in control of the entire agricultural output of the United States. The stock, it is said, is being rapidly disposed of.

BIG BLACK BEAR

ONE WEIGHING 200 POUNDS KILLED NEAR THIS CITY SATURDAY.

J. C. Nauman, who lives on the old Bourdon homestead, and Albert Nauman, his nephew, killed a big black bear, weighing two hundred pounds, Saturday afternoon. They were working in the field when attracted by two of their neighbors on horseback following the animal which at a distance seemed to be a big dog. The bear's pursuers had shotguns and were using the most available cartridges at hand, loaded with bird shot. The best they could do was to irritate the animal. Getting close to Nauman's bruin turned for the woods. By this time his real identity had been discovered and Albert Nauman got a horse and going full speed headed him off, preventing his escape into the woods, and drove him into the corn field. A quick trip to the house, and the victors appeared with a shot gun and a carbine "loaded for bear."

A couple of dogs kept bruin busy during the interum and three well directed charges finally landed the brute. This is the first bear killed here for about fourteen years.

May Sign Petitions after Voting at Primary.

A voter has the right to sign a petition for the nomination of an independent candidate for office even though he has participated in the primary election before the petition is signed.

Attorney General Douglas has recalled an opinion recently sent out from his office regarding the rights of a voter to take part in the nomination of an independent candidate for an office after the voter has taken part in a primary election.

One of the assistants in the office some days ago informed the secretary of a Republican club in Itasca county that a voter who had participated in the primary election was not entitled to sign the petition of a candidate for the same office after the primary election.

Attorney General Douglas says that the law of 1893 authorizes a person to sign petitions for nominations and only prohibits him from signing more than one petition for the same office. This law is silent on the right of the voter to do so after taking part in the caucus or convention which was then the manner of making nominations.

The primary election law superseded the law of 1893 as to nominations, and the law is silent as to the right of the voter to sign petitions after voting at the primary election. This leaves the question under the law of 1893, and in the absence of any statutory provision the attorney general rules that a voter is not prohibited from signing a petition for an independent candidate even though he has taken part in the primary election.

THE METROPOLITAN

OPENING OF OUR NEW OPERA HOUSE LAST FRIDAY EVENING.

The opening of the Metropolitan Opera House Friday night will stand as an event long to be pleasantly remembered by the participants. The interior was ablaze with myriad electric lights when the guests began to arrive, and the scene presented was one which struck all with intense satisfaction and delight. The place is a perfect gem, and to enhance its attractiveness, rich decorations of bunting, autumn leaves, ferns and palms were placed to fine advantage—the pillars were entwined with patriotic bunting, the wainscoating at the foot of the stage was decorated with cut ferns; under the railing skirting the balcony, autumn leaves and vines were gracefully intertwined, while potted palms and ferns about the edge of the stage, the full glamor of the electric lights adding to the richness of the green foliage, half concealed the Junior Band dispensing sweet music. Many of the costumes worn by the ladies were unusually rich and artistic, adding to the brilliancy of the scene—a scene which would have done credit to any metropolitan city.

At 9:30 Dr. N. M. Watson, chairman of the committees, stepped to the stage and delivered a short eloquent address pertinent to the occasion.

The ball was then inaugurated with the grand march led by Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Sally.

At 11:30 Thos. Germo, chairman of the refreshment committee, announced that refreshments could be had in the balcony. There was a collection of edibles fit for the gods, and the guests were invited to feel at home and to help themselves. This manner of serving refreshments was found to be very popular, and the informality pleased everyone.

The music as furnished by the Junior Band was exceptionally fine and left nothing to be desired.

The Metropolitan Opera House has just been completed by Messrs. Schwalen & Anderson in response to a pressing demand by our citizens. $1,000 has been subscribed by individuals as a bonus, and the amount has been turned over to the proprietors. The net receipts of the opening ball, $500, go to the subscribers pro-rata, thus reducing the subscriptions about one half. Much credit is due the individuals having the matter in charge, and as to the proprietors, Messrs. Schwalen and Anderson, their public spiritedness and enterprise is much appreciated by our citizens—as evidenced in a practical way.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

How many of you love to read stories? No doubt there would be many hands up if you were sitting before me. In order to give Santa Claus ample time in which to make out his list I shall mention some very good, amusing story every week, also giving a page or two so that you may get an idea what the story is like. To-day I quote "Helen's Babies." I never read a more amusing story. I want you to cut out the names of the books mentioned in the "Corner," save the list and when you want to buy a book for anyone or when mamma wants to know what you want for Christmas you can select a book from among the many named. Your local dealers will send for price lists for you if he does not handle the books. Remember this: one good book is worth more to you than many dozens of trashy books could possibly be. So try to select good reading at all times.

Auntie Katherine.

HELEN'S BABIES, BY JOHN HABBERTON

The charming story with the above title is a well written tale of the experience the boy's uncle has while their parents are away on a visit. The boys, aged three and five, do all sorts ridiculous things and express themselves so funnily that old and young are convulsed with laughter upon reading the story. Here is an extract:

(Page 159)

I hurried to the boys' room and shouted: "Toddle! Budge! Who do you think is coming to see you!" "Who?" asked Budge. "Organ grinder?" inquired Toddle.

"No, your papa and mamma."

Budge looked like an angel in an instant, but Toddle's eyes twitched a little and he mournfully murmured: "I fought it wash an organ grinder."

"Uncle Harry!" said Budge, springing out of bed in a perfect delerium of delight, "I believe, if my papa and mamma had staid away any longer, I believe I would DIE. I've been so lonesome for 'em that I haven't known what to do—I've cried whole pillows full about it, right here in the dark."

"Why, my dear old fellow," said I, picking him up and kissing him, "Why didn't you come up and tell Uncle Harry, and let him try to comfort you?"

"I COULD'NT" said Budge, "when I get lonesome, it feels as if my mouth was all tied up, an' a great big stone was right in here," and Budge put his hand on his chest.

"If a bid 'tone wazh inshide of ME," said Toddle, "I'd take it out an' fro it at the chickens."

"Boys," I said, "you must have on clean clothes to-day."

"Oh! Is I going to be djessed up all nicey?" asked Toddle. "An' I wantsh my shoes made all nigger." "What?" "Wantsh my shoes made all nigger wif a bottle brosh. An' I wantsh a thatsh on." "He means sash" said Budge. "He's awful proud."

"Now boys stay in the house and play this morning. If you go out of doors you'll get your clothes dirty."

"I guess the sun will be disappointed not to have us to look at" suggested Budge.

FLOWERS--GIRLS.

What a pity it is that Jack Frost will soon visit the beautiful gardens, leaving only drooping heads where queenly hearing now holds sway. In looking about, the thought often comes—were flowers ever so beautiful as in autumn? Next the thought, then why not utilize them to their fullest? Have you ever heard people say: "We don't know where to send our flowers." I have. Others say: "We have no time to spend picking flowers for others." Girls, my dear young friends, here is where you can perform an endless amount of charity. Surely you love to handle flowers. I can think of no more fitting companions than a girl endowed with good health and youth (therefore beauty is hers) surrounded with flowers.

Churches, hospitals and cemeteries are always ready for flowers. The old people like to be remembered, no matter whether you are intimate with them or not. Numberless sufferers forget their pain in the delight of seeing fresh flowers sent by a thoughtful person. Little children love flowers, I know of an incident where a little girl, sick with fever, played with two roses a whole afternoon. Now they must rest awhile, (in the water) now they must come to their dear mamma, for they were children to her for the time being. The weary mother who had exausted all her arts in trying to quiet her nervous patient was very grateful indeed for the few hours of rest.

For me, flowers cannot bloom fast enough. There are so many who can be made the better for receiving bouquets. I know one woman who placed one bouquet in the suburban depot every day. It was a dreary place but people soon spoke of the bright, well arranged bouquets which appeared each morning.

There are the prison too. Little enough do the unfortunates get of life's joys Perhaps just your flowers will set some one to thinking. We never know what moment an action of ours will influence others. Girls, you have the time, cultivate the lovely spirit of spreading joy and sunshine. Do not let your gifts perish through wanton carelessness. God gave girls to humanity as he gave flowers to gardens. Therefore, girls, see that among you there are no thistles.

HOUSEHOLD.

When potting plants there must be a thought given to drainage. Cinders, coals or pieces of broken dishes will answer the purpose. If the ground clogs the opening your soil will soon be sour, and your plant cannot do well under those conditions.

Julius Volker, a wealthy German farmer living near Crookston, attempted to beat his own brains out by hammering himself on the head with a heavy sledge. Being unable to accomplish his purpose, he cut his throat with a pocket knife and then stabbed himself in the abdomen. It is hardly probable that the man will live, although it is possible for him to recover.

The state board of control has decided to use bituminous coal and coke in the ranges and bake ovens at the several state institutions. When the board some weeks ago asked for figures for 1,000 tons of anthracite coal, the prices were so high that it was decided to experiment with soft coal, which was so successful that for the next year soft coal will be used exclusively.

The use of kerosene to start a kitchen fire in the home of Michael Moritz, a North St. Paul gardener, caused a fire which resulted in the death of two of the Moritz children, Annie, aged seventeen, and Adois, aged two. Mr. Moritz was burned severely about the face, hands and legs. He was brought to a St. Paul hospital and his injuries, although serious and painful, are not necessarily fatal.

Silk Cotton Tree.

Although the silk cotton tree is a native of South America, there is one specimen of it in Nassau, Bahama islands, that has flourished wonderfully and is one of the greatest curiosities on the island. It was planted more than 200 years ago by John Miller.

The roots seem to be unable to find their way down after the manner of ordinary roots and so swell up like great buttresses radiating round the trunk of the tree, rising from the ground to a height of from six to twelve feet. They reach out to irregular distances, gnarled and twisted in the most curious fashion. They turn and bend and double a point in all sorts of unexpected ways and make dark hollows and ravines, where the darkies believe the elves and gnomes make their home.

The great seed pods are filled with a fine, soft fleece of silk, which the natives use for filling their pillows and mattresses. There are several specimens of the tree on the island of New Providence, but this one is monarch of them all.

A Fly That Kills Horses.

All white men who visit regions in Africa infested by the tsetse fly have much to say about it. There is now evidence that the tsetse is moving gradually to more northern regions, and the cause is supposed to be that South Africa is depleted of its large game, much of which is moving northward to get away from hunters, and the tsetse fly is going with it.

The insect is only a little larger than the ordinary house fly, and it resembles the honeybee. Its sting is hardly as annoying as that of the mosquito, but near the base of the proboscis is a little bag which contains its poison. It lives on the blood of animals, and only a few species are fatally affected by its bite. Cattle, horses and dogs, however, cannot live when bitten by the tsetse fly. Natives who herd cattle and travelers who depend on horses and oxen must avoid the fly regions or lose their stock. For human beings its bite has no serious consequences.

To Promote Marriages.

It is a superstition in some parts of England that after a young couple have departed for their honeymoon hot water should be poured on the threshold in order that other marriages may follow. With this end in view the bride's girl friends will sometimes drench the doorstep with boiling water from kettles heated for the purpose of keeping the threshold warm, says Home Notes.

In Iceland another plan is in vogue There the bride, on reaching her husband's house, has to give a dinner cooked with her own hands to show how well she has been instructed in the parental home. If she succeed in pleasing the guests, her skill does not only redound to her own honor, but also to that of her whole family, and her sisters, having shared in her educational advantages, are considered likely to make good wives.

A Menace to Vessels.

The fiction of the mysterious loadstone mountain which drew the nails out of ships that approached near enough has a certain foundation in fact, says the Siecle, only the fact has suffered by expansion. On the coast of Norway, near Jœdern, there is a sand dune of nearly three-quarters of a mile in length. The sand is mixed with particles of loadstone, and when a ship comes in the vicinity the compass becomes irregular, and the vessel is entangled in a kind of whirlpool and thrown ashore.

Lavoisier's Death.

Without the contrasted patience of moral and physical pain there are men of high intellect for whom the latter has no terrors. The chemist Lavoisier was summoned during the reign of terror in France to his death. He calmly requested a few days in order to see the result of some experiments which he had in progress—in vain. This great philosopher of his day fell an immediate martyr to the political necessities of the ruthless tyrant Robespierre.

Turtle Eggs.

Turtle eggs are an acquired taste with most people, although they are not so with bears. They have a rough, yellow yolk and a white like any other egg, but you can cook them for a year and the white part will remain liquid. Notice a curious dimple in the side of each one. If you squeeze it out, the dimple appears on the other side, and you can never get hold of a turtle egg which hasn't got a dimple in it.

A Wasted Snub.

Clarice—Katharine is always looking out for important people, so I determined not to notice her at Mrs. Chic's reception.

Clarence—How did it work?

Clarice—Oh, she didn't even notice that I didn't notice her.—Brooklyn Life.

The Maddening Printer.

"I wish to say to the congregation," said a country clergyman lately, "that the pulpit is not responsible for the error of the printer on the tickets for the concert in the Sunday school room. The concert is for the benefit of the arch fund, not for the arch fiend."

Resentful Man.

"What did he say when you promised to be a sister to him?"

"He looked at me earnestly for a moment or two and then said that it would be much more consistent if I would make it an 'aunt.'"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He Stooped.

A little girl's father had a round bald spot on top of his head. Kissing him at bedtime not long ago, she said:

"Stoop down, popsy, dear; I want to kiss the place where the lining shows."

THE PRIMARY.

The first test of the primary election law has been made. There is a great cry among the politicians that the system is a failure, and that it has been so demonstrated. But we fail to see it in this light. The object of the law was to place the power of nomination directly in the hands of the voters of the respective parties, free from the manipulation of the party bosses. Whether or not the people would appreciate this privilege was a mooted question, but in the face of the fine, representative vote cast all over the state, it would appear that the opportunity offered has not been spurned.

It is conceded that the one weak point in the primary system is the danger of adherants of one party by united effort deciding who is to be the nominee of the opposition party. Thus a few Populists in this county are said to have called for Republican ballots, for the purpose of voting for Steenerson. The law attempts to guard against this contingency but the carelessness of election judges and their reluctance to challenge a voter on the grounds of non-affiliation in the past with the party whose ballot he calls for at the primary makes the provisions in this respect not thoroughly effective.

We doubt if the clamor for the repeal of the primary election law will result in anything more than a salutary effort to improve and perfect it. The people will be willing to retain the priviliges which the law accords them.

MINNESOTA FRUIT.

The Minneapolis Farmer's Tribune has the following to say regarding Minnesota as a fruit producing state: "Fifty years ago a very few men could be found who would believe that apples could be successfully grown in Minnesota. A newcomer from Maine who brought along a lot of apple seedlings was laughed at for his pains; but out of his humble beginning has grown a great Minnesota fruit industry. Some of the Minnesota seedling apples possess the finest flavor of any in the market. For some years our state has been producing a good percentage of its domestic consumption, and now the secretary of the State Horticultural Society predicts that Minnesota will soon be an exporter of apples and other fruits. When it was found that abpples would do well here, horticulturists turned their attention to other varieties of fruit, and with much success. Minnetonka grapes are celebrated for their quality and command a higher price than the California or Eastern grapes.

The Jim Hill system of railroads had a meeting in St. Paul last week and decided to reduce freight rates from 14 to 18 per cent. The officials have not announced what the "saving will be to the farmer," but in this connection the St. Paul Dispatch says:

It is a simple calculation, however, that a reduction of ½ cent a bushel on a crop of 150,000,000 bushels of wheat in the three states, a total of $750,000 would be saved, while the total on all grains is expected to be $1,250,000.

Think you that Jim Hill would have taken this step but for the course pursued by Gov. Van Sant in the famous merger case? Well hardly! Then, too, Hill fears the next legislature which will undoubtedly be in sympathy with the Governor. Another splendid endorsement, Mr. Chief Executive.—Winnebago City Enterprise.

THE REFERENDUM.

A petition to which are attached the names of 154,918 Illinois voters has reached the state capital, asking for a vote throughout the state in November to influence the next legislature to apply the initiative and referendum principle in local, county, municipal and state affairs, and to secure the election of United State senarors by a direct vote. This movement in Illinois is not restricted to party lines. Senator Cullom writes to the Referendum league of Illinois that he is in thorough sympathy with its ideas, that he has favored the referendum for several years, and believes it is to be "the greatest safeguard against corrupt legislation and boodle in politics." Perhaps the initiative and referendum would have made more rapid prugress in all free countries if its name were simpler. It really means a more certain and complete government by the people themselves, giving them direct methods of originating legislative measures, and the veto power when unacceptable laws are passed. The referendum idea first took form in the republic of Switzerland, its earliest champions urging the people to claim the right to sweep away a law as well as pass one. In all Switzerland now legislative acts of the federal or cantonal assemblies must be referred to the people en masse, when demanded by a certain number of voters, or in some cases, by a compulsory rule.

When 30,000 citizens, or eight cantons, of Switzerland demand the right, the laws and resolutions of a general nature passed by the Swiss congress must be submitted to a popular vote, and a majority of the people can thus veto any law. The referendum operates locally as well as nationally. Fifty thousand signatures are requisite to obtain the initiative in federal legislation and 5,000 in cantonal affairs. The Swiss have exercised this right conservatively, not applying the referendum, on an average, more than once a year. When the referendum is in motion the people discuss the particular subject involved and divide upon that one question, not upon former party lines. Here is a power by which the people can, by their own action, abolish a law, or compel their representatives to act upon the popular initiative. A historian of Switzerland says: "It will always remain the chief honor of Swiss statesmanship to have discovered the solution of one of the great political problems of the age—how to enable great masses of people to govern themselves directly." A member of the Swiss assembly for seventeen years says that within his knowledge the referendum has stood as a warning to politicians, and yet has not prevented the passage of any beneficent law. With greater power the citizen grows more intelligent and earnest in his political functions.

The referendum has been making more progress in the United States than is generally known. At the state election in Oregon last June a constitutional amendment was passed, by a two-thirds vote, providing for the initiative and referendum in state legislation. Whenever 8 per cent of the Oregon voters petition for a specific law it must be submitted to a popular vote and a majority passes it. A law passed by the legislature must be submitted to a pupular vote whenever 5 per cent. of the voters of the state petition for it, and a majority vetoes the law. The veto of the governor of Oregon does not extend to measures thus submitted to the people. South Dakota has a similiar law. In Iowa twenty-five property owners in a city may command the mayor to submit to a popular vote any proposed grant of a public franchise. Republican states are the first to establish the referendum. In the republican state platform in Missouri in the present campaign is the following: "The republicans of Missouri believe that municipalities should grant franchises only by a direct vote of the people constituting such municipalities." This plank contains the referedum principle, which has already been amplified by the republican states of Oregon and South Dakota, and has now become a leading issue in the republican state of Illinois.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Clearing House For Discoveries

By Professor WILLIAM HALLOCK, Columbia University

A CLEARING HOUSE FOR DISCOVERIES, A COLD STORAGE FOR IDEAS, may at first appear to be an institution devoutly to be wished for, and yet it is a great question whether, loaded with the usual human frailties and prejudices, it could be made to command the respect which it must have if its promulgations are to be accepted.

We already have two institutions either of which could perform this duty quite as well as a new governmental bureau. The National Academy of Sciences has as its reason for existence the desirability of having a body of pre-eminent scientists to which the government may refer any scientific question in the assurance that the answer will be as nearly correct as human liability to error and the bounds of human knowledge will permit.

IT SHOULD BE POSSIBLE FOR THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OR CONGRESS TO CALL UPON THE NATIONAL ACADEMY OF SCIENCES FOR DECISIONS UPON DISPUTED SCIENTIFIC POINTS, AND IN GENERAL THEIR CONCLUSIONS WOULD BE ACCEPTED BY THE SCIENTISTS, AT LEAST IN AMERICA.

The Smithsonian institution could also be relied upon to adjust such disputes by calling to its council the specialists in the subject involved.

Both of the institutions are, however, national and hence insufficient and lacking jurisdiction in international questions.

AS TO THE COLD STORAGE OF UNDEVELOPED IDEAS, THAT CAN READILY BE DONE BY DEPOSITING A SEALED DESCRIPTION THEREOF WITH THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION, FOR EXAMPLE, TO BE DELIVERED FOR PUBLICATION ON SUBSEQUENT DEMAND. But this leads to an indiscriminate filing of all sorts of wild and undeveloped ideas in the possibility of claiming priority for a discovery which some one else develops and makes available and for which the latter deserves the credit.

High School Notes

By the Athenian Society.

The number of High School pupils enrolled is still increasing and we are still looking for more.

More green Freshmen are connected with the H. S. this year, than of any preceeding year. At least twenty-five of them can be seen at any time.

Owing to some confusion as to the reporting committee, no Athenian notes were edited last year. However you may now hope to see them appear every week.

A business meeting was held last Friday afternoon by the H. S. A. and Ida Lemieux was chosen a Spartan.

The first program of the year will be given September 19, by the Spartans. Come and see it, you will be amply repaid for your trouble.

We regret to announce that Dora Marchand will commence teaching next week. We shall all miss her and will gladly welcome her back when she finishes her term.

The Chemistry class have not yet got to the enjoyable part of this interesting subject, but if they work hard they may yet reach the goal.

The interest displayed last year by the public in High School affairs was appreciated, and we all hope it will be renewed and be still stronger the coming year.

TWO CHILDREN DEAD

DOUBLE TRAGEDY AT ST. PAUL THE RESULT OF A KEROSENE EXPLOSION.

Alexandria Man Pleads Guilty to Murder and Is Given a Life Sentence. St. Paul Police Capture Thieves and Locate Plunder Worth $5,000—Examiner for Minnesota Indian Lands. News of the State in General.

St. Paul, Sept. 15.—The use of kerosene to start a kitchen fire in the home of Michael Moritz, a North St. Paul gardener, caused a fire which resulted in the death of two of the Moritz children, Annie, aged seventeen, and Adols, aged two. Mr. Moritz was burned severely about the face, hands and legs. He was brought to the city hospital and his injuries, although serious and painful, are not necessarily fatal.

Annie, the oldest of the seven Moritz children, got up at an early hour, and, preparatory to getting breakfast for the family, started to build a fire in the kitchen stove. She poured kerosene oil on the wood and touched a match to it. There was an explosion, the flames shot out and caught her dress and in a minute she was enveloped in a fierce blaze.

The terrified girl ran into her father's bedroom, where, in bed, was Michael Moritz, her father, and Adols, her brother. The father sprang from bed and tried to beat out the flames, which, by this time, completely covered the girl.

His efforts were ineffectual and with the house afire and his own clothes in a blaze he was compelled to rush outdoors to keep from being burned to death. The little boy died from suffocation. The house was completely destroyed.

PLEADS GUILTY TO MURDER.

G. A. Larson Given a Life Sentence in Minnesota State Prison.

Alexandria, Minn., Sept. 15.—Gustaf A. Larson, who swore that he was the coerced tool of Andrew Jacobson, pleaded guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree for the killing of Magnus Johnson March 24 last. The jury that tried Jacobson declared that defendant not guilty and he was discharged after a severe lecture by the court.

Gustav A. Larson was given a life sentence at hard labor in the state prison at Stillwater.

Dr. H. J. Boyd reported to the court that he had made an examination and was convinced of Larson's sanity and mental ability to distinguish right from wrong.

Larson's story to the court was a straighforward one. One of its salient features was his evident desire not to conceal any phase of his connection with the crime.

Magnus Johnson was killed while he was at work in his granery, death being caused by gunshot wounds. Johnson lived alone and was reputed to have considerable wealth about his place. This belief has not been justified by developments, however.

DIAMONDS AND JEWELRY.

St. Paul Police Locate Plunder Worth Upwards of $5,000.

St. Paul, Sept. 10.—Diamonds, rubies, jewelry and various articles of value worth in all upwards of $5,000 have been located by the St. Paul police at 318 Walnut street, the home of John Wilson, arrested for highway robbery.

The plunder is thought to come largely from Minneapolis, although a portion of it was doubtless stolen in St. Paul. A second member of the gang of three was arrested by the police in the afternoon after an exciting chase.

The prisoner fell exhausted, and Fraser, the detective who captured him, was obliged to go to the hospital.

MINNESOTA INDIAN LANDS.

General Land Office Appoints a Chief Examiner.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Acting Commissioner Richards of the general land office has appointed William O'Nail, Ashland, Wis., chief examiner of the Chippewa Indian lands in Minnesota.

Mr. O'Neil is authorized to employ fifteen assistants and more later.

Their work will be to determine the timber or agricultural character of these lands, make estimates as to the amount and value of the timber on each tract, etc., preliminary to the sale of these tracts separately.

DOES CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE.

Light Frost General Throughout the Northwest.

St. Paul, Sept. 13.—The cold wave which swept over the entire Northwest Thursday has effectually killed all late vegetables and materially hurt corn and other grains except wheat, which has been harvested. There is frost reported all through Minnesota, both Dakotas and most of Wisconsin, the frost line extending southward as far as Oklahoma.

Slot Machines Shut Out.

Duluth, Sept. 11.—The city council's resolution just passed is creating consternation here among the saloons and cigar stands. It absolutely prohibits slot machines of all sorts, even trade machines, and shuts out all forms of gambling, even shaking dice for cigars and drinks. This is a rule never before enforced, and cigar stand proprietors that have been making much money out of trade slot machines are up in arms.

Guilty of Using Mails to Defraud.

Minneapolis, Sept. 13.—The jury in the case of the United States against E. E. Empey, the Excelsior attorney, who was indicted by the federal grand jury under the charge of using the United States mails with intent to defraud railroad companies, brought in a verdict during the afternoon of guilty.

SIXTEENTH IN TWO WEEKS.

Big Brown Bear Slain in the Streets of Duluth.

Duluth, Sept. 15.—A huge brown bear was shot and killed by a sixteen-year-old boy at the east end of the boulevard during the afternoon.

This is the sixteenth bear killed inside the city limits within the last two weeks.

Matthaw Manheim, son of Alderman Joseph Manheim, was practicing with a rifle when he was startled by a bear lumbering along toward him.

The boy, picking up his gun, climbed a tree.

After what seemed hours to young Manheim, but in reality only a few minutes, he got a good shot at the bear.

Taking careful aim the boy fired, the bullet entering the animal's throat, death resulting almost instantly.

Another bear broke up a picnic party at Hunter's park earlier in the afternoon.

MINNESOTA PRIMARY LAW.

State Supreme Court Holds the Statute to Be Valid.

St. Paul, Sept. 11.—"The primary election law does not require blank spaces to be left on the primary election ballots. The law so construed is constitutional. Therefore it is ordered that the application to correct the ballots in the case is denied and the order to show cause is dismissed."

The supreme court handed down this order during the afternoon in the case of the State of Minnesota ex rel. vs. R. L. Johnson, auditor of Mower county.

Previous to the filing of the decision a report was circulated that the court had held the primary election to be unconstitutional, and for an hour or so there was the liveliest kind of excitement among the politicians and candidates for office. The report was a canard, as the order filed later shows.

REFORESTATION.

Government Experiments to Be Made on Chippewa Reserve.

Cass Lake, Minn., Sept. 16.—Gifford Pinchott, chief of the bureau of forestry, E. S. Bruse, official timberman, and other officials are in the Chippewa reservation country making a start under the provisions of the Morris timber bill. Mr. Bruse has charge of the work in the field, selecting about 230,000 acres for reforestation, and Mr. Pinchott is here in a supervisory capacity.

The reforestation of these lands is one of the most important jobs brought before the bureau. The lands are to be made a forest reservation under control of the bureau. A certain amount of ripe timber is to be sold annually, and the land will be reforested according to the most advanced ideas of the bureau.

FOUND BY A LIFE SAVER.

Duluth, Sept. 11.—The body of Captain Patrick Ryan of the schooner Noquebay, missing since Monday night, was taken from the muddy water of the slip at the Murray & Jones Lumber dock during the day by one of the life savers.

He had evidently been dead since Monday night, and the tragedy was unquestionable due to accident. There is no mark on his body to indicate violence. The body will be taken to Bay City, Mich., for interment. Deceased was about fifty years of age and leaves a wife and children.

BUNTED TO DEATH BY A COW.

Aged Farmer at Jackson, Minn., Meets a Dreadful Fate.

Jackson, Minn., Sept. 9.—F. A. Chittenden was killed during the day by his cow. He went to water the animal and, not returning, his wife and their neighbor went in search of him. They found him dead in the pasture near the cow, his skull fractured and the body bruised horribly. It is believed the cow bunted him to death. Mr. Chittenden was seventy-eight years old and one of the pioneer settlers of Jackson. He came here in the early seventies.

TWO ROADS ARE FINED

Milwaukees and Northwestern Proved Guilty of Rate Cutting.

St. Paul, Sept. 12.—Fines have been imposed upon the Milwaukee and the Northwestern lines by the City Passenger association for secretly cutting rates during fair week. H. Brown, city ticket agent of the Wisconsin Central, and secretary of the association, who was directed to keep a lookout for secret rate cutting, made complaints against the lines named and two others, but the latter vindicated themselves.

Fireman Killed at Duluth.

Duluth, Sept. 12.—Philip Stackmesser, a fireman, while responding to an alarm of fire was thrown from the apparatus while crossing the street car tracks. He caught the whiffletree and was dragged twenty feet until kicked by one of the horses. The apparatus, weighing three and a half tons, then passed over him, crushing his chest.

Minnesota Artillerymen Win.

Camp Douglas, Wis., Sept. 11.—The last day of the interstate artillery contest at Camp Douglas was a surprise to the Wisconsin team, and as the Minnesota team gradually piled up the hits they could only exclaim and wonder how it was done. The score stood, Minnesota 137 and Wisconsin 97.

Killed in Bicycle Accident.

St. Paul, Sept. 13.—Frank J. McCarron, 364 Exchange street, employed in the city engineering department, was fatally injured in a bicycle accident. He was run down by H. Bartholomew, 1107 Agate street, and sustained a fracture of the skull. He died several hours later.

King of Belgium Coming.

New York, Sept. 15.—It is now settled beyond a doubt that the king of the Belgians will visit the St. Louis exposition, says a Paris dispatch to the New York American. This statement the dispatch declares is confirmed by the king's aide-de-camp.

Home Visitors' Low Rate Excursion.

Sentiment inspired by patriotism has and it is to be hoped always will afford, a one-cent-a-mile rate to enable the "Boys in Blue" to assemble in reunion at least once a year, from all points of the compass. Such a rate is authorized from all points east of Chicago to Washington for this purpose in October 1902. Such a rate has been afforded once a year since the first reunion of the veterans of the War of '61. This especially low rate has become popular, not only for the purpose for which it was established, but for other purposes, chief among which we recognize the opportunity thus afforded to visit friends, at or convenient to, the place of reunion, because of the low rate, and because of the favorable opportunity by reason of the liberal extension of time limit for return.

On dates authorizing sale of Grand Army Excursion on tickets to Washington, for the Reunion of 1902, are also authorized similar reduction in rates, from all points west to Chicago, with time limits the same as on such tickets to Washington, excursion tickets to any point in the territory of the Central Passenger Association, on or reached by the Nickel Plate Road. A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford County, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip. when editor Ward, of the Laceyville Messenger. suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effects. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by W. A. Schreiter Druggist.

Crabs Are Fighters.

Crabs are fighting animals. In fact, they will fight anything, says a naturalist. I have seen a crab, in conflict with a lobster, catch the latter over the fore part of the head, where the shell is hardest, and crush it in by one effort, and it rather bears out my idea that the claws of these creatures are particularly weapons of war; that the moment one of them receives severe injury in a claw it drops it off by voluntary amputation, severing its connection with the body at the shoulder by an act of its own will. It seems to me probable that if the claw were necessary for feeding nature would rather seek to cure an injury to it than let the animal discard it altogether.

The species of crab which is most conspicuously a fighter is the hermit crab. Its first idea of independent life is to eat a harmless whelk and occupy its shell. Its next notion is to give battle to every crab of the same persuasion as itself that it comes across. Altogether hermit crabs are undoubtedly the most quarrelsome creatures in existence.

The Hand Kiss.

The kiss of the hand is undoubtedly ancient and therefore is not derived from that of the lips, but probably the converse is true. The hand kiss is loosely asserted to be developed from servile obeisances in which the earth, the foot and the garments were kissed, the hand and cheek succeeding in order of time and approach to equality of rank. But it is doubtful if that was the actual order, and it is certain that at the time when hand kissing began there were less numerous gradations of rank than at a later stage.

Kissing of the hands between men is mentioned in the Old Testament, also by Homer, Pliny and Lucian. The kiss was applied reverentially to sacred objects, such as statues of the gods, as is shown by ancient works of art, and also among numerous etymologies by that of the Latin word "adoro," and it was also metaphorically applied by the inferior or worshiper kissing his own hand and throwing the saints to the superior or statue.

Convincing.

The methods employed by ex-Governor Throckmorton of Texas to make clear the claims of his clients were perhaps unlike those of any other lawyer, but they often carried conviction with them.

At one time he was defending a man who was on trial for murder in Gainesville, Tex. He desired to make it plain to the jury that the man whom his client had killed, although in his shirt sleeves and without a pistol pocket, might have been well armed.

"Can you see any signs of arms about me?" demanded the general, taking off his coat and standing before the jurors.

They shook their heads.

"Watch me!" he said dramatically, and with that he proceeded to draw a pistol from under each arm, one from each boot leg and from the back of his neck a bowie knife of most sinister aspect.—Youth's Companion.

The Dead One.

An old colored woman was "taking on" the other day over the death of her baby as she was going from the church to the hack which was to take her to the cemetery. A white woman who knew her happened to be passing and said sympathetically:

"Which one of your children is dead, Aunt Eliza?"

FIFTH: That notice of this hearing of said petition and of said viewers' report and said engineer's report has been duly given, published and posted and mailed as by law required, and that proofs of said service of said notice have been duly made and filed in the office of the County Auditor of said county.

STEENERSON'S PLAN

WOULD TAX MONOPOLIES INTO CONSERVATION OF PUBLIC INTERESTS.

Hon. Halvor Steenerson's plan for regulating the trusts have aroused a good deal of interest here, in view of his nomination and probable election as the representative of this district in congress. In Mr. Steenerson's address in this city he discussed the trust and monopoly questions from various standpoints, pointing out the effects of tariff revision, which he favors, and the amendments that might be made to strengthen the law prohibiting the railroads from granting the big shippers special rates or returning them rebates. He discussed the proposed constitutional amendment but thought it would not be apt to go into effect until the present generation had passed away, but concluded the big corporations could be reached without any change in the present constitution. His plan is to evoke the taxing power vested in the national government. He points out that the difficulty in reaching manufacturers who form trusts lies in the fact that they incorporate under state charters, just as the state banks did when they issued wild-cat money years ago. The national government seemed incapable of protecting the people against this wild-cat money until some one suggested that it be taxed. The tax was prohibitory and there was no more wild-cat money. Then the government passed the national banking act, enabling the banks that wished to do so to reincorporate under national laws and under strict national supervision. This plan proved eminently satisfactory and the government has had no difficulty in controlling banks since. In like manner he believes that a tax can be placed on manufactured articles that are made by corporations doing an interstate business and incorporating under state laws. The tax can be made sufficiently high to compel them to reincorporate under national laws, and they can then be compelled to give exact account of their business as the national banks do at the present time. They can be compelled to charge uniform prices, and if these prices are too much higher than the cost of production competitors will have an opportunity to step in and undersell them. Mr. Steenerson says he will introduce a bill embodying this plan and use every effort to secure its passage.

OFFICIAL INQUIRIES

Regarding the Horse Disease Prevalent in This Section a Year Ago.

Dr. S. D. Brimhall, director of the veterinary department of the State board of health, writes The Gazette as follows:

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 22, 1902.

Editor Gazette:

As I have received no reports this season concerning the horse disease which was prevalent in your vicinity last year, I wish to inquire if there are any cases of this disease at the present time. If so, will you kindly give me the address of the owner and any other information which you may have concerning them?

Very truly,
S. D. Brimhall.

The Gazette has no information of the presence of the disease this season. However, should this reach the eye of any who knows of a case, it will be the part of wisdom for such person to immediately advise the doctor whose address is given: Dr. S. D. FARM VALUES RISE.

SWEEPING CHANGE IN ASSESSED VALUES ALL OVER THE STATE.

St. Paul, Sept. 20.—The real estate committee of the state board of equalization concluded work on the schedules on acre property submitted by the county boards.

The result of the committee's investigation will be an advance on the returns made by county boards, averaging 25 per cent over the entire state. It is probable that the recommendations of the committee will be accepted by the board as a whole.

The counties of Beltrami, Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis were passed as returned by the county boards. The other counties of the state were divided into seven classes and grouped according to the valuation placed upon the land.

The assessment is uniformly 33 1-3 per cent of the valuation fixed, and the counties are grouped as follows:

Class No. 2, valuation $36 assessed $12: Cottonwood, Lyon, Meeker, Murrey, Scott, Wabasha, Winona, Wright Yellow Medicine

A Shocking Calamity.

"Lately befell a railroad laborer, writes Dr. A. Kellett, of Williford, Ark 'His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly cured him." It's simply wonderful for burns, boils, piles and all skin eruptions. It's the world's champion healer. Cure guaranteed. 25c. Sold by W. A. Schreiter.

Someone in Otter tail county, Minn., objects to the primary election law because the time of the 1,500 voters who attended was worth two dollars a day, making the cost $3,000. The objector would probably prefer the old system under which there were so many caucuses and conventions that the majority of the population passed the whole thing up.—Ex

TO BE DEVELOPED

Washington Sept. 24.—Investigation of the water power resources of the country are being made by the geological survey, particular attention being given to the water powers and resources of the Central Western states. Great interest is being shown in the development of water power upon the streams in those states. Years ago a number of large powers were developed there and manufacturing cities of considerable size have grown up about them.

The value to a community of such a natural power cannot be overestimated. Within the last few days the great development at Sault St. Marie has been completed, and water turned into a canal.

Duluth also is looking forward to the utilization of part of the water power upon the St. Louis river, where the plans now completed show a fall of 700 feet and a power reaching a capacity of 100,000 horsepower. This would make Duluth not only a great shipping point, but probably the center of flour milling and other forms of manufacturing which require large amounts of power.

Excepting for the large power at Minneapolis the market is greater than the supply, and plans are now in contemplation looking to the development of electricity upon the St. Croix river, in Minnesota, to be used for electric lighting and electric car service.

Red Lake Falls water power will soon be in demand.
